"Perhaps you noticed in your newspaper the other day a hunger map of Europe, with more than a third of the continent black, indicating famine conditions. At any rate, you have seen what Mr. Hoover and other persons with pretty good sources of information have been saying about a grievous lack of bread across the water. And fighting stopped last November. When the Government gave its guaranty, for the purpose of inducing the fullest possible production of wheat in the United States this year, it had no means of knowing that fighting would not be going right on to next harvest, in which case every surplus bushel of American wheat might have meant life or death to somebody in Belgium or France.

"The Government took a big chance. It was committed to a big game. There was a huge chance on the other side. If war had continued and the Government had failed to use every rational means of providing bread it would have been deeply blamable. Say we lose even a billion dollars. We won the war, and risking the billion dollars was one of the means of assuring that we should win it.

"And we have not lost any billion dollars yet. It is terribly easy, and cheap, to be wise after the event. Long after the fire is out and the lives of the family are saved it is easy to complain that the firemen mussed up the rugs."

WE WILL ALL BE THERE.

For once Pennington county is going to send the banner crowd to the Farm Crops show at Crookston. Secretary G. Howard Smith of the Commercial club figured that 200 tickets would be enough to accommodate all those who wished to attend from here, but it is already evident that there will have to be a greater supply provided.

In order to make a real excursion of the event the people of Red Lake county have been invited to join with their Pennington neighbors. The negotiations for the train were handled through the local club and the tickets sold at Red Lake Falls will carry the stamp of the same organization. No reduction in fare is possible under any circumstances and the special tickets are only provided in order to permit of their being sold beforehand.

This is going to be a regular farm crop excursion and for this reason it is desired that as many farmers as possible will take advantage of it. In order to make sure that all will be accommodated it would be a good idea for those from the country who intend going and who cannot procure their tickets in advance to notify either Mr. Smith or A. J. Anderson of their intention. If it becomes evident that the number of cars arranged for will not comfortably take care of the crowd more can easily be secured if the company officials are notified in time.

Crookston is going to make a special effort to see that everyone has a good time on this particular day of the fair. Exhibition managers and townspeople alike realize that this excursion will in all likelihood prove only a forerunner of many similar ones and will take particular pains to see that everyone has a good time.

If this excursion accomplishes nothing outside of proving that the annual winter show is an event in which the people of the entire district are interested it will have been worth a hundred times its cost. The impression that the affair is staged primarily for the benefit of Crookston prevails very generally throughout the district and has had the effect of keeping many away. Crookston is the gainer of course, but it is no more than right that the city should receive some benefit. If it were not for the people of that town the district winter show proposition would have died years ago. They pluckily held on when others gave the exhibition but lukewarm support and the credit for its final success is due primarily to Crookston's willingness to back its faith with money and untiring work.

Let's prove that we are good neighbors and appreciate these things by attending this excursion. It will be a good thing for us, for the fair, and for Crookston.

A DEFENDER OF THE CARNIVAL.

The Red Lake Falls Gazette tries to get "cute" at the expense of the Woman's club of this city because that organization has the hardihood to object to a degrading carnival as an adjunct to the annual county fair. Under the title "A Bas le Carnival," which presumably is French for something or other, the Gazette editor relieves himself of the following:

> The Woman's club of Thief River Falls have protested to their county fair directors against the carnival as a side amusement at the coming county fair. They say that the carnival has not a high moral tone, and some better amusement could be substituted. What the fair board will do has not yet been given out. But the Gazette rises to ask: What is a fair without a carnival? People come to county fairs expecting to be talked out of their money by some ballyhoo artist with a Bosco show or crooked cane rack, and if there is no such place to throw away money the sightseer becomes bored. Old P. T. Barnum had the right idea when he uttered that classic saying, "The American people like to be humbugged." And it's a fact! Abolish the carnival? Never! In the words of the immortal poet, Rhubarb Kindling:
> "Cut if you will your life-long pal,
> But Woodman, spare our carnival."

Such may be the case as regards the farmers in the vicinity of Red Lake Falls. They may like to be humbugged and fleeced while their intelligence is insulted by an exposition of rottenness, but we prefer to think that George is mistaken. In this section the tillers of the soil have advanced beyond the point where snake-eaters are considered wonderful and hoochi-koochi dancers exemplify the highest form of art.

George, we are ashamed of you.

WANTED—ONE RAILROAD.

The Grygla Eagle has been demanding that the Minnesota Northwestern extend its line from Goodridge so as to reach a number of towns in Marshall county now without railroad facilities of any kind. The arguments put forth by Editor Mussey and republished in another column of The Times this week are sound and should be carefuly considered by the railroad management. The steadily growing business of one of the finest territories in the Northwest will be diverted in another direction entirely unless some promise is held out to these people that will lead them to hope for better accommodations in the near future.

Now Or in One Hundred Years?

(Grand Rapids Independent.)

Do you want to see the county settled up? Do you want to see the settlers who are already in the county remain and prosper? Yes? Then observe the benefit derived to the territory affected from a 20 mile electric line, built into a comparatively wild and unsettled section out of Thief River Falls, and get into line for the construction of a railroad and branches in Itasca county, which has a hundred times the resources and prospective patronage for such a road as the "Thief River Falls country did.

The electric road running out of Thief River Falls was built some several years ago with private capital. It has paid the promoters well. A report by one of the officials of the road of the business done in the past four years shows a remarkable increase in the business done, tells an interesting story of the growth of a section which would probably have progressed but little without the railroad.

From the start this road carried a great many passengers. The tonnage of freight carried has increased about 20 per cent in the four years, the road having had an excellent freight patronage from the start. Great increases have been made in livestock and dairy products shipments, indicating that the country tapped by the road is making progress in the lines that spell prosperity.

Let us compare this road and its field with one such as could be built entirely in Itasca county to develop this portion of the state.

The Thief River Falls road is 20 miles long. A road sixty or seventy miles long, with branches of equal length, could be built in Itasca county. The Thief River Falls road had nothing to take out except the crops raised on the lands in its territory when the road was built. An Itasca county road would have an uncountable number of cars of forest products to move from the start. It would have the crops of a large territory already partially developed. It would have a passenger traffic which, with settlers, land seekers, timber men and hands and lake tourists and hunters, would be enormous. Most of these the Thief River Falls road did not have.

What would such a road mean to Grand Rapids? A timber man who knows that country told the writer that there would be saw timber enough along either of the lines proposed to keep a big sawmill in Grand Rapids going for twenty years. He stated that the local cooperage company would have a source of timber to draw from with convenient railroad facilities so great that it would not need to worry about timber for years and years. He stated that there would be timber for numerous kinds of other wood working factories, not to mention almost fabulous opportunities for the "cedar savages."

Furthermore, such a road running into Grand Rapids would mean that Grand Rapids would be the trading center of a vast territory. Would that mean anything to the town? The Thief River Falls twenty mile stretch carried an average of 30,000 passengers a year. Most of them, perhaps 99 per cent, went to Thief River Falls. Can we wonder that Thief River Falls is getting to be a city? Grand Rapids can have that one advantage—of having another railroad tapping a new territory—if the people will only bestir themselves.

A law providing for counties to finance a railroad through the county in the same manner in which the county builds the roads, only with different regulations for operation according to requirements, would develop the county as no other agency would. It would benefit the entire county.

Let any Grand Rapids business man who can see farther than the nickle he gets to the dollar he could get with the same amount of time and energy applied, go into the territory affected. Let him stop a bit and look over the vast resources, the dormant wealth there present and then consider the limitations placed on the country by the lack of transportation facilities. If he is not stirred with a desire to help develop such a section by working and boosting for railroad facilities, then he needs—no, not a doctor—an undertaker's services.

Let Grand Rapids wake up. Let the people of the sections affected wake up. We can develop the country now—in the next few years—or we can wait a hundred years. Which shall it be?

The Query: Who Feeds Railroad?

(Grygla Eagle)

There is an old saying, "Give honor to him to whom honor is due." This is right but not always done.

We have reference, in particular, to an article which appeared in the Thief River Falls Times under date of January 23, in a report of the work done by the Electric Railway given by General Manager Protzeller. We do not doubt for a moment the correctness of the figures given by Mr. Protzeller, but when it is claimed that a large per cent of this business comes from the eastern end of Pennington county, we claim that it is wrong, decidedly so.

There is no question but what the building of the 20 miles of the Electric line to Goodridge was a blessing to this country but would have been a much greater blessing and done a far greater amount of business had it been continued farther into this country, as it can be easily proven that a very large per cent of the business done over this road comes from eastern Marshall county and tributary territory in Beltrami county, which would have been increased many fold had the road been extended 20 miles farther.

We suppose the figures were taken from the amount of shipping billed to and from Goodridge. This is easily accounted for from the fact that Goodridge being the terminal of the road, freight that is shipped to and from this country is billed to and from Goodridge, of a necessity, and for this reason Goodridge and eastern Pennington county gets the credit. We do not wish to disparage the eastern end of Pennington county, but it is only 9½ miles east from Goodridge to the reservation line, about 10 miles to the Red Lake river and 4½ miles north to the south line of Marshall county, while north of the Marshall county line freight is handled for approximately 50 miles north, 30 or more miles east besides the large amount of freight handled by Grygla.

As we stated last week, this vast territory is developing, due to railroad facilities, slow but sure, getting ready to make a "big jump" as soon as it is sure of railroad service. It is well filled with a bunch of energetic, boosting people who are now doing well but are patiently waiting to "turn loose" as soon as the road comes. Everyone is willing and anxious to do anything within reason to help a railroad into this territory, and it is safe to say that ere long a road will be built running north and south from the vicinity of Bemidji and thus open a direct shipping way by a short line to Duluth and the Twin Cities.

We want it, we need it and everything possible for us to do will be done to get it and the first in will be the first served.

The excuse of "The War" is a "back number."

TEN AND 20 YEARS AGO

Twenty Years Ago.

Since the 25th of January the weather in this section of the state was the coldest within the experience of the oldest inhabitant. The mercury never registed higher than 15 degrees below zero and at times went as low as 50 degrees.

C. H. Bauman & Co., of Thief River Falls, purchased the grocery stock of L. Oriard at Germantown, and intend continuing the business. Arrangements were under way for the erection of a new store building.

Mrs. S. V. Bailey left for a visit to her old home, Atwater, Minn.

Robert McGinn left for his lumber camps to see how the work was progressing. It was a great winter for loggers, although too cold to make the best work possible.

It was rumored that H. E. Ives contemplated the starting of a newspaper at Cass Lake, to be called "The Blizzard."

Ten Years Ago.

The farmers living to the east and northeast of the city were making every effort to secure the establishment of a telephone line. Meetings for the purpose of boosting the project were held at Grygla and Highlanding during the week. The proposed line was 50 miles in length.

The total assessed valuation of Red Lake county, both real and personal, was $3,883,327, of which the real estate represented $3,724,306. The tax rate averaged 42.7 mills.

At a meeting of the Red Lake Transportation company, held at Kratka, Joe DuChamp was elected general manager.

It was announced that a corrugated culvert factory would be located in the city within three weeks.

E. L. Quist purchased the Thief River Press from S. W. Bagley and announced that he would wield the editorial pen himself.

Editor Hunt of the Sunbeam was in the city enroute to St. Paul. He stated that he was in hopes of getting a bridge across the Red river near Highlanding.

The planing mill started work Monday morning with every indication of a good run ahead.

Work of renewing the telephone system in the city was begun during the week.

AN UNTIMELY RETREAT.

It looks as if the people of Thief River Falls were going to back away from the paving proposition and permit the entire program to go by default. The few who are opposed to the plan are always on hand and most energetic in their attempts to prove that the work should not be undertaken. On the other hand, the far-sighted progressives seem inclined to let the matter rest, satisfied that they have advanced a meritorious measure as far as possible at this time.

The city council, while not actually saying so, acts as though the enterprise might as well be considered dead, at least for the present. The members were ready to go ahead with the preliminary work, leaving the actual paving to be taken care of when conditions were right, but even this proposition received so little backing on the part of the citizens that the administration could hardly be blamed for not wishing to shoulder the responsibility.

All of which is too bad. There are so many sound and unanswerable arguments to be advanced in favor of undertaking the work at this time that the victory of the obstructionists is absolutely unearned. Everyone admitted that the streets should have been paved long ago and even went so far as to say they were sorry the matter had not been attended to, but they were afraid of the cost at this time. They lost sight of the fact that it is doubtful if material will go much lower for many years to come and that the employment of labor at high wages is something that every American citizen should wish at this particular juncture. Evidently these people never took time to figure that as soon as labor and materials become cheap everything else must follow suit. When wages go down business must suffer and it will make less difference whether or not the streets are paved. There will be no money in circulation in that event and consequently no object in making the town attractive to visitors, while business men and others will have to be satisfied with things as they are or compelled to see them grow worse.

Every citizen should be anxious to see good wages everywhere. One way to insure such condition is to provide plenty of work. If every city in the land sets itself against improvement it will mean just so much more labor thrown into other fields with the result that wages must come down. So well is this known that the Government has requested states, counties and cities generally to get every possible improvement under way during the next couple of years. The work will be needed in order that the wage scale shall be maintained at a reasonable level when the readjustments incident to demobilization are to be faced. It is even suggested that legislative bodies embark upon undertakings not absolutely necessary at this time in order to meet the situation. Better put a mortgage on the future than fill the country with idle men.

Paving our streets would be but a single drop in the bucket as a labor factor, it is true, but if every city in the land followed the course taken here there would be trouble. The decision to abandon the proposition at this time is to be refretted, no matter from what angle the subject is viewed.

THAT WHEAT GUARANTEE.

Even right here in the wheat-growing Northwest there are people quite seriously concerned over the possibility of the government's losing money by reason of keeping faith with the farmers on the wheat price guarantee. They do not go so far as to say that the guarantee should not be lived up to, but regard the outlook as ominous nevertheless. They are very foolish for borrowing so much trouble.

The Saturday Evening Post is not printed in a wheat-growing region. Neither is that publication interested particularly in boosting the farmers' side of the proposition at the expense of the rest of the country. What it says on the subject may therefore be taken as the unbiased opinion of observers whose sole and particular ambition it is to see that anything printed and for which they are responsible is as near right as possible. The following may consequently be of some assistance in calming the fears of those who see only financial disaster ahead unless the government breaks faith with the farmer. The article appeared as an editorial in last week's Post:

"A good many people are excited over the wheat outlook. Do not join them yet awhile. The Government has guaranteed two dollars and twenty-six cents for every bushel harvested in the United States next summer. A big area was seeded last fall. No doubt a big area will be seeded next spring. If it all comes through to the threshing machine in good condition there will be a big crop—a billion bushels or more. Australasia has available wheat, now that shipping restrictions are relaxing. India will have wheat to spare. Europe may harvest more wheat next summer than last. Wheat in the open market may be worth only a dollar and a quarter a bushel. Buying the American crop at two-twenty-six may let the Government in for a billion-dollar loss.

"But a long, melancholy procession of gentlemen have gone broke figuring on the wheat harvest after the grain was knee-high, and part of our crop has not even been planted yet. It will be eight months, with multitudinous chances of bugs and weather, before the last of it is cut.

"Perhaps you noticed in your newspaper the other day a hunger map of Europe, with more than a third of the continent black, indicating famine conditions. At any rate, you have seen what Mr. Hoover and other persons with pretty good sources of information have been saying about a grievous lack of bread across the water. And fighting stopped last November. When the Government gave its guaranty, for the purpose of inducing the fullest possible production of wheat in the United States this year, it had no means of knowing that fighting would not be going right on to next harvest, in which case every surplus bushel of American wheat might have meant life or death to somebody in Belgium or France.

"The Government took a big chance. It was committed to a big game. There was a huge chance on the other side. If war had continued and the Government had failed to use every rational means of providing bread it would have been deeply blamable. Say we lose even a billion dollars. We won the war, and risking the billion dollars was one of the means of assuring that we should win it.

"And we have not lost any billion dollars yet. It is terribly easy, and cheap, to be wise after the event. Long after the fire is out and the lives of the family are saved it is easy to complain that the firemen mussed up the rugs."

WE WILL ALL BE THERE.

For once Pennington county is going to send the banner crowd to the Farm Crops show at Crookston. Secretary G. Howard Smith of the Commercial club figured that 200 tickets would be enough to accommodate all those who wished to attend from here, but it is already evident that there will have to be a greater supply provided.

In order to make a real excursion of the event the people of Red Lake county have been invited to join with their Pennington neighbors. The negotiations for the train were handled through the local club and the tickets sold at Red Lake Falls will carry the stamp of the same organization. No reduction in fare is possible under any circumstances and the special tickets are only provided in order to permit of their being sold beforehand.

This is going to be a regular farm crop excursion and for this reason it is desired that as many farmers as possible will take advantage of it. In order to make sure that all will be accommodated it would be a good idea for those from the country who intend going and who cannot procure their tickets in advance to notify either Mr. Smith or A. J. Anderson of their intention. If it becomes evident that the number of cars arranged for will not comfortably take care of the crowd more can easily be secured if the company officials are notified in time.

Crookston is going to make a special effort to see that everyone has a good time on this particular day of the fair. Exhibition managers and townspeople alike realize that this excursion will in all likelihood prove only a forerunner of many similar ones and will take particular pains to see that everyone has a good time.

If this excursion accomplishes nothing outside of proving that the annual winter show is an event in which the people of the entire district are interested it will have been worth a hundred times its cost. The impression that the affair is staged primarily for the benefit of Crookston prevails very generally throughout the district and has had the effect of keeping many away. Crookston is the gainer of course, but it is no more than right that the city should receive some benefit. If it were not for the people of that town the district winter show proposition would have died years ago. They pluckily held on when others gave the exhibition but lukewarm support and the credit for its final success is due primarily to Crookston's willingness to back its faith with money and untiring work.

Let's prove that we are good neighbors and appreciate these things by attending this excursion. It will be a good thing for us, for the fair, and for Crookston.

A DEFENDER OF THE CARNIVAL.

The Red Lake Falls Gazette tries to get "cute" at the expense of the Woman's club of this city because that organization has the hardihood to object to a degrading carnival as an adjunct to the annual county fair. Under the title "A Bas le Carnival," which presumably is French for something or other, the Gazette editor relieves himself of the following:

> The Woman's club of Thief River Falls have protested to their county fair directors against the carnival as a side amusement at the coming county fair. They say that the carnival has not a high moral tone, and some better amusement could be substituted. What the fair board will do has not yet been given out. But the Gazette rises to ask: What is a fair without a carnival? People come to county fairs expecting to be talked out of their money by some ballyhoo artist with a Bosco show or crooked cane rack, and if there is no such place to throw away money the sightseer becomes bored. Old P. T. Barnum had the right idea when he uttered that classic saying, "The American people like to be humbugged." And it's a fact! Abolish the carnival? Never! In the words of the immortal poet, Rhubarb Kindling:
>
> "Cut if you will your life-long pal,
> But Woodman, spare our carnival."

Such may be the case as regards the farmers in the vicinity of Red Lake Falls. They may like to be humbugged and fleeced while their intelligence is insulted by an exposition of rottenness, but we prefer to think that George is mistaken. In this section the tillers of the soil have advanced beyond the point where snake-eaters are considered wonderful and hoochi-koochi dancers exemplify the highest form of art.

George, we are ashamed of you.

WANTED—ONE RAILROAD.

The Grygla Eagle has been demanding that the Minnesota Northwestern extend its line from Goodridge so as to reach a number of towns in Marshall county now without railroad facilities of any kind. The arguments put forth by Editor Mussey and republished in another column of The Times this week are sound and should be carefully considered by the railroad management. The steadily growing business of one of the finest territories in the Northwest will be diverted in another direction entirely unless some promise is held out to these people that will lead them to hope for better accommodations in the near future.

Now Or in One Hundred Years?

(Grand Rapids Independent.)

Do you want to see the county settled up? Do you want to see the settlers who are already in the county remain and prosper? Yes? Then observe the benefit derived to the territory affected from a 20 mile electric line, built into a comparatively wild and unsettled section out of Thief River Falls, and get into line for the construction of a railroad and branches in Itasca county, which has a hundred times the resources and prospective patronage for such a road as the Thief River Falls country did.

The electric road running out of Thief River Falls was built some several years ago with private capital. It has paid the promoters well. A report by one of the officials of the road of the business done in the past four years shows a remarkable increase in the business done, tells an interesting story of the growth of a section which would probably have progressed but little without the railroad.

From the start this road carried a great many passengers. The tonnage of freight carried has increased about 20 per cent in the four years, the road having had an excellent freight patronage from the start. Great increases have been made in livestock and dairy products shipments, indicating that the country tapped by the road is making progress in the lines that spell prosperity.

Let us compare this road and its field with one such as could be built entirely in Itasca county to develop this portion of the state.

The Thief River Falls road is 20 miles long. A road sixty or seventy miles long, with branches of equal length, could be built in Itasca county. The Thief River Falls road had nothing to take out except the crops raised on the lands in its territory when the road was built. An Itasca county road would have an uncountable number of cars of forest products to move from the start. It would have the crops of a large territory already partially developed. It would have a passenger traffic which, with settlers, land seekers, timber men and hands and lake tourists and hunters, would be enormous. Most of these the Thief River Falls road did not have.

What would such a road mean to Grand Rapids? A timber man who knows that country told the writer that there would be saw timber enough along either of the lines proposed to keep a big sawmill in Grand Rapids going for twenty years. He stated that the local cooperage company would have a source of timber to draw from with convenient railroad facilities so great that it would not need to worry about timber for years and years. He stated that there would be timber for numerous kinds of other wood working factories, not to mention almost fabulous opportunities for the "cedar savages."

Furthermore, such a road running into Grand Rapids would mean that Grand Rapids would be the trading center of a vast territory. Would that mean anything to the town? The Thief River Falls twenty mile stretch carried an average of 30,000 passengers a year. Most of them, perhaps 99 per cent, went to Thief River Falls. Can we wonder that Thief River Falls is getting to be a city? Grand Rapids can have that one advantage—of having another railroad tapping a new territory—if the people will only bestir themselves.

A law providing for counties to finance a railroad through the county in the same manner in which the county builds the roads, only with different regulations for operation according to requirements, would develop the county as no other agency would. It would benefit the entire county.

Let any Grand Rapids business man who can see farther than the nickle he gets to the dollar he could get with the same amount of time and energy applied, go into the territory affected. Let him stop a bit and look over the vast resources, the dormant wealth there present and then consider the limitations placed on the country by the lack of transportation facilities. If he is not stirred with a desire to help develop such a section by working and boosting for railroad facilities, then he needs—no, not a doctor—an undertaker's services.

Let Grand Rapids wake up. Let the people of the sections affected wake up. We can develop the country now—in the next few years—or we can wait a hundred years. Which shall it be?

The Query: Who Feeds Railroad?

(Grygla Eagle)

There is an old saying, "Give honor to him to whom honor is due." This is right but not always done.

We have reference, in particular, to an article which appeared in the Thief River Falls Times under date of January 23, in a report of the work done by the Electric Railway given by General Manager Protzeller. We do not doubt for a moment the correctness of the figures given by Mr. Protzeller, but when it is claimed that a large per cent of this business comes from the eastern end of Pennington county, we claim that it is wrong, decidedly so.

There is no question but what the building of the 20 miles of the Electric line to Goodridge was a blessing to this country but would have been a much greater blessing and done a far greater amount of business had it been continued farther into this country, as it can be easily proven that a very large per cent of the business done over this road comes from eastern Marshall county and tributary territory in Beltrami county, which would have been increased many fold had the road been extended 20 miles farther.

We suppose the figures were taken from the amount of shipping billed to and from Goodridge. This is easily accounted for from the fact that Goodridge being the terminal of the road, freight that is shipped to and from this country is billed to and from Goodridge, of a necessity, and for this reason Goodridge and eastern Pennington county gets the credit. We do not wish to disparage the eastern end of Pennington county, but it is only 9½ miles east from Goodridge to the reservation line, about 10 miles to the Red Lake river and 4½ miles north to the south line of Marshall county, while north of the Marshall county line freight is handled for approximately 50 miles north, 30 or more miles east besides the large amount of freight handled by Grygla.

As we stated last week, this vast territory is developing, due to railroad facilities, slow but sure, getting ready to make a "big jump" as soon as it is sure of railroad service. It is well filled with a bunch of energetic, boosting people who are now doing well but are patiently waiting to "turn loose" as soon as the road comes. Everyone is willing and anxious to do anything within reason to help a railroad into this territory, and it is safe to say that ere long a road will be built running north and south from the vicinity of Bemidji and thus open a direct shipping way by a short line to Duluth and the Twin Cities.

We want it, we need it and everything possible for us to do will be done to get it and the first in will be the first served.

The excuse of "The War" is a "back number."

TEN AND 20 YEARS AGO

Twenty Years Ago.

Since the 25th of January the weather in this section of the state was the coldest within the experience of the oldest inhabitant. The mercury never registed higher than 15 degress below zero and at times went as low as 50 degrees.

C. H. Bauman & Co., of Thief River Falls, purchased the grocery stock of L. Orinrd at Germantown, and intend continuing the business. Arrangements were under way for the erection of a new store building.

Mrs. S. V. Bailey left for a visit to her old home, Atwater, Minn.

Robert McGinn left for his lumber camps to see how the work was progressing. It was a great winter for loggers, although too cold to make the best work possible.

It was rumored that H. E. Ives contemplated the starting of a newspaper at Cass Lake, to be called "The Blizzard."

Ten Years Ago.

The farmers living to the east and northeast of the city were making every effort to secure the establishment of a telephone line. Meetings [illegible] the purpose of boosting the project were held at Grygla and Highlanding during the week. The proposed line was 50 miles in length.

The total assessed valuation of Red Lake county, both real and personal, was $3,883,327, of which the real estate represented $3,724,306. The tax rate averaged 42.7 mills.

At a meeting of the Red Lake Transportation company, held at Kratka, Joe DuChamp was elected general manager.

It was announced that a corrugated culvert factory would be located in the city within three weeks.

E. L. Quist purchased the Thief River Press from S. W. Bagley and announced that he would wield the editorial pen himself.

Editor Hunt of the Sunbeam was [illegible] the city enroute to St. Paul. [illegible] stated that he was in hopes of [illegible]ting a bridge across the Red river near Highlanding.

The planing mill started work Monday morning with every indication of a good run ahead.

Work of renewing the telephone system in the city was begun during the week.

AN UNTIMELY RETREAT.

It looks as if the people of Thief River Falls were going to back away from the paving proposition and permit the entire program to go by default. The few who are opposed to the plan are always on hand and most energetic in their attempts to prove that the work should not be undertaken. On the other hand, the far-sighted progressives seem inclined to let the matter rest, satisfied that they have advanced a meritorious measure as far as possible at this time.

The city council, while not actually saying so, acts as though the enterprise might as well be considered dead, at least for the present. The members were ready to go ahead with the preliminary work, leaving the actual paving to be taken care of when conditions were right, but even this proposition received so little backing on the part of the citizens that the administration could hardly be blamed for not wishing to shoulder the responsibility.

All of which is too bad. There are so many sound and unanswerable arguments to be advanced in favor of undertaking the work at this time that the victory of the obstructionists is absolutely unearned. Everyone admitted that the streets should have been paved long ago and even went so far as to say they were sorry the matter had not been attended to, but they were afraid of the cost at this time. They lost sight of the fact that it is doubtful if material will go much lower for many years to come and that the employment of labor at high wages is something that every American citizen should wish at this particular juncture. Evidently these people never took time to figure that as soon as labor and materials become cheap everything else must follow suit. When wages go down business must suffer and it will make less difference whether or not the streets are paved. There will be no money in circulation in that event and consequently no object in making the town attractive to visitors, while business men and others will have to be satisfied with things as they are or compelled to see them grow worse.

Every citizen should be anxious to see good wages everywhere. One way to insure such condition is to provide plenty of work. If every city in the land sets itself against improvement it will mean just so much more labor thrown into other fields with the result that wages must come down. So well is this known that the Government has requested states, counties and cities generally to get every possible improvement under way during the next couple of years. The work will be needed in order that the wage scale shall be maintained at a reasonable level when the readjustments incident to demobilization are to be faced. It is even suggested that legislative bodies embark upon undertakings not absolutely necessary at this time in order to meet the situation. Better put a mortgage on the future than fill the country with idle men.

Paving our streets would be but a single drop in the bucket as a labor factor, it is true, but if every city in the land followed the course taken here there would be trouble. The decision to abandon the proposition at this time is to be regretted, no matter from what angle the subject is viewed.

THAT WHEAT GUARANTEE.

Even right here in the wheat-growing Northwest there are people quite seriously concerned over the possibility of the government's losing money by reason of keeping faith with the farmers on the wheat price guarantee. They do not go so far as to say that the guarantee should not be lived up to, but regard the outlook as omnious nevertheless. They are very foolish for borrowing so much trouble.

The Saturday Evening Post is not printed in a wheat-growing region. Neither is that publication interested particularly in boosting the farmers' side of the proposition at the expense of the rest of the country. What it says on the subject may therefore be taken as the unbiased opinion of observers whose sole and particular ambition it is to see that anything printed and for which they are responsible is as near right as possible. The following may consequently be of some assistance in calming the fears of those who see only financial disaster ahead unless the government breaks faith with the farmer. The article appeared as an editorial in last week's Post:

"A good many people are excited over the wheat outlook. Do not join them yet awhile. The Government has guaranteed two dollars and twenty-six cents for every bushel harvested in the United States next summer. A big area was seeded last fall. No doubt a big area will be seeded next spring. If it all comes through to the threshing machine in good condition there will be a big crop—a billion bushels or more. Australasia has available wheat, now that shipping restrictions are relaxing. India will have wheat to spare. Europe may harvest more wheat next summer than last. Wheat in the open market may be worth only a dollar and a quarter a bushel. Buying the American crop at two-twenty-six may let the Government in for a billion-dollar loss.

"But a long, melancholy procession of gentlemen have gone broke figuring on the wheat harvest after the grain was knee-high, and part of our crop has not even been planted yet. It will be eight months, with multitudinous chances of bugs and weather, before the last of it is cut.

"Perhaps you noticed in your newspaper the other day a hunger map of Europe, with more than a third of the continent black, indicating famine conditions. At any rate, you have seen what Mr. Hoover and other persons with pretty good sources of information have been saying about a grievous lack of bread across the water. And fighting stopped last November. When the Government gave its guaranty, for the purpose of inducing the fullest possible production of wheat in the United States this year, it had no means of knowing that fighting would not be going right on to next harvest, in which case every surplus bushel of American wheat might have meant life or death to somebody in Belgium or France.

"The Government took a big chance. It was committed to a big game. There was a huge chance on the other side. If war had continued and the Government had failed to use every rational means of providing bread it would have been deeply blamable. Say we lose even a billion dollars. We won the war, and risking the billion dollars was one of the means of assuring that we should win it.

"And we have not lost any billion dollars yet. It is terribly easy, and cheap, to be wise after the event. Long after the fire is out and the lives of the family are saved it is easy to complain that the firemen mussed up the rugs."

WE WILL ALL BE THERE.

For once Pennington county is going to send the banner crowd to the Farm Crops show at Crookston. Secretary G. Howard Smith of the Commercial club figured that 200 tickets would be enough to accommodate all those who wished to attend from here, but it is already evident that there will have to be a greater supply provided.

In order to make a real excursion of the event the people of Red Lake county have been invited to join with their Pennington neighbors. The negotiations for the train were handled through the local club and the tickets sold at Red Lake Falls will carry the stamp of the same organization. No reduction in fare is possible under any circumstances and the special tickets are only provided in order to permit of their being sold beforehand.

This is going to be a regular farm crop excursion and for this reason it is desired that as many farmers as possible will take advantage of it. In order to make sure that all will be accommodated it would be a good idea for those from the country who intend going and who cannot procure their tickets in advance to notify either Mr. Smith or A. J. Anderson of their intention. If it becomes evident that the number of cars arranged for will not comfortably take care of the crowd more can easily be secured if the company officials are notified in time.

Crookston is going to make a special effort to see that everyone has a good time on this particular day of the fair. Exhibition managers and townspeople alike realize that this excursion will in all likelihood prove only a forerunner of many similar ones and will take particular pains to see that everyone has a good time.

If this excursion accomplishes nothing outside of proving that the annual winter show is an event in which the people of the entire district are interested it will have been worth a hundred times its cost. The impression that the affair is staged primarily for the benefit of Crookston prevails very generally throughout the district and has had the effect of keeping many away. Crookston is the gainer of course, but it is no more than right that the city should receive some benefit. If it were not for the people of that town the district winter show proposition would have died years ago. They pluckily held on when others gave the exhibition but lukewarm support and the credit for its final success is due primarily to Crookston's willingness to back its faith with money and untiring work.

Let's prove that we are good neighbors and appreciate these things by attending this excursion. It will be a good thing for us, for the fair, and for Crookston.

A DEFENDER OF THE CARNIVAL.

The Red Lake Falls Gazette tries to get "cute" at the expense of the Woman's club of this city because that organization has the hardihood to object to a degrading carnival as an adjunct to the annual county fair. Under the title "A Bas le Carnival," which presumably is French for something or other, the Gazette editor relieves himself of the following:

> The Woman's club of Thief River Falls have protested to their county fair directors against the carnival as a side amusement at the coming county fair. They say that the carnival has not a high moral tone, and some better amusement could be substituted. What the fair board will do has not yet been given out. But the Gazette rises to ask: What is a fair without a carnival? People come to county fairs expecting to be talked out of their money by some ballyhoo artist with a Bosco show or crooked cane rack, and if there is no such place to throw away money the sightseer becomes bored. Old P. T. Barnum had the right idea when he uttered that classic saying, "The American people like to be humbugged." And it's a fact! Abolish the carnival? Never! In the words of the immortal poet, Rhubarb Kindling:
>
> "Cut if you will your life-long pal,
> But Woodman, spare our carnival."

Such may be the case as regards the farmers in the vicinity of Red Lake Falls. They may like to be humbugged and fleeced while their intelligence is insulted by an exposition of rottenness, but we prefer to think that George is mistaken. In this section the tillers of the soil have advanced beyond the point where snake-eaters are considered wonderful and hoochi-koochi dancers exemplify the highest form of art.

George, we are ashamed of you.

WANTED—ONE RAILROAD.

The Grygla Eagle has been demanding that the Minnesota Northwestern extend its line from Goodridge so as to reach a number of towns in Marshall county now without railroad facilities of any kind. The arguments put forth by Editor Mussey and republished in another column of The Times this week are sound and should be carefully considered by the railroad management. The steadily growing business of one of the finest territories in the Northwest will be diverted in another direction entirely unless some promise is held out to these people that will lead them to hope for better accommodations in the near future.

Now Or in One Hundred Years?

(Grand Rapids Independent.)

Do you want to see the county settled up? Do you want to see the settlers who are already in the county remain and prosper? Yes? Then observe the benefit derived to the territory affected from a 20 mile electric line, built into a comparatively wild and unsettled section out of Thief River Falls, and get into line for the construction of a railroad and branches in Itasca county, which has a hundred times the resources and prospective patronage for such a road as the Thief River Falls country did.

The electric road running out of Thief River Falls was built some several years ago with private capital. It has paid the promoters well. A report by one of the officials of the road of the business done in the past four years shows a remarkable increase in the business done, tells an interesting story of the growth of a section which would probably have progressed but little without the railroad.

From the start this road carried a great many passengers. The tonnage of freight carried has increased about 20 per cent in the four years, the road having had an excellent freight patronage from the start. Great increases have been made in livestock and dairy products shipments, indicating that the country tapped by the road is making progress in the lines that spell prosperity.

Let us compare this road and its field with one such as could be built entirely in Itasca county to develop this portion of the state.

The Thief River Falls road is 20 miles long. A road sixty or seventy miles long, with branches of equal length, could be built in Itasca county. The Thief River Falls road had nothing to take out except the crops raised on the lands in its territory when the road was built. An Itasca county road would have an uncountable number of cars of forest products to move from the start. It would have the crops of a large territory already partially developed. It would have a passenger traffic which, with settlers, land seekers, timber men and hands and lake tourists and hunters, would be enormous. Most of these the Thief River Falls road did not have.

What would such a road mean to Grand Rapids? A timber man who knows that country told the writer that there would be saw timber enough along either of the lines proposed to keep a big sawmill in Grand Rapids going for twenty years. He stated that the local cooperage company would have a source of timber to draw from with convenient railroad facilities so great that it would not need to worry about timber for years and years. He stated that there would be timber for numerous kinds of other wood working factories, not to mention almost fabulous opportunities for the "cedar savages."

Furthermore, such a road running into Grand Rapids would mean that Grand Rapids would be the trading center of a vast territory. Would that mean anything to the town? The Thief River Falls twenty mile stretch carried an average of 30,000 passengers a year. Most of them, perhaps 99 per cent, went to Thief River Falls. Can we wonder that Thief River Falls is getting to be a city? Grand Rapids can have that one advantage—of having another railroad tapping a new territory—if the people will only bestir themselves.

A law providing for counties to finance a railroad through the county in the same manner in which the county builds the roads, only with different regulations for operation according to requirements, would develop the county as no other agency would. It would benefit the entire county.

Let any Grand Rapids business man who can see farther than the nickle he gets to the dollar he could get with the same amount of time and energy applied, go into the territory affected. Let him stop a bit and look over the vast resources, the dormant wealth there present and then consider the limitations placed on the country by the lack of transportation facilities. If he is not stirred with a desire to help develop such a section by working and boosting for railroad facilities, then he needs—no, not a doctor—an undertaker's services.

Let Grand Rapids wake up. Let the people of the sections affected wake up. We can develop the country now—in the next few years—or we can wait a hundred years. Which shall it be?

The Query: Who Feeds Railroad?

(Grygla Eagle)

There is an old saying, "Give honor to him to whom honor is due." This is right but not always done.

We have reference, in particular, to an article which appeared in the Thief River Falls Times under date of January 23, in a report of the work done by the Electric Railway given by General Manager Protzeller. We do not doubt for a moment the correctness of the figures given by Mr. Protzeller, but when it is claimed that a large per cent of this business comes from the eastern end of Pennington county, we claim that it is wrong, decidedly so.

There is no question but what the building of the 20 miles of the Electric line to Goodridge was a blessing to this country but would have been a much greater blessing and done a far greater amount of business had it been continued farther into this country, as it can be easily proven that a very large per cent of the business done over this road comes from eastern Marshall county and tributary territory in Beltrami county, which would have been increased many fold had the road been extended 20 miles farther. We suppose the figures were taken from the amount of shipping billed to and from Goodridge. This is easily accounted for from the fact that Goodridge being the terminal of the road, freight that is shipped to and from this country is billed to and from Goodridge, of a necessity, and for this reason Goodridge and eastern Pennington county gets the credit. We do not wish to disparage the eastern end of Pennington county, but it is only 9½ miles east from Goodridge to the reservation line, about 10 miles to the Red Lake river and 4½ miles north to the south line of Marshall county, while north of the Marshall county line freight is handled for approximately 50 miles north, 30 or more miles east besides the large amount of freight handled by Grygla.

As we stated last week, this vast territory is developing, due to railroad facilities, slow but sure, getting ready to make a "big jump" as soon as it is sure of railroad service. It is well filled with a bunch of energetic, boosting people who are now doing well but are patiently waiting to "turn loose" as soon as the road comes. Everyone is willing and anxious to do anything within reason to help a railroad into this territory, and it is safe to say that ere long a road will be built running north and south from the vicinity of Bemidji and thus open a direct shipping way by a short line to Duluth and the Twin Cities.

We want it, we need it and everything possible for us to do will be done to get it and the first in will be the first served.

The excuse of "The War" is a "back number."

TEN AND 20 YEARS AGO

Twenty Years Ago.

Since the 25th of January the weather in this section of the state was the coldest within the experience of the oldest inhabitant. The mercury never registed higher than 15 degress below zero and at times went as low as 50 degrees.

C. H. Bauman & Co., of Thief River Falls, purchased the grocery stock of L. Oriard at Germantown, and intend continuing the business. Arrangements were under way for the erection of a new store building.

Mrs. S. V. Bailey left for a visit to her old home, Atwater, Minn.

Robert McGinn left for his lumber camps to see how the work was progressing. It was a great winter for loggers, although too cold to make the best work possible.

It was rumored that H. E. Ives contemplated the starting of a newspaper at Cass Lake, to be called "The Blizzard."

Ten Years Ago.

The farmers living to the east and northeast of the city were making every effort to secure the establishment of a telephone line. Meetings for the purpose of boosting the project were held at Grygla and Highlanding during the week. The proposed line was 50 miles in length.

The total assessed valuation of Red Lake county, both real and personal, was $3,883,327, of which the real estate represented $3,724,306. The tax rate averaged 42.7 mills.

At a meeting of the Red Lake Transportation company, held at Kratka, Joe DuChamp was elected general manager.

It was announced that a corrugated culvert factory would be located in the city within three weeks.

E. L. Quist purchased the Thief River Press from S. W. Bagley and announced that he would wield the editorial pen himself.

Editor Hunt of the Sunbeam was in the city enroute to St. Paul. He stated that he was in hopes of getting a bridge across the Red river near Highlanding.

The planing mill started work Monday morning with every indication of a good run ahead.

Work of renewing the telephone system in the city was begun during the week.

SILVER WEDDING IS BIG SOCIAL EVENT

MR. AND MRS. O. N. OLSON RENEW VOWS MADE 25 YEARS AGO.

The home of O. N. Olson, 317 Horace avenue north, was on Tuesday evening the scene of a very joyous gathering, the occasion being the silver wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Olson. These worthy people were married Feb. 4, 1894, a quarter of a century ago, at Chandler, this state, and for the past fifteen years have been residents of this city. Mr. Olson has for some time been engaged in the hardware business and is one of the prominent citizens of Thief River Falls. Mr. and Mrs. Olson are the parents of five children, four of whom are living. They are Clara, Martin, Marcus and Vivian. Ruth, a junior in the local high school, died two years ago. Both Mr. Olson and his wife are members of Zion Lutheran church and are active workers in that organization. They are among the best citizens of the community and enjoy the respect and confidence of a very large circle of friends.

The wedding guests gathered at the Olson home Tuesday afternoon, and an elegant course dinner was served at six o'clock, covers being laid for fifty. The rooms were profusely decorated in pink and white, while pink and white carnations in abundance added to the splendor of the decorative scheme. Each guest was presented upon arrival with a carnation to be worn during the evening. Large dining tables were arranged in two rooms and these also were decorated with flowers and in colors to harmonize with the general effect. One table was used by Mr. and Mrs. Olson and the older guests, while the younger folks were served at the other. The wedding cake was, of course, an object of much interest, and it presented a beautiful appearance. It was a white cake composed of three layers and was crowned with twenty-five pink candles. The place cards were embellished with hand painted decorations.

Before dinner a piano solo was rendered by Miss Gerda Mortenson, and this was followed by Miss Dora Holmes, who favored the guests with a pleasing vocal selection. Miss Mortenson played the wedding march while the guests took their places at the tables, after which Rev. George Larson of the Zion Lutheran church offered a short prayer. Otto Gullingsrud acted as toastmaster. Mrs. J. H. Jacobson, C. M. Jacobson, M. V. Evenson and Theo. H. Liden were called upon by the toastmaster and each responded with highly entertaining talks. After dinner Miss Mortenson favored the guests with another piano solo, and Rev. Larson gave a talk which was much enjoyed. This was followed by another of Miss Holmes' pleasing vocal selection and a recitation by C. M. Jacobson. The final number on the program was a speech by Mr. Olson, who entertained his guests with many humorous and serious reminiscences of his twenty-five years of wedded life.

Mr. and Mrs. Olson were the recipients of a large number of beautiful silver gifts from their friends, and the following is a partial list: A fruit bowl, cake dish, two salad spoons, two cream ladles, cold meat fork, pickle fork, dessert spoon, six coffee spoons, sugar tongs, six salad forks, six fruit knives, six knives and forks, olive fork, baking dish, butter knife and sugar spoon.

Among the out-of-town guests present at the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Jacobson and Henry Jacobson of Grand Forks. Mrs. Jacobson is a sister of Mrs. Olson and is also visiting her daughter, Mrs. Otto Gullingsrud. Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Jacobson of Bemidji, the former a brother of Mrs. Otto Gullingsrud, were present, as also was Ole G. Amundson of Starkweather, N. D., a brother of Mrs. Olson.

TRIP TO CALIFORNIA RESULT OF WAR'S END

J. PFEFFER PROMISED WIFE THIS TREAT IF WAR ENDED LAST YEAR.

It is difficult to picture a more desirable result of the end of the great world war than a trip to California to spend the winter months. This is why it happened that Mr. and Mrs. J. Pfeffer of this city are now enjoying that sunny clime, where they expect to remain for two months or more. They left last Thursday afternoon on the journey.

The trip had been under contemplation for some time, but war conditions made it inadvisable to undertake the journey and for this reason Mr. Pfeffer informed his better half that upon one condition only could she hope to bask beneath the sunny skies of California during the winter of 1919. He made a solemn promise that if the war came to an end last year she should have her wish fulfilled, and when the armistice was signed Mrs. Pfeffer naturally lost no time in reminding her husband of his promise. That Mr. Pfeffer was not averse to keeping his word under these conditions goes without saying.

Entertain W. C. T. U.

The W. C. T. U. will be entertained at the C. M. Evenson home, 719 Main avenue north, on Feb. 11. A cordial invitation is extended to all.

Pleasantly Surprised.

A number of friends pleasantly surprised Mrs. O. Flattum and her daughter, Mrs. E. Overland, Tuesday evening at the home of the latter, 801 Main avenue north. There were about twenty-five ladies present. The evening was spent in playing games, after which a dainty lunch was served. Mrs. Flattum and Mrs. Overland were each the recipients of a lovely piece of cut glass.

Peterson-Parnow Nuptials.

Miss Erma Parnow of this city and Carl Peterson, a young business man of Duluth, were married Sunday evening, Jan. 19, at the home of the groom's sister, Mrs. Gust Melin, 2014 West 4th street, Duluth. The wedding ceremony was performed by Rev. Eckestrom of the Swedish Lutheran church, and Lohengrin's wedding march was played by the groom's niece, Miss Elsie Melin. The bride was attended by Miss Anna Peterson, sister of the groom, Miss Esther Hanson and Miss Ella Dzuck. The groom was attended by Carl Nelson, Malcolm Kriel and Oscar Parnow, the latter being a brother of the bride. The bride's gown was of white satin, overdraped with beaded Georgette, and she carried a boquet of white roses and lilies of the valley. The color scheme of the home was carried out in pink and white.

SOCIETIES PLAN WILL PREVAIL

WAR SAVINGS BODIES TO BE ORGANIZED IN UNITED DISTRICT.

THREE DIFFERENT TYPES

SCHOOLS, RURAL COMMUNITIES AND BUSINESS HOUSES TO TEACH THRIFT.

Minneapolis, Minn.—The week of February 17 to 24 will be Savings Society week in the Ninth Federal Reserve District.

This time was today fixed by A. R. Rogers, chairman of the Ninth District War Loan Organization, as the period in which every community in the Ninth Federal Reserve District will organize the War Savings Societies which are to be the nucleus of the 1919 campaign for Thrift, Americanization and War Savings Stamp buying. Centering on the society plan by which scores in each society and millions throughout the district will have a common point of contact through weekly or semi-monthly meetings, the District War Loan Organization aims to have Thrift written large on the minds and hearts of every man, woman and child in the district. A direct appeal will be made for the purchase of W. S. S. with the money saved.

Three Types.

Three definite types of War Savings societies have been worked out at headquarters by John H. Meyering, director of the W. S. S. division, Dr. Geo. N. Bauer, head of the department of mathematics at the University of Minnesota, who is on leave to devote himself to War Savings Organization, and the other workers under Mr. Rogers. They are:

1. A model society type for schools.
2. A model type for societies organized in rural communities.
3. A model type for industrial or commercial establishments.

On the last mentioned plan War Savings Societies will be formed in stores, factories, mills and in railroad and other offices, wherever in fact there is an establishment employing ten or more persons. The school societies, many of which are already running successfully, will be greatly increased in number and revivified and hundreds of new societies will be added to those which already are flourishing in so many rural communities.

Actually, there is hardly any limit to the number or nature of groups which can organize War Savings Societies.

In giving the models such names as "school," "community," or "industrial" the directors mean merely to indicate the general nature of the plan. Any group can organize, choosing the type that seems best suited to its needs. Every group will be urged to organize. Farmers' clubs, commercial clubs, fraternal orders, woman's clubs, clubs of boys and girls, mutual co-operative associations of all sorts, every gathering where the message of thrift, Americanization and the purchase of Government securities can be placed before a number of persons, will be utilized.

Americanization work is to be closely linked with the War Savings Societies, especially in communities where a considerable proportion of the population is not yet fully alive to the American spirit and the benefits derived from living in the United States. It is the opinion of the central committee that ownership of W. S. S. and other Government securities will be a distinct help to Americanization. It will increase the interest of the individual in his Government when he knows he owns a part of the nation's public debt.

Speed Up Organization.

County chairmen of War Savings Stamp sales have been advised by Mr. Meyering to get in touch immediately with all workers in their territories and to make preparations for forming the societies during the week of February 17. There also will be meetings of county chairmen at various points in each state of the Ninth District, at which the information of each will be made available for the others. At each of these meetings a worker from headquarters in Minneapolis will attend with information and advice. A Speakers' Bureau is being worked up which will be able to supply speakers to the societies, either at the time of organization or at subsequent meetings.

"Working on the fundamental idea of the value of Thrift, we intend also to convince every person in the district that the purchase of War Savings Stamps will make savings do a better, bigger and more valuable work than any other use of the money," Mr. Meyering said today. "At the same time, of course, the money saved and invested in stamps will be perfectly safe and will yield an interest return between 4 per cent. and 5 per cent. each year.

Save And Invest.

For more than four years the world has been spending. Now the world must either start saving to make up the loss and waste or it must fall back into stagnation and sink to a standard of comfort and happiness distinctly below that of 1914. But it is not necessary for the American people to fall back if they are thrifty and save. We have the best opportunity to save of any of the world's nations. We have food, clothing and money—all the good things in life. But we must make the basis of this prosperity secure. Saving makes the future prosperity of the individual safe. At the same time it supplies money to the Government with which the whole national structure can be so strengthened that we will not have to lose or forego our general prosperity.

"With these appeals there is also the fact that America must loan money to other nations if those nations are to continue to buy goods in the United States and by so doing give steady employment to our industrial and agricultural workers. During the war, while we were supplying the world, our production expanded tremendously. We must hold those foreign markets if we are to keep up that production rate. We must hold foreign markets or undergo such a slackening in manufacture and agriculture that every individual will suffer.

"Much of the money loaned through investment in War Savings Stamps will go to meet the overwhelming war expense which remains to be paid. Much of the rest will go to foreign nations as credits with which they can buy of us and 'keep the home wheels turning.'"

A Permanent Force.

The War Savings societies formed this year will probably become an increasingly important factor in financing the United States when the period for Liberty Loans has passed. According to Mr. Rogers, the Treasury Department plans to make the societies permanent so far as possible and to keep War Savings Stamps on sale as a means whereby every individual can save with security at the same time that he is adding to the Government's income. Not the least advantage of such a plan will be a material reduction of taxes in coming years in so far as the total of many small savings defrays the heavy national expense we must carry as a result of the war.

WAR WON, BUT NOT ENDED

Gronna Says Readjustment Days Need Aid of Every Citizen.

Statement by United States Senator Asle J. Gronna, of North Dakota:

"The war has been won, but has not ended. The days of readjustment will demand the cooperation and intelligent aid of every loyal American citizen. Money must be raised to defray war bills which will worry the guardians of the nation's financial destiny for some time to come.

"Patriotic, constructive aid can be rendered the Government now by even the smallest wage earner, and in such a manner as to make his patriotic effort a boomerang of good fortune. The Government is urging American citizens to continue the purchase of War Savings and Thrift Stamps and other Government securities, to help raise money to defray expenses which at present are even heavier than those which arose while the war was on. Our financial stability must be maintained, our credit must remain unimpaired.

"I heartily approve of the Government's plan to spread the gospel of thrift in every home throughout the land. The purchase of War Savings and Thrift Stamps is a practical manifestation of thrift. The likeness of Benjamin Franklin which appears upon the new issue is indeed significant, and homage should be paid to him by every citizen by investing in Government securities, thereby laying the foundation for the national spirit of thrift which I believe the war has inculcated in many who formerly did not know the meaning of the word."

SUPPORT OF OUR SOLDIERS

People Should Buy Liberty Bonds and W. S. S., Says Clark.

Statement by Speaker Champ Clark of Missouri:

"It goes without saying that there must and will be another big Bond Issue. Having put our hands to the plow we must not look back. We cannot afford to. Because while the world war is really over, it is not technically ended until President Wilson issues a proclamation to that effect. We still have a huge army overseas and while it should be brought home as soon as ships can bring our soldiers back, until they get back, they must be fed and clothed and otherwise cared for. It would be an everlasting shame not to do that. So people should subscribe for the impending loan and purchase War Savings Stamps as readily and liberally as they subscribed for past loans. It's for the support of our soldiers and nothing is too good for them."

SCHOOL AT PLUMMER WILL BE DEDICATED

SUPT. J. H. HAY OF THIS CITY TO DELIVER PRINCIPAL ADDRESS.

Arrangements have been made for the formal dedication of the new consolidated school at Plummer on Wednesday evening, Feb. 12. Supt. J. H. Hay of this city has been secured to deliver the dedicatory address, and will no doubt have a message of interest for the people of Plummer and vicinty. A free lunch will be furnished by the district and will be served during the evening, in addition to a splendid program which is now in course of preparation. The Plummer band will also be on hand to render a number of musical selections.

Plummer now has a school system second to none in the state when the size of the village is considered, and the district being consolidated with surrounding districts also gives these an excellent opportunity to secure the benefits of a first class school. It is expected that the attendance at the dedication services will include nearly all of the people in that part of Red Lake county and arrangements are being made to accommodate a very large crowd.

The Telephone Pole Ad Is a Thing of the Past

In the old days when every farmer drove the plough-horse to town, he had time to amble along and read the sale bills on the way.

Now, the average farmer has his eyes glued to the road while driving his six-cylinder car, and the telephone poles fly by like pickets on a fence.

Newspaper advertising is just as far ahead of telephone pole bills as the auto is ahead of the horse. Both are necessary and do good work. But the Newspaper, like the auto, gets more done quicker.

For the Newspaper is taken into the home and read at leisure. It is originally purchased because its particular editorial policy—its individual newsiness appeals, and the reader has confidence in its judgment. This confidence is reflected on the ads that that Newspaper carries and the advertisers get the benefit of this feeling of dependability.

An ad in The Thief River Falls Times is bound to bring results. We can help you prepare it, and can supply you with attractive illustrations to use in it. Let our ad-man call and explain.

NEWS NOTES FROM GOODRIDGE

Teresa Ovedia Olson.

Teresa Ovedia Olson died Jan. 31 at the Physicians hospital at Thief River Falls. The young lady was taken ill with influenza and a few days later suffered an attack of appendicitis. She was taken to Thief River Falls, where it was found necessary to perform an operation. Recovery seemed possible but the tide turned and on the afternoon of Jan. 31 she passed away. Deceased was born Aug. 14, 1899, at Germantown. [illegible] spent her early school days there and in the fall of 1914 moved to this village with her parents. In the winter of 1917 she attended North [illegible] college at Warren, and up to the time of her last illness was one of the accommodating girls employed at the Goodridge telephone office. She leaves to mourn her death, her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Martin Olson of this village; five brothers and one sister, Owen, who is with the army in France; Roy, Edwin, Harold and Robert, who reside with their parents; and Miss Inez Everhart, of Galesburg, Ill. Funeral services were held at the Synod Lutheran church, of which the deceased was a member. The church was beautifully decorated with flowers placed there by friends and relatives. The pall bearers were boys in khaki who have served their country in the army. The body was taken to the Germantown cemetery for burial.

Card of Thanks.

We wish to extend our heartfelt thanks to the many kind friends and neighbors for their kindness and help during the recent illness and death of our beloved daughter and sister, Teresa. Mr. and Mrs. Martin Olson and Children.

ST. HILAIRE

Rudolph Avelson.

The community was surprised to learn that death had summoned Rudolph Avelson, Sunday at the home of his mother, Mrs. E. Avelson in Black River township. He had been troubled with asthma and an affliction of the heart, for some time, but very few even suspected that his condition was so critical. The deceased, who was about 39 years of age at the time of death, was born in Michigan, but had moved to this part of the country with his parents in his early boyhood. The burden of responsibility was placed upon his shoulders by the death of his father when he was but a lad, but he bore it with cheerful courage and displayed remarkable skill at business management for one of his tender years. During the greater part of his early manhood he was employed in the mines in the Iron Range, but since ill health incapacitated him for work in the mines, he had been employed on his mother's farm. He is survived by his mother, three sisters, Mrs. P. S. Dalnard of Crookston, Mrs. M. Olson of this village, Miss Bessie at home, and two brothers, Adolph at home and Arthur with the U. S. Army, to all of whom the sympathy of the community is extended. At this writing no funeral arrangements had been made.

Mrs. N. A. Nelson left on Monday for a visit with relatives at Duluth.

Mrs. P. O. Haggelund came down from her home at Holt, Monday to spend a few days with relatives and friends.

The pupils of the fifth and sixth grades, chaperoned by their teacher, Miss C. Bergebakken, enjoyed a sleigh-ride about the village in the early part of Saturday evening, after which they all attended the show

Mrs. Ferdie Brown of Thief River Falls was a Sunday visitor at the home of her grandmother, Mrs. J. Branum.

James Dalnard, who resided in this village some years ago and is still remembered by some of the older inhabitants of this community, died at his home at Fargo, N. D., on Sunday, Feb. 2nd.

Nels Benoit spent Sunday with relatives and friends at Red Lake Falls.

I. Dahlen accidently fell down the stairs of his confectionery store, Sunday evening and sustained a painful bruise. For some time Mr. Dahlin has been so crippled with rheumatism that it was a risky undertaking for him to go up or down stairs in daylight, and in the dark, it was dangerous.

Rev. J. A. Orrock autoed down from Thief River Falls Sunday afternoon to conduct services at the M. E. church

Edward Vik has charge of the school bus while Ben Lardy, the regular driver, is at Crookston.

Miss Belinda Nelson, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. A. Nelson, and Walter Holmgren of Cokato, were quietly united in marriage last Thursday.

Chas. Haggelund of Holt arrived on Saturday for an over Sunday visit with relatives, departing for Duluth on Monday.

Albert Kolp returned Saturday evening from a brief business trip to Iowa, where he had been to attend to the disposal of property, received as part payment for his farm, southwest of the village, which was recently sold at $50 per acre.

About a dozen of the young friends of Oscar Gigstad drove out to the Gigstad farm, Saturday evening, took possession of his bachelor home and proceeded to make merry. The party was in the nature of a surprise.

Miss M. Daniels went to Red Lake Falls, Friday to be one of the judges at a declamatory contest.

George Fricker, who has been employed at a drug store at Bagley, returned on Thursday to his home in this village. On the following day he left for Baudette to spend a few days with his friend, Od Skele, before his departure to Jasper, Minn.

Miss Gladys Olson visited at her home over Friday night, returning to Thief River Falls, Saturday morning.

O. F. Post left last week for Crystal, N. D., where he is to be one of the employees at a large store.

After a lingering siege of illness, Mrs. N. Lindahl passed away, Thursday. Several months ago she underwent an operation, but instead of giving relief, it developed into cancer, from which she suffered untold agonies. During the winter she has been cared for at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Oscar Peterson of Hazel. The deceased is survived by her husband and several grown children.

The pupils of the seventh and eighth grades had a party at the school house, Friday evening. The time was merrily spent at playing games, after which a "peace time" luncheon was served.

Mrs. H. Georgen was a Thief River Falls visitor, between trains, Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Nels K. Anderson received the sad intelligence Saturday that their daughter, Nora, had passed away in France, where she was a Red Cross nurse. Their son, Peter, who is with the A. E. F., arrived safely in New York last week.

Miss Selma Larson returned on Saturday to her home west of this village from a stay of two months at Thief River Falls.

Several of the young friends of Gunhild Nelson helped celebrate her birthday, Thursday evening at the home of her parents, Rev. and Mrs A. F. Nelson. The guests were: Agnes and Marie Grimsrud, Mildred Aaberg Gladys Gigstad and Vivian Lang.

Miss Hazel Goings arrived from Thief River Falls, Saturday for an over Sunday visit at her parental home in Sanders township.

ROSEWOOD

We are in receipt of the following letter from a government official in France, regarding the publishing of a certain item in the Rosewood news some time ago:

"January 12, 1919. Mr. Joel Shoberg, Editor Rosewood News, Rosewood, Minn. Dear Sir: Would like to correct an article which appeared in the Rosewood news, some weeks ago Corporal Hjalmer B. Rafteseth was not discharged from the army. He has been in France almost three months and is now supervisor of the mechanical work on the French docks in Bassens-Gironde. His tireless industry has won recognition from his superior officers and we expect to see Sergeant Rafteseth on the next promotion list. Very truly yours, Master Engineer James A. Parks, A. T. S. A. P. O No. 705. Amer. E. F., France."

We deeply regret this mistake which we, however, are unable to account for as the facts were submitted from a thoroughly reliable source, and we believe it was a sudden change of plans at Camp Merritt, N. J., at that time that changed Mr. Rafteseth's intention of coming home. It is needless to say the whole community rejoices at H. B's. progress and wish him all kinds of success in the future. As far as we know he will be one of the first boys from this town to obtain a sergeant's rank in France.

The item aluded to in Mr. Park's letter was published on Friday, Nov. 8, 1918, and read:

"Hjalmer B. Rafteseth has been appointed Postmaster at Camp Merrit, N. J., and is enjoying himself first-rate. * * *." This message was received on one day and the next day came a short notice (to his parents here), that "he had been honorably discharged and could be expected home in a few days."

However, on Wednesday, Nov. 13, another longer article was published which corrected the above, and stated that Mr. Rafteseth was then aboard a ship on his way to France.

WILL DISPOSE OF BREEDING ANIMALS

STOCKMEN OFFER THE BEST THEY HAVE IN ORDER TO HELP DISTRICT.

That Red River Valley live stock breeders are looking after the future welfare of the live stock industry in this section has more than manifested itself this past week, according to W. V. Gousseff, Secretary of the Red River Valley Live Stock association.

Many of the prominent breeders of beef and dairy cattle, sheep and swine are selecting some of the good individuals from their herds and are sending them to the live stock show at Crookston, where on February 12, 150 head will be offered at public auction.

Such an opportunity does not often present itself and farmers interested in purchasing good stock should avail themselves of it. Some of the men offering the stock are taking breeding animals from their herds, simply to assure buyers that good stock will be sold and to show the seed in this section which when harvested will mean dollars to the fortunate purchasers of stock at the first annual winter sale held in Crookston, February 12, in connection with the already famous farm crops and live stock show.

BUNGALOWS OF MODERATE SIZE

New Type Designed for Lots of Good Width.

SUN PORCH IS ATTRACTIVE

Home Shown in Illustration Is Quite Compact in Arrangement and Has All Modern Conveniences.

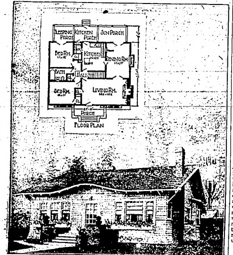
By WILLIAM A. RADFORD.

Mr. William A. Radford will answer questions and give advice FREE OF COST on all subjects pertaining to the subject of building, for the readers of this paper. On account of his wide experience as Editor, Author and Manufacturer, he is, without doubt, the highest authority on all these subjects. Address all inquiries to William A. Radford, No. 1827 Prairie avenue, Chicago, Ill., and only enclose three-cent stamp for reply.

Owning a home is the inherent desire of every head of a family. But it is doubtful if the pride of ownership is as strong in the husband as in the wife and the other members of the household. The latter spend a much greater part of their time in the home than does the man, whose days are devoted to business. Consequently it is the wife and daughters who have the greatest interest in the planning of a home.

There will be much building of small homes this year. The government has removed the restrictions that were imposed on building as a war measure and plans that were temporarily abandoned can now be brought to fruition. In both country and city building activity will be greatly in evidence as soon as spring comes.

In the meantime those who contemplate building will have the pleasure of spending the winter evenings planning the home. That is one of the greatest joys of building—planning just how the home will be after it is finished.



Undoubtedly the type of home that has the greatest appeal to the suburban and small city dweller is the bungalow. The convenience of the bungalow arrangement, the elimination of the back-breaking work of running up and down stairs, and the coziness of having all of the rooms opening one into the other brought into immediate popularity the bungalow.

Great Advance Shown.

Since the beginning of this popularity, however, there has been a great advance in bungalow designing. One of the best of these latter designs is shown in the illustration accompanying this article. This white bungalow is a new type in home architecture and is designed for those whose lots are larger than are ordinarily found in the city. It might be called the Dutch colonial type, and, in its balanced simplicity and grace of roof line, will be to the middle West what the two-story Dutch colonial house is to the East.

The bungalow is 30 feet wide and 31 feet deep, while the sun porch, sleeping porch and kitchen porch, which are ranged along the back, extend eight feet farther.

The floor plan was designed with the idea of saving the steps of the housekeeper. The living room is typical of a bungalow and has that spaciousness which makes this type of home so popular. It is 22½ feet long and 12½ feet wide. One of its attractions is a large open fireplace, with bookcases on either side. Opening off the living room toward the rear of the house is the dining room, which is large also, its dimensions being 11 by 17 feet. Built into the wall between the two windows is the buffet.

Sun Porch Attractive Feature.

Connected by a double door is the sun porch to the rear, which in summer makes an attractive breakfast room, and adds to the sense of spaciousness of the dining room. Toward the other side of the house is the kitchen, which also is of good size and is designed to accommodate the most modern kitchen equipment, so placed as to bring the greatest efficiency. To the rear of the kitchen is a porch, leading to the back yard.

The bedrooms are along one side of the house, one adjoining the living room, the other to the back of the house. Between the two bedrooms is the bathroom, which opens off a hall that connects the bedrooms. Double doors lead from the rear bedroom to the sleeping porch.

Thus it will be seen that although this would be termed a five-room house, it really is much larger.

The graceful lines of this house, with the opportunity afforded for window boxes and flower beds and shrubs surrounding it, make it particularly attractive from the outside.

This advance in bungalow design embodies the ideas of a number of architects, who have devoted much study to designing small homes. This type of home is engaging the attention of the leading members of the architectural profession more and more, as those who build homes nowadays have learned that a little money spent for advice from experienced and capable architects is worth while.

Compact Arrangement.

The design and floor plan are recommended for study to those who intend to build. The more they are studied the more it will be found that here is an excellent design for the family that will build a home of moderate size. It is compact in arrangement, has all of what is generally termed "the modern conveniences" and leaves little to be desired in appearance.

Just one word about the desirability of building this year. The cessation of the war has released many thousands of men skilled in the building trades. It also has released quantities of materials that have been used in war work. Both materials and labor now are available in abundance, and when the things that are needed are plentiful it is a good time to go ahead with any plan that entails the expenditure of money.

SLANG TERM OF OLD ORIGIN

Appellation "Deadhead" First Came Into Use When Dead City of Pompeii Was Flourishing.

Did you ever stop and think why, if you are so fortunate as to acquire a free ticket to something you should be called a deadhead? The reason for this bit of slang dates way back to the days of the ancients. In the national museum in Naples there is a case of old theater tickets that the Pompeiians didn't get a chance to use before their theater season was brought to such an abrupt close by the eruption of Vesuvius. They are made in various shapes, each shape showing which part of that particular ticket will admit you. You could get into the peanut gallery only when you presented the little pigeons, and to this day that gallery is called the pigeon loft in Italy. Then there were little skulls modeled of ivory, and these were used only by those who were to be admitted free. Hence, "deadhead."

Weird Sun Legend of Stonehenge.

In times of peace there was always an excursion to Stonehenge on June 20 to see the sun rise on the following morning, for on the 21st old Sol's first rays are supposed to strike the great altar-stone, on "Friar's Heel." This tradition tells us, used to be the signal for the sacrifice of human victims in the days that are long gone by, and it is easy, when there, to imagine the early Druids, in their white robes, oak-crowned and wearing the mystic symbols round their necks, gathering to make their offerings to Bel, as they called the sun, and to the serpent, the Beltine fires, glowing over the great plain the while.

DOES NOT BELIEVE IN RAIL CONTROL

DIRECTOR GENERAL HINES DECLARES FIVE-YEAR OWNERSHIP PLAN FEASIBLE

Director General Hines testified on Monday before the senate interstate commerce committee for the first time since his appointment as railroad head, declaring he did not believe in government ownership but in the organization of a few big railroad companies subject to close government supervision.

"I do not believe there is anything substantial in the argument that a five-year extension of government ownership necessarily means government ownership," Hines said. "I do not personally believe in government ownership. I believe there can be a form of radically constructed private ownership with close government supervision including government representation on the board of directors as will give the public and labor all the benefits of government ownership and at the same time preserve the benefits of private and self interested initiative and avoid political differences which are perhaps inseparable from government ownership."

Ice Harvest Is On.

The Soo is busy this week gathering its ice crop for the season of 1919 and already about three-fourths of the task is accomplished. The work is being done under contract by the Red Lake Ice company of this city and it is a job of some magnitude. Over 6,000 tons of ice must be put up to serve the needs of this division during the warm summer months and this is distributed to various points along the line. Besides the large ice house in the local yards, the company has similar plants at Mahnomen, Overley, Fordville, Kenmare and Drake, all of which are being supplied by the Red Lake Ice company. The ice house in Thief River Falls is by far the largest, taking approximately 3,300 tons of the total. Ice this year is much thinner than in former years due to the extremely mild weather, and the quality also is slightly below par on this account. In former years the ice has attained a thickness of about 22 inches, while this year it is only 16 inches thick. Owing to the uncertainty of the weather and the near approach of spring it was deemed best to go on with the harvest instead of waiting for colder weather to thicken the ice.

No More Sunday Freights.

In keeping with the policy of general curtailment of unnecessary expenses all along the line during these times of dull business, Sunday freight trains have for the present been discontinued on this division of the Soo. Freights No. 56 and No. 71, operating between this city and Emerson, did not make their trips last Sunday and there seems to be no prospect of the runs being resumed in the very near future. No. 71, which is a through freight, now proceeds no farther north than Glenwood on Saturday night. That this retrenchment is not confined to the Soo is evident, as papers from all over this section of the country carry news of similar action on the part of the railroad administration. The Crookston Times announces that no freight trains moved out of that city on Sunday and all yard crews were laid off. For the first time in the memory of railroad men the yard office in that city was closed on Sunday.

No Snow Troubles.

Thus far the present winter has been an unusual one from the standpoint of the railroad man whose duty it is to see that the tracks are kept cleared of snow. The unusual feature lies in the fact that thus far it has not been necessary to pull out a snow plow of any kind on this division of the Soo. The only case where a train needed help to make its regular trip developed a few weeks ago on the Fordville-Drake line, where it was found necessary to send a Congdon plow out on one trip for the regular train. This is the first time in the history of the division that February 1 has been reached without more or less trouble from drifting snow having been encountered. Of course it is yet a little too early in the year to do much crowing, for there is no telling what the weather man may take a notion to do between now and the first of May.

Trains Change Time.

A slight change was made in the running time of two Soo trains as the result of a new time table which went into effect Sunday. Train No. 163 on the Duluth line now arrives in this city at 8 o'clock instead of 7:15, while the time of arrival of the Twin City local, No. 111, has been changed from 8 p. m. to 8:30 p. m. As both these trains conclude their runs at this station the changes in time will not make any appreciable difference to Thief River Falls patrons of the Soo, except that they will be forced to wait a little longer for the distribution of the evening mail from the south and east.

Division Jottings.

Several new station helpers have been put to work recently, among them being W. F. Hanson at Strandquist, A. E. Peterson at Karlstad, A. B. Lego at Lancaster and George L. Pettingill at Bronson.

H. F. Erickson, fireman, has for the past few days been trying his hand as engine dispatcher. The boys at the roundhouse all agree that he is able to "get by" in fine style.

Wiper Even Nelson of Fordville passed through this city the latter part of last week on his way to Minneapolis, where he went for the purpose of seeking medical attention.

Eugene J. Hance, who recently resumed his former position as storeman upon his discharge from the army, made a trip to Detroit last Thursday to visit friends.

Ralph Aasland, fireman, has been enjoying a trip the past week to the Twin Cities, Duluth and Superior, where he has spent the time among relatives and friends.

L. N. Halvorson has resumed his position as night operator at Alexandria, taking the place of B. Bergsten, who is on leave of absence.

Henry J. Pederson, car man, took a short vacation a week ago and spent a few days of the time sightseeing around the Twin Cities.

B. E. Gage, fireman, has for several days been officiating in the place of Engine Dispatcher J. L. Gassow, who has been taking a lay-off.

Griffith Jones, veteran among the car men, left about a week ago for the Twin Cities on a combined business and pleasure trip.

D. M. Hennnesch is holding down the trick as agent at Waubun, taking the place of G. B. Danielson, who is enjoying a lay-off.

C. E. Strock is now agent for the Soo at Greene, N. D., vice O. R. Stavenau, who has been transferred to Whitman as agent.

Richard Hornseth, fireman, has spent several days the past week taking in the sights in and around Duluth.

Clarence Vevea, machinist's helper, has resigned his position in order to attend the Thief River Falls high school.

Miss Olga Gulrud, stenographer in the general offices of the Soo, visited over Sunday with friends in St. Paul.

Carl H. Dahl, machinist's helper, took a joy ride to Bemidji the latter part of the week to call on friends.

Carl Christopherson is a new man at the round house, having recently started work as a hostler helper.

R. L. Greenlaw has been put on as station helper at Callaway and began work the first of the week.

T. J. Briley, agent at Brooks, was a business visitor in this city for a few hours Saturday evening.

Melvin Nelson, car man helper, spent a few days the past week with friends in the Twin Cities.

M. P. Geeslin has resumed work as agent at Kramer, N. D., vice Oscar Paulson, resigned.

Louis Gruette, coach cleaner, visited over Sunday with friends at Ogema.

MUST INCREASE FOOD EXPORTS

America Called on by End of War to Supply Added Millions.

ECONOMY STILL NEEDED.

Over Three Times Pre-War Shipments Required—Situation in Wheat and Fats Proves Government's Policy Sound.

With the guns in Europe silenced, we have now to consider a new world food situation. But there can be no hope that the volume of our exports can be lightened to the slightest degree with the cessation of hostilities. Millions of people liberated from the Prussian yoke are now depending upon us for the food which will keep them from starvation.

With food the United States made it possible for the forces of democracy to hold out to victory. To insure democracy in the world, we must continue to live simply in order that we may supply these liberated nations of Europe with food. Hunger among a people inevitably breeds anarchy. American food must complete the work of making the world safe for democracy.

Last year we sent 11,820,000 tons of food to Europe. For the present year, with only the European Allies to feed, we had originally pledged ourselves to a program that would have increased our exports to 17,500,000 tons. Now, to feed the liberated nations, we will have to export a total of not less than 20,000,000 tons—practically the limit of loading capacity at our ports. Reviewing the world food situation, we find that some foods will be obtainable in quantities sufficient to meet all world needs under a regime of economical consumption. On the other hand, there will be marked world shortages in some important commodities.

Return to Normal Bread Loaf.

With the enlarged wheat crops which American farmers have grown, and the supplies of Australia, the Argentine and other markets now accessible to shipping, there are bread grains enough to enable the nations to return to their normal wheat loaf, provided we continue to mill flour at a high percentage of extraction and maintain economy in eating and the avoidance of waste.

In fats there will be a heavy shortage—about 3,000,000,000 pounds—in pork products, dairy products and vegetable oils. While there will be a shortage of about three million tons in rich protein feeds for dairy animals, there will be sufficient supplies of other feedstuffs to allow economical consumption.

In the matter of beef, the world's supplies are limited to the capacity of the available refrigerating ships. The supplies of beef in Australia, the Argentine and the United States are sufficient to load these ships. There will be a shortage in the importing countries, but we cannot hope to expand exports materially for the next months in view of the bottle neck in transportation.

We will have a sufficient supply of sugar to allow normal consumption in this country if the other nations retain their present short rations or increase them only slightly. For the countries of Europe, however, to increase their present rations to a material extent will necessitate our sharing a part of our own supplies with them.

Twenty Million Tons of Food.

Of the world total, North America will furnish more than 60 per cent. The United States, including the West Indies, will be called upon to furnish 20,000,000 tons of food of all kinds as compared with our pre-war exports of about 6,000,000 tons.

While we will be able to change our program in many respects, even a casual survey of the world supplies in comparison to world demands shows conclusively that Europe will know famine unless the American people bring their home consumption down to the barest minimum that will maintain health and strength.

There are conditions of famine in Europe that will be beyond our power to remedy. There are 40,000,000 people in North Russia whom there is small chance of reaching with food this winter. Their transportation is demoralized in complete anarchy, and shortly many of their ports will be frozen, even if internal transport could be realized.

To Preserve Civilization.

At this moment Germany has not alone sucked the food and animals from all those masses of people she has dominated and left starving, but she has left behind her a total wreckage of social institutions, and this mass of people is now confronted with absolute anarchy.

If we value our own safety and the social organization of the world, if we value the preservation of civilization itself, we cannot permit growth of this cancer in the world's vitals.

Famine is the mother of anarchy. From the inability of governments to secure food for their people grows revolution and chaos. From an ability to supply their people grows stability of government and the defeat of anarchy. Did we put it on no higher plane than our interests in the protection of our institutions, we must bestir ourselves in solution of this problem.

IT'S NOT YOUR HEART IT'S YOUR KIDNEYS

Kidney disease is no respecter of persons. A majority of the ills afflicting people today can be traced back to kidney trouble.

The kidneys are the most important organs of the body. They are the filterers, the purifiers, of your blood.

Kidney disease is usually indicated by weariness, sleeplessness, nervousness, despondency, backache, stomach trouble, pain in loins and lower abdomen, gall stones, gravel, rheumatism, sciatica and lumbago.

All these derangements are nature's signals to warn you that the kidneys need help. You should use GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules immediately. The soothing, healing oil stimulates the kidneys, relieves inflammations and destroys the germs which have caused it. Do not wait until tomorrow. Go to your druggist today and insist on GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules. In twenty-four hours you should feel health and vigor returning and will bless the day you first h of GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil.

After you feel that you have cured yourself, continue to take one or two capsules each day, so as to keep in first-class condition and ward off the danger of other attacks.

Ask for the original imported GOLD MEDAL brand. Three sizes. Money refunded if they do not help you.

CENTENARY OF THE METHODIST CHURCH

The Methodists of three states are to assemble for the launching of a great program of missionary endeavor in this area, on the dates and place mentioned. The occasion is the 100th anniversary of the Missionary society. The call of Christ and the Church asks for a Million to Pay, a Million to Pay, and a Million to Stay by the program until it is triumphant.

There are needed 9,000 men for the ministry, a host of volunteers for the mission field, and a campaign to raise one hundred millions of dollars to finance this enterprise of giving the Gospel to the ends of the earth.

Some of the greatest names in church leadership will be there. Dr. Christian F. Reisner, Dr. E. T. Mills, Dr. John E. Hancher, Dr. W. E. Doughty, Dr. Fred B. Fisher and Dr. Tindley the colored orator of Philadelphia, who has no second in his sphere since the days of Booker T. Washington. There will be many other strong men on the program. Dr. E. O. Excell and other great singers, will be there to assist.

The churches of Fergus Falls District should have a great delegation of laymen present. The district superintendent, Dr. Craig, the sub-district leaders, Rev. Blaine Lambert, Bemidji; Rev. E. E. Shawl, Crookston; Rev. G. H. Zentz, Fergus Falls, Rev. E. E. Thompson, Sauk Center; Rev. J. W. Lillico, Detroit and Rev. C. H. McCrea, Wadena, with the largest possible delegation from their churches, are planning to be present. Dr. C. H. Pierce, district chairman of the Minute Men will be present.

FREE CONCERT BY KID BAND TONIGHT

Free band concerts have been few and far between during the past couple of years and the outlook is for a particularly good attendance at the juvenile band appearance at the Auditorium tonight. Leader D. J. Cordes has chosen a diversified program sure to please everyone and the citizens should show their appreciation of the good work the boys have been doing by filling the house.

Following is the program announced:

March, "Advance Guard and Nancy Sykes Gallop"	Juvenile Band
Overture, "Superba"	Dalby
Intermezzo, "Arabian Nights"	King
Characteristic Piece, "The Aeroplane Flight"	Glogan
Waltz, "Parisian Moonlight"	King

Serenade, "A Night in June"	King
Cornet Solo, "Cordelian" (D. J. Cordes)	Cordes
Trombone Duet, "Imogene" (Swartz and Falk)	Smith
Characteristic Piece, "Minnesota Musings"	Cordes
"Star Spangled Banner."

Dentists Attend Convention.

Dr. G. W. Booren left Monday evening for St. Paul for the purpose of taking a special course in anestesia and nitrous oxide gas application. He will also attend the meeting of the Minnesota Dentists association to be held in the capital city during the last three days of the present week.

Dr. C. R. Crandall left on Wednesday evening and will be in attendance at the convention, which is expected to be one of the most interesting and widely attended in the history of the organization. The local dentists expect to return Saturday evening.

Good Job of Grafting.

James Farr, Sr., has a peach tree at his place of business, 102 LaBree avenue north which is attracting considerable attention. It is mounted on a silver pedestal and will be all lit up on Saturday evening. The tree is an elm and was grafted to a palm tree shipped from San Diego, Cal., by Col. Breeze, who is now in the city and will be present Saturday night to explain all the details connected with the operation. No admission will be charged but a collection will be taken up and the proceeds given to the committee in charge of the Armenian relief campaign.

Delightful Surprise Party.

A surprise party was given in honor of Miss Lucy Phelps last Saturday evening by Miss Margaret Siems, and a most delightful time was enjoyed by those present. As a slight token of the esteem in which she is held by her friends, Miss Phelps was presented with a fountain pen. The following guests were present at the party: Misses Lucy Phelps, Marie Morck, Agnes Hanson, Borghild Sahl, Olga Bundy, Selma Morck, Florence Bredeson, Margaret Siems; Messrs. Amil Mjelde, Howard Schantzen, Theodore Rustebakke, Ronald Schantzen, Daniel Parenteau and Sergeant John Phelps.

Rural School News

The County Spelling Contest.

Last Saturday the pupils from the different rural schools began to arrive at the Lincoln school for their county spelling contest.

The representation was small, due to insufficient time for preparation, notice of the contest reaching the teachers but a short time before the contest date.

The contest was opened by the reading of the rules and an explanation of their application, by County Superintendent, Geo. M. Gunderson. He appointed Misses Longren, Tanberg and Adolphs, three disinterested rural schools, as judges. These teachers had no pupils taking part in the contest, were not personal acquaintances of the county superintendent, and their selection was made merely because they were known to be rural teachers and the first three disinterested teachers offering to take part in the contest. As their qualifications or fitness for this work was not questioned by those present, the superintendent proceeded in appointing them.

Miss Longren was placed in charge of the oral part of the contest with instruction to change off with the other judges for the written and dictation part, while Miss Goodwin of the city school, also personally unknown to the superintendent, substituted as the third judge.

The test consisted of 25 oral words, 50 written words and a dictation exercise of about 100 words. The words were in all cases to be pronounced twice. For the oral work the contestants were all placed in another room in charge of Miss Nettoland and called before the conductress in rotation as their number and names appeared upon the enrollment blank, each pupil being allowed only one chance at spelling a word.

For the written and dictation work proper blanks were distributed for the use of every contestant. The conductress twice pronouncing every word to be spelled. The spell-down was dispensed with owing to lack of time as the result would not have affected credits anyway. As the contest took up the greater part of the forenoon the judges did not render their complete decision, but turned in the credits of each contestant as to the oral and part of the written spelling. In the afternoon the complete sets of papers were again reviewed by two other rural teachers, Misses Lee and Carlson, they completing the written and dictation exercises. In order to make a more just, fair and impartial decision three disinterested ladies of the city again reviewed the papers and arrived at the oral average per cent, written per cent, dictation per cent and average of averages per cent.

A copy of the enrollment blank with these marks are given in this article. This record gives Pauline Engelbart first place and Alice Swanson second. They will be the contestants to represent Pennington county in the Rural School Spelling contest at Crookston, Feb. 10th. Commenting upon the contest I wish to say that all contestants did very well considering the time for preparation. In some cases there were ties and in others only 1 per cent of a difference.

All returns and written papers of each contestant are placed on file at the county superintendent's office. They are open to the inspection of all interested parties, pupils as well as teachers, taking part in the contest.

The superintendent was pleased to see several of the rural teachers in attendance. It shows they appreciate spelling contests and good spelling. Some of these were: Miss Lena Gullingsrud, Mrs. Grything, Miss Uetteland, Miss Holmes, Miss Tellefson and several more whom the superintendent did not meet. Mr. Asp was the only representative of the gentlemen's rural teaching force, and Mr. Johnson and Mr. Ortloff the only two parents present. These last named gentlemen had come to revive memories of a regular old time spell-down but were sadly disappointed as the time was too limited to conduct one.

On Sept. 5, at 10 a. m. another greater spelling contest will be held at the fair grounds at the state fair. All counties are to be represented. Prizes range from $20.00 for first to $3.00 for sixth prize. As notice of this contest was mailed out in time to make ample preparations, the teachers and pupils should prepare for a largely attended county contest next fall. The superintendent will consult all rural teachers in regard to this contest and ask their views and advice as to the best method of procedure, so as to insure satisfaction to all concerned. We expect a clamour for floor space and seating capacity at this contest, expect a large attendance of parents and will give Mr. Johnson and Mr. Ortloff the best seats in the room as they were the first two parents to take an interest in this first contest.

We will conduct one of those old-time spell-downs. If the attendance should be so large that the words in a speller would be exhausted, we will use Webster's Unabridged International dictionary as a text.

I would advice all rural teachers, pupils and parents to prepare. "Prepare for the drive"! And when our representatives are sent to the State fair we will stand back of them and if they do not "go over the top", it is not our fault.

Following is the result of Saturday's contest:

Contestant	Oral average	Written	Dictation	Average of Averages
Emil Johnson	90	86	77	84
Huldah Torstveit	83	92	77	84
Huldah Odegaard	88	88	81	86
Alice Swanson	90	80	90	86
Melvin Engelstad	86	80	83	83
Pauline Engelbart	89	68	87	88
Ann Harder	88	78	69	78
Esther Anderson	88	78	69	78

PAVING MATTER IS NOT YET DEAD

MERCHANTS ASSOCIATION PROPOSES TO REVIVE ISSUE AND FORCE ACTION.

WILL CIRCULATE PETITIONS

COMMITTEES NAMED AT MONDAY EVENING MEETING TO DO THIS WORK.

If any citizen of Thief River Falls becomes obsessed with the idea that the paving proposition is a dead issue, he has another think coming. The boosters have not yet given up hope and they propose to keep right on boosting until results are accomplished. This spirit was very much in evidence Monday evening at the regular meeting of the merchants association, when the matter was thoroughly discussed from all angles. Of couse everyone realizes that it will be impossible to have any actual paving done this year but the advocates maintain that it is none too early to begin making preparations for the improvements. Paving is no small job and it is well to make haste slowly.

Opinion Will Change.

It was brought out by paving enthusiasts at the meeting that the best plan would be to pave a few blocks in the heart of the city to begin with. After the men who oppose the movement, or are more or less in doubt about it being necessary, have been given an opportunity to learn what a difference paved streets will make to the city they will soon become convinced that it is the only thing and that the program should be enlarged to include all the main thoroughfares. This has invariably been the case in all of the other smaller cities of the state where paving has been done and there is no reason why it should be different here.

Committees Appointed.

Committees were appointed to canvass the different sections of the business district with petitions in order to sound the sentiment of the business men and thus secure a tangible foundation upon which to work. It was thought best to start with the [illegible] whose property fronts on four blocks of the principal business streets of the city and the sections were made up as follows: First, on Third street from Horace to LaBree; C. L. Hansen, A. M. Langseth and Julien Provencher, committee. Second, on Third street from LaBree to Main: T. L. Melgaard, H. S. Dahlen and Robert McGinn, committee. Third, Second to Third street on LaBree, A. S. Lieberman, Fred Roth and T. P. Hamre, committee. Fourth, Second to Third street on Main: Thos. A. Way, F. J. Stebbins and Ed. Lee, committee.

A Busy Session.

After the paving matter had been thoroughly discussed, the routine business of the evening was taken up. Roy Lambert and E. O. Mogensen were appointed to secure delegates to represent the association at the Crookston Farm Crops show this week. Telegrams were sent to Sen. Knute Nelson and Sen. F. B. Kellogg protesting against the luxury tax bill now before congress. The remainder of the session was taken up with minor matters.

LARGE ATTENDANCE AT TRACTOR SCHOOL

MUCH INTEREST IN AFFAIR IS SHOWN BY FARMERS AND OTHERS.

That the tractor has come to be regarded as a very important adjunct to the farm equipment of the Northwestern Minnesota farmers is clearly demonstrated by the interest taken in everything pertaining to the gasoline driven vehicles. Farmers are keenly alive to the possibilities of these machines for increasing the productiveness of their acres and pass by no opportunity to gain further information on the subject. This fact was clearly demonstrated by the large attendance at the tractor school conducted last Thursday and Friday at the auditorium by C. Gustafson & Son, local implement dealers, under the auspices of the International Harvester company.

W. O. Whitman and T. H. O'Connell, of Grand Forks, experts in the use and care of tractors, were in charge of the proceedings, and sessions were held in the morning and afternoon of each day. Nearly fifty owners and prospective purchasers of tractors were in attendance to gain information regarding the mechanism and other subjects pertaining to tractors in general, and much practical benefit will no doubt result. A tractor, like any other machine, cannot do its full duty unless in the hands of a man who understands how to run it, and the information given out at the tractor school should aid materially in overcoming the ordinary troubles usually encountered when the machines are placed in the hands of men who have had no previous experience in handling them.

A number of students from the agricultural department of the local high school were at hand to obtain information to be used in conjunction with the regular course at the high school. The interest shown in the first tractor school makes it safe to assume that the attendance at the similar event to be conducted by the Avery company for Gustafson & Son today and tomorrow will be even more largely attended, many having expressed their intention of not only attending the school but of bringing a friend and neighbor who failed to be present last week.

HOME GUARD DRILL.

Owing to the fact that many members of the local home guard were unable to be present at the drill scheduled for last evening, it was decided to postpone the affair until next Thursday, Feb. 20. All members are requested to be present. No excuses. By order of Capt. W. B. Fuller, Company Commander.

CAFE IS SOLD TO STANTON BROTHERS

KING HOO, FORMER PROPRIETOR, TO SEEK NEW LOCATION IN WEST.

A deal was closed on Monday whereby the ownership of the Thief River cafe, 103 Third street east, was transferred from King Hoo, who had successfully conducted the business for a year and a half, to Hal S. Stanton and his brother, Edwin M. Stanton, Jr. Immediate possession was given. This leaves Thief River Falls once again without a Chinese restaurant.

King Hoo conducted a first class establishment and enjoyed a good patronage during all of the time he was in charge of the restaurant. He proved himself a good business man and enjoyed the respect of everyone. Mr. Hoo is planning a trip to the West and expects to find a location somewhere on the coast in which to establish another restaurant.

The new proprietors of the cafe need no introduction to Thief River Falls. They have made this their home so long that everyone knows them. "Hal" [illegible] will have personal charge of this department. For a year or more [illegible] was in the army and served as cook at Camp Dodge nearly all of the time. The new management will attempt to give the best service possible and will make a specialty of serving Sunday dinners for family parties. They also will keep the cafe open at all hours night and day.

COMMERCIAL CLUB MEETING TONIGHT

INSTALLATION OF OFFICERS AND FORMULATION OF PLANS FOR WORK.

The regular annual meeting of the Thief River Falls Commercial club will be held this evening at the club rooms. This is a very important meeting and every member of the organization should make an effort to be present. At this time the newly elected officers will be installed and the club will be put in shape to take up the important local work which was temporarily abandoned during the war. Plans for the new membership drive also will be considered at this meeting and it is expected this drive will be launched within a short time. Lieut. G. Howard Smith, secretary of the club, desires to state in this connection that anyone desiring to become a member of the club need not necessarily wait until he is invited to do so by a solicitor for membership, but instead make all haste in seeing that his name is placed upon the honor rooll as a live member of the livest organization in Pennington county.

Not the least important part of the meeting this evening will be the supper to be served at 6:30 by Julien Provencher of the Evelyn hotel. Mr. Provencher has officiated at similar functions on several previous occasions and there is little need of anything further being said of the spread to be dished up tonight. That it will be a good supper goes without saying and that it will be enjoyed by a large number of people is a foregone conclusion. A charge of 50 cents per plate will be made.

Immediately after supper a meeting of the directors wil be held and it is anticipated that much important business will be disposed of by this body. The new directors have under consideration and will present to the membership their plans for general club activities. That there is much work to be done is conceded, and the new board of directors does not propose to let matters drag along at any stage of the game.

Turn out to the meeting this evening and show any doubters who may reside within the limits of the city that the Commercial club is a real live body made up of real live members. Now is the time for action. The war is over and it is time for patriotic people to begin doing a little boosting for their own city and community. An active membership in the Commercial club is the most effective method of accomplishing this end.

MEMORIAL PLAN IS TAKING FORM

PENNINGTON COUNTY TO HONOR SOLDIERS AND SAILORS IN FITTING MANNER.

COMMUNITY HOUSE LIKELY

COUNTY COMMITTEE ALREADY AT WORK—MORE SUGGESTIONS DESIRED.

Pennington county is going to provide a suitable memorial for those of her sons who took part in the great war. This much is certain. The only thing remaining to be settled is the question of what form the memorial shall take and the detail of securing sufficient funds for its erection.

An executive committee composed of Supt. J. H. Hay, chairman, T. P. Anderson, secretary, N. A. Nelson, treasurer, Peter Engelstad and Gilbert Hovi, which was named by the recently organized county memorial committee of twenty-nine, held a meeting Saturday at the court house in this city. It was decided at this meeting that the time for circulating the subscription list throughout the county should be extended until the time of the annual township meetings, which are held on the second Tuesday in March. A popular subscription of two dollars per capita for the county is considered by the committee as the best method of raising the necessary funds for the construction of the memorial.

Community Building Proposed.

Although there naturally is a great variance of opinion among citizens of the county as to the most fitting memorial to be provided, it seems that a community building of some kind meets with the approval of the greatest number. One plan suggested is to erect a building on the order of the public library, though not so large, and to make of it something in the nature of a community center. The first floor could be arranged to hold historical records, war relics, service flags, complete lists and information concerning soldiers of the county who served during the war, and anything else pertaining particularly to the part taken by our people in the great struggle. The building should be provided with a full basement to contain all the conveniences of a rest room for the use of ladies and children from the country, something that has been badly needed for a long time. Such a building would not only prove a suitable memorial, but it also would serve a very useful and practical purpose in providing for the comfort and convenience of people from the country who come to the city to do their shopping.

Suggestions Are Desired.

Many other suggestions have been received by the committee in charge of the memorial. All of the suggestions have some good points in their favor and the only thing remaining is to choose the most practical. Among the memorials suggested are monuments of various kinds, parks, bridges, ornamental trees along the Jefferson highway, arches, etc. The committee is desirous of securing a comprehensive opinion in the matter from the people of the county and for this reason further suggestions are welcomed. This is a matter in which all of the people are vitally interested and a proposition that should receive the thoughtful consideration of every citizen of Pennington county.

The committee of twenty-nine will meet with the county commissioners next month, at which time a definite decision will be reached regarding the memorial. Further information concerning this meeting, the date and hour, will be announced in future issues of The Times.

WOMAN'S CLUB WILL HAVE HONOR GUEST

Mrs. George J. Allen of Rochester, state president of the Minnesota Federation of Women's clubs, will be the guest of honor at a luncheon to be given at the Evelyn hotel next Saturday. The affair is sponsored by the local Woman's club. To give club members and others an opportunity to meet the distinguished visitor, an informal reception will be given at the Commercial club rooms immediately preceding the luncheon. After the luncheon Mrs. Allen will speak on "Women's Work and the Outlook for a Broader Federation."

This is the first time Mrs. Allen has been in Thief River Falls and club women are showing great interest in her visit and message. The club regrets that the luncheon will have to be limited to one hundred because of dining room facilities. The first choise in purchasing tickets is to be given to those who have paid their membership fees, since it is the members who pay their dues who enable the local Woman's club to exist.

COMMERCIAL CLUB MEETING TONIGHT.

Special attention is called to the meeting of the Commercial club this evening. A large attendance is desired and a meeting of much importance is anticipated. The supper at 6:30 promises to be an exceptionally enjoyable affair and a plate is being reserved for you. Paste this little notice in your hat and be there, ready to give your aid in the big boosting program which the club management is planning.

Mechanics' Convention.

The annual meeting of the Mechanics Mutual Benefit association will be held in this city tomorrow. Two sessions are to be held and the Commercial club rooms have been secured as a place of meeting. Election of officers and other important business will come up before the convention. A good program has been prepared and it is anticipated that a very interesting convention will result. The association is composed of blacksmiths and allied mechanics, and comprises the northwestern portion of the state. In the neighborhood of fifty delegates are expected to attend.

MRS. BURTON TO SPEAK MONDAY

NOTED WOMAN WILL DELIVER THREE LECTURES WHILE IN THE CITY.

COMMUNITY HOUSES TOPIC

TO ADDRESS SCHOOLS, WOMAN'S CLUB AND THE GENERAL PUBLIC.

It is now an assured fact that Mrs. Marion L. Burton, wife of the president of the university of Minnesota, will be here Monday, Feb. 17, and she has consented to fill a speaking program which will occupy a large part of the day.

Mrs. Burton will deliver the first address at the high school in the forenoon at 10:30 o'clock, when she will speak in particular to the young people of the city. In the afternoon at 2:30 she will speak at the session of the Woman's club to be held that day. On this occasion there will also be a program of music in charge of Mrs. G. Halvorson, head of the music division of the club. A social hour will follow and refreshments will be served. A charge of fifteen cents will be made for the lunch.

For the General Public.

In the evening an opportunity will be given for every person in the city to hear Mrs. Burton, as she has consented to deliver an address at the auditorium at eight o'clock. There will also be short talks by Mayor G. A. Penney and Supt. J. H. Hay. As an added attraction there will be community singing directed by Miss Grindeland. Admission will be free.

Purpose of Meeting.

Mrs. Burton comes to this city under the auspices of the Y. W. C. A., but the subject of "Community Houses," upon which she will speak, is not one of any particular organization, sect or creed. It is one of humanity. Safe and sane recreation for our young people is the subject our nation is considering seriously just now, and Thief River Falls is particularly fortunate in securing a woman of Mrs. Burton's ability to present this matter to them.

Lincoln's Birthday.

Yesterday was Lincoln's birthday and union labor observed the day by refraining from work. The banks and some of the offices also were closed. The schools did not observe the holiday this year owing to the fact that an effort is being made to catch up some of the time lost during the influenza epidemic.

FREE LECTURE ON CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

The Christian Science society of Thief River Falls has made arrangements for a free lecture to be given at the auditorium in this city next Thursday evening, Feb. 20, at 8:15 o'clock. Admission will be free and the public is extended a general invitation to attend.

Charles I. Ohrenstein, C. S. B., of Syracuse, N. Y., member of the Board of Lectureship of the Mother church, Boston, will be present to deliver the lecture. Mr. Ohrenstein is a speaker of ability and will have a message of much interest and information for everyone. These lectures are delivered for the purpose of giving the public first hand knowledge relative to the doctrines of Christian Science, concerning which there is naturally more or less diversity of opinion among those who have not had the opportunity of securing reliable information on the subject. A rare intellectual treat is in store for those who attend the lecture next Thursday evening.

SWENSON DRAWS TERM IN PRISON

PLEADS GUILTY ON TUESDAY TO GRAND LARCENY IN SECOND DEGREE

M. WILLIAMS PAYS A FINE

GETS SIXTY-DAY SUSPENDED JAIL SENTENCE ON CHARGE OF GAMBLING

Gus C. Swenson of this city, who last week was indicted by the grand jury for larceny, was arrested on Monday by Sheriff W. J. LaBree and the following morning entered a plea of guilty before Judge Andrew Grindeland in district court. The judge imposed an indeterminate sentence of from one to five years, and the prisoner was on Tuesday evening taken to Stillwater by the sheriff to begin serving the sentence.

Swenson was charged with having taken orders from farmers for groceries to be shipped from Chicago. Instead of sending the orders to the concern which employed him, Swenson pocketed various sums of money accepted in advance payment and failed to forward the orders or the money to the company. In this way the farmer found himself "shy" both his money and his groceries.

Williams Gets Fine.

Martin Williams, who entered a plea of guilty to the charge of conducting a gambling house, was fined $100, which he paid. In addition a jail sentence of 60 days was imposed but this was suspended pending good behavior.

These were the only two criminal cases to be tried at this term of court. It is understood that John Papberg, who is now under indictment for bootlegging, is at present serving a jail sentence at Grand Forks for a similar offense and no effort has therefore been made by the local officers to apprehend him.

Grind of Civil Cases.

Of the civil cases only two were given trial by jury. The first, a case in which [illegible] was the plaintiff, [illegible] breach of contract in the purchase of a tractor [illegible] John [illegible]strud, resulted in a verdict for the defendant.

The second case was that of John J. Aga vs. Targe Froiness, which was decided in favor of plaintiff. This case involved the purchase of a threshing machine which defendant claims was misrepresented and for which he accordingly refused to pay.

Court Cases.

Judge Grindeland resumed court sessions on Tuesday morning and heard the evidence in the case of G. Halvorson vs. Great Northern Railway Co., Sortedahl Land, Loan and Abstract Co. vs. John Moes, and the Globe Indemnity Co. vs. G. Halvorson. The court has these cases under advisement and has not yet rendered verdicts.

The following civil cases were continued until the next term of court: E. O. Mogensen vs. Thos. L. Reedy; First National Bank vs. C. E. Ballard and Lester E. Gesell; International Harvester Co. vs. E. F. Dann; Olaf Holten vs. Soo Railway Co.; D. P. O'Neill vs. Swan Johnson; the condemnation proceedings of the state fire marshal of a building owned by K. A. and John Sundahl; Christen Urdahl vs. P. Palmer; Paine & Nixon Co. vs. Olaf Neset.

Among the cases settled out of court were the following: Duluth Iron and Metal Co. vs. Chas. Fiterman; John P. Galbraith vs. C. L. Hansen; Ole L. Ihle and Sigurd Myhrum vs. Andrew Breznay.

WRONG IMPRESSION IS GAINED FROM AD

DANCE NOT TO BE CONSIDERED OFFICIAL WELCOME TO SOLDIER BOYS.

A wrong impression has gained considerable ground during the past week concerning a dance which is advertised to take place in the auditorium tomorrow evening. It seems that many people have come to believe that this dance is gotten up as an official welcome to the returning soldiers and sailors by citizens of Thief River Falls. An advertisement carried in The Times last week served to create this impression through its wording, as the dance was advertised as being "in honor of our returned soldiers." The dance is a private enterprise, and while the soldiers will be honor guests and will be admitted free if wearing uniforms, the affair has absolutely no official sanction.

The following communication has been handed in for publication in order to set the matter straight before soldiers and others interested in the matter:

"Having received numerous inquiries from both soldiers and citizens regarding the nature of an advertised celebration in the form of a supper and dance to be given at the auditorium Friday evening, with the returned soldiers of Pennington county as honor guests, the undersigned wish to state that this celebration is being arranged by individuals and is therefore to be regarded as a private enterprise only. The official welcome to the boys of Pennington county by our citizens will be given at a later date. G. A. Penney, mayor; Chas. A. Pitkin, county federal employment service; W. B. Fuller, captain home guard company; E. M. Stanton, president commercial club; E. O. Mogensen, president merchants association."

PASTORS TAKE NOTICE.

The pastors of all churches are requested to announce from their pulpits on Sunday that Mrs. Marion L. Burton will speak on "Community Houses and Recreation for Young People," at the auditorium on Monday, Feb. 17. No admission fee.

BOY STOCK JUDGES HAVE SILVER CUP

PENNINGTON COUNTY LADS WIN COVETED PRIZE AT CROOKSTON SHOW.

Just to show the folks that Pennington county boys know something about the good points of live stock, the judging team representing the agricultural department of the local high school came back from the Farm Crops show at Crookston with a silver cup. This is the second time that the trophy has been in the hands of a Pennington county judging team and all they have to do is to win the cup once more to become permanent owners. Hallock also has won the cup on two occasions and the race will be warm between the two schools to see which will get the high marks in the contest next year.

Eight teams took part in the judging contest at Crookston on Monday and the Thief River Falls boys are entitled to much credit for the splendid showing made. The fact that they won the cup is remarkable when it is considered that the agricultural department of the high school did not open this term until the first of the year and the time for preparation has therefore been very limited. Lieut. L. R. Hiatt, who has instructed the boys, is entitled to much credit for his thorough work. The judging team was composed of Lester Coyle, Henry Stenzelson, Elmer Larson and Benny Lind.

ORGANIZE TO FLOAT NEXT LIBERTY LOAN

LIEUT. G. HOWARD SMITH NAMED AS CHAIRMAN FOR COUNTY.

A meeting for the purpose of forming an organization to carry on the next Liberty Loan drive was held in this city Saturday evening. The meeting was attended by representatives from all the banks of the county and a number of others interested in the work. Contrary to the custom followed in previous drives, it was decided to choose a chairman outside the banking fraternity, and Lieut. G. Howard Smith was accordingly named for this important position. C. A. Pitkin was chosen vice chairman.

It is expected that the drive for the Fifth Liberty Loan will be launched about April 6 and will continue until April 23. While the amount of the loan has not yet been definitely decided upon, it is thought that it will be the same as the Fourth—six billion dollars. According to the method used in alloting quotas, Pennington county will be required to raise about $360,000. While no definite plan has yet been decided on for doing the work, it is probable that the same system used in former drives will be employed. Committees will be appointed in the various villages and townships and each precinct will be given its share of the total to be raised. While Pennington county went over the top in all previous loan drives, it is feared in some quarters that the forthcoming loan will be more difficult to obtain. The fact that the war is over and the further fact that people have stood a heavy drain in supporting the various war drives adds to the difficulty. The government is preparing an extensive educational campaign to be launched soon and this will undoubtedly reduce to a large extent the difficulty of performing the mammoth task.

J. B. Ludlow of Minneapolis, representing the Central Liberty Loan committee, was present at the meeting Saturday evening and gave a very interesting talk. He also appointed the chairman and assisted in organizing the local committee for the drive. The names of the precinct committeemen will be published in The Times as soon as the appointments are made.

Theodore Myrom Ill.

Mr. and Mrs. Anund Myrom left last Thursday for Riverton, this state, being summoned by a telegram announcing the serious illness of their son, Theodore. The young man had been employed as fireman in the Riverton power house.

CITY ATTORNEY MAY LOSE JOB

MAYOR PENNEY CONTENDS THEO. QUALE HAS NO RIGHT TO SERVE.

SAYS POSITIONS CONFLICT

THINKS SAME MAN CANNOT SERVE AS COUNTY AND CITY ATTORNEY.

Can the office of city attorney and county attorney be held by one and the same person? This is the question brought up by Mayor G. A. Penney in a communication addressed to the council at the Tuesday evening meeting of that body. The mayor thinks a man cannot hold both offices and cites the opinion of the attorney general of the state in proof of his contention. Theo. Quale, city attorney, while realizing that through some remote chance the two positions might become incompatible, believes that he is justified in holding onto the job as long as such contingency does not arise. The city council has not yet acted, and there the matter stands.

Holds Up Salary.

Mayor Penney has returned unsigned the city warrant made in payment of Mr. Quale's salary for January, giving as his reason that the office is now legally vacant and therefore Mr. Quale is not entitled to the money. The mayor contends that the vacancy has existed since Mr. Quale became county attorney the first of the year. He cites an opinion of the attorney general in proof of this, and also presented a letter from the attorney general's office and a copy of this opinion to the council. The mayor's communication to the council, the letter from the attorney general's office, and opinion referred to above, are as follows:

The Communication.

"To the Honorable City Council. Gentlemen: In returning unsigned the warrant made out in favor of Mr. Quale, salary for the month of January, 1919, I feel that a few words of explanation are due your honorable body.

"In the first place Mr. Quale should know and so advise you, that his office of city attorney expired when he became county attorney of Pennington county, and why this has not been done I cannot understand. I have no more right to sign the warrant than Mr. Quale has to endorse and receive payment on same. There is no personal feeling in the matter, but the law is very plain and we have no choice.

"I am therefore returning the warrant for your consideration, with the suggestion that you appoint a city attorney to fill the vacancy now existing, at your earliest convenience. Yours very respectfully, G. A. Penney, Mayor."

The Letter and Opinion.

The letter from the attorney general's office is as follows:

"Hon. G. A. Penney, Mayor, Thief River Falls, Minn. Dear Sir: Answering your inquiry of recent date regarding the compatibility of offices of county and city attorney, I enclose herewith copy of an opinion rendered on November 5, 1910, by then Assistant General Clifford L. Hilton, which opinion I think fully answers your inquiry. Yours truly, Rollin L. Smith, Assistant Attorney General."

The opinion referred to is given below:

"J. P. McMahon, Esq. Dear Sir: You state that you are city attorney of Faribault and your term of office is for one year under the charter of your city. You also state that you are a candidate for county attorney and if you are elected you desire to know if for any reason you should resign your position as city attorney. I am of the opinion that the two offices are incompatible and that upon being elected and qualified as county attorney you should resign your office as city attorney. Yours truly, Clifford L. Hilton, Assistant Attorney General."

CONCERT AT MAVIE BY SILVERTON BAND

Big doings are promised at Mavie for Saturday evening. The whole countryside will be there to attend the concert by the Silverton township band, after which the evening will be rounded out with a grand ball. The affair is given under the auspices of the band and the proceeds will be used to defray the running expenses of this organization.

The band boys have been practicing diligently for a long time and have prepared a program that will be sure to please the public. Just because the boys are farmers is no reason why they cannot produce good music and those who attend the concert may rest assured that they will hear a good selection of musical numbers. The dance also promises to be an unusually enjoyable social affair. The general public is cordially invited to attend both the concert and dance.

FARMERS AGAIN TO LACK HELP

LABOR CONDITIONS NOT EXPECTED TO REACH NORMAL NEXT SEASON.

YEAR ROUND LABOR BEST

DEPARTMENT TO MAINTAIN ORGANIZATION TO AID IN SUPPLYING HELP.

Even if peace treaties should be formally executed before the next harvest season, farm labor conditions in the United States will not automatically return in 1919 to prewar conditions. Therefore the United States Department of Agriculture is planning farm labor activities for 1919.

Officials of the department suggest that the farm labor situation in 1919 may be quite as serious as that of 1918. A large part of our Army may remain in Europe throughout the year.

The area of winter wheat sown in the fall of 1918 is estimated by the Department of Agriculture at 49,027,000 acres, which is 15.9 per cent more than the revised estimated area sown in the fall of 1917.

The winter wheat acreage speaks a volume in regard to the need for farm help. Three or four men will be needed to harvest what one man has planted—and there has been no claim that there was a surplus of labor for the planting operations.

The Department of Agriculture plans to maintain its organization that aided in supplying farm labor in 1918. It will aim to tap every source of emergency help—men, women, and girls from the cities, the Boys' Working Reserve, and other organizations of that sort.

Permanent Labor Advocated.

The main effort of the department, however, is to be centered on placing men permanently as helpers on the farms. Permanent labor, employed the year around under good living conditions and at fair wages, is believed to be one of the prime needs on literally millions of American farms.

Many soldiers and men who have left the farms for war industries—and figures show that war industries took more men from the farms than were given to the Army—are expected to return to the farms if they are offered permanent and profitable employment.

What is the farmer's part in making farm labor permanent? In the first place, department officials believe every farm that has an idle period during a part of the year should so plan its operations that there will be work through every season. Crops can be rotated, live stock fed, dairying pursued, and poultry produced. These activities, added to grain production, will solve the problem in many sections, it is believed.

Large numbers of married men should be working on the farms, it is stated. To get them, better tenant houses are needed in many cases and permanent employment is a prime necessity. To help meet the need for good tenant houses the department has developed plans for model structures.

Cooperation Helps Farmers.

One feature of the department's work deals with stimulating cooperation and exchange of labor among farmers. For example, it recently has listed the heads of more than 1,000 threshing rings in Ohio, Indiana, Illinois and Michigan. These rings include from 3 to 20 farms and involve not only the cooperative purchase of a threshing machine, but also the cooperative arrangement of crews for harvesting and threshing. The plan has proved so successful that the same idea is spreading to other kinds of farm work which can best be handled by crews or teams of men.

PLUMMER SALOONS TO OPEN FEB. 22

DELAY CAUSED BY EXPIRATION OF LICENSES WHEN DRY ORDER CAME.

Two applications have been made for licenses to sell intoxicating liquors in the village of Plummer, which is now legally "wet" following the rescinding of the famous "dry" order by the State Commission of Public Safety. If the applications are favorably acted upon by the village council it means that Plummer will again have saloons after Feb. 22 and until the federal dry ruling becomes effective on July 1. Thom Norby and Ed. Johnson, who for several years conducted the Plummer saloons, are the applicants. The former licenses held by these men have expired.

A peculiar tangle in connection with the issuance of the liquor permits arises from the fact that a village ordinance provides that no license can be issued for less than one year. As the whole country goes dry July 1 it is a little difficult for the village authorities to arrive at a satisfactory solution as to what fee should be charged for the intervening period.

STATE MAY AID RIVER CONTROL

SUCH IS REPORT GIVEN TO DAILY PRESS BY D. P. O'NEILL.

TO APPROPRIATE $100000

EXPENDITURE OF THIS SUM WOULD RECLAIM THOUSANDS OF ACRES.

Co-operation by the war department, the state, the Indians of the Red Lake reservation, and water power companies in a great project for controlling the outflow of Red Lake through the Red Lake river is practically assured, according to reports appearing in the daily papers of Wednesday.

The plan calls for the largest combined drainage and water power enterprise in Minnesota.

The only thing remaining to assure its success, according to D. P. O'Neill of Thief River Falls, former state senator, is passage of a bill appropriating $100,000 to aid in deepening and straightening the Red Lake river.

Much Power Held Available.

Red Lake is the largest body of water within Minnesota, with an area of 440 square miles. A dam only five feet high, it is asserted, will impound of the Red Lake river for a four-year enough water to assure a steady flow period. The average flow of the river as recorded by government engineers for 28 months is 2,500,000,000 cubic feet a month, and there is a fall of 150 feet in the 50 miles between Thief River Falls and Crookston. Already there are four water powers on the river, with fall available for four more, and all they need is a well regulated flow to insure a great supply of electric current for that section of the state.

Land reclamation resulting from the project would be on a large scale. A report to the secretary of the interior by government engineers in 1914 says that 236,000 acres of land belonging to the Red Lake Indians, now practically worthless, would be reclaimed. In addition there are 10,000 acres of land farther down the Red Lake river which are subject to overflow every spring. The state is under obligation to help the project its friends say, because state drainage ditches turned into Red Lake have upset the former order of things, causing a quick run-off of water every spring and consequent floods.

$750,000 Declared Assured.

D. P. O'Neill is chairman of a committee formed recently at a meeting in Crookston, representing Polk, Pennington, Red Lake, Clearwater and Beltrami counties, to work for the project. Mr. O'Neill said yesterday that funds for a $750,000 project are assured if the state will do its part.

"Red Lake is now at 1,174 feet above sea level," said Mr. O'Neill. "It is unusually low, and at 1,172 feet it will cease to discharge its waters at the outlet. Waterpowers would become idle, and the river would be useless to cities which use it for sewer outlets, and in the case of East Grand Forks, for water supply. But when the lake is at a higher level it overflows lands north and east of it, making drainage ditches in that territory worthless.

"The plan is to deepen the river channel so 1,174 feet can be maintained as the maximum level of the lake, with a five-foot dam to impound the waters of the basin. It would be regulated by the war department to hold back the spring flood waters and release them uniformly through the year. The flood waters would be held back until the high water of the Otter Tail river has passed Grand Forks, and this would also prevent floods in the lower Red River valley.

Drains 2,000 Square Miles.

"Owing to the great area of the lake a head of four feet will give a four-year supply at a steady flow for the river. The basin drained by the lake covers 2,000 square miles, and all the waters of this basin could be impounded and controlled by the five-foot dam.

"Estimates on the cost of this dam range from $30,000 to $100,000. We build the dam, but it would be subter power companies stand ready to jected to control of the war department as the Red Lake river is classed as a navigable stream.

"For 20 miles from the outlet of the lake, the Red Lake river has a fall of only 10 feet, or six inches to the mile, and no banks. This is all within the Red Lake Indian reservation. Lands on both sides of the river are subject to overflow every year. If the water can be regulated, the Indians stand ready to pay the cost of deepening and straightening the river through the reservation. They have $150,000 now in their tribal funds from the sale of timber, and eventually will have several times that sum.

"The state appropriation asked for would complete the work of deepening and straightening the channel from the reservation line down to Highlanding, where the more rapid fall begins.

The proposed level of the lake, from 1,171 to 1,174 feet, would do away with overflow of the lands near the lake, and the dam would protect the lands along the Red Lake river. It is impossible to estimate what a regulated, steady flow for the Red Lake river would mean in the development of power. There would be no power worth while at the outlet dam, but the steady flow of water assured would mean everything to waterpowers from Thief River Falls to Crookston."

Congressman Halvor Steenerson has taken an active interest in the plan, and the war department, Mr. O'Neill says, is ready to co-operate to make it a success. No federal appropriation is asked for, as there is no chance to use the river for navigation purposes.

SOLDIERS GET AID IN NORTH DAKOTA

BILL TO EDUCATE AND PROVIDE FOR RETURNED SOLDIERS IS PASSED.

North Dakota will be the first state in the Union to show its gratitude for its returned soldiers in a tangible way. A bill levying a tax of one-half of one mill upon all assessed property in the state for the purpose of creating a "returned soldiers' fund," to be used in aiding soldiers to purchase homes or complete their education, has been approved by the legislature of that state.

The act provides that any citizen of the state who has been honorably discharged from the military or naval forces of the United States, or of any of the governments associated with the United States, may, after proper application has been approved by the adjutant general, receive from the returned soldiers' fund $25 for every month or fraction of a month that he was in the service.

It is optional with the soldier whether he uses this money to make first payment on a home, as provided by the home building association act, or whether he devotes it for the completion of his education. Payments shall be made quarterly until all soldiers have been paid the full amount due them. Soldiers in the service a year will be entitled to $300 under the proposed act.

The act is to be administered by the adjutant general, under the supervision of the industrial commission. The adjutant general also is instructed to co-operate with the United States government in an endeavor to obtain additional assistance for the soldiers. Twenty thousand dollars is appropriated to carry out the bill's provisions.

The tax is expected to raise a fund of $1,000,000 annually. There are about 30,000 soldiers in the state eligible to this aid under the provisions of the proposed law. It is estimated that their average term of service is about eight months. This would necessitate a tax for a six-year period to take care of North Dakota soldiers.

WINS HONORS IN SPELLING MATCH

MISS PAULINE ENGELBART GETS FOURTH PRIZE AT CROOKSTON EVENT.

That the rural schools of Pennington county are producing some good spellers among pupils is evident from the showing made by the delegates from this county to the district spelling contest at Crookston on Monday. At the elimination event previously held in this city, Miss Alice Swanson of Kratka and Miss Pauline Engelbart, who lives in District 54 near St. Hilaire, were chosen to represent the county in the big event. The latter succeeded in securing fourth place while Miss Swanson made an excellent showing but failed to land a prize.

Seven counties were represented at the Crookston contest. The affair was held in connection with the Farm Crops show and under the auspices of its management. Oral, composition and written exercises were used to determine the winners. The delegates were entertained during their stay in Crookston at the expense of the Farm Crops show managers, while the railroad fare of the contestants from this county and Miss Palma Holmes, teacher in District 54, who accompanied them, was donated by John Engelbart. Mr. Engelbart is an old-time spelling enthusiast and has for years been active in most of the rural school spelling events in his section of the county. If he is successful in carrying out his program, some mighty interesting "spell downs" may be looked for within the next few weeks.

An Ingenious Machine.

A new machine for measuring cloth has been added to the equipment of Loken Brothers' store. The machine not only measures the cloth accurately and quickly but also computes the price of the goods measured. It will add materially to the excellent service which this store is giving to its customers.

New Flag for Auditorium.

A fine new flag 8x14 feet in size now graces the flag pole of the city auditorium and is a decided improvement over the former emblem of liberty, which had seen service in the wind and weather until it was badly tattered. The new flag was purchased by the city clerk under instructions from the city council.

BOYS ENROLL IN WORKING RESERVE

LIST IS YET OPEN AND MANY MORE MEMBERS ARE DESIRED.

A considerable number of Pennington county boys have enrolled in the Boys' Working Reserve for 1919. Not all who are eligible have yet enrolled, however, and any boy between the ages of 16 and 20 who wishes to enroll for either farm work or some form of idustrial work may do so by applying to the librarian in charge at the Lincoln high school library.

Following is the list of Thief River Falls boys who have thus far turned in their enrollment cards:

Buhton Aarness, Roscoe Bakke, Leslie Bigelow, Vernon Copp, Lester Coyle, Francis Erickson, Reuben Hadrath, Norbert Holzknecht, Benny Lind, Amos Mostue, Marcus Olson, Orton Olson, Melvin Rude, Gustaf Thompson, Harold Westin, Gregory Werstlein.

Lieut. L. R. Hiatt, in charge of the agricultural department of the local high school, is looking after the enrollment of the Boys' Working Reserve and is naturally desirous that the city should make a good showing in this respect. Lieut. Hiatt will be pleased to explain the proposition in detail to any young man who may be interested but who does not fully understand the movement.

GIRLS' BASKET BALL TEAM WINS BATTLE

WARREN TEAM DEFEATED ON TUESDAY EVENING BY SCORE OF 27 TO 18.

The first real battle of the season for the Thief River Falls high school girls' basketball team occurred Tuesday evening at the local gymnasium in the game with the girls' team from the Warren high school. The contest was intensely interesting from start to finish and was the fastest girls' game seen here for some time. At the beginning of the game Warren secured the first basket, which only served to make the fight worth while for the locals. At the end of the first half the score stood a tie—11 to 11.

At the beginning of the second half the fighting spirit of the local team was more in evidence and if Warren had planned on an easy game they were doomed to disappointment. The local team as a whole did splendid work, but the basket shooting by Christine Lundberg and the quick and plucky guarding by Grace McCrum are worthy of especial mention. The former young lady was credited with nine baskets and two foul throws during the game, while Louise Erickson negotiated three baskets and one foul. The local players missed only one free throw, while the Warren lassies failed to land the ball on seven occasions. At the end of the game the score stood 27 to 18 in favor of the local girls. That the Thief River girls are entitled to considerable credit for being able to defeat the Warren team is evident from the fact that the latter have recently been victorious in contests with East Grand Forks and Argyle, in both instances by decisive scores.

The lineup in the game Tuesday evening was as follows:

T. R. Falls.		Warren
L. Erickson	rf	C. Halvorson
V. Lund	lf	I. Johnson
C. Lundberg	c	B. Lundquist
G. McCrum	lg	H. Skoog
A. Herron	rg	E. Johnson

Myrtle Krohn and Helen Erickson substituted as left forwards in the second half.

Library Has Reports.

The local public library is in receipt of the official reports covering the first year of operation of the railroads under government control. This is a very interesting document and anyone desiring to peruse it may do so by calling at the library.

CROP YIELDS OF GOLDEN VALLEY PEAT EXPERIMENT FIELDS FOR SEASON 1918

Comprehensive Report of Results Obtained By Soil Experts Through Different Methods of Treatment and Cultivation.

A comprehensive report concerning the work accomplished at the Golden Valley Peat experimental station has been prepared by Prof. F. J. Alway, soil expert of the University of Minnesota, and C. G. Selvig of the Northwest School of Agriculture, Crookston. This report was sent to D. P. O'Neill, who has taken an active part in peat land reclamation, and The Times is privileged to publish it in full. It is as follows:

The district surrounding Golden Valley, a postoffice in Marshall county fourteen miles east of Holt, the nearest railway station, is covered with a layer of peat from 12 to 36 inches in depth. Underneath the peat is a thin layer of black muck, below which is a yellowish gray clay loam. In 1918 the Department of Agriculture of the University of Minnesota conducted experiments with various crops on two fields with typical peat soil near the postoffice, there being 384 separate plots. Notwithstanding the distance from the railway, these fields were visited during the latter part of the summer by many hundreds of people, most of whom are personally interested in the cultivation of peat lands. This brief statement of the crop returns is intended chiefly for these visitors.

A bulletin giving a detailed description of the experiments, and the yields from all the individual plots is now in the course of preparation, together with one dealing with peat soils in general, and these will be sent as soon as published to anyone who sends his name and address to the Office of Publications, University Farm, St. Paul.

Previous Cropping of Fields.

For the information of those who have not visited Golden Valley, it may be said that both fields were on the same farm, and separated by only a few rods. One had never been manured, fertilized or burned over, while the other had been deeply burned in the autumn of 1917. Both had originally been covered by a layer of peat from 12 to 36 inches deep covered by grasses and sedges, and both are now thoroughly drained by a large open ditch. Both had first been plowed in 1913, seeded to flax in 1914 and to oats and barley in 1915 and 1916. The flax yielded about three bushels per acre, while neither of the other crops was considered worth cutting. Late in 1916 part of the one field was lightly burned over and in 1917 a fair crop of oats was secured while on the rest of the field and on the whole of the other the crop was again a failure.

In the autumn of 1917 the whole of the first field was burned over, and from 9 to 18 inches of peat being thus removed and on about a third of the portion used for experimental plots the black muck was exposed, while on the rest of the field the peat remaining was from 19 to 18 inches deep. The other field was not touched by the fire and received no ash from the near-by burned land. The peat on this varied from 18 to 30 inches in depth.

Fertilizers Tried.

On the field of burned peat, part of the plots were prepared by disking without plowing, others were first plowed and still others were plowed, disked and rolled. All were worked smooth with a spike-toothed harrow and seeded at the same time as those on the field of unburned peat, which was plowed late in the autumn of 1917, in the following spring laid out in plots, fertilized as shown in Table 1 and, as soon as the ground was sufficiently thawed was disked, harrowed, rolled with a heavy concrete roller and seeded to the various crops shown in Tables 2 and 3.

1	No manure or fertilizer
2	Manure	12 tons
3	Potash	Neb. potash salts, 1,000 lbs.	53.00
4	Phosphate	Acid phosphate, 400 lbs	4.60
5	Phosphate and potash	Like Nos. 3 and 4 combined	57.60

Manure, Phosphate and Burning.

The tables need little comment. They show the poor yields on the unburned, unfertilized soil and the great increases caused by manuring, the use of phosphate or burning. Flax is an exception. On all of the burned peat it showed no benefit from phosphate. Wheat, on account of rust and other plant diseases, was a very poor crop on all the plots.

The hay yields shown in Table 3 are from plots sown without a nurse crop on May 16, 1918. The main yields on these are not to be expected until 1919. There was an excellent stand on all the plots, the differences in yield being due to differences in growth and not to differences in stand.

Immediate Fertilizer Needs.

The immediate fertilizer requirements of the peat soil at Golden Valley are evident. To secure a satisfactory growth of crop plants, phosphate must be supplied in some form, by either manuring, burning or adding a phosphate fertilizer. The benefit from the burning is due to the addition of ash and not simply to removal of the whole or part of the peat layer. If the ash should be largely blown away by the wind, the beneficial effect of the burning may prove very slight. While the peat contains much phosphate it is present in such a form that the plants cannot make use of it, but the burning changes it into a form readily available to the plants. The peat ash may be regarded as a low-grade phosphate fertilizer, and when added to the unburned peat in sufficient amounts will cause good yields.

Future Fertilizer Needs.

This feature of the peat land problem will be discussed in one of the bulletins mentioned above. It is probable that potash also will be required within a few years on part of these peat soils if the good crops secured by burning or the use of phosphate are removed and no manure returned.

A Warning.

Most peat soils need applications of potash as well as of phosphate, some need potash only and again others need lime as well as potash and phosphate. There are various kinds of peat soils and a peat land owner, especially if his land is at any distance from Golden Valley, should not be led by the above results to believe that a similar treatment of his peat soil will give similar results and as a consequence be induced to enter upon peat land reclamation on a large scale.

The weather at Golden Valley during the last season was exceptionally favorable for grain crops on peat soils, there being no injury from summer frosts, early autumn frosts or excess of water. For the hay crops, however, the season is not to be regarded as unusually favorable.

Acid Phosphate.

As most of the grass-covered peat lands of Marshall, Pennington, Clearwater, Polk, Kittson and Roseau counties and the western part of Beltrami county appear similar in origin and composition to those at Golden Valley, it is not improbable that most of them will behave similarly with phosphate, manure and burning. Peat land owners in these districts are advised to experiment on their own fields with acid phosphate on a small scale. One who wishes to secure a supply of this fertilizer at actual cost for experimental purposes should get into communication with the farm bureau of his own county.

As trial crops, spring rye, oats, barley and a mixture of alsike clover and timothy are recommended. The acid phosphate, applied broadcast at the rate of from 200 to 400 pounds per acre, should be well worked into the soil before seeding.

To Owners of Burned Peat Land.

If you have land on which at least 4 inches of peat has been burned off, it should be seeded to a crop before the weeds have a chance to get a foothold. On all such burned peat soils a good growth of crops may be expected the first year after burning, but on some there will be only a poor yield in the second and following years, on others the beneficial effect will gradually disappear during the course of four or five years while on some very shallow peats the productivity may continue as on ordinary soils.

To the burned peat apply neither manure nor phosphate as they are unnecessary. Prepare a good seedbed, using plow, disk and drag according to local conditions. As crops, plant rye, barley, oats or a grass mixture of timothy and alsike. Do not sow flax on burned peat.

FEDERAL JURY INDICTS PAN MOTOR OFFICIALS

THIRTEEN OFFICERS CHARGED WITH USING MAILS TO DEFRAUD.

Thirteen officers of the Pan Motor company, St. Cloud, were on Saturday indicted by the federal grand jury at Chicago on charges of conspiracy and use of the mails to defraud. The indictment charges that the Pan Motor company misrepresented its equipment and production and disposed of about $5,000,000 worth of stock in the concern. Advertised as producing motor cars and trucks, the indictment says the company merely assembled a few machines.

S. C. Pandolfo, now president of the Pan Motor company, was named as active in disposing of much of the stock, the indictment charging he became interested in the concern as a promoter, selling stock at double the par value of $5 per share, at a fat profit.

The men indicted are: S. C. Pandolfo, president; George Barritt, secretary; Charles E. Ladner, vice president, and Charles E. Schwab, treasurer, all of St. Cloud; Directors Norman A. Street, Chicago; George Hardman, Chicago; H. S. Wiggle, Spokane, Wash.; Fred Schilpin, Charles Bunnell, George Hanscom, Peter R. Thielman, H. C. Ervin and Hugh Evans, all of St. Cloud.

Officers of the Pan Motor company have authorized the following statement in regard to the indictments returned against its officers at Chicago:

"The directors of the company deny that any state or federal law has been violated. The affairs of the company have been honestly and efficiently administered and every dollar paid in by the stockholders is properly accounted for on the books of the corporation. This company has a manufacturing plant costing $2,000,000 and is a going concern in active operation with nearly 400 employes. The plant is now engaged in contract work for private firms and the government and it has begun making the dies and parts for its 1919 car, work on which was delayed because of the war. The capital stock of the company is unimpaired and it is in excellent financial condition, having accounts receivable to its stock of over $1,000,000 in addition to present plant investment."

To Judge Livestock.

A livestock judging team representing the agricultural department of the Thief River Falls high school left Sunday evening for Crookston to take part in the contest arranged in connection with the Farm Crops Show held in that city. The judging team was composed of Bennie Lind, Lester Coyle, Elmer Larson, Henry Stengelson and Dennis McGinn. The party was chaperoned by Lieut. L. R. Hiatt, instructor in the agricultural department of the local schools.

Sojourning in Texas.

Red Lake Falls Gazette: Mr. and Mrs. John A. Duffy left Wednesday for San Antonio, Texas where they will spend the remainder of the winter. Mr. and Mrs. Duffy have been to San Antonio for a number of winters and find it an ideal climate for Mr. Duffy. Last winter they spent part of the time in Florida but found it too damp a climate for comfort.

SHEEP INDUSTRY GETS BIG BOOST

PLAN PROPOSED WHICH WILL MEAN GREAT DEAL TO PENNINGTON COUNTY.

$50 HUNG UP AS PRIZES

BOYS' AND GIRLS' CLUBS TO BE ORGANIZED TO RAISE SHEEP.

The Agricultural Extension Division is endeavoring to have more sheep raised on the farms of Northern Minnesota. State Club Leader F. A. Erickson is organizing sheep clubs for boys and girls in any county where an enrollment of ten members can be secured. It is necessary for the County Fair association or other organizations to encourage the work with a premium list of at least $50.00. In Pennington county the Citizens State bank of Thief River Falls co-operated with this movement by offering the $50.00 for premiums. The following is an outline of the requirements:

1. Age: Any club member 10 to 18 years, inclusive.
2. Club members must start with at least two bred ewes.
3. Club members must own the ewes. Ewes may be either grades or pure bred, and must be selected and marked at least one month before lambing time.
4. Lambs must be dropped not earlier than March 1st.
5. Contest must close with an exhibit at the county fair or a special "lamb show" not later than October 15.
6. Each contestant shall exhibit best fat lamb, either ewe or wether, at final contest. Ram lambs not to be exhibited.
7. The final state contest will be held at South St. Paul in connection with the Baby Beef show during November, 1919. The club members three premiums will be given a free trip to this show with all expenses paid. They then have the privilege of selling their lambs at the St. Paul sale or taking them back home.
8. Basis of Awards: Thrift and general appearance, 40 points; conformation to type of breed, 25 points; story, "How I Raised My Sheep," 10 points; weight of lambs produced, 25 points.

The story should include the care and management of the ewes, the amount of wool produced and the raising of the lambs.

Any boy or girl in Pennington county who wishes to join the club should enroll at once either at the Farm Bureau office or at the Citizens State bank. If the sheep can be obtained from your father's farm it will save the trouble of purchasing away from home. If you have not sheep at home call at the Farm Bureau office and some will be located for you. If you know of anyone having ewes for sale please inform the Farm Bureau so that the bureau may be able to help those who have no sheep on their farms.

For further information call at the Farm Bureau office or at the Citizens State bank.

Poultry and Pig clubs also will be started in Pennington county. E. F. Fudge of the State department in St. Paul will be in Thief River Falls very soon to help organize the work.

STEENERSON STANDS BY FARMER FRIENDS

OPPOSES ALL ATTEMPTS TO REPUDIATE 1919 WHEAT PRICE GUARANTEE.

That Congressman Steenerson is active in looking after the interests of his farmer friends is well known in this district, and further evidence to substantiate this fact would appear to be superfluous. In addition to his many other acts which directly benefit the farmers of his district and the nation, his stand in the matter of the government maintaining the established wheat prices for the 1919 crop may be mentioned. A message from Washington to The Times, under date of Feb. 11, throws further light on the congressman's attitude on this highly important question. The telegram follows:

"Congressman Steenerson today asked speedy attention by Congress in the matter of the 1919 wheat price guarantee. Among other things, the 'Tall Pine from the North' said; 'That there are powerful interests back of the effort at repudiation of the government's covenant openly arrived at with the farmers is indicated by the market letter of Henry Clews and company, 35 Wall street, New York, dated January 25, which reads as follows; Now that the war is over Congress should repeal the law which guaranteed the farmers $2.26 per bushel for their wheat, at least of the spring wheat crop not yet sown.' Mr. Steenerson said no class of people have been so loud and persistent in their denunciation of repudiation of contract and treaties as the financial press, and yet they openly advocate repudiation of the wheat price guarantee. It is unthinkable that such a proposition should have any following at all in Congress."

COLLECT $8,000 IN RED CROSS PLEDGES

AMOUNT RECEIVED BY CHAPTER IN CASH AND FOR CROPS SOLD.

The Pennington County Chapter, American Red Cross, has contributed almost $8,000 toward the different activities of the organization since the work was first begun. This was disclosed by the books of the late Ross P. White when a voluntary committee composed of Rev. J. A. Orrock and A. J. Anderson went over his affairs with a view to assisting Mrs. White in getting them closed up.

The total collected in cash donations and for the products secured through crop pledges was $7,842.68, all of which was turned over to Treasurer T. L. Melgaard of the chapter. The accounts were found in excellent shape and every item properly accounted for.

In the report below Hazel is credited with a contribution of $263.11 while the city of Thief River Falls is down for $272.81. These items represent money received at headquarters before auxiliaries were organized throughout the county, the exact source being a matter of no particular importance.

Following are the amounts raised by the different auxiliaries, as shown by Mr. White's records:

Hazel	$ 263.11
Thief River Falls	272.81
Wyandotte	246.61

NATURALIZATION OF RETURNED SOLDIERS

U. S. EXAMINER TO BE HERE MARCH 28 TO CONDUCT HEARINGS.

Alien soldiers who have received their discharge from the United States army are to be given special consideration in case they wish to become citizens, according to a letter received this week by Clerk of Court Adolf Eklund from R. K. Doe, the United States naturalization examiner for this district. Many of the requirements covering applications for citizenship are dispensed with and the process is considerably simplified for the returned soldier.

In the first place the soldier must have been discharged from the army for less than six months; he needs no declaration of intention, and needs not prove length of residence in the United States or in the state. The petitions in such cases need not be posted and the petition can be heard on the date of filing. On the other hand, the soldier must have a certificate of arrival, and each applicant must appear with his witnesses before Mr. Doe for examination and to get a certificate of examination from Mr. Doe to be shown to the clerk of court before the petition can be taken. The last proviso is mandatory.

To accommodate possible applicants, Mr. Doe will be in the office of Clerk of Court Adolf Eklund in Thief River Falls all day Friday, March 28. All returned alien soldiers who desire to become citizens should bear this fact in mind.

The time to insure is before a loss. The Lawrence Mortgage Company, 215 Main Ave. N., writes all kinds of insurance. f13

A GOOD TIME TO BEGIN.

We hear a great deal concerning the undesirability of having our young men hang around pool halls, card rooms and other places where diversions of a similar nature are provided, and reams of stuff has been written on the subject. The burden of this campaign of denunciation and admonition is that the surroundings there are such as to be the exact reverse of elevating. Boys are told that they should find something of more value to which to devote their time.

All this is undoubtedly true to a large extent. It does not mean that boys who frequent pool halls necessarily go to the bad, nor that men engaged in the business are pursuing an undesirable calling where their places are conducted according to law and with a due respect to orderliness. The serious objection is that frequenting these places leads to a habit of idleness and the spending of money foolishly. So far as surroundings are concerned, these might easily be a great deal worse.

Admitting that all objections are well founded, what is the ordinary community—one the size of Thief River Falls, for instance—offering as a substitute? Young men must have some place to go and the pool hall is most easily accessible, while the invitation is general. Many of them would undoubtedly prefer to go somewhere else, but where? In the larger cities there is the Y. M. C. A. with its gymnasium and reading rooms. Other organizations also provide facilities by which a young man can improve his mind or body, thus profitably spending any time he may have on his hands. Here there is nothing of the kind.

In this connection the work undertaken by the Young Woman's Christian association of providing community houses will prove of great and lasting value. Intended primarily as a recreation and meeting place for the returned soldier, the proposition could be enlarged so as to take in all the young men of the community. Its non-sectarian and non-political character would insure that everyone could meet there on an equal footing. It would be conducted with no thought of returning a profit to anyone, the sole object of management and members alike being to see that its influence for good was extended to the greatest possible degree.

Pennington county can have one of these houses. The outlay so far as our own citizens are concerned is so small as to act as a guarantee of good faith. Men of wealth, who see in this movement an opportunity for performing a most valuable public service, stand willing to back their faith in the project with their means. The Y. W. C. A. has undertaken the work of organization and education and is preparing to carry the plan into actual execution.

This proposition as yet is distinct from the county memorial movement, although it is possible that the two could be carried on together. Just what is intended in this regard will doubtless be learned when Mrs. M. L. Burton, wife of the president of the University of Minnesota, speaks in this city next Monday night. The movement is of such farreaching importance that everyone should be anxious to learn all they possibly can about it. Those who attend this meeting will not only discover exactly what is contemplated but will also have the privilege of listening to one of the best-known women speakers in the West.

THE NEXT IMPORTANT STEPS.

Two things are necessary in order to bring Northwestern Minnesota to its rightful place among the producing regions of the country. One is the deepening and straightening of the Red Lake river, thus preventing the flooding of some of the most productive lands in the entire world, and the other is the extension of the Minnesota Northwestern railway so as to tap the immensely rich but only partly-developed country about Grygla.

Senators Naplin of Pennington county, Cummings of Polk, Nord of Beltrami and Hegnes of Marshall, have introduced a bill in the state senate appropriating $100,000 for the first-named purpose, while the people along the route of the suggested electric line extension are doing their utmost to call the attention of the railway management to the necessity of providing them with an outlet for their products.

Both these projects come under the head of actual projects. The growth of an entire section—and that section the most bountifully endowed by nature of any in the entire country—is retarded because of a failure in times past to look into the future sufficiently far to provide for development made inevitable by reason of its location and the nature of its soil. It is now necessary that something be done.

The proposition effecting the river is the most easily disposed of. Unless all signs fail the legislature will realize the injustice to the remainder of the state of permitting this immensely rich region to remain unproductive because periodical floods make farming an unsafe venture. The outlay proposed is a mere bagatele as compared to the benefits to be derived when this one drawback is eliminated. Other factors, such as the Indians, the government, counties and municipalities, enter into all calculations connected with the river project, so this is receiving all the attention necessary.

With the railroad it is different. So far about all the demand has come from the people residing in the neighborhood of Grygla. A little—but not near enough—attention has been paid to it in Thief River Falls, although more vitally interested in the matter than any other place either on or off the line. The advantages to the city and section of this extension are so obvious and have so often been dwelt upon that recounting them would be a waste of time. But something might be done to aid in getting the matter before the proper parties. Just now there is no railroad extension work of any kind being undertaken, but this condition will not always remain. When things again become normal the demand for this road should have assumed such proportions that it will be the first enterprise undertaken by whoever happens to be in charge. And in this the city can help. The Commercial club and business men can get busy and aid the people of Grygla in calling attention to the isolated condition of the settlers in that neighborhood and in setting before the railroad heads the immense possibilities of the section. In so doing they will be helping themselves as well as their neighbors. Thief River Falls must profit by any development in Northwestern Minnesota and the beginning of this development is now very near.

Let's have a hand in it.

RESTRICTING IMMIGRATION.

The percentage of foreign-born persons or those but one generation removed is perhaps greater in the Northwest than in any other section of the United States. For this reason the proposed law restricting for four years all immigration is creating considerable interest. This does not mean that there is any particular opposition to the measure, but simply that it is so different from anything heretofore tried that many do not know just how to take it.

The general expectation has been that the most serious complaint over the proposed restriction would come from those hailing from countries which were our allies in the late war, and this expectation will without a doubt be realized. As a local problem, however, the attitude of the neutrals is of more interest. Scandinavians, for instance, were hardly expected to see any good reason for their exclusion.

While this may be the case with people still in the old countries and who expected at the earliest opportunity to come to America, those already here look at the matter from a different viewpoint. They realize that the first task is to get this country back onto a peace basis and to provide work for the men who return from the war. Knowing that an unusual increase in the number of immigrants arriving just at this time will upset labor conditions and make competition for the jobs at hand very keen, they are satisfied to see the influx stopped until such time as the soldiers have all been placed. Having liberally provided for them during the war they are not willing to see a foreigner come in and take away their opportunity of providing for themselves now that the war is over. And this applies no matter where the newcomer hails from.

The United States will continue to be the haven for the oppressed of the earth, but just now we are very busy providing work for those belonging to our own family. Consequently others should be made to wait. In one way this is for the protection of the would-be immigrant as much as for our own.

This is no time to let down the bars, or even to keep them at the same level as before. What others may think or say is not important. Our first duty is to our own people.

COMMISSIONERS' SALARIES.

Pennington county is neither a pauper nor a grafter. As a sub-division of the state, permitted within certain constitutional bounds to attend to its own affairs, it expects to pay for any service rendered or for any commodity purchased. Such is the proceeding in most cases.

When it comes to hiring the men who are to look after its affairs, however, the state law steps in and provides that they shall not be paid in the manner stipulated for other servants of the people, but are to receive in lieu thereof transportation and a per diem wage for the time actually put in. This last provision is very elastic when applied to the peoples' side of the bargain but hedged about with barbed wire as far as the commissioners are concerned. That it is a just and equitable way of disposing of the matter no one attempts to maintain.

A county commissioner may not be required to be as constantly on the job as a fireman or policeman, but it is probable that he is most of the time attending to some part of his duty as an official. When he attends a board meeting he is paid three dollars and his mileage. If he is not present he gets nothing. At that meeting he may be appointed to do work that will take up a good share of his time, but unless it is of the kind specifically provided for under the law he cannot collect anything for his services. All of which is wrong.

Senator Naplin for Pennington county, Senator Hegnes for Marshall county, and Senator Vibert for Carlton county, have introduced bills placing their county commissioners on a salary basis. The proposed pay is not such as is calculated to cause a stampede for places on the board, but it is better than the present slipshod and unsatisfactory method of attending to an important matter. In case the bill becomes law the commissioners in these three counties will be paid $480 per year or $40 per month.

Does anyone consider this too much to pay a good, level-headed man for looking after the affairs of the county? For the work required it is certainly little enough, but the plan is a great improvement over the old. It will mean that a commissioner works on a salary instead of for practically nothing and that the people therefore have a right to expect that he shall devote whatever time is necessary to his job. It may cost him ten dollars in lost time to be present at a board meeting or attend to some committee assignment, but he is receiving pay for doing it and is in honor bound to see that it receives the proper attention. The county will not be asking men to do valuable work for nothing and the general relationship of the commissioner to his job will be closer. Everybody will be better suited if that bill passes.

WE WANT ONE LIKE IT.

Those who visited the new stock pavilion at Crookston yesterday found one of the best-appointed and most conveniently arranged buildings of its kind in the state ready for their inspection. And they inspected it.

Outside of being pleased that the association had managed to secure such a structure as a place for holding the stock exhibition and sale, visitors from Pennington county were interested in the matter for another reason. For some time the construction of a new live stock building on the fair grounds in this city has been agitated and now the work of getting started will go forward with renewed vigor. It is no longer a question merely of convenience, but one of absolute necessity. Observing to what better advantage the sale could be conducted under the proper circumstances and with the most approved settings, the visitors from this county, and particularly the stock-raising farmers, came back determined to provide something similar for themselves.

The undertaking is not one at which they should hesitate. A good share of the money needed has already been pledged, the fair association and three livestock breeders' associations have taken care of a considerable portion of it. There should be no difficulty in securing the balance.

As concerns the objection raised in some quarters that a stock building here would simply have the effect of detracting from the importance of the Crookston fair, there is absolutely nothing to it. Pennington county's first sale was held last summer, months before the annual event at Crookston was even advertised. If the former sale had any effect whatever on the latter it must have been stimulating rather than otherwise. If it can be made generally known that there are two stock sales in Northwestern Minnesota every year, held at different seasons and different points, one will help the other. In both Polk and Pennington counties the ambition is to raise cattle that will be recognized as superior to anything produced in the entire section, and the more the better.

Sharing Profits With Employees

(Christian Science Monitor)

Notwithstanding the splendid cooperative efforts put forth by capital and labor to win the war there seems to be a wide breach between them today. What is evidently needed is a working plan which will satisfy both labor and capital that one of these parties is not trying to take advantage of the other.

One of the large industrial concerns of the United States, employing about 10,000 men, has adopted a novel profit-sharing policy which, if successful, may perhaps be taken as a basis for the adjustment of the entire labor question. The company's plan provides: "That after present capital and permanent labor have each been justly compensated, having due regard to the cost of each (the cost of capital and the cost of living), then the additional profits accruing from the joint employment of permanent capital and permanent labor shall be divided equally among them—fifty fifty." It is said that the amount to be distributed by this profit-sharing plan will aggregate hundreds of thousands of dollars, and it is estimated that the share of no employee will be less than $100 a year. A statement giving details of the plan says that individual and departmental efficiency is to be rewarded, and that there is to be increasing reward for continuous service. These rewards are to have no influence upon the periodical wage readjustments. If satisfactory to both capital and labor, the plan is to cover the year 1919, retroactive from Jan. 1, and each succeeding year.

It is one of the complaints of capital that the demands of labor organizations are often unjust, and are instigated, for the most part, by labor leaders whose occupations depend upon things being upset in the industrial world. At the same time it is known that there are frequent cases in which strikes occur in direct opposition to the advice of labor leaders. This was seen both in the United States and in Great Britian during the war. Whatever merit the argument may have, it is obvious that if labor were satisfied with conditions no amount of agitation, on the part of anyone, would be likely to bring about strikes. If, for example, the workers were to see that it was to their personal interest that the concerns by which they were employed should turn out the largest amount of products, and the best made goods, that could be produced, they would probably give little heed to the plea for a shorter working day. It is generally agreed that strikes are tremendously costly. If afforded an opportunity to participate in the prosperity of their employers, it seems altogether likely that employees would see the justice in taking also their share of possible losses. The elimination of suspicion and selfishness would go a long distance foward bringing about a better understanding between capital and labor, and a step toward that end seems to be the first one needed.

TEN AND 20 YEARS AGO

Twenty Years Ago.

Valentines flew thick and fast through the mails, the comics being most in evidence.

A large number of local people were at Red Lake Falls as witnesses during the session of district court.

H. C. Buhse was in the city for the purpose of building a boat to be used on the Red Lake river in the spring.

A new mail route was established from this city to Thief Lake to make three trips weekly and took in all the intermediate postoffices along the route.

F. H. Kratka went to St. Paul on a business trip.

Editor Eastman and wife were at St. Paul in attendance at the annual convention of the Minnesota Editorial association.

Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Dobner were spending the week visiting their old home at Lake City.

The fire department was making arrangements for giving a big dance on Wednesday evening of the following week. The local papers predicted that it would be the greatest social event of the season.

D. B. Bakke, the Newfolden merchant and court commissioner, was in the city for consultation with a commercial traveler from St. Paul, ordering a stock of goods for his customers.

The thermometer registered 34 degrees above zero on Wednesday, which was considerable of a jump from 48 below, the record made just a week before. It was the end of the longest and most severe cold spell experienced in this section for many years.

Danna, daughter of Martin Lillemoen, died at the age of 15 years following an attack of fever.

The Press gave a column write-up of a wrestling match which took place at the Athletic club. The participants in the first match were "Nick" Tarrant and K. M. Hanson, the honors being awarded to the latter, while the second match of the evening was pulled off between H. E. Dobner and Jas. Douglas. After a hard struggle Douglas downed his opponent and was declared champion. The boys must have had some fun in the good old days.

Ten Years Ago.

During the greater part of the week a force of men were busy moving the telephone exchange from its former location in the Loken building to the southwest corner of the Jackson & McGinn block. An up-to-date switchboard and a new cable system were installed, to care for the 275 phones then in operation. Misses Mamie Herron, Melina Moran and Leona Soards were the three operators in charge of the exchange.

The county auditor's statement showed a taxable valuation in the city of $518,380 in real estate and $234,574 in personal property. The tax rate for county purposes was 8.43; for state, 3.33; for city, 9; for school, 20.8 making a total of 41.6 mills.

Ole Loberg, a well known farmer of Rocksbury, sustained serious injuries in a runaway accident and his recovery was considered doubtful.

One of the prettiest evening entertainments ever given in the city was given at the home of Lars Backe and family in honor of the corps of teachers with which Miss Emma Backe was associated.

The joint normal school committee from the house and senate was on a tour to decide on a location for the proposed new normal school for this section of the state. They were due to arrive in Thief River Falls on Monday, Feb. 15. Local boosters were working hard to have the school located in this city.

B. E. Bothun, station agent at Halma, was in the city calling on his old time friends.

A stag party was given at the J. W. Eastman home on Tuesday evening in honor of C. L. Dobner.

An eight and a half pound boy arrived at the home of O. C. Evenson the first of the week.

Farmers in almost every direction were figuring on telephone accommodations in the near future.

C. L. Dobner was here from Kalispell, Mont., visiting friends and looking after business interests.

Considerable complaint was heard on account of the crowded condition of some of the school rooms in the city.

DEATH IN FRANCE OF LOCAL NURSE

NORA E. ANDERSON DIED JAN. 16 WHILE ON OVERSEAS DUTY.

Brief mention was made in the columns of The Times last week of the death of Miss Nora E. Anderson, a Pennington county young lady on duty as a nurse with the army in France. The following article, taken from the St. Hilaire Spectator, contains additional information concerning the brave woman which will be of interest to Times readers:

"Miss Nora Emelie Anderson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nels K. Anderson, who left here last year to serve her country as a nurse with the American Hospital corps in France, died at Base Hospital No. 68 in France on January 16th. She was a graduate nurse, having completed her training course at the Deaconess Hospital at Grand Forks which she entered in the fall of 1908, graduating in 1911. She had practiced her profession in different parts of this state and Dakota, prior to her enlistment as Red Cross nurse in 1917. When war was declared she decided her highest duty was to aid stricken humanity and would have enlisted at that time but deferred doing so on account of her mother's ill health. When her brother, Peter, enlisted in the army, she decided her place was with the Red Cross, and enlisted for immediate overseas service. She was assigned to duty at Camp Custer, Mich., where she became a member of Unit 68 bound overseas.

"Funeral services were held January 17th, the Lutheran service being used. She was buried with full military honors in a part of the general burying grounds set aside for officers and nurses. The funeral procession was headed by an escort of thirty-two soldiers and chaplain, then came the hearse with casket covered with the Stars and Stripes. Officers of the medical corps acted as pallbearers and six honorary pallbearers were selected from among her associates. Following the cortege were about a hundred nurses, officers and enlisted men.

"Miss Anderson was born in Olmsted county, this state, on January 15, 1881, and was 38 years and one day of age at death. Besides her parents, she leaves four sisters and three brothers to mourn the untimely death of a dutiful daughter and kind and considerate sister. The sisters are Mrs. Daniel Johnson, Gilby, N. D., Mrs. S. Myrom, Thief River Falls, and Alma and Esther, who reside at home. The brothers are August, N. K., and Theodore, who reside in Sanders, and Peter L., who has served with the American Expeditionary Forces and who is now in New York. The heartfelt sympathy of the entire community is extended to the stricken relatives in their sad bereavement."

Levos-Kjesbo.

Berner L. Levos and Martha Kjesbo were married on Saturday, Feb. 8, Rev. I. T. Aastad of the Norwegian Lutheran church performing the ceremony. The wedding took place in the parsonage. Olida Kjesbo, a sister of the bride, and Ole Ferstad acted as witnesses. The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Kjesbo, prominent farmers of Cloverleaf township, and enjoys the esteem and respect of a large circle of friends. The groom is one of the solid farmers of the same township and the newly wedded couple will take up their residence on his farm.

Food Sale.

The ladies of the Methodist church will conduct a food sale at the store of Carl Christofferson & company on Saturday, Feb. 15. Baked beans, brown bread and other home baked goods will be sold.

John Turner attended to business matters at Plummer the latter part of last week.

POSTMASTERS ARE INSURANCE AGENTS

NAMED TO LOOK AFTER DISCHARGED SOLDIERS' AND SAILORS' INSURANCE.

Conditions under which soldiers and sailors now holding government life insurance may convert these policies within five years into other forms which can be carried with the government during their lifetime, were recently announced by Col. Henry D. Lindsley of the war risk insurance bureau. Rates will be made public soon, as the new policies will not be available until then.

There will be six different kinds of insurance—ordinary life, 20 payment life, 30 payment life, 20 year endowment payable at the age of 62. All policies will contain clauses providing that, in case of permanent total disability of the insured man, the government will make monthly payments to him and premium payments will cease. This amounts virtually to old age pensioning and disability insurance and insures that no man who has served in the army or navy need ever be destitute if he carries the government insurance.

All policyholders will participate in dividends, and earnings of over 3½ per cent from the insurance fund will go into dividends. Since the reserves will be invested in government securities, most of which will pay in the neighborhood of 4½ per cent, it is certain there will be large dividends to be returned periodically to policyholders.

Collections of premiums will be made through postmasters.

Although the rates have not been announced, Colonel Lindsley stated they would be so low that officials of private insurance companies who assisted in drafting the rate schedule had admitted their companies could not compete.

Any man in military or naval service holding government term life insurance can obtain the new forms, but the amount will be limited to his present holdings. The government urges all men to continue to carry their present policies, but to convert these as soon as they are able within the next five years.

The government itself, and not private companies, will carry these converted policies, it was emphasized recently, in denial of reports that the insurance business built up on the lives of fighting men, during the war would now be turned over by the government to private concerns. Thus will be created a permanent government life insurance agency, the biggest in the world.

Forest Fires Destructive.

State Forester W. T. Cox, in his annual report made public, showed that forest fires in Minnesota last year caused nearly $30,000,000 damage. There were 525 fires, of which 125 took place during the five days period beginning October 12, when the greatest damage was wrought. The report estimates that the October fires in Moose Lake region caused total damage of about $28,000,000. The 1918 fires swept 770,413 acres.

Surprise Party.

Miss Helen Flekke was the guest of honor at a delightful surprise party Saturday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Mattison, 403 State avenue north. About twenty of Miss Flekke's boy and girl friends gathered unannounced and the evening was spent very enjoyably in playing games. The visitors brought lunch with them, which was served just before the close of the festivities. The guest of honor was the recipient of a fountain pen as a memento of the occasion.

ORROCK A DELEGATE TO BIG CONVENTION

ATTENDS LEAGUE OF NATIONS CONGRESS AT MINNEAPOLIS THIS WEEK.

Rev. J. A. Orrock, pastor of the local Methodist church, is in attendance this week as a delegate from Pennington county to the Northern Congress for a League of Nations, which yesterday began a series of sessions in Minneapolis. Among the noted speakers at the convention are Wm. H. Taft, former president of the United States, Henry Morgenthau, former ambassador to Turkey, Henry Van Dyke and other notables who are in a position to give important information on the vital subject of a league of nations.

Rev. Orrock also is planning to attend the Great Centenary conference of the Methodist church for the St. Paul area, embracing the states of Minnesota, Wisconsin and North Dakota. Most of the leading laymen and ministers of the church in this section will be in attendance at the conference. While on the trip Rev. Orrock will spend a few days with his son, who is publisher of a newspaper at Prescott, Wis.

HOME BUILDING TO BE POPULAR NOW

Plans Can Be Revived as Restrictions Are Removed.

MUCH ROOM IN THIS HOUSE

Good Design for Use Either in City or Small Town Where Narrow Lot Is to Be Used by the Builder.

By WILLIAM A. RADFORD.

Mr. William A. Radford will answer questions and give advice FREE OF COST on all subjects pertaining to the subject of building, for the readers of this paper. On account of his wide experience as Editor, Author and Manufacturer, he is, without doubt, the highest authority on all these subjects. Address all inquiries to William A. Radford, No. 1827 Prairie avenue, Chicago, Ill., and only enclose three-cent stamp for reply.

Finding a home has been an arduous job in many cities and towns during the last two years. While the demands of industry have drawn many workers from the rural communities, the restrictions on building made necessary by the war have kept the builders from providing the homes that the demand ordinarily would produce.

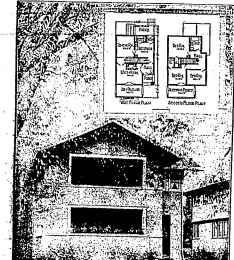
Now, however, the restrictions have been removed and building can go on.

This building of homes is being fostered by the United States government, which, through William B. Wilson, secretary of the U. S. department of labor, is urging the necessity of building to provide work for those of the building trades who have been released from military duty.

During the next few weeks there will be an active "build a building" campaign, which is expected to greatly stimulate the construction of homes. The thoughts of thousands of those who long have desired to have a home of their own will be turned to the subject of building. And as these thoughts take form, the prospective builders will be studying plans for their home.

For the Small Lot.

Herewith is shown a modern design for a home in town or city where space is more limited than in the country. This house of stucco is 24 feet in width and 30½ feet long, not including the rear porch projection. It is a typical modern city design. Liberal use is made of double doors, full glazed, between the several rooms, while the stairs, partly open to the dining room, make an interesting detail. Six good rooms with bath are provided.



There are three good sized rooms beside the sun parlor and a spacious hall on the first floor. The living room is 13 by 16 feet and is connected with the hall on the side and the sun parlor at the front by double doors, thus making it more extensive, especially in summer when the doors to the sun parlor will be left open. A fireplace and windows, which occupy most of the outside wall space, are attractive features of the room.

The stairway is open both to the living room and dining room. The latter is 11 by 13½ feet.

Opposite is the kitchen, 9½ by 11¼ feet. There is a good sized pantry, while a door leads to a rear porch.

Three Bed Rooms.

The second floor contains three bed rooms, the bath room and a sleeping porch, which is over the sun parlor. The sleeping porch is 7¼ by 10 feet, the same as the sun parlor. Along the front of the second floor are two bed rooms, each opening into the hall, while at the rear is the third bed room, with the bath adjoining.

From this description it will be seen that the house is an attractive one on the interior. All of the rooms are so connected that there is not the necessity of going "around" one to get to another.

The exterior view shown gives an idea of how attractive it may be made on the outside, considering that it is planned for a small city lot. The long space in the sun parlor for window boxes, the expanse along the front for shrubs and the stretch of lawn all make it attractive.

To those who are the owners of small lots in cities and towns, or who are about to buy a building lot and do not want to put into it the considerable sum that is necessary where real estate is expensive, this design will have a strong appeal.

The more the plan is studied the more it will be seen that here is economy of space, coupled with an attractive and convenient home.

Small Homes Get Attention.

Some of the best architects in the country now are giving more and more attention to the planning of small homes. Because of this fact, the designs made nowadays embody some excellent features. It should be remembered when planning to build that the small sum required as a fee to an architect is money well spent, in that it saves costly mistakes and assures the best that can be secured for the money expended.

Building this year is going to be extensive, so the family that intends to be in its own home before winter comes again ought to begin considering the subject. This design gives an excellent working basis from which to formulate the plans for that home in the city or town.

HAILING THE HAPPY EVENT

Some Novel Birth Announcements Sent Out Following the Arrival of "Little Stranger."

The war is evidently responsible for the following "birth" announcement which appeared recently in a Paris paper: "Since twelve o'clock last Friday I am here. Pierre Blouget of —— infantry is my father and Marie, his wife, is my mother. My name is Francois." Distinctly original was the announcement sent out by a Welsh musician when his wife presented him with a baby girl. It took the form of four bars of music inscribed on a letter card. The recipients easily recognized these as from "The Messiah." "Unto us a child is born." A facetious Scotsman named Cash amused his friends by an intimation through the newspapers that his better half had presented him with "a little Cash." He went on to say that as a result he would have still less cash in the future, and the more Cash he had to keep, the less cash he would have to spend." Combining a birth announcement with an advertisement strikes one as the last word in enterprise, and Mr. Fox, a poultry dealer, who inserted the following notice in the papers, should be congratulated on the novel way in which he commended his wares: "Another little Fox found its way into my establishment between ten and eleven last night; but notwithstanding its arrival there will be no diminution in the number or quality of the geese for which my establishment has long been famous. Remember that the old Fox is always cunning in securing for business the plumpest goose."

Above It.

"I presume all the members of this vaudeville company are consumed with jealousy."

"Not quite all."

"I'd like to see the performer who isn't."

"You'll see him in the next act. He's a trained chimpanzee."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

54 BANISHED FROM U.S.

I. W. W.s Under Heavy Guard on Way to Atlantic Port.

Most of Them Come From Seattle, Where They Took Part in Fomenting General Strike.

Chicago, Feb. 11.—A special train carrying 54 members of the I. W. W. under heavy guard passed through Chicago on the way to an Atlantic port, where, it is said, the immigration authorities will deport them at once.

Forty of the prisoners came direct from Seattle, where they took part in fomenting the general strike which has paralyzed the industries of that city for several days.

Three Strike Leaders in Net.

Three leaders of the Seattle strike, one Spokane agitator, an I. W. W. leader from Denver and five alien convicts arrested in Chicago were among the prisoners gathered into the federal net.

The majority of the men were alien labor agitators picked up by officers of the United States immigration service during a year of secret campaigning in industrial centers of the Pacific coast. A. D. H. Jackson, chief of the Seattle office of the Immigration service, was in charge of the party.

The majority of the prisoners will be sent back to Russian provinces. The only attempt at a mob delivery of the prisoners was frustrated. Before the train reached Butte, Mont., officers were warned that I. W. W. leaders had learned of the deportation and were massing to deliver their comrades. The two cars were cut off at a junction and set into another train which made a wide detour of both Butte and Helena.

BITTERLY FLAY ANARCHISTS

Mayors of Minnesota Cities Hold Meeting in Minneapolis.

Minneapolis, Feb. 11.—Bolshevism, anarchy and the leaders and followers of dissension in America were bitterly flayed, while true Americanism, the type immortalized by Roosevelt and Lincoln, was extolled in stirring addresses by several of Minnesota's foremost citizens at a banquet in the West hotel attended by 400 mayors of cities of the state and citizens of the Twin cities.

Dr. Marion L. Burton, president of the University of Minnesota; Speaker Nolan of the House of Representatives; Mayor Hodgson of St. Paul; Lieut.-Col. William H. Donahue of the 151st field artillery; Congressman-elect Walter H. Newton, and Mayor Meyers, laid the problems of America squarely on the table and called on the mayors to do their duty in fighting the hidden forces gnawing at the roots of American citizenship and loyalty.

CRITICISE SUFFRAGE VOTE

Mrs. Carrie C. Catt and Dr. Anna H. Shaw Disappointed.

Washington, Feb. 11.—Statements were given out by the National American Woman Suffrage association in which its officers severely criticised defeat of suffrage in the senate. Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, president, was quoted as declaring:

"It is not the women, it is the nation that is dishonored."

A statement attributed to Dr. Anna Howard Shaw, honorary president of the association, said:

"It is to be regretted that the United States congress has failed to measure up to the spirit of democracy expected of it by all the world."

No Chicago-Minnesota Game.

Chicago, Feb. 11.—The chances of the University of Chicago meeting Minnesota in a post season basketball game for the conference championship should such a game be necessary to decide the title, are slight, Coach Pat Page of the Maroons said. "Our failure to play Minnesota this year resulted from two reasons," said Page. "One was that we would be forced to drop rivals nearer home off our list in order to include Minnesota on our schedule."

MEAT PRODUCERS DID FULL DUTY

Increase in American Hogs Will Help to Meet World Fat Shortage.

FARMERS SAVE SITUATION.

Government Justified in Stimulation of Pork Production—Sevenfold Increase Over Pre-War Exports.

Through increased production and conservation we will be able this year to export seven times our pre-war average exports of pork products. With the heavy demands added in caring for the millions who have been freed from German oppression, the Department of Agriculture and the Food Administration are justified today in our every action of stimulation of hog production. In the coming year the greatest world shortage will be in fats, and pork will help to save this situation. The efficacy of the policy of stimulated production has built up in this country supplies which will enable us to supply a very large part of the fat deficiency of the world. In beef there must be a shortage in Europe, due largely to limited refrigerator ship capacity. All freezer ships available, however, will be filled by America, Argentine and Australia.

The contribution made by the producers of this country to the war program as applying particularly to animal food products is illustrated by the following:

Reports compiled by the U. S. Department of Agriculture indicate an increase in cattle of 10,238,000 head and 12,441,000 hogs. These figures were compiled to January 1 last.

In this period there was a decrease in sheep of 819,000 head. The indications are that this decrease will show an increase, according to recent reports.

Since January 1 unofficial information indicates an increase in hogs of not less than 8 per cent. and not more than 15 per cent. as compared with one year ago, with an increase in the average weight.

Following the request of the U. S. Food Administration for an increase in hog production for marketing in the fall of 1918 and the spring of 1919 the increase may yield not less than 1,600,000,000 pounds more of pork products than were available last year. Without this increase the shipping program arranged by Mr. Hoover regarding animal food products would have been impossible.

The dressed hog products during the three months ending September 30, 1917, amounted to 903,172,000 pounds, while for the corresponding months of 1918 the dressed hog products totaled 1,277,589,000, an increase of over 374,000,000 pounds for the quarter.

During the same period for 1917 the records of inspected slaughter of dressed beef showed 1,263,000,000 pounds as against 1,454,000,000 pounds for the three month period ending September 1, this year.

America's Pledge of Food Gave Heart to the Allies In Their Darkest Hour

Whatever is necessary America will send. That was America's pledge to the interallied food council. And because the American food army had hitherto made good they took heart and went forward.

Farm enterprise and much soft corn increased pork supplies, food conservation increased exports—total shipments doubled.

FAITH JUSTIFIED BY EVENTS.

I do not believe that drastic force need be applied to maintain economic distribution and sane use of supplies by the great majority of American people, and I have learned a deep and abiding faith in the intelligence of the average American business man, whose aid we anticipate and depend on to remedy the evils developed by the war.—Herbert Hoover, August 10, 1917.

SUGAR SHOWED OUR BACKBONE

American Willingness to Give Up Luxury Demonstrated Nation's War Conscience.

STAND WITH THE ALLIES.

By Reducing Consumption People of the United States Averted a Famine at Home in Spite of Low Supplies.

The fact that the people of the United States were able to reduce by more than one-half million tons their July, August, September and October consumption of sugar proves conclusively that their war conscience was thoroughly awakened and that the country as a whole stood ready to follow the injunctions of the Government.

Our normal consumption of sugar in the four-month period beginning with July has been 400,000 tons per month, a total of 1,600,000 for the quarter year.

In July, when our sugar stringency began to reach its height, consumption was reduced to 200,000 tons. In August only 325,000 tons went into distribution and in September only 270,000 tons. In October the distribution fell to 230,000 tons.

If the general public had failed to observe the injunctions of the Food Administration this country would have been in the throes of a sugar famine before the end of August. Our visible supplies were so low as to bring great anxiety to those familiar with the sugar situation. They feared that it would be absolutely impossible to reduce consumption to a point where sugar would no longer be a mere luxury in the American diet.

Few accomplishments of the Food Administration will stand forth so predominantly as this reduced consumption of sugar. By it we have been able to bridge over the period of stringency until the new beet and Louisiana cane sugar crops were in sight.

Now the nation is in a position so that if we choose we may return to our normal home use of sugar, and Europe, with the release of ships to go far afield, can maintain its recent restricted rations. If, however, those nations are to increase their use of sugar very considerably it must be by our continued sharing with them through limiting our own consumption.

AMERICAN SPIRIT RELIED ON TO WIN.

In the light of succeeding events it is interesting to recall the confidence with which the United States Food Administrator viewed the gloomy outlook in July of 1917, when this country had been in the war for less than four months and the Germans were steadily sending the western front nearer and nearer to Paris.

"Even though the situation in Europe may be gloomy today," he declared in a public statement, "no American who has knowledge of the results already obtained in every direction need have one atom of fear that democracy will not defend itself in these United States."

LOYALTY IN LITTLE THINGS LAST PROOF OF PATRIOTISM

Americans without murmuring cut their sugar allowance from four pounds a month to three and then as long as need be to two pounds for loyalty's sake.

Food Will Win the World.

America earned the gratitude of allied nations during war by sharing food. America under peace may win the world's good will by saving to share.

In no other nation is there so willing a sense of voluntary self-sacrifice as in America—that was shown in the abstinence from wheat.

Find more wheat, it came; more pork, it came; save sugar, it was done. So Americans answered the challenge of German starvation.

Good will rules the new world as fear governed the old world. Through sharing food America helps make the whole world kin.

Food control made sufficiency from shortage, kept the rein on food prices, gave the nation's full strength exercise.

Starvation by Germany challenged all the world; food conservation in America answered the challenge.

Food conservation in America has been the triumph of individual devotion to the national cause.

The "Lily of France."

The "Lily of France," the true "fleur de luce," is Iris Florentina. Placed upon banners, shields, coats of arms, etc., it has led both armies and individuals, but it is now properly the symbol of a lost cause, though its use as a national emblem has been perpetuated.

Perils of Fatigue.

Medical science has long been preaching the perils of fatigue, and new investigation shows that it actually poisons the blood, leaving the system open to all manner of infections. That fatigue is the direct cause of many accidents has been proved since railroads reduced the working hours of train crews and dispatchers.

An Endless Job.

She—"You can form no idea how bright my little girl is. She repeats every word I say." He—"She must get frightfully tired."

Attention is called to the advertisement of the Oen Mercantile company appearing on another page of this issue. It contains an announcement of interest to farmers. f13

NO EXTENSION OF INCOME TAX TIME

MARCH 15 SET AS DATE FOR FILING OF RETURNS WITH GOVERNMENT.

There will be no general extension of time beyond March 15th for the filing of returns and for the payment of Income and Excess Profits taxes due on that date, is the decision of Daniel C. Roper, commissioner of internal revenue. The announcement was made recently by Collector Lynch immediately following the approval by the senate and house of the report of the conferees on the new revenue bill.

"It is necessary to get the initial tax payments in by March 15th", says Commissioner Roper. "No other course is possible. Some months ago the treasury issued certificates of indebtedness to an amount approximating $8,000,000,000, maturing March 15th. The first payment of the income and excess profits taxes for 1918 was planned for that date, to meet this huge obligation.

"The American people have proven that there is no emergency too great to be met and solved by co-operation. This present situation is another emergency which can be overcome by cooperative effort. The bureau extends its every force toward this end, and I am relying upon the people to meet the situation whole-heartedly.

"The Internal Revenue Bureau must carry out the programme prescribed in the new law, which requires the first quarterly payment or the entire payment to be made on or before that date.

"Every taxpayer who can possibly do so is urged to make full payment of his income tax on or before March 15. The quarterly payment method is intended for taxpayers whose financing of the tax at one time would tend to upset financial conditions.

"The bureau has arranged to send an advisory force of several thousand of deputies and agents to assist taxpayers. These officers will be stationed at convenient points where they may be consulted without charge. Taxpayers should take the initiative and get in touch with these revenue men for any needed advice and assistance in preparing returns."

At the Princess.

The week will start out with a strong program tonight in addition to the "Community Sing," which is put on under the auspices of the Woman's club. The film feature for the evening will be Constance Talmadge in "Mrs. Leffingwell's Boots," one of the cleverest comedies ever filmed. It is said to contain a laugh a minute. In this picture the great actress shows up to the very best advantage. In addition a Christy comedy will be shown.

Do gowns make the woman or affect her morals? This question is answered in a strong play Friday evening in which Elsie Ferguson is the star. Screen fans cannot afford to miss this excellent picture. On Saturday evening Viola Dana will be here in "Flower of the Dusk," a picture of the usual high class in which this actress appears. Another chapter of "A Fight for Millions" will also be shown.

For Sunday and Monday an exceptionally pleasing program has been provided. This is William Faversham in "The Silver King," and it is said to be one of the most intensely dramatic pictures ever screened. A good comedy adds variety to the program.

On Tuesday the big special, "The Romance of Tarzan," will be shown. This is a wildly exciting love story of the white chief of the apes and his modern mate. Do not miss it. An official war review completes the program.

On Wednesday evening Fannie Ward appears in "The Yellow Ticket," a sensational Russian story full of thrills and remarkable dramatic situations. A two-reel Sunshine comedy will add zest to the program.

PHOSPHATE MAY BE HAD FOR PEAT LAND

FARM BUREAU OFFICE CAN FURNISH ALL THAT MAY BE DESIRED.

The local Farm Bureau office has 22 tons of phosphate fertilizer on hand at the present time. The great benefit to be derived from the use of phosphate fertilizer on peat land may be seen by referring to the report of the Golden Valley experiment station, which appears on page three of this issue.

Any farmer in Pennington county may secure all he needs if his order is placed within the next two weeks. At the end of two weeks what phosphate remains will be shipped to adjoining counties to be used for experimental purposes. The phosphate will be sold in Thief River Falls at $3.50 per sack of 200 pounds. If smaller quantities are desired for garden use, any amount down to ten pounds will be sold. For field use the usual amount applied is at the rate of two sacks or 400 pounds to the acre. For garden use, ten pounds will cover an area of four square rods. Call at or write to the Farm Bureau office if any information is desired concerning the use of this fertilizer.

AUTOMOBILE SHOW STARTS THIS WEEK

MANY FROM HERE PLAN ON BEING IN ATTENDANCE DURING THE EXHIBITION.

The Northwestern Automotive and Industrial Exhibition will open on Saturday in Minneapolis. The annual "auto show" has come to be regarded as an important event by people in all parts of the state and many from Pennington county will be in attendance. The show this year will be held in the Exposition building, just across the river from the Great Northern station in Minneapolis, and preparations have been made for the greatest show in the history of the Northwest.

Exhibits for the three floors are practically all in place and when the doors are thrown open the place will be spick and span from cellar to garret. Tractors and trucks will take up the whole first floor. On the second floor will be the passenger cars and the accessories. On the third floor will be the industrial division where may be found everything from can-openers to electric washing and milking machines.

Minneapolis will take on a gala appearance for the big week. It will be the first opportunity the city has had to entertain the northwest since the signing of the armistice and Minneapolis' reputation for hospitality will be upheld.

PAN OFFICIALS LOSE FIRST STEP IN SUIT

JUDGE BOOTH HOLDS THAT ACTIONS MUST BE FILED SEPARATELY.

The Pan Motor company of St. Cloud, whose officers and directors are awaiting trial in Chicago under an indictment charging use of the mails to defraud, suffered a temporary defeat on Monday in its civil action against members of the Minneapolis Advertising Forum for $1,000,000 damages. Judge Wilbur F. Booth granted motions of attorneys for some of the defendants and ruled that the complainant in the action should state separate causes of action and be more explicit.

J. M. Bradford, attorney for the Pan Motor company, was given until March 15 to draw the amended complaint and the forty-nine defendants in Minneapolis were given until April 15 to file answers to it.

Coumbe Resigns.

Stanley C. Coumbe, for the past year assistant cashier at the First National bank, has resigned his position. Mr. Coumbe has not completed definite plans for the future but will undoubtedly remain in this city.

Austad on Vacation.

Thos. J. Austad, editor of The Times, left Saturday morning for Canyon, this state, where he will enjoy a vacation of several weeks. During his absence the burden of Mr. Austad's work falls upon the shoulders of M. A. Mattison, associate editor. The latter, after having finished the task on this week's paper, agrees that Mr. Austad is entitled to a vacation.

Y. W. C. A. PLANS TO RAISE SMALL FUND

MONEY TO BE USED IN FURTHERING GENERAL WELFARE WORK.

As a preliminary step in the campaign of the Y. W. C. A. to raise a fund for welfare work, leaders of the society in the ten counties comprising the seventh district have been invited to come to this city on Monday, Feb. 17, in order that they may meet Mrs. Marion L. Burton, who will speak here that day. The seventh district comprises the counties of Marshall, Norman, Beltrami, Polk, Red Lake, Roseau, Kittson, Mahnomen, Clearwater and Pennington.

Miss Olive Booren, who had charge of the movement known as the "Victory Girls," and made such a decided success of her work, has been chosen as leader of the Y. W. C. A. campaign in this county. The present campaign is not alone for the purpose of raising a stipulated sum of money, but also is educational in its character. The financial part of it should be easily taken care of as Pennington county is alloted only $150. If the importance of proper care and environments for our young folks is properly understood by our people, there will be no trouble in raising the required amount.

Brassards are Here.

The Times is requested to announce that the supply of brassards for this city has been received by the Red Cross, and those desiring one may obtain it by applying to Mrs. J. J. Richter. These brassards are in the form of a black strip with a gold star to be worn on the sleeve to indicate the death of a near relative in the army or navy. A parent or wife is entitled to one of these free of cost, while a small charge will be made to brothers and sisters of deceased soldiers or sailors.

PERSONAL PROPERTY TAXES CAUSE RUSH

TAXPAYERS HURRY TO PAY UP BEFORE PENALTY IS ATTACHED.

County Treasurer John Gullingsrud is doing a rushing business these days in receiving and writing receipts for personal property taxes. After the first of next month a penalty of ten per cent is attached to personal property taxes, and the average man naturally figures that he has to pay enough anyhow without an extra ten per cent as penalty for being a trifle tardy. And besides, February is a short month and this also adds its share to the work of the county treasurer.

Proper notification will be given all taxpayers by Treasurer Gullingsrud so as to give them ample time to get under the wire before the date on which the penalty becomes operative. According to present indications there will be fewer unpaid tax items on the books this year on March 1 than has been the case for a number of years past. This is a highly desirable condition and indicates that the people of the county are enjoying a prosperous year.

To Attend Conference.

Lieut. G. Howard Smith and Chas. A. Pitkin, chairman and vice chairman respectively of the Pennington county liberty loan committee, will attend a conference of Minnesota county chairmen at Minneapolis next Tuesday, Feb. 18. This convention has been called by the central committee for the purpose of formulating plans for the new liberty loan drive.

Public Forum

Unfair to Consumers.

Editor of The Times: When it comes to holding the people up in the way of profiteering and high prices, the local creamery has it put all over the big packing plants.

To illustrate the unfairness to its consumer patrons: When they were paying 72 cents per pound for butter fat they retailed cream at 40 cents per quart. When the price of butter fat fell to 42 cents or 45 cents per pound they continued to retail cream at 40 cents per quart, which gave them a profit of from 25 cents to 35 cents on each pound of butter fat.

The local creamery has the corner on the creamery business in this part of the country and they are putting the prices up to the top notch without any regard for the welfare of the people who have to buy.

G. WARD.

Raise for Commissioners.

If the bill introduced in the senate last week by Senator O. A. Naplin of this city becomes a law, the county commissioners will hereafter be placed on a basis of a straight salary of $480 per year. A similar bill has been introduced in the senate by Senator Hegenes of Marshall county and Senator Vibert of Carlton county, making the same provisions for these counties as the measure proposed by Senator Naplin. Pennington county commissioners now receive $175 per year, besides fees paid for ditch and other special work.

Indian School Praised.

Miss Mabel Anderson, federal home demonstration agent and A. A. Aamodt, county agent of Beltrami, visited the Red Lake school last week and both praised the work done in the government school. Miss Anderson states that work done in bread making by the Indian girls is wonderful, and their palefaced sisters will have to "go some" to get ahead of them. They also attended the Indian council and both Miss Anderson and Mr. Aamodt spoke, their addresses being interpreted to the Indians.

Cards of Thanks.

We wish to extend our sincere thanks to the many friends and neighbors for their kind words and deeds during the time of our recent bereavement.—Mrs. Klementson and Children.

Notice For Bids.

Sealed bids will be received until February 22nd for constructing an extension to the present chimney at the Oakland Park Sanatorium.

Bids to be given on extensions of 10, 12, 15, 18 and 20 feet complete.

The Commission reserves the right to reject any or all bids.

P. O. MYHRUM,
Secretary.

Our 50c Service Charge—The Best Bargain of Them All. And Why?

Because, to our knowledge, CREDIT was never granted FREE. If this was the case we could go into a bank and say, "give me $50 or $100; charge it please, I will pay you in 30, 60 or 90 days." We would not pay any interest. We wouldn't even have to sign a note. We would also buy in the same way our postage stamps from the government, our freight and express from the railroads; or we might draw checks on the bank and just ask them to charge it. They probably wouldn't mind just a few "overdrafts."

But at the same time we find some "spineless, jelly-jointed, sons-of-Adam, with a wishbone where their backbone ought to be, trying to make you believe that credit costs you nothing. We are here to tell you that you pay for it in one way or another, DIRECT OR INDIRECT.

Just a few days ago a small merchant, (I say small because he has a small store and does a small business), said to me: "We merchants ought to stick together and keep the prices up; the public will not know that prices have gone down." This we would not agree to. The public knows when merchandise goes down in price just as well as we do and our people are too intelligent to pull any such stunts on. This fellow of course, believes in free credit—yes, when it is BURIED IN THE PRICE OF THE GOODS SO YOU DON'T KNOW THE DIFFERENCE.

Why is it that the biggest mercantile establishments in the world get their money weeks before their patrons get the goods? Why is it that the Wholesale Consumers CASH Grocery Stores and Meat Markets throughout the entire country are putting the 50-50 fellow out of business? (By the 50-50 fellow we mean half cash and half credit business.) It is because you do not have to help pay the tremendous cost of a credit business in buying from these cash stores. In fact the cash price is always much lower than the credit price.

A lady came into our store Saturday and asked us our price on percales. She was very much surprised when we told her 25c. She had just paid 40c per yard for 6 yards in another store—a difference on this small purchase of 90c—service charge for the privilege of having just this small item charged. Ten yards at a saving of only 5c per yard equals 50c and we are certain that almost every item in this advertisement will save you at least 5c per yard. Take for instance our Colgates Talcum Powder, sold everywhere at 25c per can. Our price is 15c, a saving of 40c on a dollar purchase.

However, we are not soliciting a credit business. But we are at all times offering you the best merchandise for much less money on the average than the same goods can be bought for elsewhere—and also selling you a credit service at cost, if you want it.

We have, in the past few years, saved the public thousands of dollars on their purchases and because of this we have built up one of the largest retail establishments of its kind in this part of the country. We solicit your business on the MERIT OF OUR MERCHANDISE, CONSUMER PRICES and the BEST OF STORE SERVICE. The more business you give us, the lower prices we will be able to make you.

We write fire insurance on the same principle—that prevention is better than cure. The premiums you pay on a Hartford policy buy more than indemnity in case of loss. They buy advice on fire prevention.

You can get through us, every help in that direction that the Hartford Company has developed during the 108 years it has been studying fires and their causes.

Whooping Cough

"The disease I most dread is Whooping Cough, for children are often permanently injured by the awful straining of the cough. You should never neglect and treatment should be started at the first symptom. You cannot mistake the symptoms: protracted coughing, worse at night; peculiar whoop; labored expectoration of mucus; apparent suffocation after coughing.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy

is a positive remedy for this disease—repeat the dose frequently, for if given freely it liquifies the tough mucus, makes it easy to expectorate and counteracts any tendency toward pneumonia. There is no danger whatever from Whooping Cough when Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is freely given."

Yours for Health —Gramy Chamberlain

TELEPHONE WONDER NOW IN OPERATION

FIVE CONVERSATIONS CAN BE CARRIED ON OVER ONLY ONE WIRE.

How telephone equipment can be made to carry five telephone conversations over the same circuit of two telephone wires, without interfering with each other, is an electrical achievement difficult for the mind of the average man or woman, not versed in the intricacies of electrical engineering, to comprehend. Yet the invention of the multiplex telephone system, recently announced by President T. N. Vail of the Bell Telephone System in a letter to Postmaster General A. S. Burleson, has made this electrical phenomenon a reality.

The only difficulty which now stands in the way of the general use of the telephone multiplex is the excessive cost of the equipment. The highly techinal equipment required is so costly that it is economically available only for long distance lines and for those only between points at least 100 miles apart.

Bancroft Gherardi, acting chief engineer of the American Telephone and Telegraph company, who headed the large staff of engineers whose work made the multiplex telephone system a reality, in commenting recently on the new invention said:

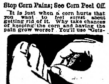
"The story of the development of the multiplex telephone and telegraph system reads like that of many other inventions. It is a story of long years of effort to accomplish a great result. The steam turbine, for example, is but recently developed to be practically useful and yet was suggested in principle as long ago as 180 B. C. Dr. Alexander Graham Bell was experimenting to produce a multiplex telegraph in 1872 and three years later, while still working on that device, he conceived of the telephone.

"Now, forty-six years after Dr. Bell who made these experiments, the multiplex telephone and telegraph has become a reality. The system is the product of no one man's efforts, but rather the result of the cumulative efforts of several hundred members of the Bell Telephone System's engineering staff, covering a period of years. It is one of the greatest single contributions to the science of telephony since that science was born in a Boston attic in 1875.

"The possibilities of the telephone," said Engineer Gherardi, "lie in the direction of expansion of long distance service. Physically the multiplex can be employed on any open wire telephone line, but practically it is not advantageous to use it on any line less than 100 miles in length. The highly technical equipment required is so costly that it is economically available only for long lines.

"We have one installation in service, that on the Baltimore-Pittsburgh line which was used in the recent demonstrations.

"The active intensive development of the multiplex system began several years ago and the technical work in connection with it was completed last spring. But for the great amount of war work that has engaged our attention, the system would have been demonstrated sooner, and it happened that the need for circuits to handle the traffic between Washington and war-work center, Pittsburg, determined the selection of the place to make the demonstrations."



Only One Corn Peeler, "Gets-It"

Stop Corn Pains; See Corn Peel Off.

It is just when a corn hurts that you want to feel surest about getting rid of it. Why take chances of keeping the corn and having the pain grow worse? You'll use "Gets-It" anyhow, sooner or later; might as well use it sooner. Then you are absolutely sure that the corn will loosen from your toe so that you can peel the whole thing off painlessly with your fingers, in one complete piece—just like peeling a banana. It takes a second or two to apply "Gets-It." There's no fussing or puttering. Corn-pains will vanish—that'll keep you sweet while the "Gets-It" does the rest. Nothing new for corns has been discovered since "Gets-It" was born. Follow the judgment of the millions; use "Gets-It" and be sure to be corn and pain free! You'll say it's magic.

"Gets-It," the guaranteed, money-back corn-remover, the only sure way, costs but a trifle at any drug store. M'f'd by E. Lawrence & Co., Chicago, Ill.

The Only Peel-It-Off Way is "Gets-It."

Sold in Thief River Falls and recommended as the world's best corn remedy by J. P. Curtis.

Introduces Itasca Potatoes.

A comparatively new variety of potatoes is to be introduced in Red Lake county the coming season, and the result will be watched with interest by spud raisers in this section of the state. The following item from the Red Lake Falls Gazette tells the story: "Ed. Porter last week received seven bushels of Green Mountain seed potatoes which he purchased at the recent potato show at Grand Rapids, Minn. These potatoes were grown in Itasca county, mostly by the boys' and girls' clubs and were auctioned off following the show. Mr. Porter is confident that the Green Mountain potato is better than the Burbank, will weigh better in grading and is a better eating potato. In 1918 Ed Porter put in fifteen acres of potatoes from which he harvested about 2800 bushels and his brother, Henry Porter, received about 2500 bushels from fourteen acres. They expect to increase the acreage the coming season and no doubt will receive a good yield from the new variety."

Ribbon Social.

A ribbon social will be given in the Ordal school house, Dist. No. 127, on Saturday evening, Feb. 22. Everybody welcome. Clara E. Notvedt, teacher. f13-20

WATERLOO BOY The Original Kerosene Tractor

In offering to you the Waterloo Boy, the Original Kerosene Burning Tractor, we believe we have selected the most practical, economical and dependable farm tractor on the market.

POINTS OF MERIT ON WHICH OUR JUDGMENT IS BASED.

PAST PERFORMANCE—The Waterloo Boy has been a success on farms for five years. In no way is it an experiment.

ECONOMICAL—It is a three plow tractor—most economical and practical size to use—burns kerosene perfectly without destroying lubricating oil. Its special, patented inbuilt manifold converts every drop of kerosene into pure gas—cylinders are not carbonized—spark plugs are not fouled. The perfect burning of kerosene saves the owner of the Waterloo Boy many dollars every year in cost of fuel and care of motor.

POWERFUL—The two cylinders, with big bore and long stroke, furnish a guaranteed power of 12 H. P. at the draw bar and 25 H. P. at the belt, with ample reserve for emergencies. The Waterloo Boy pulls three plows under almost any field condition. Hyatt roller bearings at all important bearing points conserve full power. Weight of the tractor is sufficient to insure good traction for drive wheels.

SIMPLE—Every part is easy to get at and easy to adjust or repair. It doesn't require a tractor expert to keep the Waterloo Boy in good working order. The crank case cover, the inspection plate, the upper half of gear case can all be removed for purpose of inspection or repair—the operator can work from a standing position.

DURABLE—Its heat-treated steel cut gears; its force and sight feed oiling system; its 11 sets of Hyatt Roller bearings at all important bearing points and its simple, powerful two-cylinder motor combined with uniformly high grade construction throughout, result in a tractor that has given and will give many years of dependable and economical service.

FOR ALL FARM WORK—You can depend upon the Waterloo Boy in all farm power work, up to its high rated capacity. It is just as satisfactory in operating belt machines—threshers, shellers, ensilage cutters, hay balers, etc.—as it is in pulling tractor implements of all kinds.

We Want You to See the Waterloo Boy—Come In the Next Time You Are in Town

JANUARY HUNG UP NEW WINTER MARK

WEATHER CONDITIONS HAVE BEEN VERY MUCH OUT OF THE ORDINARY

The Northwest has passed through the most unusual January, from the standpoint of weather, in its history. Reports from a great area, embracing the Canadian provinces from the Great Lakes to the Rockies and from Wisconsin to the continental divide, all tell the same general story.

Mosquitos made their appearance in Montana.

South Dakota cares for swarm of robins and flocks of ducks.

Minnesotans went house boating on the Mississippi.

Golf was played outdoors in Saskatchewan and tennis matches took place in St. Paul.

The Duluth bonspiel, an annual memory of ice and screaming winds, was delayed because of the absence of ice.

Chickens began laying at Prince Albert nearly a thousand miles northwest of Minneapolis.

Influenza killed hundreds of moose and deer in the Canadian wilderness. Delayed cold weather is blamed.

Big game failed to migrate from Yellowstone park in Wyoming.

All of these statements have been vouched for by leading newspapers in the districts.

About the time the South Dakota legislature convened, the robins came back and chirped in the capitol yards. Near the statehouse is a pond which is fed by warm water springs. The ducks never left it. They are protected.

At Billings, Mont., a resident was hurrying along the street late at night when he was attacked by a cloud of mosquitos. He bottled a few of them and took them to a Billings newspaper to add weight to his story.

Outdoor golf was being played at a number of country clubs when Texas was buried under a blizzard.

The last Sunday in January brought out the tennis fans. The hard courts were dry and football weather prevailed.

Canadians were surprised when chickens began to lay. Fanciers declared that beaver meat was responsible, but the fact that fowl in many districts where this food was not available also produced eggs, caused more poultrymen to thank the weather.

Plowing was general in southwestern South Dakota and southwestern Montana during the last ten days of January. One South Dakota farmer took advantage of the balmy days to seed 40 acres of wheat.

School Dedication Postponed.

The new school at Plummer will be dedicated on Wednesday, February 19, instead of Feb. 12, as announced in last week's issue of The Times, the change having been found advisable by the local committee having the matter in charge. Supt. J. H. Hay of this city will deliver the principal address of the evening.

LIQUOR ALLOWED FOR PRIVATE USE

PENNINGTON COUNTY IS NOT BONE DRY—LIQUOR CAN BE SHIPPED IN.

The liquor situation at the present time in Pennington county is this: There is no law preventing the importing of liquor for personal use, and the express agents have been notified that such shipments may be received at the local stations under the restrictions in force prior to the famous "bone dry" order put into effect by the Minnesota Commission of Public Safety. If there is any reason to believe that illegal use is being made of liquor thus brought in, officials are empowered to confiscate the goods, with the usual punishment for the receiver of the liquor in case he is convicted of violating the law.

The safety commission has gone out of existence as far as the liquor business is concerned and all orders formulated by that body for the control of the traffic have been rescinded. Pennington county therefore goes back to its original status as dry by county option and is not classed as "bone dry" in the same sense as Indian territory or other sections made dry by federal enactment. The privilege of importing booze into the county is not to remain for long, however, as the whole country will go dry July 1 under federal order. This will be followed by the national prohibition amendment, which becomes effective Jan. 16, 1920, and it is therefore certain that the days of Old John Barleycorn are numbered. Pennington county having declared by a substantial majority of votes that it is in favor of a dry regime, will no doubt work in complete harmony with the new status as regards the importation and sale of booze.

New Order Issued.

General Pershing has been authorized to send home for immediate discharge men who present proof of illness or other distress in their families. The request can be made by the soldier, by a member or friend of the family, in a letter or cable.

Tractor Short Course.

A four weeks short course for tractor and gasoline engine operators will be offered at the Northwest School of Agriculture, beginning on Monday, Feb. 17. At the same time there will be a special course for stock herdsmen which will specialize in the care and feeding of live stock of all kinds. This will be conducted under the direction of Professor W. V. Gousseff and a number of trained herdsmen who will come in to discuss special phases of the work. The Northwest School of Agriculture seeks to be of service to the people of this section of the state. It invites both young and middle aged men to attend these courses that will be intensely practical and will be worth while. The time comes at a period when work is slack. Write to the school for further particulars.

EXPERT SAYS THINGS FOR NORTHERN MINNESOTA.

"Neither the far-famed Adirondacks nor the Maine woods offer better canoe routes or better scenery than do Cook and Lake counties," says E. G. Cheyney, head of the forestry division of the University of Minnesota, who knows the eastern as well as the western woods, and who believes in Minnesota's wonderful opportunities as a recreation resort. "This whole section," adds Mr. Cheyney, "is capable of great development. It will furnish homes for a limited number, produce a certain amount of food and supply the future state with large quantities of timber and pulpwood, but even if it could do none of these things, it would, nevertheless, be well worth protecting and preserving as a magnificent playground for the state and the nation."

Certified check for $800.00 accompanied said bid.

The following resolution was offered by Commissioner McGinn, who moved its adoption duly seconded by Commissioner Naplin:

RESOLVED that the bid of the Minneapolis Bridge Company be accepted and that the County Auditor be hereby instructed to enter into a contract on behalf of Pennington County for the construction of said bridge.

On roll call the following members voted for the resolution: Commissioners, McGinn, Naplin, Roy, and Peterson.

Those voting against: None.

The resolution was so declared approved.

The following resolution was offered by Commissioner Naplin, who moved its adoption duly seconded by Commissioner Roy:

BE IT RESOLVED, that there be, and hereby is appropriated the sum of One Thousand dollars towards the salary and expense of a County Agricultural Agent for the year beginning January ° 1919, and that the County Auditor hereby is authorized to draw his warrants in such sums as may be required each month. All members voting for the resolution it was so declared approved.

The following resolution was offered by Commissioner McGinn, who moved its adoption, duly seconded by Commissioner Naplin:

BE IT RESOLVED, that the resolution of November 15, 1918, designating State Road No. 7, be amended as follows:

Commencing at the Southeast corner of Sec. 32 in Township 153, and Range 40, and on the center line of State Road No. 4, thence due North to the Northwest corner of Sec. 16, Township 154, Range 40, thence due East a distance of two miles to the Northeast corner of Sec. 15, same township and range, thence due North one half mile to the Marshall County Line, and that the same be designated as State Road No. 7.

All members present voted for the resolution and it was so declared approved.

On motion duly carried the application of the Prichard Company for reduction in their personal property assessment was approved by the County Board, subject to the approval of the Minnesota Tax Commission.

KIDNEYS WEAKENING? LOOK OUT

Kidney troubles don't disappear of themselves. They grow slowly but steadily, undermining health with deadly certainty, until you fall a victim to incurable disease.

Stop your troubles while there is time. Don't wait until little pains become big aches. Don't trifle with disease. To avoid future suffering begin treatment with GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules now. Take three or four every day until you are entirely free from pain.

This well-known preparation has been one of the national remedies of Holland for centuries. In 1696 the government of the Netherlands granted a special charter authorizing its preparation and sale.

The housewife of Holland would almost as soon be without food as without her "Real Dutch Drops," as she quaintly calls GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules. They restore strength and are responsible in a great measure for the sturdy, robust health of the Hollanders.

Do not delay. Go to your druggist and insist on his supplying you with GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules. Take them as directed, and if you are not satisfied with results your druggist will gladly refund your money. Look for the name GOLD MEDAL on the box and accept no other. In sealed boxes, three sizes.

How Good We Feel...

Ever since DR. MILES' LAXATIVE TABLETS have been on the market, thousands of people both young and old have been testifying to the merits of this popular and time tried remedy for constipation and stomach disorders.

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Simmons of East Columbus, Ohio, are typical examples. Mr. Simmons says:

"I have used DR. MILES' LAXATIVE TABLETS [illegible]"

DR. MILES' LAXATIVE TABLETS are prepared especially for sufferers of constipation—the ingredients are such that they act surely, but gently on the bowels and assist in restoring healthful regularity. A box of these tablets costs only a few cents at any drug store. They taste like candy. Ask your druggist for them. He knows why they are the ideal laxative for old and young.

SCHOOL NOTES

A Roosevelt memorial program was presented at the high school the last period on Friday afternoon. The main part consisted of well prepared and interesting addresses by Dorothy Lane, Norman Dybvig, Lorine Parker, and Elenor Overland, each discussing some separate characteristic of the ex-president's life. The grades also recognized the occasion, but in a less formal manner than the high school.

The Stephen basket ball team lost to the locals last Friday night by the uncomfortably narrow margin of one point. The visitors were tall and fast and played a very strong game.

Lieut. Hiatt and a team of four boys, three of whom are farm boys and one from town, went to Crookston Sunday night via Erskine, to enter the high school stock judging contest held Monday forenoon. The local agricultural department was without an instructor until the close of 1918, consequently the boys engaged in this contest with a heavy handicap.

A few more new high school students enrolled Monday morning, among whom was Severin Eberhardt lately returned from overseas. The extremely crowded condition of the high school reminds one of the old lady and her shoe famous in nursery rhymes, who had so many children she did not know where to put them.

The total enrollment of the schools at the close of the January school month was as follows: Knox, 269; Northrop, 345; Central, 189; Washington, 197; Lincoln, high school, 359; Total, 1359. Quite a few more pupils have since enrolled. In the high school department the enrollment by classes runs as follows: Freshmen, 121; Sophomores, 93; Juniors, 73; Seniors, 72. Total, 359.

Shop and Railroad News

New Storage Rules.

New tariffs have been received by the local freight offices and these will become effective next Saturday, Feb. 15. The new tariffs contain no changes in freight rates but make the rules regarding freight left in storage at the depots far more drastic than in the past. Formerly all incoming way freight could be left in the warehouse for ten days without storage charges while the new rule cuts the free time limit down to 48 hours. For the first five days following the expiration of the 48 hours a charge of two cents per hundred pounds will be made for storage and for each day thereafter three cents per hundred will be charged to the man who is negligent about removing his freight shipments from the depot. This ruling is evidently made for the purpose of discouraging the habit some people have formed of using the warehouses at the freight depot as store rooms until such time as it became convenient for them to remove the goods, thus causing an unnecessary congestion at these terminals.

Wheat Embargo Raised.

Orders were received at this station on Monday stating that the embargo on wheat shipments to the Twin City terminals would be lifted for three days—Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday. This means that wheat shipments for a few days were rushed through as fast as possible for when the lid is on this entire division is allowed to ship only four cars of wheat per day to this terminal. The wheat shipping business has been decidedly different of late from what it was in former years, due to the fact that there are no market changes to hasten or retard the shippers.

Brisk Stock Shipments.

Stock shipments from the north continue to come in at a lively rate and this aids materially in keeping business at a respectable level during an otherwise extremely dull season. More live stock has been carried over the Soo during the past few months than during any similar period in the history of the road.

Division Jottings.

Ole Hedlin and Joe Novak visited over Sunday with friends in the Twin Cities.

E. H. Taylor, traveling claim agent for the Soo, was a business visitor here on Tuesday.

Chas. Skog, machinist helper, left on Saturday for Minneapolis to remain for a few days on business.

Berger Wold, car man, returned to work Monday after having been laid off for two months on account of illness.

J. O. Herrick, agent at Warren, went to Crookston yesterday to take in the sights at the Farm Crops show.

Master Mechanic J. W. Hendry spent Friday and Saturday in the Twin Cities attending to business matters.

C. T. Franson, agent at Milo, spent Wednesday at Karlstad visiting with friends and attending to business matters.

Clyde L. Orvis has gone to work as station helper at Newfolden vice P. A. Laken, who recently handed in his resignation.

John Houfek, fireman, is temporarily officiating as engine dispatcher at Mahnomen during the illness of the regular man.

George Erickson, boiler maker helper, spent two or three days the past week giving the tall buildings in Minneapolis the "once over."

A. E. Preston, engineer, is enjoying a short vacation from his duties and is employing the time in visiting among friends at various points along the line.

H. W. Kinghorn, engineer, has gone to Overley, where he has assumed a temporary run. During the lull in business the boys are going to any part of the system where they may be able to find a few days' work.

Henry Noss is at present occupying the position of acting round house foreman at Mahnomen. The regular foreman, Karl Solberg, is quite seriously ill and it may be necessary for him to undergo an operation.

On account of the dull season for the railroads at present it has been found necessary to reduce the warehouse crew at the Soo. For this reason Paul Quindlog, warehouseman, finds himself temporarily out of employment.

Lincoln's birthday was observed by the workmen in the local yards of the Soo and all of them enjoyed a respite from their labors. Most of the boys put in the time at home, while a few of them took brief trips to spend the day with friends in surrounding towns.

J. J. Hoglin has resumed his position as agent at Alvarado after having been confined to his home for some time with a siege of the flu. Wm. Denslow, who did the work at the Alvarado station during the illness of the regular incumbent, is now on an indefinite leave of absence.

A big bunch of rip track men took advantage of the layoff occasioned by Lincoln's birthday and made a sightseeing trip to the Twin Cities. Among the boys making the trip are Griffith Jones, Julius Knutson, Olaf Johnson, Henry Simonson, George Parenteau, Alfred Johnson and Albert Elefson. That the bunch had a good time goes without saying.

ST. HILAIRE CLUB IS AGAINST CARNIVALS

WOMAN'S CLUB OF SISTER CITY OPPOSES FEATURE AT COUNTY FAIR.

As a result of the recent agitation of the question concerning carnivals as a part of the entertainment program at the forthcoming county fair, many opinions have been expressed on the subject both pro and con. The prevailing opinion seems to be, however, that a decided improvement could be brought about by substituting some other form of entertainment for the ordinary carnival attractions of past seasons. Just what can best be substituted has not yet been fully decided upon, but undoubtedly some satisfactory solution of the problem will be reached in the near future.

The latest protest against the carnival as a fair attraction comes from St. Hilaire, where the Woman's club has had the matter under discussion. This protest is in the form of a resolution and is as follows:

"We, the Woman's Civic club of St. Hilaire, wish to express, publicly, our approbation of the stand taken by the Woman's club of Thief River Falls in requesting the elimination of carnival companies from the program of our county fair, and we herewith pledge ourselves to aid the Fair Board in any way that we may be able to make the fair a success without this feature. Mrs. C. B. Bigelow, President; Mrs. O. Gunstad, Secretary."

EVERY FARM SILO AN EMBRYO STILL

FERMENTED CORN JUICE HAS "KICK" LIKE BEST MOONSHINE.

The farmer who owns a silo promises to be popular when the nation becomes "bone dry," for the innocent appearing silo, which reminds one of sleek-faced cows gazing contentedly in the meadow, is a regular cutup and an institution which is bound to cause Uncle Sam many sleepless nights, once the "lid" is put on the country.

Dairy farmers in Western Wisconsin who own silos and profess to know whereof they speak will take a solemn oath that a silo of its own volition, without attention or encouragement, manufactures a powerful alcoholic drink. Those who have ventured to taste the thick, light colored liquid which oozes out of the bottom of the silo, declare that it has a "kick" more powerful than a mule's wallop; that one drink of the stuff will cause a man to forget his troubles, and two small glasses will keep the drinker under the spell for ten or twelve hours.

Trickling down through layer after layer of chopped corn stalks stamped down by dirty feet the liquid found in the bottom of a silo is filled with particles of dirt and debris. Now comes the farmer who has discovered a method of filtering the liquid and who, to complete his home-made still, simply turns a faucet which he has inserted in the side of the silo near the bottom and draws from the receptacle a glass of fluid of the consistency and color of glycerine.

What can the government do to put the silo still out of business? Can Uncle Sam prevent a farmer drawing a drink from the bottom of a silo on his own farm, or inviting in a neighbor to have a friendly nip with him? These questions revenue officials will be called upon to answer as a result of the discovery that every silo is a manufactory of a drink as powerful as a Kentucky moonshining still.

"That's a new one to us," said a revenue agent when told of the liquid output of the silos. "Expect we will have some tall wrestling with that problem."

Silas Johnson, who owns a large dairy farm north of La Crosse, was the first man in that part of Wisconsin to discover the extreme alcoholic content of the silo liquid. His hired man is reputed to be the fastest milker in that neck o' the woods, a hard worker and a good all-around man on the farm. But recently he has been slipping. Starting out like a whirlwind at 5 in the morning, the hired man milked the cows and performed his morning chores in first-class shape. Along about noon he began to wobble around the barn, refused to eat his dinner and at 3 in the afternoon was fast asleep in the haymow, with a bad breath.

Himself a staunch prohibitionist and never permitting liquor in his house, Johnson set out to discover where the hired man was getting his liquor. Finally he caught him in the act of pulling a wedge from a cut he had made in the bottom of the silo to permit a liquid to run into a pail he held beneath the opening.

Silas Johnson's silo is emitting no more drinks for hired men, but how about the hundreds and thousands of silos in Wisconsin and Minnesota still untapped?

FOOD ADMINISTRATION THANKS NEWSPAPERS

A. D. WILSON EXPRESSES APPRECIATION OF WORK DONE BY PRESS.

That the press has been an important help to the government in putting over the various measures made necessary by war conditions has long been an acknowledged fact, and the success of the various movements have often been ascribed to the generous manner in which the newspapers devoted of their time and space in giving the desired information to the public. It has meant a lot of hard work to educate the public in the various campaigns and the newspaper men naturally take pride in the part played by them. Not the least important in the several movements was the food conservation campaign. The following letter from A. D. Wilson, food administrator for Minnesota, shows that one department head at least is fully appreciative of the assistance rendered by the press:

"To the Editors of Minnesota: As the food administration nears the close of its activities, I am wondering whether the editors of Minnesota appreciate to the full the tremendous educational force of their publications during the war days. Putting the food requirements of the war "over the top" meant the re-education of the great public in food-use and in the comparative value of food commodities. There were willing teachers but no text books—a difficult situation in the handling of a big problem—and the newspapers and magaiznes have been the great textbooks of the war years. The food program went over the top with a victory which deserves high place in history.

"Speaking with and for my co-workers in the food administration, I want to express our admiration of the educational power you represent and our respect for the men behind the power. Sincerely yours, A. D. Wilson, Federal Food Administrator for Minnesota."

"I wish to preach not the doctrine of ignoble ease, but the doctrine of the strenuous life."
Theodore Roosevelt.

THEODORE ROOSEVELT was one of America's foremost citizens. He won his way to fame and honor by leading a strenuous and thrifty life.

The prudent citizen makes every week a Thrift Week. He has seen a War won by Thrift. He has seen Nations united and glorious in Victory—by Thrift. He has seen individuals rise from cottage to mansion—by Thrift.

The practice of Thrift is most essential to success—it marks the principal difference between failure and achievement. And Thrift means the getting of the utmost value out of your dollar—not false economy, nor foolish extravagance.

Reconstruction days are here. The Government is fast relinquishing all restrictions and it is your patriotic duty to do your share of Reconstruction work.

The war has made all of us put off lots of things that should have been done. Now they must be done. You owe it to yourself, your surroundings and to the welfare of this community to start work at once.

You will be starting your part of the reconstruction work in a THRIFTY way by coming to us with your building plans.

Our record of twenty years service to the people of this community places us in a position to assist you intelligently with your plans. We know the building needs and requirements of this section and can show you the way to get the best possible buildings at the lowest cost.

ENGINEERING FIRM MAKES CITY OFFER

WILL FURNISH ESTIMATES AND INFORMATON FREE OF COST.

A representative of the Charles L. Pillsbury company, engineers, of Minneapolis, visited this city recently. During a conference with Mayor G. A. Penney, he stated that his company was willing to give assistance in arriving at a solution of the paving matter, and named a number of things which would be done without charge. Mayor Penney recently received the following letter from the company, offering to stand by the agreement entered into by its representative:

"We wish to confirm the offer made by our representative, relative to your paving matter, and say that at any time it is convenient to you and the council, the undersigned will come up and go over every phase of the proposition with the council and the citizens' committee, furnishing estimates of cost of the various kinds of paving, cost per lot, and such other information as might interest them. We would also take up the necessity of getting busy as soon as possible in order to get all the preliminary work done, making all the necessary connections, etc.

"We would also be in a position to discuss the advisability of postponing the work on account of possible reduction in cost of material. As suggested to you, such a meeting would not obligate the city in any way and we will be only too glad to come up at any time it can be arranged conveniently to both parties. Very truly yours, Charles S. Pillsbury Co."

The above letter was submitted by the mayor to the city council at the meeting of that body on Tuesday evening, but no action was taken in the matter.

SOLDIER REPORTED DEAD WRITES HOME

LOCAL RED CROSS MAKING EFFORT TO GET FURTHER INFORMATION.

On January 10 the following telegram was received from the adjutant general by Halvor Halvorson of Rocksbury township in regard to his son, Private Halbert Halvorson, company F, 131st infantry: "Deeply regret to inform you that it is officially reported that Private Halbert Halvorson, infantry, died Nov. 17, from wounds received in action."

This telegram came as a complete surprise to the young [illegible] as a letter from him dated Nov. 30 stated that he was [illegible] wounds received [illegible]. This apparent confusion of facts led the relatives to place the matter in the hands of the local branch of the Red Cross which sent a letter of inquiry to the Bureau of Communication at Washington. A reply, dated Jan. 13, says: "We have sent a cable to our Paris office, asking them to verify the reported death of Pvt. Halbert Halvorson. Just as soon as an answer is received, you may be sure we will notify you."

Another letter, dated Jan. 18, has been received by Mrs. O. C. Langseth of Rocksbury township, a sister of the soldier. This letter contains the information that he was seriously wounded at Chateau-Thierry on Aug. 12, a rifle bullet having entered his right side and passed clear through his body. He was taken to England and there spent several months in a hospital, but has recently been discharged from the hospital and is now with his company in France. Private Halvorson remarks that the mail service has not been of the best as he has only received five letters from home since his arrival in France, the others having either gone astray or been returned to the writer. He also mentions the fact that Ben Habedank and Jacob Greenagle, two Pennington county lads, are in his regiment and are enjoying good health. The relatives and friends of Private Halvorson are naturally much relieved to learn that he is alive and well after all this uncertainty regarding his fate.

CITY COUNCIL IN REGULAR SESSION

ONLY ROUTINE BUSINESS DISPOSED OF AT TUESDAY EVENING MEETING.

Nothing but routine business occupied the official attention of the aldermen at the session of the city council Tuesday evening. The monthly reports of the city clerk, city treasurer, chief of police, municipal judge and librarian were accepted. A permit to repair and move a building within the fire limits of the city was granted to C. M. Everson. W. A. Bishop made application for license to sell cigarettes and this was granted without a dissenting vote.

Dr. O. F. Mellby, city health officer, was authorized to purchase a pulmotor to be used in resuscitating persons near death from drowning, asphyxiation or other causes. The need for a pulmotor has often been evident and the machine will be a valuable addition to the doctor's equipment.

The regular batch of bills was allowed, and after a little informal discussion of various subjects an adjournment was taken until the next regular meeting.

Any farmer who is interested in a tractor should look up the advertisement of the Oen Mercantile company in this issue of The Times. f13

On Buying Trip.

A. S. Sapero of the Sapero company left Sunday night on an extended buying trip which will take him to the Twin Cities, Chicago and New York. Mr. Sapero expects to spend sufficient time at each place to choose the very best stocks possible for his store in this city, and as he also is buying for the Sapero store at Chisholm he will be in a position to get the benefit of buying in larger quantities than the average country merchant who visits the great trade centers. Patrons of the Sapero store in this city may look for some interesting announcements regarding spring merchandise when Mr. Sapero returns. During the trip Mr. Sapero plans on spending a short time at the Business Men's Short Course at the university of Minnesota, a course in business and merchandising arranged especially for retail merchants of the Northwest.

ELK CHARITY SHOW TO BE HELD FEB. 21

TO STAGE MATINEE AND EVENING PERFORMANCES AT PRINCESS THEATRE.

It has been decided by the local lodge of Elks to have the annual charity show of the organization take the form of afternoon and evening performances at the Princess theatre, and Monday, Feb. 24, has been chosen as the date for the big event. Manager Lawrence of the Princess has agreed to donate the theatre free of charge and will pay all expenses connected with the performance with the exception of the rental fee for the film, which will be only a nominal sum. This will make almost the entire proceeds of the entertainment available for the charity work conducted by the Elks.

The committee in charge of arrangements has secured a great dramatic picture entitled "A Diplomatic Mission," with Earle Williams in the stellar role. This is an exceptionally good seven-reel feature, and as an added attraction a good two-reel comedy will be shown. The latter picture has not yet been selected but assurance is given that it will be a number to bring a smile to the face of the most austere citizen of Pennington county. To add variety and pleasure to the program, several high class musical numbers by local talent also will be presented. Nothing but the very best is good enough for the Elks and all who attend these performances may rest assured of a rare treat.

Tickets to the show will be for sale by members of the lodge by the end of this week and a concerted effort will be made to surpass all previous records made in similar events. The money goes for a good cause and people should keep this fact in mind when they are approached by the man who has tickets to offer.

Big Crowd on Special.

The special train over the Great Northern yesterday to the Farm Crops show at Crookston was well patronized by people from this part of the country. While no accurate figures are available, it is estimated that about one hundred boarded the train here, about twenty-five at St. Hilaire and another hundred at Red Lake Falls. While many people from the city took advantage of this opportunity to attend the show, a large percentage of the tourists were from the farms of Pennington county.

HOW HOME SERVICE SECTION CAN HELP

ONE INSTANCE WHERE TWO LOVING HEARTS WERE BROUGHT TOGETHER.

If it is any comfort to a girl in this country to know that the man back home has not "changed his mind," one girl is today blessing the Home Service Section of the American Red Cross. As a true feminist should, Johanna Schmidt left Hans Hesse behind while she went out a-pioneering. And as the new woman does, she succeeded. Yet "where the heart is"—and success did not seem so golden after the world war began and Johanna could not hear from Hans.

And over here were the Browns and Joneses sueing for her hand. Now Johanna, like any other modern young lady, knows the proverb about a bird in the hand. Still, she wanted to be sure, quite sure, before she put Hans out of her mind. It was probably through one of the Browns or one of the Joneses that she heard of the work of the Home Service in forwarding messages to enemy territory. How that informant will rue the day! For she has just received the message saying, "I have not changed my mind and never shall."

So Johanna has settled down to waiting, until the peace conference arranges things so she and Hans can get together again.

The local Home Service committee of the Pennington County Red Cross will be glad to assist anyone similarly situated, and Mrs. J. J. Richter of this city will be glad to get in touch with anyone who can make use of the Home Service section.

Excellent Band Concert.

An agreeable surprise awaited those who were in attendance at the concert given last Thursday evening at the auditorium by the Kids' band. The excellence of the program and the skill with which it was rendered was a revelation to all. Director Cordes has the boys under perfect control and is giving them a thorough musical education. It is to be hoped that the juvenile band will see fit to appear in public at more frequent intervals in the future. They made a decided hit Thursday night and will be greeted by a larger audience when they give the next concert.

FAIR DIRECTORS TO MEET ON SATURDAY

TO WORK ON REVISION OF PREMIUM LIST AND CONSIDER ATTRACTIONS.

A meeting of the board of directors of the Pennington County Fair association is scheduled for next Saturday afternoon at the Commercial club rooms. The work of revising the premium list will be resumed and many other matters pertaining to the forthcoming county fair will be taken up. Further plans with regard to attractions during the fair will be considered and something definite in this matter may soon be expected.

The board of directors is pleased to receive suggestions and recommendations in the matter of attractions for the fair as it is considered that this is the best way to learn just what a majority of patrons consider a proper method of entertaining the crowds who attend the fair. The fair board also appreciates any assistance received from civic and other organizations of the county.

Desirable entertainment will be provided for the people who attend the county fair next summer. That much is certain. The only question remaining is what to get in order to please the greatest number of people. Carnivals of the kind formerly appearing in conjunction with the fair have proved objectionable to most people and something will have to be found to take the place of this type of entertainment. An effort is being made to get a number of attractions different from anything which has ever before appeared in this section of the state—something high class and unique. If you have a pet notion as to what constitutes a desirable attraction, the board of directors will be glad to give you a hearing at the meeting on Saturday.

LIEUT. D. J. WINTON WINS HONOR MEDAL

MINNEAPOLIS MAN GETS D. S. C. AND PROMOTION FOR HEROISM.

Lieutenant David J. Winton, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Winton, of Minneapolis, who returned home last week from service with the tank corps, was on Monday awarded the Distinguished Service Cross by the war department for extraordinary heroism in action near Exermont, France, last September. The Winton family is well known in Thief River Falls, the elder Winton being president of the Winton-Nichols Lumber company and having been associated with the lumbering business here for many years.

The citation [illegible] Lieut. Winton [illegible]:

"Sergeant Winton [illegible] tank into the woods to reduce a machine gun nest but it was hit and set on fire. He and the driver were wounded as they left the tank but advanced on the nest and were wounded the second time. While attempting to reach his companion who had been hit the third time, Sergeant Winton was again wounded but reached the driver. They then took cover and remained until dark when Sergeant Winton made his way back to our lines, being hit three more times while returning."

Lieutenant Winton is not yet completely recovered from his wounds and was promoted after the action described in the citation.

Back From France.

John Brumund, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Brumund, has been discharged from military duty and returned to this city Wednesday morning. John was a member of the naval aviation corps and saw about six months of service in France. He returned to this country Dec. 11 and from that time until his arrival here had been stationed near New York awaiting his discharge. The unit to which John was attached did coast patrol work in France, and the nature of it was such that it furnished plenty of thrills.

STEPHEN FAILS TO TAKE HOME SCALPS

BASKETBALL TOSSERS MEET DEFEAT AT HANDS OF LOCAL QUINT.

In an exciting and hard fought game of basketball, Thief River Falls defeated Stephen at the high school gym last Friday evening by a score of 10 to 9. The first half ended in a tie, 7 to 7, which made things intensely interesting for the spectators. To add to the excitement the visitors made a field basket shortly after the beginning of the second half. Toward the last of the game the locals scored a field basket and a minute later a free throw decided the game.

In defensive playing, team work and passing the home boys showed up well, but they were unable to make baskets although they had twice the number of chances that Stephen had. The boys are showing up in fine shape and the intensive drill they have been receiving at the hands of Coach G. W. Connell is having splendid effect on their playing.

The lineup for the Stephen game was as follows: Guards, Nason and Barzen; forwards, Schuster and Johnson; center, Flattum. Hadrath replaced Johnson and McGinn replaced Barzen during the last fifteen minutes of play.

Argyle will be here to try conclusions with the local basket shooters tomorrow evening and another good game is looked for on this occasion. Argyle has a strong team and will give the boys a run for their money.

KEPT PLEDGE TO SEND BREAD

American Nation Maintained Allied Loaf Through Self-Denial at Home Table.

AVERTED EUROPEAN DESPAIR.

With Military Demands Upon Ocean Shipping Relieved, World Is Able to Return to Normal White Wheat Bread.

Since the advent of the latest wheat crop the only limitation upon American exports to Europe has been the shortage of shipping. Between July 1 and October 10 we shipped 65,080,305 bushels. If this rate should continue until the end of the fiscal year we will have furnished the Allies with more than 237,500,000 bushels of wheat and flour in terms of wheat.

The result of increased production and conservation efforts in the United States has been that with the cessation of hostilities we are able to return to a normal wheat diet. Supplies that have accumulated in Australia, Argentine and other hitherto inaccessible markets may be tapped by ships released from transport service, and European demand for American wheat probably will not exceed our normal surplus. There is wheat enough available to have a white loaf at the common table.

But last year the tale was different. Only by the greatest possible saving and sacrifice were we able to keep a steady stream of wheat and flour moving across the sea. We found ourselves at the beginning of the harvest year with an unusually short crop. Even the most optimistic statisticians figured that we had a bare surplus of 20,000,000 bushels. And yet Europe was facing the probability of a bread famine—and in Europe bread is by far the most important article in the diet.

All of this surplus had left the country early in the fall. By the first of the year we had managed to ship a little more than 50,000,000 bushels by practicing the utmost economy at home—by wheatless days, wheatless meals, heavy substitution of other cereals and by sacrifice at almost every meal throughout the country.

In January the late Lord Rhondda, then British Food Controller, cabled that only if we sent an additional 75,000,000 bushels before July 1 could he take the responsibility of assuring his people that they would be fed.

The response of the American people was 85,[illegible] bushels safely delivered overseas between January 1 and July 1. Out of a harvest which gave us only 20,000,000 bushels surplus we actually shipped 141,000,000 bushels.

Thus did America fulfill her pledge that the Allied bread rations could be maintained, and already the American people are demonstrating that, with an awakened war conscience, last year's figures will be bettered.

Our exports since this country entered the war have justified a statement made by the Food Administration shortly after its conception, outlining the principles and policies that would govern the solution of this country's food problems.

"The whole foundation of democracy," declared the Food Administration, "lies in the individual initiative of its people and their willingness to serve the interests of the nation with complete self effacement in the time of emergency. Democracy can yield to discipline, and we can solve this food problem for our own people and for the Allies in this way. To have done so will have been a greater service than our immediate objective, for we have demonstrated the rightfulness of our faith and our ability to defend ourselves without being Prussianized."

Sending to Europe 141,000,000 bushels of wheat from a surplus of apparently nothing was the outstanding exploit of the American food army in the critical year of the war.

GREATEST OPPORTUNITY WOMEN EVER HAD.

It was given to the women of this country to perform the greatest service in the winning of the war vouchsafed to any women in the history of the wars of the world—to feed the warriors and the war sufferers. By the arts of peace, the practice of simple, homely virtues the womanhood of a whole nation served humanity in its profoundest struggle for peace and freedom.

FIRST CALL TO FOOD ARMY.

This co-operation and service I ask of all in full confidence that America will render more for flag and freedom than king ridden people surrender at compulsion.—Herbert Hoover, August 10, 1917.

A year ago voluntary food control was a daring adventure in democracy; during the year an established proof of democratic efficiency.

Fire Insurance

Is your home protected against fire and windstorm? Can you afford to risk the loss of either building or furnishings, when for a small yearly premium you can purchase absolute protection?

The risk isn't worth it, is it? If you carry insurance now, better increase it to cover present valuations. If you don't, take some out at once.

Community Sing.

The musical section of the Woman's club will conduct a "Community Sing" at the Princess theatre this evening. The general public is given a cordial invitation to join in the singing and the songs will form a prominent part of the evening's program. The ladies have been rehearsing diligently for this event and something exceptionally good may be looked for.

Farmer Goes Insane.

Ferdinand O. Berg, a Kratka township farmer, was brought to the city yesterday and will be examined this morning as to his sanity. The examination is expected to result in the unfortunate man being sent to the Fergus Falls hospital, as he has for some time been acting in an irrational manner and is evidently in need of treatment. For some time Mr. Berg has been employed in a paper mill at International Falls, but was brought home by relatives the first of the week after they were notified by the authorities at International Falls of his strange actions. It seems that he is possessed of the idea that someone is trying to do him great harm and he is in constant fear of being murdered. Mr. Berg is owner of a farm in Kratka township and has a wife and several children. It is thought likely that his mind will return to normal after he has undergone treatment at the hospital for a time.

FOOTWEAR Spring '19

The return of our conquering heroes brings with it a resumption of social activity—dormant since the War. And the Victory dances, welcome-home parties, etc., with their bright, new, colorful gowns, require new Foot-wear to match.

We anticipated these conditions in the selection of our new Spring stock of Quality Foot-wear—complete in colorings, materials and styles—fit to suit the most fastidious Miss or Matron.

We invite your careful inspection.

W. G. HUNT DIES IN MINNEAPOLIS

PASSES AWAY ON MONDAY AT EITEL HOSPITAL FOLLOWING OPERATION.

WAS A PROMINENT FIGURE

COUNTY COMMISSIONER FROM FIRST DISTRICT AND SUNBEAM POSTMASTER

W. G. Hunt, county commissioner from the first district and one of the most prominent men of eastern Pennington county, died Monday at Eitel hospital, Minneapolis, where he had gone two weeks previously to receive treatment. An operation had been performed in hopes of saving his life but he gradually grew weaker until the end came. A complication arising from kidney trouble was the cause of death. Mrs. Hunt left Sunday evening for the bedside of her husband and arrived a few hours before his death. The remains were shipped to this city and the funeral will be held at Highlanding on Saturday afternoon at two o'clock, with interment in the cemetery near that place.

A Rugged Character.

W. G. Hunt was widely known throughout the section of the country in which he lived. He settled on a homestead at Sunbeam shortly after the opening of the Red Lake reservation, and this continued to be his home until death. He published a newspaper, the "Sunbeam," at his farm home during these years, and it was partly through this paper that he became widely known. Mr. Hunt was a strong champion of eastern Pennington county and probably did more than any other one man in bringing development to that section. He stood for what he believed to be right, and his fearless attitude naturally made him many enemies. He was first of all a fighter and the columns of his paper reflected this characteristic of the man. When Mr. Hunt started out to accomplish a task he kept on until the goal was reached, regardless of what others might think of the project. Even his enemies were forced to admire his utter fearlessness.

Held Positions of Trust.

Deceased served as postmaster at the Sunbeam postoffice from the time it was established until his death. He also was justice of the peace, and last fall was elected county commissioner from his district. In this position he had planned many things which would be of benefit to the people residing in his section of the county. Road and bridge work was his hobby and the first district has him to thank for many improvements in its highway system.

Native of New York.

Born in Genesseo county, New York, Mr. Hunt came west at an early age. After having resided for many years in Oklahoma and other states he came to Northwestern Minnesota and cast his lot with the settlers on the newly opened Red Lake reservation in 1904. He is survived by his wife, who will continue to reside on the farm, and one married daughter, who lives in California. Other surviving relatives are a brother; C. D. Hunt, of Cleo, Okla.; three sisters, Mrs. Chas. Phelps, Carmen, Okla.; Mrs. Fren Van Houser, Osage, Iowa, and Mrs. Fred Baker, who resides in Wisconsin.

TEAM FROM ARGYLE IS DEFEATED HERE

LOCAL BASKET BALL SHOOTERS HAND VISITORS DRUBBING BY DECISIVE SCORE.

After a bad slump of two weeks, Thief River Falls came back last Friday in the game against Argyle with the best team work shown here for some time. The visiting team got the short end of a 43 to 18 score. Each and every man seemed to have team work and control down pat. Argyle had a much heavier team and for the first few minutes the visitors looked like winners, but the locals found themselves and soon took the lead. The guarding of Nason and Barzen stopped Argyle from scoring and was the best of the season.

Schuster's floor work and basket shooting and Johnson's passing and basket shooting were the features. Flattum's ability to spill plays and defensive playing showed up well and his ability to outjump his opponent enabled the team to play signals, which was the reason for so much scoring in the last half. McGinn, who replaced Barzen in the last ten minutes, helped swell the score by his speed in getting down the floor.

The locals are billed to play another game with Crookston next Tuesday and on Friday evening will meet their old adversaries, the team from Fosston. Good games are looked for in both instances as Connell's proteges are coming to the front fast under his intensive training.

Barber Shop to Move.

The Benson & Holstein barber shop which has for a number of years occupied the building at 107 Third street east, will be moved the last of this week and on Monday morning will be open for business in the fine room just east of the First National bank. The change is made for the reason that the new place furnishes more room for the shop, and in this building hot and cold water as well as heat is furnished the tenants, thereby making it much more convenient for a barber shop than the old location. Mr. Benson, who has conducted the business alone since the death of his partner several months ago, has been a barber in this city for the past twelve years and for nine years has owned an interest in the present shop.

To Buy Spring Stock.

E. O. Mogensen, the clothier, will leave Sunday night for Chicago, where he plans on spending a week or two in buying spring goods for his store. Mr. Mogensen promises his patrons an unusually fine stock at the time he moves into his new building on Third street, where he expects to be located within a few weeks.

ELK CHARITY SHOW BEST EVER STAGED

BIG DOINGS PROMISED AT PRINCESS THEATRE NEXT MONDAY EVENING.

All board for the big show at the Princess theatre next Monday evening! This is to be annual charity show given by the Elks' lodge, which is sufficient proof as to the quality of the entertainment. The fact that the proceeds are to be used for charitable purposes should also be an inducement for the people of Thief River Falls and vicinity to attend. In addition to a cracking good seven-reel drama and a rip-roaring comedy, a fine musical program by local talent has been arranged and this alone will be well worth the price of admission. The film drama is entitled "A Diplomatic Mission," with Earle Williams taking the leading part, and it is said to be one of the strongest photoplays produced for many months. The comedy will be a sure enough side splitter and consists of two reels of the funniest antics that the funniest people on the screen are capable of going through.

Manager Lawrence of the Princess has agreed to donate the theatre and pay all expenses except the actual cost of the film, which will make practically all of the proceeds available for the charity work conducted by the Elks. This lodge has the reputation of being the most benevolent and charitable of the fraternities having branches in this city and its members are doing a noble work in helping those who are less fortunately situated. This undertaking requires funds and it is for the purpose of securing money to supply its charities that these entertainments are put on by the lodge. It is up to the people of the city to turn out next Monday evening and thus lend their assistance to a worthy cause.

FEDERAL BUILDING IN SIGHT FOR CITY

APPROPRIATION IS FAVORABLY REPORTED TO CONGRESS BY BUILDING COMMITTEE.

A new postoffice building for Thief River Falls again looms up as a possibility for the near future. According to press dispatches of Monday, the house committee on public buildings and grounds at Washington had reported favorably a bill which carried with it an appropriation of $75,000 to provide a new federal building for this city. A favorable report by the above committee is usually considered as the equivalent of the appropriation being made by congress, and those who are inclined to be optimistic declare that the new building is as good as secured. Public improvements of all kinds were placed under the ban for the duration of the war, but the policy from now on will be to increase these improvements in order to furnish labor for returned soldiers and sailors.

Postmaster John Morgan has received no information on the subject from the postoffice department and probably will receive none until such time as the appropriation is actually made. The matter of location and other things pertaining to the new postoffice naturally is a subject concerning which there will be considerable argument among the people of the city, and any statement as to where the building will be erected is nothing more than a guess. These details will all be taken care of when the money is forthcoming and the new federal building becomes an assured fact.

Attend Club Meetings.

Mrs. H. W. Froehlich and Mrs. M. H. Connelly, of the local Woman's club, are in attendance this week at the regular mid-winter meeting of the Minnesota Federation of Women's Clubs, which is being held today and tomorrow at the Radisson hotel, Minneapolis. Mrs. Connelly went to the city Saturday, while Mrs. Froehlich left Tuesday evening for the scene of the meeting.

OLDEST DOCTOR TAKES PARTNER

DR. GAMBELL SELLS HALF INTEREST IN PRACTICE TO DR. FISHER.

WILL REMOVE FROM CITY

BUSINESS IS TO BE TURNED OVER TO NEW DOCTOR ON JULY 1.

Thief River Falls is about to lose one of its most prominent families and, in point of service, its oldest doctor, through a deal which was made this week. The announcement that Dr. F. H. Gambell has made arrangements to leave this section will come as a distinct surprise to his large circle of friends. This week he sold out a half interest in his practice to Dr. Lawrence F. Fisher of Grand Forks, N. D., who has already arrived to take up his new duties. Dr. Gambell will remain in practice here until July 1, at which time Dr. Fisher will assume complete charge.

To Leave City.

It has for some time been the desire of Dr. and Mrs. Gambell to reside at some point where their sons could secure the benefits of a college education without leaving home, and this alone is the reason for the contemplated move. The doctor has not yet decided upon where he will locate, but it will without doubt be in some medium-sized city with first-class school facilities. There are many such cities in the country and a choice naturally cannot be made without considerable investigation of the relative merits of each.

Considered a Fixture.

Dr. Gambell had almost come to be considered a permanent fixture in Thief River Falls, having been a practicing physician here since April, 1902. For almost seventeen years he has been associated with the progress of the city and has assumed his share of the burden in working for the public good. He has always taken a prominent part in public affairs and has been chosen for many positions of trust and honor. Dr. Gambell has been closely associated with the Thief River Falls public schools and has done his share in bringing them to their present high state of efficiency. Having been a member of the school board almost continuously during his long residence in the city, he has given a splendid record of service during all these years. When Dr. Gambell leaves the city, the schools will have lost a good friend.

One Term as Mayor.

In recognition of the active part he took in public affairs, Dr. Gambell was in 1916 elected mayor of the city. In this capacity he served efficiently for two years. In addition to his other duties, Dr. Gambell found time for business, and for a number of years has been associated with the First National bank in this city and with the Cass Lake State bank. He is at the present time vice president and director of the local bank and a director of the Cass Lake institution. Dr. Gambell also has taken a prominent part in church and other uplift work in the community.

Trip to Alaska.

In 1908 Dr. Gambell was appointed by the government to make an inspection of the reindeer stations which had a short time previously been established at various points in Alaska. He spent several months in that far northern country and had many strange experiences. Readers of The Times will recall a series of articles written by the doctor concerning his sojourn in Alaska and published in this paper about a year ago. In 1911 he took a post graduate course at the University of Illinois, which placed him high in the ranks of medical practitioners.

Mrs. Gambell has for years taken an active part in club and church work in the city and will be greatly missed by her associates. She is at present a member of the library board, and is treasurer for the Northern District of the Presyterian Home Missions society. Several times she has been honored with positions of trust in the Eastern Star and other similar organizations with which she is associated.

The New Doctor.

Dr. Fisher comes to this city very highly recommended. He was graduated in the Liberal Arts with the degree of A. B. in 1911. In 1914 he graduated from the Rush Medical college, Chicago, with a degree of M. D. Following his graduation he spent some time in various large Chicago hospitals, where he gained valuable experience both in medicine and surgery. For two years prior to the outbreak of the war he practiced his profession in western North Dakota and was very successful. He then enlisted in the army and attained the rank of lieutenant. Mrs. Fisher is an accomplished musician, having for some time past been an instructor in a musical conservatory at Grand Forks. She will find a ready welcome in the social circles of Thief River Falls.

GRYGLA BANKER HAS SHOWN UP

C. E. BALLARD, WHO DISAPPEARED EARLY LAST SUMMER, HAS RETURNED TO REMAIN FOR PRESENT

PROPOSES TO DO ALL HE CAN TO UNTANGLE AFFAIRS OF DEFUNCT BANK

Ballard was placed under arrest last evening by Sheriff W. J. LaBree of this county and Sheriff Hanson of Warren on a warrant charging forgery of a note for $1,000. Amund Hanson of Marshall county swore out the warrant for Ballard's arrest. The prisoner was taken to Warren this morning.

C. E. Ballard, former president of the Farmers State bank at Grygla, who disappeared mysteriously last May, arrived Tuesday evening over the Soo from the Twin Cities. He was accompanied by Mrs. Ballard, who will return to Washburn, Wis., the home of her parents, at the conclusion of a brief visit with friends here.

Left Affairs Tangled.

While no criminal charge was then made, it is generally understood that the affairs of the bank with which Mr. Ballard was connected were in a badly tangled condition at the time of his disappearance. The bank was later merged with the Citizens State at Grygla, and the Farmers State bank has gone out of existence. Thru the help of the other officers of the defunct institution its affairs have been pretty well straightened up, and it is likely that Mr. Ballard will not be required to face a criminal charge in connection with it.

Shows Right Spirit.

When interviewed by a Times representative yesterday, Mr. Ballard said he could not explain why he left Grygla. He had been in poor health for some time, and this coupled with business worries made the load too heavy to carry. Mr. Ballard stated that it was the one big mistake of his life and he is at a loss to know why he acted as he did. To show that he proposes to stand up and face the world once more, Mr. Ballard asserted that he came back to help straighten out the affairs he left behind, and he proposes to remain here until the task is finished. Where he has been for the past few months and what he has been doing is of little consequence, according to his line of reasoning. Only one thing matters, and that one thing is to set himself right before his former business associates and before the world.

MEETS DEATH IN RIVER; THIN ICE

LITTLE LOUISE RUSTAD MEETS DEATH MONDAY AFTERNOON WHILE SKATING.

ICE CUTTERS ARE TO BLAME

HOLES LEFT OPEN AFTER ICE IS REMOVED AND NO GUARDS ARE PLACED.

Once more the river has claimed a victim. Little Agnes Louise, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Rustad, who live on a farm just east of the Eighth street bridge, was drowned late Monday afternoon while skating near her home. The body was recovered half an hour later but all efforts at resuscitation proved in vain.

The little girl returned from school in the afternoon, and after eating a lunch picked up her skates and started for the river. Her seven-year-old brother accompanied her but as he had no skates she was soon out of his sight. The little fellow followed the tracks left by his sister's skates in the thin film of snow upon the ice, but could not see her anywhere. He then became alarmed and summoned his mother, who soon discovered that the tracks led to a place where the thin ice had been broken through. Mrs. Rustad called for help and several men working in the neighborhood responded at once. Although the water is about fifteen feet deep at this point they succeeded in recovering the body of the little girl about half an hour later. Doctors were also summoned but could do nothing as life already was extinct.

Ice Cutters Careless.

It is asserted that John Erickson of this city, who makes a business of cutting and hauling ice, had cut an opening in the river Monday morning. With the thin sheet of ice which had formed during the day and the light snow which had fallen, it was impossible for the girl to detect the danger until too late.

There is a law which provides that all openings left in rivers or lakes when ice is taken out shall be fenced until such time as ice in the opening shall have frozen to a depth making it safe, and this law also provides that a light shall be left burning near such places as a warning during the night. It is alleged that neither of these requirements have ever been complied with on the river. Such disregard of public safety is little short of criminal.

Was Only Daughter.

Louise was the oldest child of Mr. and Mrs. Rustad and was their only daughter. Two boys, Ivan and Eugene, are left to mourn the loss of a loving sister. Mr. and Mrs. Rustad have resided in their present home for twelve years and it was here little Louise was born on Nov. 26, 1909. She was an unusually bright and sweet child and was a general favorite among her playmates at school.

The funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon at the Presbyterian church, with Rev. R. L. Barackman conducting the last sad rites. Burial will be at Greenwood.

ANNUAL MEETING OF ALLIED MECHANICS

OFFICERS ELECTED AND OTHER BUSINESS TRANSACTED—GOOD ATTENDANCE.

The Mechanics Mutual Benefit association held its annual meeting at the Commercial club rooms in this city last Friday afternoon and evening. This association is composed of blacksmiths and mechanics of the allied trades and its membership includes nearly all progressive men in Northern Minnesota who are engaged in these callings. A general business meeting was held in the afternoon, at which various matters pertaining to the welfare of the association and its membership were discussed. A better understanding among the members regarding their work and concerted action to secure needed reforms are among the results obtained from these meetings.

Before the close of the session the election of officers for the ensuing years was taken up. The following were chosen to fill these positions: President, Isadore Forther, Oklee; vice president, Ole Johnson; Kennedy; secretary, August Stensrud, Kennedy; treasurer, C. C. Gulrud, Thief River Falls.

After the close of the meeting at the club rooms, the delegates were entertained at a banquet. This was given at the Brumund hotel and proved to be a very enjoyable affair. The delegates returned to their homes feeling that they had been royally entertained in Thief River Falls and that the convention had been really worth while. No definite decision was made regarding the place where next year's convention will be held, but opinion prevailed among the delegates that Thief River Falls would be chosen as their convention city.

Christian Science Lecture.

Attention is called to the free lecture which will be given in the Auditorium this evening under the auspices of the Christian Science society of Thief River Falls. Charles I. Ohrenstein, C. S. B., of Syracuse, N. Y., will be the speaker, and he is a man with a wide reputation in his line of endeavor. These lecturers are sent out by the Board of Lectureship of the Mother Church, Boston, and the purpose of their talks is to set aright misunderstandings with regard to the teachings of the church which have come about through a lack of knowledge concerning the doctrines of Christian Science. The general public is invited to be present at the lecture this evening, and all are assured that they will hear something worth while.

Back From Overseas.

A telegram received Sunday by Mrs. Anna Langseth of this city conveys the information that her son, Martin, who has been a member of the 151st field artillery in France for about a year, had arrived safely on this side. Martin is now stationed at Camp Merritt, N. J., and expects to be released from military service within a short time.

COMMUNITY PLAN GROWS IN FAVOR

PATRIOTIC SENTIMENT IS EXPRESSED AT MEETING MONDAY EVENING

A large audience gathered at the Auditorium Monday evening to listen to an address by Mrs. Marion L. Burton, wife of the president of the university of Minnesota. Owing to illness in her family, Mrs. Burton was unable to be present and her place was taken by Mrs. Peter Oleson of Cloquet. The latter filled the bill admirably, speaking for more than an hour on the subject of community spirit. Mrs. Olsen gave a vivid description of the Cloquet fire, and described the community spirit which is doing wonders in rebuilding the burned city. Her remarks were well received and helped greatly to create sentiment in favor of the community house plan which is now so strongly advocated by students of social conditions.

At the opening of the program, Miss Grindeland with the musical section of the Woman's club led in a community sing. Several songs were rendered in a very effective manner. At the conclusion of the singing a short talk was given by Mayor Penney. Supt. J. H. Hay then introduced the speaker of the evening in a few well-chosen remarks.

After Mrs. Oleson had concluded her talk, Supt. Hay again took the floor, explaining in detail the proposal to build a memorial in this county in honor of our soldiers and sailors, and giving a brief outline of the work the memorial committee has in hand. He was followed by Rev. J. A. Orrock, who explained the league of nations idea to the audience. Rev. Orrock recently returned from the league congress at Minneapolis and came strongly imbued with the idea that a league of nations is a practical thing. He explained in detail how and why such a league should be established at this time.

Taken all in all, the meeting Monday evening will go far in bringing people to a better understanding of the vital questions of the day, and the Woman's club is entitled to much credit for making the gathering a possibility.

Successful Band Concert.

The band concert given at Mavie last Saturday evening by the Silverton band proved to be a huge success. The attendance at the concert was good and the band boys realized a neat sum after all expenses were paid. Added to a pleasing program by the band were a piano solo by Miss Day of Mavie, and E. J. Cordes, leader of the band, rendered two very pleasing cornet solos, with Miss Day as accompanist. The dance following the concert also was thoroughly enjoyed by the large crowd of young people in attendance.

MORE EXPERIMENTS WITH PEAT LANDS

MOVE STARTED TO CARRY ON FURTHER RECLAMATION WORK IN STATE.

The legislature is asked to appropriate funds for a soil survey of state-owned lands and to influence the federal bureau of mines to conduct proposed investigations on state-owned peat beds and lignite fields, in resolutions adopted a few days ago by the state land improvement board meeting in the office of State Auditor J. A. O. Preus at the state capitol.

Dr. F. J. Alway, soil expert at the Minnesota farm school, agreed to accompany the board members on a trip to inspect tracts which Robert E. DeLury, Walker, special agent, has recommended for improvement. Lands to be improved by the board will be designated after the inspection. Dr. Alway is well known in this section through his connection with the Golden Valley peat land experiment, which was carried on last year.

CONTEST IS ON; CLUB TO GROW

BIG DRIVE IS LAUNCHED TO INCREASE COMMERCIAL CLUB MEMBERSHIP.

TWO ARMIES NOW IN FIELD

TREMENDOUS IMPORTANCE ATTACHED TO OUTCOME OF BITTER CAMPAIGN.

The citizens of Thief River Falls will be given an opportunity to witness some queer stunts in the near future if something serious doesn't happen to the plans of two prominent local business men. In order to increase the membership of the Commercial club it was decided at the meeting last Thursday evening to choose two teams from among the members, and arrange a contest between these two teams to secure new members for the club. E. O. Mogensen was placed at the head of one team, while L. A. Lampert will lead the other. Mr. Mogensen's team will sell red membership cards, and in order that there may be no chance for argument, the other side will be provided with blue cards.

Arguments Are Numerous.

Already the air is full of argument as to which team will succeed in securing the greatest number of new members. The two leaders have made an agreement that the loser shall wheel the winner all over town in a wheelbarrow at the close of the contest, and now the boys are busy inventing suitable trimmings to go with this unusual spectacle. Some have suggested that the band should march along with the procession, while others believe that a whole calithumpian parade should be arranged for. At any rate, there is keen rivalry between the two factions and some interesting developments may be looked for.

A Big Undertaking.

The new membership drive is the most extensive ever undertaken by the club. It is planned to make of the club a thoroughly representative organization and this can only be accomplished by a large membership. Do not wait to be approached by the solicitors. You might as well join at once as to wait until you are bearded in your den by a determined member of either branch of the army.

Field Marshal Mogensen.

The division in charge of E. O. Mogensen is composed of the following battle scarred veterans: L. E. Gesell, Hans Anton, C. M. Carlson, J. Provencher, Isak Helseth, Carl B. Larson, F. E. McKnight, Perl Mabey, O. N. Ostby, Joe Perdzok, A. S. Sapero, J. C. Spencer, J. H. Hay, Olaf Tessum, Peter Myhrum, Carl Gulrud, Alvin Holzknecht, Arthur LaBudde, Victor Polman, Olof Thompson, Lars Backe, Dr. C. R. Crandall, Ted McGinn, Henry E. Holt, Chas. Lieberman, Wm. Michelet, F. C. Niclai, W. W. Prichard, Jr., Theo. Quale, K. O. Sundahl, F. F. Haynes, Sivert Brandon, Charles Prichard, Olaf Ramstad, C. L. Hansen, Nels Christianson, L. R. Johnston, N. J. Silk, E. H. Bennes, John Bratrud, O. L. Cronstrom, Dr. H. W. Froehlich, A. J. Lawrence, A. M. Langseth, Dr. A. J. Paulson, C. A. Pitkin, R. H. Ross, Daniel Shaw, Emil Zeh, S. O. Groild, H. W. Protzeller, T. L. Melgaard, Oscar Sponheim, Ferdy Brown, W. A. Barnard.

Gen. L. A. Lampert.

The equally enthusiastic army under the leadership of General L. A. Lampert answers to the following roll call: George W. Walker, T. J. Austad, N. J. Anderson, Maurice Giffler, A. S. Lieberman, H. G. Phillips, F. J. Stebbins, George Biddick, Scott Laird, L. R. McAdams, G. W. Connell, H. L. McLeod, C. W. Vorachek, Willis Akre, Theo. Thronson, Robert McGinn, P. Engelstad, J. F. Farr, Andy Anderson, Dr. G. W. Booren, J. P. Curtis, G. Halvorson, Roy Lambert, Dr. C. A. Penney, E. M. Stanton, F. E. Welland, Rev. J. A. Orrock, H. C. Johnson, Gynther Tessum, Matt Barzen, A. J. Anderson, Harry Booren, F. H. Herrick, Clarence Holte, H. A. Pratt, H. A. McDaniel, H. A. Brumund, George Curran, Louis DeCremer, Walter Jung, John Morgan, Fred Roth, M. G. Stageberg, T. A. Way, L. H. Lawrence, C. A. Nason, E. M. Schutt, W. B. Fuller, N. A. Holen, H. S. Dahlen, F. E. Hunt, Albert Johnson, Jerry Race, Dr. O. F. Mellby, A. Ellison, A. E. Olson.

And Then the Feed.

To add still more interest to the race, it has been decided that the losers must "set up" a supper to the winners on the evening of March 13, next regular meeting of the club. The membership contest started on Monday and will continue until March 1. In the meantime both factions will continue to make the fur fly.

Directors to Meet.

A meeting of the board of directors of the Pennington County Farm Bureau will be held in the office of the bureau in this city next Monday Feb. 24. The session is announced to begin at two o'clock. Work for the ensuing year will be discussed by the directors at this meeting and many other important matters are expected to come up for consideration.

FARMERS ASSURED GRAIN TO BE SOLD

COMMISSIONER TELLS FARMERS CROPS WILL BE SOLD BY JULY 1.

Commissioner O. P. B. Jacobson of the state railroad and warehouse commission announced on his return from conferences in New York City with Julius Barnes, head of the federal grain corporation, that farmers of Minnesota and other northwestern states may rest assured the grain corporation will see that their grain is all sold and delivered by July 1.

Representative Sidney Anderson gave similar assurances in a letter from Washington to Oscar Arneson, chief clerk of the Minnesota house. Representative Anderson wrote that he did not see how any legislative action would expedite the movement of wheat, the present embargo being "A result of physical limitation, coupled with a lack of foreign buying orders due to the disparity between the price at which it is possible to sell the wheat product of the United States and the price at which Argentina and Australia can at present deliver their wheat abroad."

Successful Dance.

The dance given at the Auditorium last Friday evening under the management of A. J. Lawrence of the Princess theatre was attended by a large crowd of young folks from the city and surrounding country. Excellent music was furnished by a five-piece orchestra under the leadership of E. J. Cordes and all present had a most delightful time.

AUTOMOBILES
Yes, we handle both the Buick and Chevrolet cars and will be pleased to have you call and inspect the latest models which we have just received.
The Buick are building six models this season, all 6 cylinder cars, and we can say without fear of contradiction they will, as before, prove the peer of any car in their class. Remember the old slogan, "When better cars are built Buick will build them." The Chevrolet still feature the Model 490, which is the small 4 cylinder five passenger car fully equipped with starter, electric lights and demountable rims. Their greatest energy has been spent on the production of this model with its equipment equal to much larger cars. Do you know that the Chevrolet is the largest automobile concern in the world?
You are always welcome.

COMMITTEE NAMED FOR BOYS' SERVICE

PLAN TO PLACE SCHOOL BOYS ON FARMS DURING SUMMER MONTHS.

The following men have been appointed as a committee to help in the promotion of the Boys' Working Reserve in Pennington county: Supt. J. H. Hay of the public schools; Lieut. J. J. McCann, county agent; A. J. Anderson of the Citizens State bank, Waldie Christensen, farmer, and T. J. Austad, editor of The Times.

Sherman Dickinson, associate state director of the Boys' Working Reserve, has recently appointed Lieut. L. R. Hiatt, in charge of the agricultural department of the local high school, as county director of the Reserve for Pennington county. Lieut. Hiatt has temporarily been acting in this capacity for some weeks. He is the first county director to be appointed outside the Twin Cities.

The committee, under the direction of the county director, will have charge of enrolling boys between the ages of 16 and 20 years, who are ablebodied and who desire to work at some productive farm labor, either industrial or agricultrual, during their summer vacation, and also in the placing, education and supervision of the boys so placed.

There will doubtless be places on farms for all boys who wish to work on the land this summer, especially if the Federal Food administration succeeds in its purpose to export twenty million tons of food to war-ridden lands. According to Jas M. McConnell, state superintendent of education, if this amount of food were loaded on freight cars 40 feet long and containing 40 tons of food each, it would fill 500,000 cars, making a train 3,700 miles long, and when the engine was in Boston the caboose would still be in San Francisco.

SCHOOL NOTES

School Nurse Haggart is at work in the Northrop this week and in a few days will have completed the examination of all children below the seventh grade.

Fosston meets Thief River Falls in basketball at the local gym Friday evening. This is considered a classic in atheltics and, in large measure, determines the district leadership. Argyle went down to an easy defeat last Friday.

Two new families apeared in the Washington on Monday and one other registered at the Northrop.

The most important social affair of the school year, the Junior-Senior reception, will take place Saturday evening at the Lincoln. Provision will be made for the entertainment of the 145 members of the two classes, the board of education, and the high school faculty.

Substitutes are so frequently necessary in the grades this winter that it is impossible at times to secure a supply of teachers.

Norse is the only modern language taught in high school. It is agreed among school authorities that teaching a modern language in high school is largely a loss of time, unless it finanlly equips the child to read and write this language with some reasonable degree of fluency and correctness.

Loss of life at any time is shocking, but when such a sweet and promising child as Louise Rustad is suddenly called hence, it is doubly sad and mysterious. This little girl was marked among her playmates and the teachers at the Northrop as a refined, clever pupil whose future appeared laden with every prospect of highest success.

COMMISSIONERS ARE NOT DUE FOR RAISE

BILL OF SENATOR O. A. NAPLIN DOES NOT REFER TO PENNINGTON COUNTY.

It seems that news items in the Twin City press are not always reliable—at least those concerning the activities of the legislature. The Times last week made the mistake of taking it for granted that the proceedings of the state law making body were correctly reported in these papers, and consequently gave Senator O. A. Naplin of this district credit for doing something of which he is absolutely innocent. This has reference to the proposed raise in salaries for the commissioners of Pennington county. According to the city papers these were slated for a raise to $480 a year if a bill introduced by Senator Naplin became a law.

A letter has been received from the senator, calling the attention of The Times to its error and explaining the matter in full. In justice to Mr. Naplin, The Times gives space to the following extracts from the letter:

"The fact is I introduced a bill at the request of Representative Enstrom of Roseau to slightly amend the law up there. The commissioners of Roseau conuty are now drawing a salary of $480 and the law was drawn to definitely class the county. These bills are all drawn so as to describe the different counties as having so many congressional townships and we inserted in that bill 'whole or fractional,' because of the many fractional townships around the Lake of the Woods. Otherwise there was no change.

"I am against this wholesale scramble for salary raises which is going on. More than two-thirds of all the laws which have passed the senate have been bills to raise salaries. The reaction is setting in and I doubt if any more will weather the storm.

"You will notice in the papers lately that I have introduced a bill to raise the salaries of county treasurers. The same is true there. It affects Clearwater, Cook and Mahnomen counties. The treasurer in these counties draws a salary of $1,200, which is pretty small pay for these times. My bill seeks to increase it to $1,500, but leaves all the other counties the same. Ous treasurer draws a salary of $15,000, but the valuation of the county will place him in the $2,000 class the coming year.

"From present indications it looks as if a general salary bill will be drawn to save time. If such a bill is prepared I will favor some small changes in salaries, but no large raise. When the present officers sought election last fall they knew what salary was connected with the office and they also knew of the prevailing high prices of commodities. Their offer to take the positions at that salary was a sort of contract between them and the voters and a salary raise at this time is a breach of good faith. It would have been different had they been holding over and the high prices not foreseen.

"Kindly make the correction in your paper so that no misunderstanding may arise. I feel that there are many voters who curse me already for this supposed salary raise, of which I am not guilty."

Public Forum

Opposes Drainage Bill.

Editor Times: There is a bill pending in the legislature at the present time, known as S. F. No. 132, introduced by Senator F. L. Cliff of Ortonville. The bill provides for the organization of drainage and flood control districts without limit to size. It may take in the entire Red River valley or even the whole state.

The control of this drainage district is to be vested in a board of three or five directors appointed by the judge of the district court, for a term of six years, the members of the board to draw a salary of seven dollars a day and expenses. Said board of directors is given absolute control over all ditches, rivers, water courses and lakes in their district. They can construct dams, dig ditches, straighten or deepen rivers as they see fit, act as their own viewers in assessing benefits and damages. They can even plant fish in lakes and dams and assess the cost up to the people. The bill also gives the board authority to build dams for power purposes, but it does not allow them to sell bonds on such dams for more than 60 per cent of the reasonable value of such water power. It is not stated where the other 40 per cent is coming from, but suppose that is the common people's share. (See Sec. 20.)

The board of directors may make regulations for and may prescribe the manner of building bridges, roads or fences or other works in, into, along or across any channel, reservoir or other construction. (See Sec. 22.) In short, the bill proposes to take away from the local authorities all control over ditches and all matters pertaining to drainage, and centralizes such control in a permanent board that is not directly responsible to the people for the efficient and economical conduct of their affairs.

The bill is drawn more in favor of power companies than farmers. It is a very complete and well drawn bill. There seems to be nothing overlooked or left to chance. If the bill is passed and becomes a law the farmers of northwestern Minnesota will have to shoulder a very heavy burden as there seems to be no end to the assessments that can be levied.

The writer wishes to ask that everyone interested write their senator and representatives and protest against the enactment of this bill as it is an entirely unjust and uncalled for measure.

Melin-Pierson.

Arthur Melin and Miss Julia Pierson were married in this city last Friday. The newly married couple will make their home on a farm near Wylie, which community has been their home for a number of years. They are popular young folks and have the best wishes of a host of friends.

Holmen-Schie.

Oliver G. Holmen and Miss Annie Schie, both of Mavie, were united in marriage on Monday in this city, Rev. A. N. Skogerboe performing the ceremony. These young people have a large circle of friends in their home community who extend congratulations and best wishes for a long and happy wedded life. They will make their home on the Geo. M. Gunderson farm east of this city, which they will operate during the coming season.

WOMAN'S CLUB HAS PLEASING PROGRAM

REGULAR MEETING MONDAY AFTERNOON BRINGS MANY GOOD NUMBERS.

At the regular meeting of the Woman's club on Monday the program was in charge of Mrs. J. M. Bishop, district chairman of the Y. W. C. A. Mrs. Marion L. Burton was scheduled to deliver an address at the meeting but on account of the illness of her daughter was unable to be present. Mrs. Peter Oleson of Cloquet was secured in Mrs. Burton's place and proved an able substitute. She spoke in the afternoon at the Woman's club and in the evening at the Auditorium.

Mrs. Oleson's address at the club meeting was enthusiastically received. She spoke on the work of the Y. W. C. A. and wholesome and practical recreation for young people. The talk was delivered in Mrs. Oleson's usual charming manner and contained much of value to those who were privileged to hear it.

The music of the afternoon was in charge of Mrs. G. Halvorson and the program consisted of the following choice selections, which were delightfully rendered and much enjoyed by the club members and visitors:

Piano Duet, "Witches' Dance"........McDowell
Miss Forde
Miss Johnson
Violin Solo, "Kol Nidri"....Max Brush
Miss Sorenson
Piano Solo, "Militaire Polonaise"....
Chopin
Miss Landahl
Vocal Solo, "The Wind in the Chimney"........Gertrude Griswold
Mrs. G. Halvorson

Several county leaders in Y. W. C. A. work were present, including Mrs. Eastburn of Stephen, Mrs. H. H. Hodgson of Crookston, Miss Rebecca Hunt of Red Lake Falls, Miss Olga Standy of Mahnomen, and Miss Olive Booren of this city. Short talks were given by Mrs. Hodgson, Miss Hunt and Mrs. Eastburn.

A Freak Pig.

P. B. Malberg, a prominent farmer residing north of this city, has a curiosity in the shape of a pig. The porker seems to be entirely normal in every way except that it has only two legs upon which to navigate. In spite of this handicap he has the same disposition and the same ambitions as his more fortunate brothers. There is not the least sign of legs on the rear half of the pig's body and the fore legs must furnish his only means of locomotion, but he manages to get about fairly well just the same. This freak of nature has several brothers and sisters but these are normal in every respect. The pig is now several months old and gives every indication of living to a ripe old age. Mr. Malberg had the animal on exhibition at the Crookston Farm Crops show and upon its return from there the curiosity was viewed by many people in this city.

Taken to Fergus Falls.

Ferdinand Berg, the Kratka township farmer who was examined as to his sanity last Thursday, was adjudged insane by the board of examiners. He was taken to Fergus Falls the same afternoon to receive treatment at the state hospital. It is thought likely that a period of treatment at this institution will restore the unfortunate man's mind to its normal condition.

SAM POPE TOURS HISTORIC PLACES

GRANTED FURLOUGH AND SEES MANY INTERESTING THINGS ON JOURNEY.

DISLIKES FRANCE WEATHER

SAYS AMERICA HAS FAR BETTER CLIMATE—WANTS TO GET BACK.

The Times is privileged this week to publish several letters from Samuel L. Pope, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Pope of Rocksbury. Samuel has been with the American expeditionary forces in France for a long time and is naturally anxious to return home. He is a very observing young man and writes interestingly of a trip he recently made when he was granted a short furlough. Samuel's opinion of weather conditions in France tallies exactly with that of other soldiers who have written from over there, and he is longing for just one breath of pure Minnesota ozone and the privilege of living in a country where it isn't everlastingly raining. The letters follow:

"Aix le Bain, France, Dec. 28, 1918. Dear Folks: I suppose you will be surprised to note that I am writing from Aix-le Bain, so I will explain. One day last week our top sergeant told me the major had picked me out to come down here on a furlough. I don't know how it came about but I was the first to leave out of the detachment. He asked me if I wanted to go and, believe me, I wasn't slow in saying 'Yes.'

At Famous Health Resort.

"This is a famous health resort in peace time and one of the army leave areas in war time. As one of the boys said: 'Aix le Bain was visited by all the crowned, as well as all the bald, heads of Europe.' It certainly is a beautiful city and has a population of about 20,000 people. The government pays all of our expenses. The boys live at hotels—and the swell ones at that. Good eats and all kinds of clean amusement are furnished.

"The Y. M. C. A. has charge of the Casino, a very large building that was formerly used as a gambling resort. It was at this place that the aristocrats gambled while visiting here. It is put to a far better purpose now. It is really the most beautiful building I was ever in. It has a large theatre, reading rooms, lobbies, etc., and it is a most remarkable place.

"The town is situated on a lake eleven miles long and two miles wide. It has an average depth of five hundred feet. Yesterday we had a trip on a lake steamer. We went over to Haute Coombe Abbey. This was built in the fifteenth century and is now inhabited by fifteen monks. Its chapel is simply grand. The abbey grounds and abbey are on Italian soil. When Savoy, in years past, became French soil the Italians retained these grounds by consent of the French. While we were there we visited the royal apartments, reserved for the king of Italy when he visits the abbey. He sure has some fine rooms to live in. Among the things to be seen across the lake, on a mountain, is Hannibal's Pass. There are mountains on both sides of the lake. It is all very scenic.

"I will have five days more here. The weather is mild, but often rainy. Was told by a girl in a store last evening that it never gets below 17 degrees above zero."

Still More Sights.

"Aix le Bain, Dec. 28, 1918. Will write you again this evening before our departure for Arnouville. We leave tonight. I am in hopes we will find our regiment at the coast, ready to embark, but I am afraid it will only be a dream. We had a very good time down here and I wish I could stay longer.

"It rained for several days before Christmas, but that day dawned bright and clear. Accordingly, after dinner, my pal and I decided to go up Mt. Revard on the cog railroad. The mountain is 5,070 feet high and we had a picturesque view from the summit. We could see Hannibal's Pass, our valley and mountains being in Italy. Also had a fine view of Mt. Blanc to the east of us. It is said to be the highest mountain in Europe. It is 45 miles from Mt. Revard. Also saw it through a telescope and it seemed so close that one could almost jump over to it. We also saw the sunset on Mt. Blanc and the coloring was grand. Down in the valley there is no snow but on Mt. Renard there is snow and genuine Christmas weather.

"I wish I could have been home for Christmas. Hope my Christmas box and a lot of letters are awaiting me when I return to my regiment. I haven't and idea when we will return to the dear old U. S. A. There's no place, after all, just like it."

Back in Camp.

"Arnouville, France, Jan. 1, 1919. Will take the pleasure, this New Year's day, to wish you all a most Happy New Year. Got back from Aix le Bain yesterday. Had a very pleasant time while there but the trip returning was slow and tiresome. The fellows here are all quite well.

"Received two letters from you when I got back here; also the Christmas box. I very greatly appreciate the pen, sweater, compass and candy. I bought some fountain pen ink at Aix le Bain. I paid two francs (38 cents) for it—the size we pay a dime for in the states.

"I see they are still having the 'flu' in Thief River Falls. Well, there has been plenty of it here, too. I had an attack of it about two months ago, but it was a slight attack and I was bedfast for only a week. I note through the papers that Teddy Roosevelt is demanding that the government get us back faster. If he can get us back sooner, I am for Teddy. In plain English, I am sick of France and its rainy weather. I am real well but am itching to get back to a real climate. Today it isn't raining but it is cloudy. It is no wonder they have good roads over here—if they didn't have they would be impassable most of the year.

"Around here the people have no cows to feed. I don't believe there is a domestic fowl or animal in the town, except army horses and mules. It will take the peasantry a long time to rebuild their devastated property and get on their feet again, especially those whose homes have been in the direct path of war. On our way returning from Aix le Bain we went through St. Mihiel, where there was much fierce fighting. The town certainly shows it, too."

Makes Another Move.

"Boviolliere, France, Jan. 15, 1919. We have moved since I wrote you last, as you will note above. We are now about fourteen miles from Goundecourt. I don't know whether it is a move toward home, an indefinite stay, or a trip to Germany. You can easily imagine which I hope it is. The time goes so slow and it discourages a person to have to stay here after the fighting has long ceased.

"I expect to mail some souvenirs home soon. Hope they arrive safely. I would carry them with me but my pack is horse-killing to carry without carrying a lot of extras. I have, however, an iron cross that I will carry with me until my return. I received the Dec. 5 issue of The Times. Hope they will continue to come. Pvt. Samuel L. Pope, 313th Engineers, Med. Det., A. P. O. 795, A. E. F., France."

P. Reierson of Holt visited with his son, Tilford Reierson of this city over Sunday.

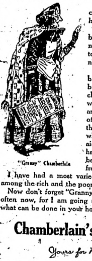
I Am "Granny" Chamberlain



"Granny" Chamberlain

Everybody's friend when they have coughs and colds and their children have croup and whooping cough.
Most everyone knows me. I have been going from home to home for nearly fifty years—always welcome, too, for I never fail to help in time of need.
I have helped young mothers whose babies were choking with croup, and been the comfort of parents whose children came to school through the wet winter weather. Many a cold and attack of bronchitis I have warded off, and thousands I have helped through the anxious moments of whooping cough. I have come to the aid of mothers and fathers when they had colds and influenza, and have been a relief to old folks suffering from bronchitis and asthma.
I have had a most varied experience; I go everywhere among the rich and the poor, in cities and the country.
Now don't forget "Granny" Chamberlain! You will see me often now, for I am going to tell you of my experience and what can be done in your home with

BAN IS PLACED ON WEARING UNIFORM

SALE OF ARMY GOODS BY STORES TO BE PREVENTED IN THE FUTURE.

The War Department has requested the Attorney General to investigate the wearing of the United States Army uniform by civilians. This action was taken after the department had been advised by citizens in different parts of the country that stores were selling army uniforms at greatly reduced rates and making an especial price.

The Attorney General's office replied to the request of the War Department, stating that the matter of the wearing of the uniform by civilians was under investigation and that any persons found violating the National Defense Act would be prosecuted. The violation of Section 125 is punishable by a fine of $300 or six months imprisonment. New York department stores have been advertising bargain sales in U. S. Army uniforms, overcoats and shoes for several weeks. In the West merchants are advising customers that the removal of the Service buttons alone is necessary to make the uniform available for civilian attire.

The War Department has issued the following circular:

"The present law authorizes a discharged officer or soldier to wear his uniform from the place of discharge to his home within three months of the date of his discharge from the service. Thereafter the officer may wear his uniform only upon occasion of ceremony.

"The enlisted man must return his uniform within four months of date of discharge; but can wear it only as stated above.

"An act is now before Congress, which if passed, will authorize enlisted men to keep the uniform which they are permitted to wear home, and to wear that particular uniform only, provided some distinctive mark or insignia, to be issued by the War Department, shall be worn.

"It will then be clearly seen that neither under the existing or proposed law will a discharged soldier be permitted to wear uniforms made by civilian or other tailors. They may legally wear only the particular uniform which they have been permitted to retain.

"Commanding officers of camps, posts and stations will give the widest publicity to this information, both among the soldiers of their commands and in the local press. No person will be permitted to solicit orders for, or deliver uniforms to soldiers about to be discharged. Persons or concerns persisting in selling uniforms to such soldiers, after having been warned not to do so, will not be permitted to come on or do business on the reservation."

WOUNDED MEN WILL BE WELL EDUCATED

FEDERAL BOARD TO EDUCATE WOUNDED AND DISABLED SOLDIERS.

The United States government will not forget the men who have been disabled by wounds or in any way incapacitated during the present war. The Federal Board for Vocational Education is the new organization which proposes to help all such wounded or disabled soldiers or sailors to find a place where they can earn their living in spite of any handicaps that war has thrust upon them.

The local draft board at Thief River Falls has been asked to find any such men that there may be in Pennington county, and to report their names to this federal board at Washington. There may not be any crippled soldiers in Pennington county at the present time, but it is entirely likely that there will be some by the time all the boys have returned from overseas. The local board wishes to secure the addresses of any such that there may be anywhere in the county, and will be glad to put them in touch with the proper authorities.

All expenses incurred in training the man for a productive livelihood will be borne by the government while he is training, and a substantial allowance made for the support of his dependents, if there are such.

PEAT DEVELOPMENT IS URGED IN STATE

PROPER TREATMENT TO PLAY IMPORTANT PART IN FUTURE OF SECTION.

Development of peat lands in Minnesota was urged in a general discussion at a meeting held at the Crookston Farm Crops show last week. The high price of coal and wood during this winter, it was said, has made imperative the development of the resources of Minnesota which will furnish a cheaper heat producing material.

The peat fields of this state are among the largest in the nation and have not been developed to a marked extent. Farmers were urged by the speakers to cut and dry peat on their lands for fuel.

Leslie Walter, Sr., of Moorhead, discussed the peat situation in the state and nation, declaring that the best potato lands in the country lie within the borders of the state and this phase of farming has not reached its highest development. The market for potatoes, he said, is usually good, although the great amount of tubers grown during the past season gave the producers a lower market than the year previous, when the market climbed to the highest point in years.

Dean E. W. Thatcher of the University of Minnesota Farm School was the principal speaker of the afternoon. "Much of the growing discontent of the years immediately preceding the war was due to the problems connected with the world's food supply," Dean Thatcher said. "Other business men were manipulating the food supplies of the world without regard to the farmers' vital interest in and relation to these problems. To prevent a return of this condition during the reconstruction times, the agricultural men of the country must be awakened to the situation, alert to seize its opportunities and willing to study and solve its problems."

HIGHEST MILITARY HONOR FOR SOLDIER

NELS WOLD OF McINTOSH RECOGNIZED FOR HEROIC CONDUCT IN ACTION.

The award of 41 Congressional Medals of Honor, America's highest military decoration, which previously had been given to only three men for service in the great war, was announced recently by the War Department. Two lists of awards were issued, one bearing the names of two officers and 19 enlisted men and the other those of eight officers and 12 enlisted men.

PRIVATE NELS WOLD

The medals were awarded on recommendation of General Pershing for "conspicuous gallantry and intrepedity above and beyond the call of duty." Some of the medals were awarded posthumously.

Private Nels Wold, McIntosh, Minn., Company I, 138th Infantry, captured a machine gun nest and eleven prisoners, and later rescued a comrade about to be shot by a German officer whom Wold killed. Wold was himself killed while rushing a fifth machine gun nest.

The honored soldier is a relative of Andrew Trovaton of this city and was well known to a number of people here.

Soldier Dies on Transport.

Ludwig L. Taft of Erskine was one of the seven soldiers who died aboard the transport Finland enroute to New York from overseas last week. Heavy weather was encountered by the Finland. Fifty-three cases of illness developed aboard the ship and seven returning soldiers died.

Scanlan on Police Duty.

According to letters received from Fred T. Scanlan, a member of the 151st field artillery, a part of the famous Rainbow division, he has spent the past several months at Paris. It will be recalled that Fred was gassed in action during July and for several weeks thereafter was confined in a hospital. Upon his release from the hospital he was given a clerical position in the Paris headquarters of the American army, but some weeks ago he was transferred to police duty. Fred has not the least idea when he will return home as he has been separated from his command.

Lancaster to Build School.

The voters of Lancaster decided last week at a special election to bond the district for $50,000 with which to build a modern new school house. The vote stood 130 in favor of the proposition and 48 against. Several districts have been consolidated in the enterprise and the new school will fill a long-felt want in that section of the state.

ENJOYING LIFE IN OCCUPATION CAMP

LOCAL BOY WRITES INTERESTING LETTER CONCERNING HIS EXPERIENCES.

Private Claude Evenson, son of Chas. O. Evenson, who resides on a farm northeast of this city, has written the following interesting letter to his friend, Oscar Peterson. Private Evenson left here May 25 and received his first military training at Camp Lewis, Wash. From there he was transferred to Camp Kearney, Cal., and a short time thereafter was sent overseas. He failed to see service on the firing line, having contracted influenza at the time his regiment was ordered to the front a short time before the armistice was signed. Private Evenson is now with the army of occupation in Germany and chances are that he will remain in that country for some time. The letter follows:

"Pfazel, Germany, Jan. 15, 1919. Dear Friend Oscar: It is a long time since I wrote to you so will try and write a little tonight. I am now with the 89th division, which originally came from Camp Funston, Kans., but there are many 40th division fellows in this outfit also, as you see the 40th was used as a replacement division. I have seen several of my old chums. They were in the drive the last month of the war and some of them got shot, but I guess the most of them came out O. K. I have been with this company two weeks next Saturday.

"I have not written to you since I left the 40th division so I will tell you where I have been up to date. When we left our company we were sent to Toul, a big casualty camp, and there they held us over three weeks. Then they sent us to Kyllberg, Germany. From there we were sent to the 7th army corps at Wittlick to be used for M. P. S., but we did not want that job so they sent us by truck to Trier and we were sent here to Pfazel from there.

"We have a room all to ourselves here—myself and Lee Askew, a boy from Virginia, Minn. He used to work on the iron range. We have been together ever since we came out of the hospital, where he was confined with pneumonia. I guess there were more deaths in the hospitals than at the front. We have a furnished room, electric lights and a feather bed, but even that wouldn't hold me here if I could get home. I guess there will be no going home for a while, but I expect to be home next summer some time if nothing happens.

"The German people live almost entirely on potatoes and vegetables. Meat and bread are very high and soap they have not at all. I believe flour is about 60 cents a pound. I intend to buy some souvenirs and will get you a German pipe if I can, but I will have to wait until I get paid. I haven't been paid since September so have nothing to spend. We are allowed almost anything now but the mail is still censored so we must make our letters as short as possible.

"I have not heard from you since November, but I presume I have a lot of mail over here that I will never get. Drop me a line and tell me all the news. Pvt. Claude Evenson, Co. D. 342 M. G. Bn., A. E. F., A. P. O. 761."

Dr. Miles' Laxative Tablets

Does Your Child Act Like this?
DON'T punish your children by forcing them to take nauseating oils and medicine when they are bilious, constipated or have bad colds. Compelling the child to take disagreeable medicine against its will often does more harm than good.
DR. MILES' LAXATIVE TABLETS are particularly fine for children. Pleasant to take because they TASTE LIKE CANDY and can be chewed. Children do not have to be coaxed to take them, and their gentle but effective action on the bowels restores healthful regularity promptly.
When your child is cross, feverish and peevish because of stomach disorders, give it one of Dr. Miles' candy-like Laxative Tablets. They take them readily and ask for more.
Not only are DR. MILES' LAXATIVE TABLETS desirable for children, but for adults as well. You will find in these tablets a safe, harmless and effective medicine for constipation, biliousness, sick headache and other bowel complaints.
They cost only a few cents—your druggist has them. Ask him about them. L2

A GOOD INVESTMENT.

The only fault to be found with the proposition to build a few thousand miles of paved highway in Minnesota is that the work cannot be started soon enough. The constitutional amendment necessary in order to make a bond issue for the purpose possible cannot be voted on for two years, which is to be regretted. The people just now are in a mood to engage upon an undertaking of this kind and while it is hardly probable that they will have changed their minds before they have an opportunity to register their approval of the plan, no better time than the present could possibly be found for beginning the work.

There is no reason for supposing that the citizens of Minnesota will be less progessive and farsighted than those of Illinois. That state is the pioneer in this movement and the proposition to issue bonds for paved highways connecting the county seats was carried at the late election by an overwhelming majority. Iowa is certain to follow suit and Minnesota should be next.

The general impression seems to be that automobile owners will be the chief objectors to the plan, but this hardly seems reasonabe. A tax on automobiles for the purpose of meeting the interest on the bonds is provided in the proposed amendment, but that this will prove a hardship is most certainly not the case. As a matter of fact the owners of automobiles ought by all odds to be the ones most anxious to see the proposition carry.

In the first place a system of good roads such as is proposed would make the utility radious of the auto or truck much greater than at present. Traveling would become one of the most inexpensive of the public's pleasures because of the certainty of getting to and from any desired point. It would be cheaper because the wear and tear on equipment would be minimized. A system of paved highways traversing every county would mean the rapid development of a large part of the state which is now held back by reason of the poor transportation facilities. It would mean the closer linking of the farm with the ultimate consumer in the cities, greatly to the advantage of both.

It is probable that under the present system of amending the constitution the passage of such a law will be next to impossible in case the auto owners decide to oppose it. For this reason the friends of the measure should at once start on a campaign of education, their purpose being to prove that the owner of an automobile will benefit more because of the law than any other class of citizen.

It is stated that at least one-half of the automobiles in the state are owned by farmers. It is also certain that the farmer is more interested in good roads than any other class of our citizenry. It would seem therefore that there should be no serious objection to the plan from this source. It is more important that the farmer should have a good road to the city than that city people should have good roads merely for pleasure purposes. Just why the objection should come from the man on the farm is not apparent, but such is claimed to be the case. When the proposition is properly explained this objection will disappear—if it ever really existed.

The main idea just now is for everyone to get into the habit of thinking paved roads. It is by far the most important matter that the people of Minnesota have had to decide in a score of years. It means lifting Minnesota out of the mud.

KEEP THE WHEELS TURNING.

At first glance it would seem as if there should be as many jobs open to the boys returning from the war as were held by these same boys at the time they joined the army. A little study of the situation, however, will show that this line of reasoning is not very sound.

The conflict had been going on in Europe for two years before America entered the war. This was one of the busiest and most prosperous periods in the country's history. War orders kept every mill, mine and factory going at top speed. The demand for workmen of every kind was insistent and the supply was soon exhausted. Then came America's entry, taking two or three millions of young men for the army and navy. In the meantime the demand upon the producing facilities increased.

Now everything is different. Munition factories and war material producers generally are closing down and the surplus labor is being turned back into the ordinary channels. The unusual demand no longer exists. Enterprises which closed down entirely or were forced to slow up in order to give war orders the right-of-way have not yet begun to function normally. And in the meantime the men are returning and are looking for work.

There is only one way in which this situation can be met. Nation, state and municipality must mortgage the future in order to set in motion improvements and extensions that will furnish labor to a large number of men. Unless this is done the country faces a serious situation. Unemployment at this time for any considerable number of men will mean business depression, which in turn will be followed by unemployment on a still larger scale. Will Payne, the noted writer on financial and economic subjects, warns the country against what he terms the "vicious circle" of depression and unemployment, and points out just how this condition is brought about as well as how it may be avoided. He says:

"Depression and unemployment always run in a vicious circle. The demand for goods slackens. Mills shut down. Their workmen are idle and stop buying, which still further lessens the demand for goods, so more mills shut down and the demand for goods still further decreases. It runs in a vicious circle.

"Given a basic condition sufficiently sound so that credit will function in a fairly normal way, a condition of depression and unemployment will be changed to a condition of relatively full employment if only someone will step in with orders for goods—or for work on an important scale. * * * An English statistician, looking over the situation in that country, said not a great while ago that orders for work to the extent of twenty million dollars, if given at the right time, would usually change the spread of unemployment and set the pointer in the other direction, for just as one idle man tends to make two idle men, one employed man tends to make two employed men."

The motto of every employer of labor in the United States at this time should be: "Put More Men to Work." The Pennington county farmer who hires two or three laborers to shingle his barn has helped keep the wheels of industry turning. The city man who builds the house he has long had under contemplation adds his contribution to the general prosperity campaign. The county itself can very materially help matters along by undertaking a more extensive program of road building and ditch construction. The state will be justified in going to any extreme to keep its citizens at work because nothing can be so expensive as a period of unemployment. Under the same head and for the same reason the city of Thief River Falls should have made arrangements to pave the streets during the coming summer.

Congress, state legislatures, municipal authorities and business men generally can decide whether or not the country is to experience a period of business depression and unemployment. If they will order goods and provide work there will be no trouble. If on the other hand they become apprehensive of what the future holds in store and begin a campaign of retrenchment they are bound to bring about the very conditions they most dread.

GOOD TIME TO CONSIDER.

The month of February contains the birthdays of the two foremost of all Americans—Washington and Lincoln. This is therefore a good time to consider certain phases of our history pertaining to the time in which these men lived and perhaps gain therefrom certain lessons of value just now.

Both Washington and Lincoln were "war presidents" and as such came in for more than the ordinary share of criticism. Washington seems to have gotten by comparatively easy in this respect, but Lincoln was perhaps called upon to stand more than any other man in our history, either before or since. This was to be expected from the South, but certain men in the North were even more severe in their denunciation of the emancipator and his methods.

The Democratic convention of 1863 in its platform declared that the civil war was a failure, that it had been inefficiently conducted, that graft was rampant in every department having anything to do with its prosecution and that Lincoln's leadership should be repudiated by the people. Everyone knows what the result was. Lincoln was endorsed and has since been looked upon as one of the greatest men the world ever produced. Only good historical students recall the name of his opponent, while the opposing platform and its makers have been forgotten entirely.

We are at the close of another war and the men at the head of the government while it was being waged are being assiled by the small and narrow. These apparently have learned nothing from history and are laboring under the impression that the American people will take their word even where it shows that their sole intention is to injure the president personally and make more difficult of accomplishment the great work to which he is committed. They are engaged in a dangerous enterprise and one that is sure to react upon their own heads.

Woodrow Wilson is at the present moment the world's foremost citizen. So far from being proud of the fact that the president of the United States enjoys this distinction there are those who wish to make it appear as if his position is of no particular moment and that he is far from utilizing his advantages, if such he possesses, to the best advantage. These critics are by no means confined to the Republican party, adherents of his own political creed being fully as energetic and persistent in their denunciation.

Little men, in congress and out, should look back at the history of the men whose birthday the country celebrates this month. There were critics in their day also, many of them in congress. What did they accomplish? If they are remembered at all it is as being among those whose patriotism, honesty and judgment are to be questioned. It will be but a few years until those who are now loudest in their criticism of President Wilson will be chiefly remembered for their having held aloof at a time when it was absolutely necessary that Americans should be in accord.

There may be, and undobtedly are, many acts of the president that are open to honest criticism, but his handling of the war is not likely to be considered one of them—at least not by the ordinary citizen. The latter is more liable to feel that the president is the one man who has maintained a difficult position remarkably well. Americans generally will be proud of their representative when they consider the honor with which he has been received in Europe and the attention that is being given his opinions. Congressmen and senators are only laying up future trouble for themselves in failing to recognize this fact.

It is hardly within the range of the probable that Woodrow Wilson will again be a candidate for president of the United States. For this reason Republicans might better devote their energies to formulating a program that will prove more acceptable to the people than that advanced by the Democrats. A policy of criticism and fault-finding will never get them anywhere.

IS STILL THEIR HOME.

A trip through the district laid waste by the forest fire of last fall is liable to prove startling to a person who received his impression of the catastrophe simply through report. For miles the evidence of ravage is seen even at this season, when many of the scars are covered by a mantale of snow. No man can look upon the scene without a shudder at the idea of what these poor people must have undergone during the time that the fire raged in every direction and when escape must have seemed impossible for many.

One travels for long distances and notes that the scrub tamarack trees in the swamps are leaning in one direction at almost an exact angle, looking for all the world as if a giant hand has gone over the landscape with a comb and stroked them down while wet. In other places everything has been burnt off, even the soil having disappeared, leaving boulders and pits alternating. Large patches of balsam trees look as if they had been given a coating of lampblack, the needles having been burned off and the branches and trunks scorched. Anyone who has seen a balsam tree ablaze can form some idea of what the fire here was like when it is remembered that the fuel constituted a forest. The scene is the last word in desolation.

What is liable to strike the observer even more forceably, however, is that the people are returning to what is left of their homes. New houses, many of them nothing but tarpaper shacks, are noted from the passing train. From the windows children are looking out, proving that the family has returned to again take up the task of making a home. A barn sufficient to shelter a cow or two and the necessary team of horses has been hurriedly erected. Men are seen at work among blackened stumps, cutting the fallen timber into cordwood and otherwise salvaging what can be handled during the winter months.

No nomadic race this, which has chosen northern Minnesota as its home. Many have only been residents of the section for a few years; many had just begun to get a foothold and their buildings and surroundings were of the most primitive. But the place meant home. With undaunted courage and undiminished faith they are starting to rebuild what has been destroyed.

These people deserve every aid and encouragement. The people have done nobly in meeting the first call in th emergency and now the state will undoubtedly take the matter up. To some it may seem as if the rest of us should not be called upon to foot the bill for this work of reconstruction, but such are mistaken. The state cannot afford to allow people of this calibre to leave. They might find in other localities opportunities carrying with them no such dangers as those passed through last fall, but the state cannot expect to find others to take their place here. The fact that they returned as soon as possible and began to repair the damage for which they were in no way to blame marks them as the kind of citizens any state should be proud to own. Outside of all humanitarian obligations, anything done to assist them in remaining is a good investment and one that will pay the most satisfactory kind of dividends in the future.

Booze Backers Take Big Risk

(Christian Science Monitor.)

The liquor interests, in is now very clear to everyone, intend to leave no stone unturned that might by any possibility be of help to them in staying the execution of the bone-dry liquor law, announced to become effective throughout the United States on July 1. They realize, as do all other people, that if this law shall go into effect on the date named it will mean the end of legitimatized liquor traffic in the country. At the present time they are bent upon securing a respite, and they seem to be determined upon proceeding toward the attainment of this end without regard to consequences.

The liquor interests have succeeded in obtaining the attention and the help of certain persons more or less prominent in the ranks of organized labor, and these are engaged in making threats which do not sound very well. For instance, along with other things, they predict a country-wide protest in the nature of a general walk-out of labor on July 1, in case an attempt shall be made to enforce the law. One of the most pronounced of the speakers engaged in an attept to intimidate the nation in this particular is reported to have declared, a few days ago, that all unions affiliated with the American Federation of Labor were supporting the movement to have the bone-dry amendment thrown out as unconstitutional. There is the best of reasons for saying that he is greatly mistaken. All unions affiliated with the American Federation of Labor are not supporting such a movement, and as a rule union men disposed toward the negative side of this controversy are determined that their opposition shall not take a disorderly turn. The liquor interests are furnishing, to workingmen who are not ashamed to wear them, buttons bearing the inscription, "No Beer, No Work," but only a small percentage of unionized workingmen anywhere will consent to go about tagged in this disgraceful fashion, as only a small percentage will listen and applaud while one of their number says, as one is quoted as having recently said, from the platform at a labor meeting: "Labor as a whole is certainly opposed to prohibition. It is opposed to it in the first place because it adds so many more to the unemployed; in the second place, because it is an infringement upon personal liberty." All intelligent workingmen know that beer is one of the most effective agencies in the world for the promotion of unemployment, while in respect to personal liberty they have only to think of what beer has done and is doing toward filling the police stations, the jails, the prisons, the hospitals, and the asylums.

If men like the speaker referred to should succeed in doing the work of the liquor interests so well that walkouts and strikes and riots should result from the enforcement of the bone-dry law on July 1, then the whole matter will resolve itself into an inquiry with the view of reaching those responsible for any mischief done. The law will not be satisfied until it discovers the source of the agitation and the conspiracy to defy and outrage it. At the present time the liquor interests are very bold. They apparently think that they can intimidate the law-making power of the nation; that they can awe public opinion and overcome public sentiment; they seem to imagine that by threatening lockouts they can drive the American people back from the position which they have taken on the liquor question to the extent of consenting to an extension of time for the breweries forgetting what may come to pass if their plans are carried out. In addition to spending the money which they have made, by selling intoxicants for years, almost as foolishly as this money was squandered by its earlier owners, their unfortunate patrons, the liquor interests, in promoting and financing a movement looking to the creation of disorderly and riotous conditions, are taking a risk which all devotees of unmeasured personal liberty should be chary of courting.

TEN AND 20 YEARS AGO

Twenty Years Ago.

A bill was introduced in the legislature by Senator Myran to enable Thief River Falls to issue bonds for the purpose of getting electric lights. It was proposed to hold an election in the near future to decide whether a municipal light plant should be established.

Attorney Ira C. Richardson returned from a short business trip to Crookston.

A large number of the Royal Neighbors drove to St. Hilaire Friday evening and were entertained by the lodge at that place. They were royally entertained and treated to thte best in the house.

Peter Eberhardt's passenger steamer was being lengthened and enlarged in anticipation of a rushing business on the river during the coming summer.

The I. O. O. F. lodge installed new paraphernalia in place of that destroyed by fire a short while previously.

The Press stated that some business men claimed to be progressive and still confined their advertising to small announcements on the blotter pages of hotel registers.

The masquerade ball given by the fire department was a huge success. More than one hundred persons appeared in costume. Peterson's orchestra furnished the music and C. C. Schuster officiated as "caller."

Miss Esther Stebbins gave a birthday party to a number of her little friends. The little folks thoroughly enjoyed themselves.

Prospects for the establishment of a circulating library were bright. Nearly enough funds for the purpose had been secured.

A spell of warm weather raised havoc with sleighing.

Ten Years Ago.

W. W. Prichard, Sr., sold a large part of the stock in the First National bank. Among the new stockholders were H. C. Aamoth, who assumed the position of cashier; C. L. Hansen and A. L. Thompson. Mr. Prichard retained a considerable part of the stock and continued as one of the directors of the bank. W. W. Prichard, Jr., was named as assistant cashier.

Harry Carpenter, champion small rink roller racer of the Northwest, was slated to arrive in the city for a series of races against local fast men. Earl Dolan, local champion, and Harry Parker, another fast skater, were to appear against Carpenter in a two-mile relay race each evening.

Joseph H. Klimek, a member of the Klimek Jewelry and Optical company died after a brief illness.

Mrs. John Rayson of this city was severely injured in a railroad wreck on the Great Northern near Ardoch, N. D.

The legislative committee which was to decide on a location for the new normal school, visited the city and was royally entertained. A public meeting was held, at which the inducements offered by Thief River Falls were ably set forth by Mayor T. P. Hamre, Supt. J. H. Hay, Daniel Shaw and others. A banquet, with covers laid for 100, was given at the Evelyn hotel before the departure of the visitors.

The seniors were hosts at a banquet in honor of the juniors. The affair was held in the Odd Fellows hall and was a decided success.

Roland Thompson was again able to be out after a siege of illness which had confined him to the house for several weeks.

County Commissioners Shaw and Aubol drove to Red Lake Falls to attend a meeting of the county board.

Ed. Iverson, Nels Moen and Tollef Tunheim returned from St. Paul, where they had delivered three carloads of cattle.

Oscar Tossum was seriously injured while running a saw rig. He was found lying on the ground with his arm jerked out of its socket at the shoulder.

Charles Gustafson of Rocksbury left for Stephen to attend a conference meeting of the Northern Red River Valley Mission society that was holding its meeting at that place. Mr. Gustafson was treasurer of the association.

The St. Hilaire creamery was paying 34½ cents per pound for butter fat.

Herman Kackwart of Willow City, N. D., arrived Monday evening to visit with his uncle, A. Roemhildt for a week.

When Will Prices Go Down?

As dealers in farm machinery, we know something about machinery conditions, and while we cannot say that prices will not come down on machinery eventually—one thing is true, that the price of machinery is dependent almost entirely upon the cost of food; because upon the cost of food, the price of labor is determined, and labor, past or future, constitutes about ninety-five per cent of the cost of all manufactured commodities.

We mean, by that, from the production from raw material to manufactured commodity: That may seem like a tremendous big percentage of cost of labor, but, nevertheless it is true. When you figure the cost of machinery castings from the raw material, as taken from the ground, and the timber from the tree, ninety-five per cent of the cost of a finished farm machine is in the labor charge.

The manufacturers of all farm machinery have on hand, or are bound, by contract, for their entire requirements for material for 1919 products. These materials had to be purchased at the market price prevailing in the year of 1918 at which time the prices of material were at the highest point of the war period.

Labor will centainly be no lower while the present prices of food prevails, and that means that just as long as farmers get $2.15 a bushel for wheat, and every other commodity which they raise and sell, in the same proportion, or almost so, labor prices will not go down, as there is a perfectly legitimate demand for labor.

If we must export to Europe, twenty million tons of food this year, which is over one thousand times more food than ever exported to Europe in any one year before the war, and if we do this food prices will not decline, but are more likely to go up, and, therefore, until they do decline, labor cost will remain where it is now, or go higher.

It would seem that we should hardly wish, nor wait for prices to go down. One thing is certain, we do not want wheat prices, or any of the other farm products to go down. For the good of this great Northwest, these high prices have meant prosperity to our farmers, and when the farmers prosper we can follow with them, and only when the farmers prosper can we expect the business of Thief River Falls to prosper.

Now then, all of the old stocks of machinery have been exhausted by all manufacturers, and it is only the new, but modern machinery that we can buy. The prices may seem high, but in reality, they are not too bad, and because of the manufacturers knowing what they have paid for the material to go into the machinery, they can, and do guarantee the prices at least for 1919 not to go down, because they cannot. And with the prospects for making good that the farmer now has, we believe that you cannot afford to wait for prices to come down on the machinery that you now need in order to make the most out of your farm for 1919.

We understand that the winter wheat territory promises the largest crop of wheat ever grown. And possibilities for this territory to make good on summer wheat and other grain crops are indeed this year better than ever before.

We bought a good part of our stock of machinery before the prices reached the top notch prices, and are offering to our trade the benefit of these investments. We have some plows, some binders, and many other machines that we can sell at below the present wholesale prices, but these are a limited number, and our best bargains are the early bargains. But we will try to use you right always.

NORTZ LUMBER COMPANY

RECORD BOOKS FOR USE ON THE FARM

THESE MAY BE HAD BY APPLYING AT THE FARM BUREAU OFFICE.

There are two good reasons for keeping a farmer's record book. First: To show the financial results. Second: To help the farmer study his business.

The size of the bank balance at the end of the year as compared to that of the preceding year is not a safe guide as to the year's profit. It may or may not be a correct indication of the year's success. When a man increases the amount of live stock or buys machinery in excess of the yearly depreciation, he is increasing the size of the farm investment. Such investment wisely made should be even more satisfactory than a bank balance. After a farmer has summarized the year's business so as to determine his labor income, or the amount left for his own work above interest on the investment and all farm expenses, he begins to ask such questions as these: How does my labor income compare with that of other farms in my county or section of the state? How can the labor income be increased? After having made a summary of the year's business, could I not secure some valuable ideas upon increasing the labor income by comparing the financial results on a number of farm management demonstrations which are now being conducted in ten different counties in Minnesota?

In these demonstrations, records of the year's business are secured from sixty or seventy farms in each of the counties. This method gives a good indication as to the labor income that may be expected, and the methods by which the most successful farmers have increased their labor income. These demonstrations show that the average Minnesota farmer has increased wages for the work of himself and sons, if five per cent be allowed as interest on the investment. The most successful farmers have labor incomes of from $1,000 to $3,000. Some farmers receive nothing for their work and only about three per cent on the investment.

Several inquiries have been made at the Farm Bureau office as to the present status of the 1918 income tax. There is every reason for giving all possible emphasis to the importance of record keeping on the part of farmers as only in this way can he determine his financial condition with reference to the tax.

The Farm Bureau office in Thief River Falls has fifteen farm account books on hand which will be given to the first to call for them and agree to keep them for the coming year. The county agent will assist any farmer with the inventories and records at any time.

Change in Road Bill.

Red Lake county residents are rejoicing since they heard last week that the joint highways committee of the Minnesota legislature had recommended that the Jefferson highway between Red Lake Falls and Bagley be included in the Babcock plan of hard surface roads, the bill to provide for which is now before the legislature and which passed the senate a few days ago. Only fourteen new routes were recommended to be added to the proposed trunk highway system, and the Red Lake Falls-Bagley road is one of the fourteen. Former Senator D. P. O'Neill of this city and Representative M. O. Sortedahl were especially active in securing this amendment to the proposed system.

STRENGTH

Capital and surplus do not always denote the strength of a Bank. A Bank of real strength has character, age, experience; a record for sound finance and service to its patrons.

These are points to be taken into consideration when making your choice of a Bank and it is by these standards that we ask to be judged.

STOCKMEN TO HOLD ANNUAL GATHERING

MEETING TO BE HELD TOMORROW IN OFFICE OF LOCAL FARM BUREAU.

An event of much interest to live stock men in this section of the state is the meeting to be held tomorrow, the 21st, at the local office of the Farm Bureau. At this time the members of the Pennington County Live Stock Breeders' association will meet in annual session for the purpose of transacting such business as may come before the body. Election of officers for the ensuing year also will take place, and for this reason a large number of members are expected to be present.

The association is closing the most active year in its history and the affairs of the organization are in a flourishing condition. It has accomplished a great deal in bringing about improvement both in the quantity and quality of the live stock raised in the county, and has definite plans for even more extensive work in the future. No other society realizes more fully the need of live stock in this section of the state and no set of men works harder to create added interest in live stock than the members of the Pennington County Live Stock Breeders' association.

Due to the fact that many members of the live stock association also are members of the Pennington County Poultry association, it has been decided to hold the annual meeting of this body on the same day. This meeting will be held first, being slated for one o'clock, while the live stock men are scheduled to open their meeting an hour later. Much important business is expected to come before the poultrymen for consideration, and it is planned to emphasize the importance of the industry during the coming year. Those who were present at the poultry show held in this city a few weeks ago need not be told that farmers in this section are taking an active interest in the feathery tribe as the many and beautiful poultry specimens on exhibition were positive evidence to the contrary.

LOCAL STOCK MEN ADD NEW ANIMALS

FINE SPECIMENS BROUGHT TO COUNTY FROM CROOKSTON STOCK SALE.

Quite a number of Pennington county farmers bought and sold cattle at the sale held in connection with the Farm Crops show at Crookston last week. Many more were in attendance at the sale but failed to find just what they wanted. The sale proved to be a great drawing card, however, and future events of the same kind will no doubt be largely attended by farmers from this section. Many of the stock raisers were a little doubtful about the wisdom of taking animals to Crookston to be put up at the sale as it was a new departure in this section and they preferred first to satisfy themselves that these sales are practical. The visitors all came back satisfied that nothing better has ever been devised to get good stock onto the farms of the valley, and are now very enthusiastic over the matter.

While The Times has been unable to get a complete list of the transactions of Pennington county farmers at the sale, the following serve to show that some of the local stock men were there:

Henry Koop of St. Hilaire sold a Guernsey bull to Prof. McKarel of Duluth for $130. Martin Mattson of Hazel purchased a fine Holstein bull from E. C. Schroeder of Moorhead, paying $230 for the animal. This is said to be an exceptionally fine specimen of the Holstein breed. Hans Anton, residing near this city, made a decidedly valuable addition to his herd when he purchased of E. C. Schroeder the fine Holstein cow, Zefle Angie De Kol 2nd, for which the neat sum of $360. Mr. Anton is of the opinion that a really good cow is cheap at any price. There may have been other transactions but the above will serve to show that local farmers are on the right track in the matter of good live stock and are using every endeavor to raise the standard of breeds throughout the county.

Lady Foresters Entertain.

The Lady Foresters entertained at the I. O. O. F. hall Monday evening. Members of the families were asked to be present, but special invitations were sent out to the returned soldier boys of the parish. The first part of the evening was spent in playing cards, after which a program was rendered. A delicious lunch was served to sixty people. Immediately after lunch the music started and a dance concluded the evening's entertainment. Following is the program:

Reading—Mrs. J. J. Richter.
Piano Duet—Helen Langseth and Sibel McGinn.
Vocal Duet—Catherine Thill and Alice Bourque.
Vocal Solo—Joseph Cloutier.
Quartet—Joe Perdzock, Catherine Thill, Alice Bourque and Alvin Holzknecht.
Whistling Solo—Alice Bourque.
Piano Solo—Doris Richter.

Harry Siems Surprised.

A surprise party was given in honor of Harry Siems, last Thursday evening at his home. The evening was spent in playing games, after which a delicious lunch was served. Those present were: Misses Florence Bredeson, Lucy Phelps, Selma Mork; Messrs. Ronald Schantzen, Theodore Rustebakke, Howard Schantzen, Harry Siems, Charles Phelps, Sergeant C. Stein, Pte. Henry Stein and Clifford Schantzen.

Frances E. Willard Memorial.

You are invited to attend the Frances E. Willard memorial to be given at the home of Mrs. Carl Hillard, 707 Knight avenue north, on Tuesday, Feb. 25, at 3 p. m. Let us not forget that Miss Willard was the greatest woman the world has known and has been called the Uncrowned Queen of America. The blessings of her work shine out into the world as a beacon light for ages, and now that so much has been accomplished we rejoice that also we have our part in the victory. The time will come when the human heart will be so much alive that no one can sleep in any given community if any of that group of human beings be cold, hungry or miserable. But now we not only carry on our lives within actual sight and sound of untold misery, shame and sin, but we are not sufficiently disturbed by it to be hindered in our pleasures or ambition.—Contributed.

SENIOR CLASS HAS DECIDED ON PLAY

"GREEN STOCKINGS" IS NAME OF CHARMING COMEDY TO BE PRESENTED.

The Senior class of 1919 has chosen for its class play this year the entertaining and well known "Green Stockings." Margaret Anglin, the prominent American actress, has made the play famous.

"Green Stockings" is a delightful comedy that will hold the interest of the audience throughout the entire play. The plot deals with the old country custom whereby an elder sister is compelled to wear green stockings at the wedding of a younger sister, provided she herself happens to be unmarried or unbethrothed. After having worn the hated green stockings twice, Celia Faraday rebels when the time approaches for her to wear them a third time. She therefore invents a sweetheart who bears the name of Smith. The surprise of her sisters forces her into details which have to be manufactured at short notice. She is even forced to write a letter to him and although she thinks she has destroyed it, it is mailed by her younger sister. The strange part of the story is that the name which she thought purely fictitious is borne by an officer in his Majesty's service, who receives the letter, and turns up under an assumed name. His interview with Celia results in a serious of laughable situations that terminate happily.

Those who will characterise the different parts are:

Admiral Grice (retired)—George Mostue.
William Faraday (fashionable, selfish)—Sverre Steen.
Robert Favber (empty headed young swell)—Arthur Tvedt.
Henry Steele and James Raleigh—Andy Williamson and Bernard Barzen.
Martin (dignified old family servant)—Conrad Sundt.
Celia Faraday (unaffected woman of twenty-nine with a sense of humor)—Dorothy Miller.
Madge (Mrs. Rockingham) and Evelyn (Lady Trenchard) Curtis and Evelyn Tessum.
Phyllis (youngest sister, charming and pretty but thoughtlessly selfish)—Alice Hanson.
Mrs. C. Faraday of Chicago (Aunt Ida, quick tempered, warm hearted)—Grace McCrum.

Delightful Valentine Party.

Miss Muriel Loken entertained a number of little friends at a valentine party in honor of Miss Loraine Golden, at her home, 315 2nd street west, last Wednesday afternoon. The house and table was decorated with tiny red hearts and the afternoon was pleasantly spent playing games and having a candy contest. The one finding the most candy was Miss Catherine Barzen, who received a heart-shaped box of bon bons. At five o'clock an elaborate lunch was served, after which the young Misses departed to their respective homes. Those present were: Misses Esther Sands, Pearl Weeks, Loraine Golden, Catherine Barzen, Ellen Crandall, Elmyra Myrom, Ione Loken and Thelma Christianson.

A Pleasant Time.

Misses Grace Kinsela and Lowina Poirier entertained a number of thirty girl friends at the Kinsela apartment in the Meehan block, Saturday evening. Some of the girls were dressed as old spinsters and the others as bachelors. At the beginning of the evening the girls were auctioned off to the highest bidders. Miss Lillian Provencher received the highest bid, and was claimed by Miss Thelma Holm. After they were all coupled up a grand march took place. At twelve o'clock a delicious lunch was served. The girls spent the rest of the evening playing games.

John A. Ristau, who returned from camp the first of the week, after visiting in this city for a day, left for his home at Mavie.

CLUB COMMITTEES HAVE BEEN CHOSEN

MEMBERS NAMED TO HAVE CHARGE OF SPECIAL WORK FOR YEAR.

At a meeting of the Commercial club held last Thursday evening the following standing committees were named by E. M. Stanton, president of the club. These committees will take up their duties at once and will add energy to the club through concerted and well directed action along the different lines of endeavor required of the Commercial club as an organization. Especial care was used by the president in choosing these committees and in every case the appointments seem particularly appropriate. Much of the work in connection with the club is done through committees and the effectiveness of the organization is much enhanced through a careful choice of the committee personnel. The appointments made by President Stanton are as follows:

Membership: E. O. Mogensen, chairman, N. J. Silk, Andy Anderson and A. S. Sapero.

Public Affairs: Dr. H. W. Froehlich, chairman, Albert Lieberman, A. M. Langseth, John Morgan, F. F. Haynes and Emil Zeh.

Publicity: T. J. Austad, chairman, Scott Laird, P. W. Sharp, G. W. Connell and L. H. Lawrence.

Stability

Stability for a Bank means something more than mere figures in the financial statement.

Stability means character and community standing. It means financial acumen, experience, alertness, courtesy and service to its patrons.

A man's financial worth is often judged by the financial company he keeps. His choice of a Bank, therefore, should be well considered.

Ever since this Bank was organized it has been building up and adding to its reputation for Stability.

PROMINENT CLUB WORKER AS GUEST

LOCAL WOMAN'S CLUB ENJOYS VISIT FROM STATE FEDERATION PRESIDENT.

One of the most charming events ever given in Thief River Falls was the luncheon in honor of Mrs. George J. Allen, president of the Minnesota Federation of Women's clubs, given last Saturday at the Evelyn hotel. The Thief River Falls Woman's club acted as hostess, while the St. Hilaire Woman's club assisted in making the affair a success by sending ten representatives.

A brief reception was held in the Commercial club rooms at 12:30, after which the club women were served a most delicious luncheon at the Evelyn. A color scheme of pink and white was carried out by an artistic arrangement of cyamen plants and pink shaded candles. M. Bothun donated the plants for the decorations, and this courtesy is most heartily appreciated by the club women. Delightful musical numbers were given by Miss Sorenson, violinist, and Miss Forde, pianist, during the luncheon. Miss Taylor, domestic science teacher at the local high school, superintended the service of the luncheon, which was flawless.

After the luncheon, Mrs. Froehlich spoke briefly of the privileges of belonging to club organizations and expressed appreciation of the cooperation and inspiration of working with the St. Hilaire Woman's club. Mrs. Charles Bigelow, president of the club, responded delightfully, speaking of the pleasures and ability of working together more effectively, where club women get to know one another better socially. Mrs. Froehlich then introduced Mrs. Allen, who talked on woman's work and the outlook for a broader and greater federation.

Mrs. Allen emphasized the necessity of keeping up the organizations of women which were formed for war work and getting them to join the federated clubs in order that their aims may be one and that more work may be accomplished through the union of many working bodies. She talked of the value of cooperation between not only the town women, but the women of the country. She emphasized the value of community gatherings of many kinds, picnics, sings and dances. Mrs. Allen commended the Thief River Falls club very highly for its enthusiasm, the quality of its work, and its stand for civic betterment. She spoke of the large number of young women in the local club and said that one of the aims of the federated club was the enrollment of young women throughout the country, who must take up the work the older women lay down. Mrs. Allen's talk was inspirational and left with her audience a feeling of the importance of civic endeavor. The program closed with a verse of "The Star Spangled Banner," led by Mrs. Gay Halvorson.

In the evening Mrs. Allen formed the nucleus for a Girls' Community club, which met at the home of Mrs. Froehlich. This organization will meet again next Wednesday at 8 o'clock at the same place. Mrs. Allen left on the evening train for her home at Rochester. She expressed delight with her visit here and said that the work of the Thief River Falls Woman's club was becoming known throughout the state.

NEW IDEA IN SONG PROVING POPULAR

COMMUNITY SINGS STRIKES RESPONSIVE CHORD AND WILL BE CONTINUED.

The first "Community Sing" to be conducted in this city was held at the Princess theatre last Thursday evening. That the affair was a complete success is the verdict of the large crowd in attendance. Under the leadership of the Woman's club members having the matter in charge, the people present at the show house that evening showed their approbation of the idea by joining in the singing with zest and vigor.

These community sings are conducted at the request of the government and the object is the revival of a more active and pronounced patriotism through the medium of song. The singing of national and patriotic songs by a gathering of people in this manner serves as a reminder of the duty each individual owes the country in which he lives as well as bringing to him a deeper appreciation of the blessings he enjoys as a citizen of the greatest republic in the world. In the uneventful existence of the average citizen these things are easily forgotten, and anything which tends to keep alive the thought of country should be encouraged.

The success of the first community sing paves the way for many events of the same kind in the future. The musical section of the Woman's club has this matter in charge and will do everything in its power to keep the public interested. Just when the next event will take place has not yet definitely been decided upon, but that it will be in the very near future is an assured fact.

Card of Thanks.

I wish to thank the many friends who were so kind during my recent sad bereavement, those who sent floral tributes, and especially the Daughters of Norway for their many acts of kindness.—Elmer Roll. f20

NEW CLUB IS BEING FORMED THIS WEEK

SOCIETY SIMILAR TO WOMAN'S CLUB TO BE LAUNCHED AT EARLY DATE.

An organization similar to the Woman's club in purpose but composed of the younger ladies of the city is soon to be formed. This was decided upon at a meeting held last Saturday evening at the home of Mrs. H. W. Froehlich, president of the Woman's club. Mrs. George J. Allen, state president of the Minnesota Federation of Women's clubs, was present at the meeting and spoke to the twenty girls and young ladies present on "What Girls' Clubs are Doing in the State." Mrs. Allen also assisted in formulating plans for the new organization.

The purpose of the new society will be similar to that of the Woman's club—both civic and social in its character. The membership will be composed of high school girls and other young ladies, and all of these in the community are invited to join as charter members. Miss Blanche Johnson was chosen as temporary chairman at the meeting Saturday evening, while Miss Marie Nelson was named temporary secretary. Another meeting will be held within a week, at which time a permanent organization will be perfected. Further announcements concerning the new club will be published in The Times.

COMMERCIAL CLUB HAS BUSY MEETING

MEMBERS ARE GOING AFTER PROBLEMS IN REGULAR PRE-WAR FASHION.

The meeting of the Commercial club last Thursday evening was well attended and much important business was disposed of during the session. Julien Provencher of the Evelyn hotel served supper in the usual faultless manner at 6:30 and about fifty club members partook of the meal.

An effort will be made by the board of directors to secure the summer meeting of the Red River Valley Development association for this city, with the idea of having this convention at the same time as the big stock sale which is now under consideration by the Pennington County Live Stock association. This will probably take place late in the summer.

A. M. Langseth, representing the band committee, reported that the finances of the band were in good condition, all obligations having been met up to the first of the year. The following band committee was appointed to take charge of the musical organization for the present year: E. M. Stanton, chairman; Roy Lambert, W. W. Prichard, Jr., John Morgan and Theo. Quale.

The club is making an effort to secure Sousa's Great Lakes' Sailors band for an engagement here during the early part of the summer. The band is planning a tour of this section of the country during the summer and it is thought possible that arrangements might be made for this great musical aggregation to include this city in its schedule.

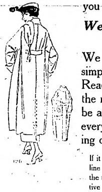
The matter of securing a business college for Thief River Falls also came up for discussion. It appears to be entirely within the possibilities that such an institution will be established here in the near future. Supt. J. H. Hay pointed out why a business college is needed and expressed the opinion that such a venture could be made a success. The following committee was appointed to look further into the matter: F. F. Haynes, chairman; J. J. McCann, J. H. Spencer, W. B. Fuller, H. W. Protzeller.

PLEASING MUSICAL PROGRAM PLANNED

MUSICAL SECTION OF WOMAN'S CLUB TO HOLD MEETING ON MONDAY.

The musical section of the Woman's club will hold its next regular meeting at the home of Mrs. O. F. Mellby, 607 Bridge street, on Monday, Feb. 24. After the business meeting each member is asked to respond to roll call with current events pertaining to music. Following is the musical program which will be rendered at the meeting:

1. "Sketches on the Lives of Mrs. H. H. A. Beach and Ethelbert Nevin"
   By Miss Taylor
2. Piano Solos, "Barcarolle," "Narcissus" .... Nevin
   By Mrs. O. F. Mellby
3. Vocal Duet, "In the Garden of My Heart" .... Ball
   Miss Ella Miller
   Miss Josie Weeks
4. Piano Solo, "Carnival Pranks" .... Schumann
   By Miss Carine Landahl
5. Vocal Solos, "Ah, Love But a Day," Mrs. Meach; Serenade "I Send My Heart Up to Thee," from "In a Gondola" .... Gena Branscombe
   By Mrs. G. Halvorson



This Spring You'll Want Either

Coats, Capes, Dolmans or Suits

We will have plenty of each and quality goods turned out by America's foremost tailors

Wooltex, Printzess, Sterling Hoveland

And this entire line of superior garments will be here ready for you the first week in March.

We Ask You to Wait Until Then for But One Simple Reason

We couldn't save you $5.00 easier. Prices simply had to be re-adjusted downward and Ready-to-wear clothing was no exception to the rule. So therefore we know that we will be able to save you not less than $5.00 on every ladies garment above $20.00. The saving on $50 to $65 garments will run about $10.

If it was not for this one fact we would have had our complete line ready over two weeks ago. This store will be ready at the time above stated to show you garments that are authoritative in fashion's eyes and have been selected for style and quality, and that are priced right.

Patriotic Kratka Farmers Make Appeal for Memorial

The following communication has been handed in for publication by two prominent Kratka township farmers, O. O. Hafdal and H. K. Henriksen. It contains much sentiment worthy of consideration by our people, and also brings out two points regarding the proposed memorial which should appeal to the committee having the matter in charge. This is the proposal that farmers who are temporarily short of money should be allowed to give notes payable next fall as their contribution, and the suggestion that the names of all donors as well as the amounts donated should be made a matter of public record.—The Editor.

To the People of Kratka: We, the undersigned, have been appointed by our county commissioners as members from Kratka township of a committee named for the purpose of soliciting funds in Kratka to be used in helping to build a suitable memorial, preferably a useful building, in honor of our good soldiers. Many of these boys lost their lives in the late war—not for themselves, but for us. Therefore, good people, not only of Kratka township but of Pennington county, let us do all in our power to prove in a visible, material and useful way to the soldiers who did not lose their lives that we, the people who did not have to go to war but had the privilege to stay in our homes protected against the enemy's instruments of death by those soldiers—let us prove that we are worthy of the fight they put up for us.

Let us all unite, and in a useful, material way from the depths of our hearts, prove to these boys that we fully appreciate what they have done for us, by doing something for them of our own free will. In justice to the people who had the privilege of staying at home, we think it can truthfully be said that nearly all helped to the limit of their financial ability in winning the war. For this reason we know that many of the farmers in particular are in a pinch for money at this time. Therefore it is proposed that the farmer who may not have the money now for the purpose stated without borrowing it, can give his note due on or before Nov. 1, 1919, which will give him a chance to raise another crop before having to pay.

Inasmuch as all families or single men—yes, the girls, too—who now live in Pennington county will want to give according to their means, it is suggested that the names and amount of each giver shall appear in the memorial itself, as an ever visible evidence of the good will of the people of Pennington county and their appreciation of what the soldier boys have done for them.

In the near future a solicitor will call on each farmer in Kratka township, and we, for the good of a very good cause, ask that you co-operate with us in every way you can by giving financial aid and other help. We do need your help. Please give it to us. Thank you. Very respectfully yours, O. O. Hafdal, H. K. Henriksen.

P. S.—We, the people of Kratka, are alloted to give $75 to the Armenian and Syrian relief fund to help save from starving 400,000 helpless children who have lost fathers and mothers in the war, as well as three and a half millions of other people who have nothing to eat and nothing to get it with. We have been asked by the county chairman to raise this amount in Kratka, but we have been unable to get at it before as ourselves and families have been confined to our homes with the flu for the past month. At the same time we take up the memorial matter with you we hope that you will each give us one dollar in cash to help keep these four million people from starving to death. It is true we have our own children and ourselves to take care of besides the innumerable other things we are asked to help with, but where there is a will there is a way. And the will is in all the people of Kratka township—yes, and Pennington county, too—so we can build that memorial and give the dollar to the starving people. We will live and die just as happy—yes, happier, too—for having done it.—Hafdal and Henricksen.

Shop and Railroad News

Roads Increase Earnings.

Increase in railroad rates and traffic, and also the prevailing prosperity in the Northwest, are reflected in reports of Minnesota gross earnings of various railroads filed last week with the state tax commission under the state law levying a 5 per cent tax on gross earnings in lieu of other taxes. The semi-annual returns for the last half of 1917, as compared with the same period of 1918, show an increase of about 20 per cent in the gross earnings tax paid.

Bumped Too Hard.

Through an error in calculating distance the crew which had charge of the wheat line train Monday narrowly avoided a serious smashup. In backing onto the siding near the round house to put the train away for the night, the coaches were bumped against a string of cars with considerable force, with the result that the draw bar of the mail and baggage car was badly twisted and other minor damage done. The damage can be repaired by the car men in the local yards.

Car Men Busy.

The car men, or "rip track" crew, are about the busiest individuals connected with the Soo railroad system these days. A long string of cars is continually in process of repair in anticipation of a busier season to come. The boys have some good jobs to their credit, many freight cars having practically been rebuilt from the ground up.

Division Jottings.

B. Bergsten relieved L. M. Halvorson as operator at Alexandria for two or three days last week while the latter enjoyed a short respite.

E. J. Langevin has resumed work as operator at Plummer, relieving M. L. Parsons. Mr. Parsons at once took the place of J. P. Farr, operator at the same place, who is on a temporary leave of absence.

E. F. Dolan, train dispatcher, took advantage of his regular two-day vacation this month by spending the time with friends at Duluth and Superior. These short respites from duty are proving very popular with the dispatchers.

A. L. Chapman has been holding down a trick as dispatcher at the local station while the regular men have been off on their regular two-day vacations.

Roy Miller is a new call boy and takes the place of Charles Conner, who was forced to resign on account of illness.

Robert G. Wales has been added to the staff at the round house as machinist. He began his duties the first of the week.

Carl Norquist, machinist apprentice, went to Minneapolis Saturday evening to visit for a few days with friends and he also expected to take a squint at the auto show.

Lyndon H. Barnard, who has been employed here for the past six years as machinist, secured a transfer a few days ago and has taken a similar position at Enderlin, N. D. Mr. Barnard's mother and other relatives reside at Enderlin and it was for this reason that he made the change.

Joe Gulden, blacksmith helper, is enjoying a vacation from his duties this week. He is putting in the time visiting among friends in the Twin Cities and Rochester.

John Linde, car man, visited over Sunday with friends in the Twin Cities.

Emil Norquist, boilermaker foreman, has been in Minneapolis since last Saturday in attendance at the auto show. The boys at the round house will not be surprised to find Mr. Norquist in possession of a new jitney upon his return.

C. B. Bartlett, machinist helper, is able to be about after having been confined to the house for three weeks as the result of an operation. He expects to be in shape to go back to work in the course of a few days.

W. A. Rhode, car inspector, left the last of the week for Hutchinson, Kans., to which place he was called by the death of a nephew. He expected to return in a few days.

Gus Wollen and Richard Rupprecht, car men, have succumbed to the auto bug and are putting in their time this week looking over the different makes of gas wagons. First they will pay a visit to the Pan Motor factory at St. Cloud and from there will go to Minneapolis to put in a few days at the big automobile show.

Alfred Anderson, car inspector, has been absent from his post for a few days on account of the death of a relative.

Business continues dull in railroad circles and immediate relief is not in sight. For this reason many of the younger train men find it extremely difficult to find more than occasional employment. Many of the engineers are now firing, while conductors are officiating as brakemen.

NEW BANK CASHIER

Graduate of Dakota Business College Promoted.

It has been announced that C. J. Wage is to be the new cashier of the First State Bank, Ferney, S. D. Mr. Wage has risen steadily in the banking business since his graduation from the Dakota Business College, Fargo, N. D.

Pupils of this seat of business learning are always in great demand by banks and business firms. Just recently two positions with the Amenia-Sharon Land Co., Amenia, N. D., were filled by D. B. C. pupils, C. P. McIntyer at a salary of $125.00 and Maurice Bean at $85.00. Miss Eleanor Marks has just been employed by the North Dakota legislature at Bismark and Miss Mabel Damon by P. P. Schlosser, Registrar of Deeds, Gronto Co., Carson, N. D.

The great demand for D. B. C. pupils is no doubt due to the fact that real business methods and not mere text-book theories are taught. F. L. Watkins, President of the Dakota Business College, 806 Front Street, Fargo, N. D., is always ready to answer inquiries.

Farmers Please Note
5 per cent Early-Delivery Discount
On Mogul and Titan Tractors

NEARLY five thousand of our boys in khaki and blue are coming back to work. We shall, of course, make a place in our organization for every one of them, but we wish to do it without throwing out of employment the men who took their places and have worked faithfully for us ever since. This is not going to be so easy for us as for some others, because the Government designated ours as an essential industry during the war, and we actually increased the efficiency of our organization after our boys left to join the ranks.

We can, however, give steady work both to our present help and to the returning soldiers and sailors, if we can bring about an immediate increase in tractor production. In order to do this we must move forward to the farm some thousands of tractors that are ordered for delivery at various dates up to May 1st, and we shall also have to ship a large number of tractors that farmers intended to order later this season, but could just as well take now. To those farmers who are so situated as to be able to take advantage of it we make the following proposition:

Our Early-Delivery Discount Plan

If you will take delivery of a Mogul or Titan tractor now we will reward your co-operation as follows: To those who will accept delivery of a Mogul or Titan 10-20 on or before March 8th we will give an Early Delivery Discount of 5 per cent from the price of the tractor. (This amounts to $61.25 in the case of the Titan 10-20 and $56.25 on the Mogul 10-20.)

After March 8th the following discounts will be given:
For delivery during week of March 10 to March 15 incl. 4 per cent
For delivery during week of March 17 to March 22 incl. 3 per cent

This discount will go a long ways toward paying the fuel bills of your tractor during this season.

By taking advantage of this Early-Delivery Discount, you will not only be helping yourself, but will enable us more easily to put back to work our army of returning boys without breaking up our present organization.

You will find that you need a few weeks to get acquainted with your new tractor. The man who has his tractor early can become familiar with it, so that when the first day of good plowing weather dawns, he will be able to get in the field without a moment's lost time. That in itself is a very good reason for taking early delivery.

Go to your dealer and tell him that you will accept immediate delivery of your Mogul or Titan 10-20 horsepower tractor, so he can make up his carload shipments without delay.

NORWEGIANS IN UNITED STATES

NATIONAL MAGAZINE GIVES ESTIMATE OF CONTRIBUTION TO CITIZENSHIP.

LION AND HALF HERE

TTLE IN NORTHERN STATES. HE WAR BRINGS AMERICA CLOSER TO NORWAY.

account of the "Norwegians in United States," with an estimate their contribution to American zenship, is contained in the Literary gest of Feb. 8, as one of a series articles on "Education in Americanism," designed for high school use. The article follows:

Where They Have Settled.

"Immigrants from the Scandinavian countries are disinclined to settle in the southern parts of the United States, chiefly because of climatic conditions. In the northern sections, East, Middle West, and Far West, they encounter a climate similar to that of the 'old home.' The Norwegian population in this country is sometimes set as high as a million and a half, of which 500,000 came direct from Norway. The latter figure must be considered enormous when we remember that the population of Norway itself is reckoned at 2,300,000. In Illinois, Minnesota, and the Dakotas, Norwegians are notable as thrifty and prosperous farmers. Many Norwegians are to be met, also, on the east and the west coast. In the state of Washington, for instance, they are numerous as farmers and as workers and proprietors in the fishing and canning industry. As fishermen and seamen they are known along the Pacific coast from Seattle to Los Angeles and on the Atlantic from Maine to Florida. In Far-Western Canada, too, Norwegians are interested in the fishing and canning industries.

Occupations of Norwegians.

"Besides their prominence in agricultural and maritime lines, the Norwegians are well represented in the technical and commercial branches of American life. Many of them rank high as engineers and are the product of Norway's exceptionally advanced polytechnic schools and colleges. In trade Norwegians are to be met on the east and west coast as importers and exporters. They do not figure largely as retail shopkeepers. Among the working class Norwegians are conspicuous as carpenters, cabinet makers, and in the building trades generally. They are skilled workmen in general rather than unskilled.

"Of the 22,000 Norwegians in Greater New York, the first generation claims 11,000. There are a few thousands more Norwegians in Chicago than in New York, while the most are in Minneapolis, which is their oldest important settlement in an American city.

Norwegians in Political Life.

"Senator Knute Nelson, of Minnesota, was born in Norway, and Senator Asle J. Gronna, of North Dakota, was born in Iowa of Norwegian parents. The mother of Senator Reed Smoot, of Utah, was born in Norway. In the House of Representatives there are a number of congressmen of Norwegian birth or descent. Maurice Francis Egan, former minister to Denmark, once described Norway as the most sturdily democratic country in the world, a remark prized by Norwegians in this country who quote it to prove that when their compatriots come here they are already trained in the spirit of our life and government. The apparatus of this government is different, but the essence is identical.

How the War Brought Us Closer to Norway.

"With the outbreak of the war in 1914 many sources of supply were cut off from Norway, which is not at all a self-sustaining country. Naturally she turned to the United States for the products needed, and trade between the two countries increased by leaps and bounds. Because Norwegians would like to have this country retain that trade, a Norwegian-American chamber of commerce has been established to facilitate business. To promote harmonius understanding between the two nations the American - Scandinavian foundation was formed. One of its activities along cultural lines is the interchange of American and Scandinavian college students.

Norwegian Assimilation Here.

"The percentage of illiteracy among the Scandinavians, we are told, is less than 1 per cent, and this question is one that never cocmes up at Ellis island in the case of a Norwegian immigrant. Education over there, as has been said above, has long been compulsory. In the large cities the English language is a compulsory study in the curriculum. Children born here of Norwegian parents are rapidly assimilated thru their training in the public schools and thru neighborhood associations. The point of view of the first generation is said to be changed as smoothly as one changes one's coat. The more rapidly Norwegians can become Americanized, according to one authority, the better they like it, for it is considered a handicap to live in one country and have your mind in another. Furthermore, sympathy with western countries is a dominant trait of the people of Norway, of whom it is said 'her windows face the west.' Physically considered, Norwegians are tall as a rule and built on lines resembling the English and American type. Mentally they share many characteristics of the English and the Americans.

Religion of the Norwegians Here.

"In the main Norwegians cling to the Lutheran church, which is their state church. Though the bulk of Norwegians adhere to Lutheranism in this country, there are numbers in the Baptist and Methodist denominations. If there is no Lutheran church in a vicinity where there are some Norwegians, they tend to worship in the church they can find rather than not to go to church at all.

Norwegian Newspapers Here.

"American newspapers are read by Norwegians for events of the day, except in some cases where readers of the earlier generation by preference or necessity read papers printed in Norwegian. But as far as the foreign-language newspaper may be considered a problem, the Norwegian factor will solve itself by a gradual process of elimination. As it stands today, the newspaper is described by a representative Norwegian-American publisher as chiefly 'a letter from home' because of the local news of the old country it contains. Norwegian journals urge their readers to patronize night classes in American public schools as a major method of rapid assimilation. Looking forward, they can see the time when the Norwegians here will be wholly unilingual rather than bilingual.

Social and Economic Status.

"To some extent Norwegians live in groups. Thus two-thirds of the Norwegian population in Greater New York inhabit the south and Bay Ridge sections of Brooklyn. They like to live in good districts and are devoted to the idea of owning their own home. In the main they are a prosperous citizenry and also very law-abiding by nature. They have quantities of benevolent societies, homes for the aged and for orphans, and hospitals, which latter, of course, are for the general public.

As to Norwegian Immigration.

"The government of Norway has discouraged the departure of its citizens to other lands by improving living conditions and by liberal grants of land, etc. Steamship companies do not nowadays speed the emigrant on his way westward because it is against the law. There has never been a great flood of immigration hitherward from Norway. Many Norwegians, businessmen, men of a trade, and seamen pass back and forth between the two countries. The second generation of Norwegians in the main abide in the United States for good and all. Among Norwegians born in the old country, especially when they marry here, the tendency is toward as prompt naturalization as feasible.

Immigration Historically Viewed.

"In his 'History of Norwegian Immigration to the United States,' from the earliest beginning to 1848 (privately printed at Iowa City, Iowa, 1909), Dr. George T. Flom tells us that Norway has lost by emigration to the North American continent a comparatively larger portion of her population than any other country of Europe, with the exception of Ireland. The great majority went West and bulked largely in the development of the agricultural regions in western Illinois, Wisconsin, Mississippi, north and west Iowa, and the Dakotas. In the movement into the virgin farm lands of Canada, several years ago, numbers of Norwegians reemigrated into the Dominion. Norwegian emigration to the United States, we learn from Dr. Flom, took systematic form in 1836. In 1843 it assumed larger proportions. From 1866 to 1870, during a period of financial depression, about 15,000 Norwegians came per annum. In the seventies the immigration rate declined, but it rose in the eighties. The figures for 1882 are fixed at 29,101 and the average for the next decade is computed at 18,000 per annum. In 1898 not quite 5,000 Norwegians came over here, but the number grew so that the record of 1903 registers 24,461.

Where Norway's Emigrants Came From.

To quote Dr. Flom further: "Norwegian emigrants came from the rural districts and from other sections as laborers, artizans, farmers, seamen, and not a few of professional or technical training. All ages and classes were represented in Norwegian emigration, we are told, but by far the greater number of men and women came here between the ages of 25 and 35.

Influences Directing Early Norwegian Emigration.

"These influences are classified by Dr. Flom as (1) economic conditions at home and the chance to better one's material welfare in the United States, which was widely advertised in Scandinavian countries by steamship and railway agencies; (2), religious persecution. As three-fourths of Norway's population was rural, it is natural that 72 per cent of the immigrants should have settled in rural districts and small towns. The influx of Norwegian immigration coincided with the opening of the Middle Western states, and we are told that 'as a rule long before he emigrated the Norseman had made up his mind to settle in Wisconsin, Illinois, Iowa, or Minnesota.' As clearers and tillers of the soil, they are to be remembered for their share in developing these sections of the United States. None could better endure the hardships of pioneer life.

Earliest Norwegian Settlement Here.

"A small colony of Norwegians was established in 1624 in New Jersey on the site of the town of Bergen, New Jersey. Seemingly it was named after the city of Bergen, in Norway, which is familiar to American readers as the dramatic origin of Henrik Ibsen, who managed a theater there which was financed by Ole Bull, the famous Norwegian violinist. When the Hollanders were establishing themselves in New Amsterdam, now the Borough of Manhattan, there was much traffic between Norway and Holland. Consequently many Norwegians, in shipping lines, adventured to these shores. Some old New York families can trace Norwegian ancestors, though these earlier Norwegian arrivals gradually merged with the Dutch.

The Norwegian "Mayflower."

"In 1825 the so-called Norwegian Mayflower hove in New York harbor with a passenger list of emigrants resolute to settle in the United States. She was a sailing-ship of only 40 tons and was in the Norwegian shipping register known as the Restaurationen, in English Restoration. Since then Norwegians have been coming here steadily. The Norwegian government endeavors to restrain emigration, as was stated above, because it means a great loss of capital, owing to the fact that the majority of the emigrants are of an age and education that make them of best value to the homeland."

Returns From Visit.

John A. Dahl, one of the prominent farmers and old settlers of Smiley township, returned Monday after having visited for three weeks with relatives at Fergus Falls, Fargo and Moorhead. At the former place he visited his daughter, Mrs. Walter Hanson, spent several days with the family of a brother and also met many old friends whom he had not seen in thirty years or more. At Moorhead Mr. Dahl was a guest at the home of his daughter, Mrs. W. W. Trebellin, and he also spent some days with old friends at Fargo. Upon his return to this city Mr. Dahl had the misfortune of having the little finger of his right and badly smashed in a car door at Crookston, which naturally served to take the pleasure out of the last lap of an otherwise very enjoyable trip.

Standers, Walkers, "Gets-It" for Corns
World Has Never Known Its Equal.
"What will get rid of my corn?" The answer has been made by millions—there's only one corn-remover that you can bank on, that's absolutely certain, that makes any corn

Corn-Pain Is Eased—the Corn Is Doomed!
on earth peel right off like a banana skin—and that's magic "Gets-It." Tight shoes and dancing even when you have a corn need not disturb you if you apply a few drops of "Gets-It" on the corn or callus. You want a corn-peeler, not a corn-fooler. You don't have to fool with corns—you peel them right off with your fingers by using "Gets-It." Cutting makes corns grow and bleed. Why use irritating salves or make a bundle of your toe with tape or bandages? Why putter and still have the corn? Use "Gets-It"—your corn-pain is over, the corn is a "goner" sure as the sun rises.
"Gets-It," the guaranteed, money-back corn-remover, the only sure way, costs but a trifle at any drug store. M'f'd by E. Lawrence & Co., Chicago, Ill.

Draft and Work Horses.

Olaf Ramstad and Patrick Roarck announce that they will have on sale 60 head of young draft and work horses. f13tf.

OLD AGE STARTS WITH YOUR KIDNEYS

Science says that old age begins with weakened kidneys and digestive organs.

This being true, it is easy to believe that by keeping the kidneys and digestive organs cleansed and in proper working order old age can be deferred and life prolonged far beyond that enjoyed by the average person.

For over 200 years GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil has been relieving the weaknesses and disability due to advancing years. It is a standard old-time home remedy and needs no introduction. GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil is inclosed in odorless, tasteless capsules containing about 5 drops each. Take them as you would a pill, with a small swallow of water. The oil stimulates the kidney action and enables the organs to throw off the poisons which cause premature old age. New life and strength increase as you continue the treatment. When completely restored continue taking a capsule or two each day. GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules will keep you in health and vigor and prevent a return of the disease.

Do not wait until old age or disease have settled down for good. Go to your druggist and get a box of GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules. Money refunded if they do not help you. Three sizes. But remember to ask for the original imported GOLD MEDAL brand. In sealed packages.

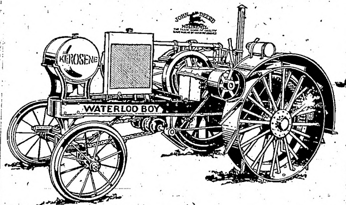
An Addition to Our Line



WATERLOO BOY The Original Kerosene Tractor

In offering to you the Waterloo Boy, the Original Kerosene Burning Tractor, we believe we have selected the most practical, economical and dependable farm tractor on the market.

POINTS OF MERIT ON WHICH OUR JUDGMENT IS BASED

PAST PERFORMANCE—The Waterloo Boy has been a success on farms for five years. In no way is it an experiment.

ECONOMICAL—It is a three plow tractor—most economical and practical size to use—burns kerosene perfectly without destroying lubricating oil. Its special, patented inbuilt manifold converts every drop of kerosene into pure gas—cylinders are not carbonized—spark plugs are not fouled. The perfect burning of kerosene saves the owner of the Waterloo Boy many dollars every year in cost of fuel and care of motor.

POWERFUL—The two cylinders, with big bore and long stroke, furnish a guaranteed power of 12 H. P. at the draw bar and 25 H. P. at the belt, with ample reserve for emergencies. The Waterloo Boy pulls three plows under almost any field condition. Hyatt roller bearings at all important bearing points conserve full power. Weight of the tractor is sufficient to insure good traction for drive wheels.

SIMPLE—Every part is easy to get at and easy to adjust or repair. It doesn't require a tractor expert to keep the Waterloo Boy in good working order. The crank case cover, the inspection plate, the upper half of gear case can all be removed for purpose of inspection or repair—the operator can work from a standing position.

DURABLE—Its heat-treated steel cut gears; its force and sight feed oiling system; its 11 sets of Hyatt Roller bearings at all important bearing points and its simple, powerful two-cylinder motor combined with uniformly high grade construction throughout, result in a tractor that has given and will give many years of dependable and economical service.

FOR ALL FARM WORK—You can depend upon the Waterloo Boy in all farm power work, up to its high rated capacity. It is just as satisfactory in operating belt machines—threshers, shellers, ensilage cutters, hay balers, etc.—as it is in pulling tractor implements of all kinds.

We Want You to See the Waterloo Boy—Come In the Next Time You Are in Town

STOCK MEN ARE BANQUET HOSTS

SUCCESSFUL AFFAIR MARKS CLOSE OF SALE AT CROOKSTON SHOW.

ASSOCIATION IS ORGANIZED

NEW IMPETUS GIVEN TO LEADING INDUSTRY OF RED RIVER VALLEY.

What all term was one of the most successful banquets ever held in Minnesota took place on Wednesday evening of last week at the Grand Central hotel, Crookston, when the members of the newly organized Red River Valley Live Stock association met. The occasion was the first gathering after the new pavilion had been constructed, after the first show on a large scale had been held, and after the most successful sale ever held anywhere in the state had been put over. These reasons and the fact that the gathering was honored by the presence of members of the legislature and distinguished visitors from all sections of the valley made it an epochal event.

Numerous Good Speakers.

Superintendent C. G. Selvig, president of the Red River Valley Live Stock association, acted as toastmaster. He was imbued with earnestness in regard to the movement and contributed to the joyousness of the event in presenting the various speakers. Mayor Morrissey extended a welcome in behalf of the city of Crookston; Frank Jeffers of Red Lake Falls spoke on the development in live stock that the live stock breeders of the valley could expect from now on; S. M. Sivertson, president of the development association, spoke briefly regarding the interest of that organization in all progressive movements in this section of the state; George D. Enyart of Egley, N. D., who with Colonel C. A. Hitchcock, officiated at the sale as auctioneer, gave a ringing address on the advantages of live stock farming.

Following these addresses came the responses from the visiting delegation of the legislature, Senator Cumming led off with a few well chosen remarks regarding the organization of the Northwest School of Agriculture and of the various associations which were associated together in this section of the state. Senator Henry N. Benson of St. Peter spoke beautifully and inspiringly on Minnesota and paid a tribute to Abraham Lincoln whose birthday was celebrated Wednesday. He was followed by Senator Ole A. Sageng from Ottertail.

A High Priced Cow.

Professor W. A. McKerrow of University Farm, St. Paul, followed with an address on the relations between the state and the Red River Valley Live Stock associations. Following this, Senator R. T. Buckler spoke on the live stock industry, and his pride in owning the Holstein cow which brought the highest price at yesterday's sale, for which he paid $2650.

Ex-Senator O'Neill of Thief River Falls in his usual witty and forceful manner, painted a glowing picture of the future of the valley with the great mid-winter exhibit at Crookston and the equally great mid-summer exposition at Thief River Falls. This combination was taken up with enthusiasm by the entire assemblage.

G. G. Hartley of Duluth spoke on the fine feeling of cooperation that he knew existed and on the future that he predicted was in store for those who worked together as well as the people did in this part of the state. Dr. C. W. Gay of the University of Minnesota, spoke on the personal attributes of a successful breeder. This was one of the best short talks on live stock that has ever been given in Crookston and will have a great influence with the breeders who were present.

The members of the legislative committee were honored guests at the banquet and each of them took occasion to say that the crops show stock exhibit and sale was a revelation and more than repaid for the time taken from their legislative duties.

Home Guard Dance.

Arrangements have been completed for the big dance to be given in the Auditorium tomorrow, Friday, evening under the auspices of the Home Guard. The best of music has been secured and a good time is in store for all who attend. This is the first dance given by the Guards for some time and the affair will assume quite a military aspect as all returned soldiers and sailors are requested to appear in uniform, and with their lady friends are to be guests of the company.

Live Stock Breeders Elect.

The Red River Valley Live Stock association, at the meeting held in connection with the Farm Crops show last week, re-elected all of its officers for the ensuing year, as follows: President, C. G. Selvig, Crookston; vice president, Frank Jeffers, Red Lake Falls; treasurer, M. E. Dahl, Twin Valley, and secretary, W. V. Gouseff. The directors of the association are C. O. Carlson, Erskine; S. M. Sivertson, Crookston; Fred Beerbower, Thief River Falls; L. Lamberson, Warren; W. C. Longley, Hallock, and C. C. Strander, Crookston.

MOTOR COMPANY IS CONSPIRACY VICTIM

PAN OFFICIAL MAKES THIS CLAIM IN STATEMENT TO PUBLISHERS.

So much local interest is attached to the matter that The Times gives space to the following communication from President S. C. Pandolfo of the Pan Motor company at St. Cloud. That the company has been made the victim of a conspiracy is the claim made by Mr. Pandolfo, and the reader is left to judge for himself whether or not his claim has merit. The complete statement follows:

"The Pan Motor company and myself filed two suits for $250,000 each in Indianapolis, Indiana, against the Associated Advertising Clubs of the World because of untrue statements concerning the Pan Motor company and myself made by them in their official publication.

"Since filing the above suits, the Pan Motor company has filed another suit for one million dollars against the members of the Vigilance Bureau of the Minneapolis Advertising Forum and the contributing members to that bureau. This suit was filed in the federal court in Minnesota.

"The Pan Motor company and myself will file other suits in New York City in a few days against the Associated Advertising Clubs of the World and some of its officers; there may be many other suits filed by the Pan Motor company and myself against different branches of the Associated Advertising Clubs of the World. The suits that we have already filed and may file against the Associated Advertising Clubs of the World and its members will be vigorously prosecuted and we cannot see how they can defeat judgment.

"The Associated Advertising Clubs of the World claim to be exponents of truth in advertising and also claim to be advocates for putting only truthful statements through the mails. When the final answer is in regarding our suits against them, the world will then know what kind of truth they represent and stand for.

"The Associated Advertising Clubs of the World have been on our trail for about two years. We regard them as our most bitter enemy. They have endeavored to influenze various 'blue sky' departments to cancel our permits; they have endeavored to make trouble for us in the attorney generals' departments in some states where we were licensed to sell our stock; they have endeavored to prejudice 'blue sky' departments against us so that we might not obtain permits from these departments; they have misrepresented the facts to certain people who gave us letters of endorsement, thereby endeavoring to influence those people to repudiate their letters of endorsement; they have used their influence with the Capital Issues committee for the purpose of preventing us from obtaining permit from that committee; they have used their influence with the Capital Issues committee for the purpose of getting that committee to issue a misleading, deceptive and false report to congress concerning the Pan Motor company; they have used their influence with certain people in the postoffice department and in the department of justice and have grossly misrepresented the facts to those people for the purpose of obtaining federal indictments against the officers and directors of the Pan Motor company. They have also issued a special bulletin for the purpose of reflecting on and discrediting the Pan Motor company, its officers and directors, and which has been circulated throughout the United States, and which is misleading from start to finish—but they claim to represent truth. May God have mercy on the peculiar brand of truth they represent!

"The Pan Motor company has over two million dollars of real money invested in its plant. Its capital is unimpaired and it has surplus besides. It has no mortgages, no bonds, no promotion stock, no millstones around its neck, and practically no indebtedness.

"The Pan Motor company has one of the most modern and up-to-date plans of its kind in the world. It has been turning out cars from its factory for about a year, and it will soon go into quantity production on what we regard the most remarkable and practical automobile the world has ever known."

GOOD ROADS BILL PASSED BY SOLONS

BABCOCK'S HUNDRED MILLION DOLLAR PLAN GETS O. K. OF BOTH HOUSES.

The good roads measure advocated by Highway Commissioner Babcock, calling for a bond issue which it is believed will aggregate $100,000,000, passed the senate at St. Paul last Thursday by a vote of 58 to 3. The bill passed the house on the following day. Submission of a constitutional amendment to the voters at the next election is necessary.

Under the terms of the bill as it passed the senate, the state will be able to issue $10,000,000 in bonds each year for the construction of a system of hard-surfaced highways, if the voters of the state accept the proposition. Senators Naplin, Loonan and Lee were the only senators who voted against the bill when it came up for passage in the senate.

Successful Tractor School.

A very successful tractor school was conducted at the Auditorium on Monday and Tuesday by the Avery company under the auspices of C. Gustafson & Son, local agents for the company. Morning and afternoon sessions were held during both days and it is estimated that more than 150 farmers and others were present to receive information from the men sent here by the Avery company to explain the tractor and tractor operation.

NEW HOME FOR LOCAL INDUSTRY

C. M. EVENSON TO MOVE VULCANIZING PLANT TO BETTER LOCATION.

FINE BUILDING IS PLANNED

SITE FOR ENTERPRISE PURCHASED ON SECOND WEST OF AUDITORIUM.

Thief River Falls is destined within the next few months to see an important addition to her business enterprises, according to plans made by C. M. Evenson, proprietor of the tire vulcanizing establishment on North Main street. Mr. Evenson recently purchased the large structure near the Great Northern depot, formerly used by the Thief River Falls Manufacturing company. As soon as the weather permits, this will be moved onto the lots just west of the Auditorium to be transformed into a modern building to house Mr. Evenson's business. When completed the building will be 48x100 feet in size, with two stories and full basement.

To Add Other Lines.

In addition to his vulcanizing establishment, which will be the most complete in Northwestern Minnesota, Mr. Evenson will add a first class paint shop designed especially for automobile and other high grade work, and will also equip a portion of the building as an upholstering department. The two latter departments will undoubtedly fill a long-felt want as at present there is not a place in this section of the state where such work can be done to good advantage.

Of course the principal part of the new building will be devoted to vulcanizing and other kinds of tire repair work. This industry has grown by leaps and bounds, making Mr. Evenson's present quarters entirely too small. Work is sent in by express from distant points and it was no uncommon thing during the busy season last summer and fall for the vulcanizing shop to receive as high as fifty damaged tires per day by express from outside points in addition to the large amount of local business brought to the concern. Last season a force of eleven men was kept busy and it is planned to materially increase this force when the new building is occupied.

A Fine Building.

Mr. Evenson has all his plans made for the new building and nothing will be left undone to make of it the best establishment of its kind to be found anywhere. A large amount of new machinery will be installed and everything arranged with a view to doing the largest amount of work with the greatest possible convenience. Just how soon the new building will be ready for occupancy is hard to say but it will not likely be completed until the latter part of next summer.

FIRST AND PEOPLES HAS NEW OFFICIAL

R. M. SHELDON ASSUMES POSITION AS CASHIER OF LOCAL BANK.

R. M. Sheldon, for three years assistant cashier of the National Farmers Bank of Owatonna, this state, and until recently vice president of the First State Bank of Paynesville, has severed his connections with these institutions and arrived in this city last week to accept the cashiership of the First and Peoples State bank. Mr. Sheldon is a young man of pleasing personality and has had much business experience which will make him a valuable asset to the local institution.

Mr. and Mrs. Sheldon will reside at the Brumund hotel until further arrangements for a home can be made. The business and social circles of Thief River Falls will extend a hearty welcome to them and trust that they will find life here entirely to their liking.

NEW COMMISSIONER FOR FIRST DISTRICT

SUCCESSOR TO W. G. HUNT TO BE CHOSEN AT MEETING TOMORROW.

A successor to W. G. Hunt, late commissioner from the first district, will be chosen at a meeting to be held at the court house in this city tomorrow, Friday, afternoon at two o'clock. Under the law the new man will be chosen by the chairmen of the several townships and villages within the district. The first district is composed of Silverton, Reiner, Cloverleaf, Goodridge, Star and Highlanding townships, and the village of Goodridge.

Of course the air is full of guesses as who will be chosen to succeed the late Mr. Hunt on the board of county commissioners. Four votes will be necessary for appointment, and at the present time it is hard to venture a guess as to whom the choice may fall upon. Many believe that Peter C. Wold, former commissioner, is the logical man, while there is a growing feeling that the western end of the district should be entitled to have a commissioner from that section chosen at this time. The chairmen of the various townships at the meeting tomorrow will no doubt go over the situation from every angle and will choose a man who is in every way a representative citizen of the district and who is qualified to take up the work where it was laid down by the former incumbent. Personal matters will not enter into the matter and only the question of the greatest good for the greatest number will enter into the choice of the new commissioner.

DR. HUENEKENS COMING

Attention is called to the fact that Dr. E. J. Huenekens, director of the Minnesota Division of Child Conservation, will visit this city on Saturday, March 8. Dr. Huenekens paid a visit to this city last August, at which time he conducted a very successful child clinic, and it is for the purpose of doing further work along this line that he comes again on Saturday of next week. Next week's issue of The Times will give detailed information concerning the nature of the work to be undertaken by the noted doctor, as the local committee in charge of arrangements has not yet completed all of its plans.

BALLARD FURNISHES BOND AND IS FREE

FORMER GRYGLA BANKER IS BOUND TO GRAND JURY ON FORGERY CHARGE.

C. E. Ballard, former president of the Farmers State bank of Grygla, who returned to this city last week and shortly thereafter was arrested and taken to Warren on a warrant charging forgery, is again at liberty. At the hearing following his arrest, Mr. Ballard waived examination and was bound over to the grand jury at the next session of the district court for Marshall county. Bail was fixed in the sum of $5,000, and this the prisoner secured the following day. Otto Bremner of St. Paul and A. D. Stephens of Crookston signed Ballard's bond.

Mr. Ballard immediately returned to this city and states that he expects to remain here indefinitely. He is doing all he can to help untangle the affairs of the bank and hopes to be able to clear himself of a large part of the stigma which naturally became attached to him through his disappearance last May and the subsequent collapse of the banking institution of which he was the head. How well he will succeed in this is difficult to tell, but he insists that he will do all in his power to straighten matters up.

There are rumors that other criminal charges are to be brought against Mr. Ballard in connection with the deal, but up to the present time only one formal charge, as described above has been preferred against him. The trial on the forgery charge will come up for hearing at the spring term of court for Marshall county at Warren.

Explains Income Tax.

W. H. Schulze, of the United States treasury department, was in the city from Monday morning until today for the purpose of assisting local people in working out their income tax problems. Mr. Schulze made his headquarters at the Commercial club rooms while here and was consulted by a large number of people who were a little in doubt as to the proper procedure in figuring out their taxes.

POULTRYMEN ELECT OFFICERS FOR YEAR

A meeting of the Pennington County Poultry association was held at the Farm Bureau office in this city last Friday afternoon. That the poultry industry in this section is growing by leaps and bounds is evident from the interest taken in it by farmers and others. Quite a number of fanciers were present at the meeting and plans were made for the most active year in the history of the association.

Poultry is a very important side line for the farmer, and the more progressive farmers of this county are engaging to a considerable extent in the production of birds both for show and market purposes. The show held in this city a few weeks ago served to demonstrate the high class of poultry produced here and did much to increase interest among those who have not given the subject much thought in the past.

The following officers were elected for the association at the meeting held last Friday: President, A. J. Anderson; vice president, Mike McAndress; secretary, J. J. McCann; treasurer, Mrs. Harry Woolson; directors, K. T. Dalager, H. Lorenz and F. B. Conklin.

NOTED SPEAKER HERE NEXT WEEK

JUDGE F. T. WILSON OF STILLWATER TO DELIVER TALK AT AUDITORIUM.

WEDNESDAY EVE. MAR. 5

COMES UNDER DIRECTION OF EXTENSION DIVISION MINNESOTA UNIVERSITY.

Thief River Falls people who had the pleasure of hearing Judge Frank T. Wilson upon his previous visit to the city will be pleased to learn that this noted speaker has been secured to deliver an address at the Auditorium on Wednesday, March 5, at 7:30 in the evening. Judge Wilson is connected with the extension service of the Univeristy of Minnesota and the subject of his talk will be "Community Organizations." The general public is invited to the meeting and there will be no charge of any kind connected with it.

At Goodridge Also.

Judge Wilson has arranged to speak at Goodridge in the afternoon of the same day, and the program there will begin at one o'clock sharp. The business places of the village will be closed from one until three o'clock to give everyone an opportunity to hear the speaker. Mr. Wilson has a message of particular interest to rural communities, and those who have heard him speak on previous occasions know that something especially good is in store for them.

The Community Spirit.

Upon his former visit to this city Judge Wilson was working under the auspices of the food administration and he gave a valuable service to that organization at a time when the country was straining every nerve to win the war. Now that the reconstruction period is at hand he has been engaged by the extension division of the university to help build up the community spirit which is so essential at this time. The judge is a forceful talker who at all times is master of his subject. This, coupled with his intense patriotism, makes him a powerful exponent of real Americanism. The subject chosen for next Wednesday evening will give the speaker a wonderful opportunity to bring home to his hearers the vital truths of the day. A packed house should greet Judge Wilson upon his appearance here.

BASKET BALL TEAM TAKES BAD SLUMP

LOSES BOTH GAMES PLAYED, ONE TO FOSSTON, ONE TO CROOKSTON.

The basket ball team of the Thief River Falls high school has played two games during the past week—and lost them. Both games were played on the home floor. Last Friday evening the boys were defeated by Fosston to the tune of 17 to 14, while Tuesday evening the high school team from Crookston carried off the honors by a score of 26 to 8.

The first game was a hard fought battle all the way through and it was anybody's game until the whistle sounded at the final wind-up. The locals played in fine form but were handicapped to a certain extent by the fact that the visitors greatly outweighed them. Add to this the fact that most of the players on the Fosston team are veterans of two or three years' experience and it can readily be seen what the local lads were up against. It was an elegant exhibition of basket ball and furnished plently of thrills for the spectators. All the boys on the home team acquitted themselves brilliantly and it would be difficult to single out any one player for especial praise. The final score stood 17 to 14 in favor of the visitors.

Tuesday's game was a different affair altogether. Schuster was out of the running on account of illness and during practice just before the game Johnson was severely injured. He insisted on playing, however, but could not do himself justice. Schuster's absence and Johnson's crippled condition raised havoc with the team work of the home boys and they were at the mercy of the Crookston aggregation from the very start. It was the poorest exhibition of basket ball seen here thus far this season. The visitors had everything their own way and when the battle was over the score stood 26 to 8 in their favor. It was the result of a chain of unfortunate circumstances for which no one was to blame.

Boys Are Returning.

Alfred G. Lindquist, a member of the 86th artillery, returned to Thief River Falls this week from France. Leaving here on June 28 he put in the training period at Camp Grant. He arrived in France on the 29th of September and had six days left to remain in camp on the other side when the armistice was signed. At the time of entering the army he was employed by the Minneapolis Bridge company, but will probably engage in well contracting in company with his brother, Charlie, in the future. He has been a resident of Pennington county for 18 years.

Percy Calloway, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. K. Calloway, arrived this week from France and is visiting at the home of his parents awaiting his discharge. Mr. Calloway has been in the quartermaster's department of the aviation department since early in the war, having been among the first to enlist. He has not yet decided on his future course but will undoubtedly continue to make Pennington county his home.

ELKS TAKE NOTICE.

The dancing party announced to take place at the Commercial club rooms on Friday evening will be given at the Masonic hall instead. At the time the notices were sent out another organization had an option on the regular meeting quarters of the lodge for Friday evening, but the agreement was cancelled and the party will be held at the usual place.

TWO ARMIES IN DEATH GRAPPLE

NEW MEMBERS FOR COMMERCIAL CLUB ARE JOINING THICK AND FAST.

"SHE'S SOME FIGHT, BOYS"

LEADERS OF FIGHTING MEN, WITH USUAL BRAVADO, BOTH CLAIM VICTORY.

When the present contest for members of the Commercial club is at an end the man who still is on the outside will feel mighty lonesome. From present indications such individuals will be few and far between. At the rate the red and blue armies are now going, practically every man in the city and surrounding country will have become a member of the club by the time peace is declared and the big feed is served on the evening of March 13. Never was there such rivalry between two sides in a contest and rarely have the results been better for those concerned.

Talk is Cheap.

People may talk and talk and talk and yet not get anywhere. But it is different with the two armies engaged in getting new members for the Commercial club. Neither leader is doing much talking but both are scratching dirt to beat the band. L. A. Lampert, who has charge of the blue forces, thought he had the thing cinched the first of the week when he learned that E. O. Mogensen, captain of the opposing team, had left the city for a few days on business. He figured this would make easy sailing for him, but Mogy has a bunch of trusty lieutenants at work on his side of No Man's Land and does not propose to let his brief absence alter the final outcome. The white flag has not yet gone up in Mogy's camp and there is no immediate prospect of it doing so.

Both Glory and Feed.

But the feed to be served at the end of the contest is not all that the two contending forces have in mind in connection with this affair. In the opinion of both leaders the bad feature of the whole thing is to be forced to admit publicly that the other fellow is the biggest hustler and the best man. That's where the shoe pinches and that's why the interest in the contest continues at white heat from day to day. And the battle will not be settled until the scalps are counted on the fateful evening of March 13.

Don't Overlook This.

The demand for War Histories exceeds all expectations. Get your's now. Read the Times' offer below and act at once.

FLAMES DESTROY FINE FARM HOME

PALATIAL RESIDENCE ON L. A. RUSTEBAKKE PLACE BURNS TO THE GROUND.

FIRE STARTS IN BASEMENT

SEETHING MASS OF FLAMES THIRTY MINUTES AFTER FIRE IS DISCOVERED.

Fire yesterday completely destroyed the $5,000 residence on the farm of L. A. Rustebakke a mile northwest of this city. Most of the furniture from the lower story was saved but everything in the basement and second story of the building was consumed by the flames. The origin of the fire is not positively known, but an overheated furnace is presumed to have been the cause. Insurance partly covers the loss to house and contents.

Started in Basement.

The lower story of the house was occupied by Mr. and Mrs. S. Mork, tenants on the farm, while the second story was the home of Mr. and Mrs. Rustebakke, owners of the place. Shortly after nine o'clock on the morning of the fire Mr. Rustebakke attended to the furnace fire, whereupon he and his wife started for the city to spend the day with friends. About an hour and a half later Mrs. Mork had occasion to go to the basement and found the place so full of smoke that it was impossible for her to enter. She immediately gave the alarm but the fire had gained such headway that nothing could be done to save the building and in a few minutes it was a mass of flames. About twenty neighbors gathered on the scene in response to the alarm and succeeded in saving most of the furniture from the first floor. No clothing was saved except that worn by members of the family. By heroic work it was also possible to save the granary, which was quite close to the house and several times caught fire.

Fine Farm Home.

The burned building was one of the finest farm homes in the township. It was erected about five years ago at a cost of more than $5,000, being entirely modern in every respect. The house consisted of two stories and full basement and was finished in hardwood throughout. It is estimated that $7,500 would not replace the building at the present prices of material. Steps will be taken at once to rebuild but no definite plans have as yet been made. This is the second residence destroyed by fire on the Rustebakke place, the first one having burned to the ground something over six years ago.

PAVILION AT FAIR GROUNDS ASSURED

FINE NEW BUILDING LIKELY TO BE ERECTED BEFORE NEXT EXHIBITION.

The proposition of building a live stock pavilion at the fair grounds has been taken hold of in earnest and the new building may now be considered an assured fact. The various stock breeders' associations in the county have appointed committees for the purpose of selling shares in the fair association to raise the necessary funds for the new building and a good start will soon be made on the project. A drive for the sale of shares will soon be launched in the city and the point to which the venture can be carried this year will depend upon the outcome of these various drives.

No definite plans have as yet been made for the building, but that it will be adequate for the purpose intended goes without saying. The most favored plan seems to be to erect four barns, one facing in each of the four directions, to be used for housing and display purposes. In the center square could be arranged the judging ring, sales arena, etc. How much of this can be done during the coming summer will depend entirely upon how much money can be raised. It is intended that the building be planned in such a way that additions can be put on at any time in the future without interfering with the general design and scope originally intended for the structure. When the necessary funds are forthcoming these details can very easily be worked out. The principal thing is to have the wherewithal with which to do the work.

SPECIAL SERVICES

Members of the Commercial club and the Woman's club are extended a special invitation to attend services at the Methodist church next Sunday evening, March 2. Rev. J. A. Orrock, pastor of the church, has prepared a strong talk on "Practical Community Work," and it is anticipated that it will be a sermon well worth hearing. Rev. Orrock has given his subject a great deal of study and is in a position to offer valuable suggestions to others in the community who are interested in community uplift. Make it a point to hear Rev. Orrock Sunday evening. It will be well worth your while.

PROSPECTS BRIGHT FOR APPROPRIATION

NO APPARENT OBSTACLE IS STANDING IN WAY OF NEW POSTOFFICE BUILDING.

A telegram received yesterday from Congressman Halvor Steenerson states that the bill carrying an appropriation of $75,000 for the Thief River Falls federal building will be voted upon by congress in a few days. Whether it will pass is not certain but the chances are extremely good that it will. The bill carries a large number of similar appropriations and it is not likely that the local item will be singled out for reduction or removal.

After the appropriation for the new building has been made it becomes the duty of the mayor of Thief River Falls, the governor of the state and the secretary of the national treasury to name a commission of three men to have complete charge of the construction of the new building. These men will choose the architect, let the contracts and attend to all details in connection therewith. It is left with the federal government through the postoffice department to choose a location for the building, a matter which usually causes considerable local controversy for the reason that no two men in any town are in perfect accord as to where the postoffice should be located.

Guard Drill Tonight.

Capt. W. B. Fuller has mailed notices to all members of Company C, Minnesota Home guard, commanding them to attend drill this evening. This will be the last drill with the present equipment, Capt. Fuller having been ordered to see that it is returned to state headquarters at St. Paul. All members are therefore requested to bring the sheepskin coats, guns and side arms and to leave them in charge of Quartermaster Sergeant E. O. Mogensen. Any member finding it impossible to be present at the drill is ordered to leave the equipment with Sergeant Mogensen at once.

No orders have yet been received for the mustering out of the company.

Mayor Penney Chairman.

Mayor G. A. Penney has been appointed chairman of local speakers on liberty loan and war savings work, to act in conjunction with the central speakers' bureau at Minneapolis. These speakers will assist in the loan and war savings drives to be launched in the near future.

MAURICE GILLER IN LAW'S TOILS

ARRESTED MONDAY ON WARRANT CHARGING ARSON IN THIRD DEGREE.

BURNED STORE IS CHARGE

BOUND OVER TO THE DISTRICT COURT AND RELEASED ON $5,000 BOND.

Maurice Giller of this city was arrested in St. Paul, Monday evening by Deputy Sheriff Frank McGinty and an officer from the state fire marshal's office on a warrant charging third degree arson. Mr. Giller was brought to this city and the following morning was given a hearing before Judge N. W. Tarrant in municipal court. The defendant waived examination and was bound over to the June term of district court under $5,000 bond. The bond was furnished last evening with C. L. Hansen and Mrs. Bertha Giller as sureties, and the defendant is now at liberty. It is charged in the warrant that Giller set the fire which partially destroyed his clothing store and contents in this city last January.

Detectives on Case.

Detectives have been working on the case for several weeks and secured evidence which seemed to connect one George Allen with the alleged crime. Allen was arrested at Brainerd last Friday by Deputy Sheriff Paul Midderigh. He was brought here Saturday night and the following morning is said to have made a complete confession to the county attorney concerning his knowledge of and connection with Giller and his transactions.

Looting of Store.

After the fire Mr. Giller claimed to have sustained a loss of $25,000, which was only partially covered by the $16,000 insurance carried. The adjustment by insurance companies disclosed that goods to the value of only $12,000 were in the store at the time of the fire. This information was turned over to the office of the state fire marshal. Investigators at once started to ascertain what had become of the remainder of the stock. This investigation disclosed the fact that Giller for some months previous to the fire had been shipping merchandise out of the store, billed to George Allen at various towns in Minnesota and North Dakota. It was this disclosure which led to the arrest of Allen.

Owed Much Money.

The above information, together with the fact that Mr. Giller had liabilities somewhat in excess of $40,000, established in the minds of the men from the fire marshal's office a motive for the crime of setting fire to the store. Their contention is that Giller secured in every way possible all the credit he could get. The presumption is that after securing this enormous line of credit, Giller set fire to the store to cover his crime of looting and also to collect the insurance.

May Lose Insurance.

If Mr. Giller is found guilty, of course no insurance can be collected. This will leave the amount of the liabilities practically a total loss to the creditors. Shortly after the fire Mr. Giller made an assignment of his assets to the Northwestern Jobbers Credit Bureau of St. Paul, which has since had the stock in charge. The salvage in the store which was burned was sold last week for $2,700, while the stock in the other store operated by Mr. Giller on Third street was sold for $2,200. Real estate owned by Giller is mortgaged for practically its entire worth. Out of the $4,900 all expenses of the credit bureau in connection with the case will have to be paid, and providing Giller is convicted this leaves but very little to be applied on the total liabilities.

In Charge of Case.

Carl Bengtson, representing the Jobbers Credit Bureau, did the work which established that a systematic looting of the store had been going on and dug up all the clues in the matter. He was ably assisted by A. E. Simpson and L. V. Conely of the fire marshal's office, and Sheriff W. J. LaBree, who looked after the interests of the state in the case.

Old Resident Called.

G. A. Roos, 60 years of age, died suddenly of heart disease at the farm home of the family about nine miles west of Thief River Falls early Tuesday morning. Deceased had retired apparently in his usual health, but about three o'clock in the morning Mrs. Roos was awakened and found her husband attempting to get out of bed. He dropped over upon reaching the floor and died before help arrived. Dr. H. W. Froehlich, coroner, was notified and gave heart disease as the cause of death.

The wife and three children survive. One son is serving with the American army in France, the two other children being about 12 and 14 years respectively. Deceased was born in Sweden and came to America about 25 years ago.

This is the third case in which Coroner Froehlich has been called since Jan. 1. Last year the services of this official were not once required in the county.

LOCAL LAD BACK FROM WAR ZONE

ALBERT L. SANDEN RETURNS AFTER SPENDING MANY MONTHS IN FRANCE.

WOUNDED BY HUN SHELL

SPENT SEVERAL WEEKS IN ARMY HOSPITAL RECOVERING FROM EFFECTS.

Albert L. Sanden, son of A. J. Sanden, 933 LaBree avenue north, arrived in the city Tuesday morning direct from France. Private Sanden received his discharge from the army at Camp Dodge and has completed his work as a soldier of Uncle Sam. He has no definite plans for the future but expects to remain here for the present at least.

Had Many Experiences.

Private Sanden saw about as much of the war as falls to the lot of the average man. He left here with a consignment of selective service men for Camp Grant, Ill., on June 24 last, and was assigned to the 341st infantry, 86th division. After going through a period of training at Camp Grant he was sent to France, arriving there on September 9. Here his regiment was used as a replacement unit and he was transferred to company G, 310th infantry, in the 78th division. In this unit he continued to serve until the armistice was signed.

Reported Missing.

On October 21 a telegram was received here stating that Private Sanden was missing in action, and for some time nothing further was heard concerning him. Word from the young man finally came, however, and it was learned that he had been badly wounded but that he was improving rapidly and would be able to rejoin his command. He received a severe wound in the head when a building in which his company was billeted for the night was struck by an enemy shell and literally blown to atoms. Many of the boys were killed outright while others were severely wounded. This occurred near the Argonne Forest, where the Americans did such valiant fighting. Sanden's regiment had been held in reserve back of the lines for some time and were momentarily expecting to be called into the thick of the fight when the well-directed Hun shell got in its deadly work.

The Return Trip.

Private Sanden then spent four weeks in a hospital, and from that time until January 20, the date upon which he started for America, was stationed at different places in France. He was put in with a casual company and after arriving on this side spent a week at Camp Merritt, N. J. From there he was sent directly to Camp Dodge, where he received his discharge.

A Great Experience.

Private Sanden, in common with other soldiers who have returned from France, states that it was a wonderful experience but one that he would not care to repeat. Army life, especially when there is no real fighting to do, soon gets too slow for the average young man, while the large amount of red tape and the uncertainty of what is going to happen next also gets very tiresome. On the other hand, a trip to foreign countries serves to make the boys appreciate more fully the blessings of living in the greatest country on earth.

Peterson Buys Farm.

A deal was made the first of the week whereby P. M. Peterson purchased the farm, live stock and equipment of Haldor Erickson, four miles west of this city. The new owner will take possession of the property on March 15. Mr. Peterson and family came to this section last fall from the state of Washington, and have made this city their home since that time. They liked this part of Minnesota so well that they decided to make it their permanent home and accordingly proceeded to invest in one of the best farms in the neighborhood. Mr. Erickson, who had owned the place for many years, has not yet made definite plans for the future but expects to make his home in Thief River Falls for the present.

DOUGHBOY SENDING MUCH MONEY HOME

INTERESTING SIDELIGHTS ON WHAT MEMBERS OF 88th ARE DOING.

Camp Dodger, Overseas Edition, News Service:

The American doughboy hasn't completely succumbed to the ravages of high prices of vin blanc and champigny waters. In witness to which fact there is a statement given out by the Army Postmaster of the 88th Division at Gondrecourt, France, recently.

The 88th through A. P. O. 795 is sending home $1209 a day in money orders. The money order department is in charge of Harry Olson, a postal veteran and the only civilian in the office, who estimates that about 80 per cent of the money comes from the men in the ranks.

The orders probably speak most eloquently for the prosperity of the division and throw an interesting sidelight on one of the characteristic phases of army life. Invariably the bulk of the funds sent home from each company and battery comes from two or three men. They are lucky ones. Or is it science? Certainly there is a knack in rolling the bones, or in calling "at the" psychological moment in that little old American game, or in knowing when to turn a Black Jack.

The Division's biggest day was Jan. 3, when $2017.27 was started on its way home. Naturally that was directly after payday.

Thirty to thirty-five sacks of parcels go out daily. These cover practically everything in the souvenir line from salvaged helmets to dainty bits of French fancy work. The office takes in $50 a day in stamp sales on this class of matter alone.

Thirty thousand letters a day are sent through this office from the men of the Division, one letter per day per man. Incidentally one man handles all of these outgoing letters. He is Private Ferdinand S. Wolfert and he admits that he has some job.

Approximately 75,000 letters a day, the largest proportion from the states, form the incoming grist. The same proportion of second class matter, being about twice the amount in bulk, comes from the states daily.

THIS SOLDIER HAS SEEN REAL SERVICE

PETER BOUCHER, RED LAKE COUNTY LAD, FOUGHT WITH CANADIAN ARMY.

The following story, taken from the columns of last week's issue of the Red Lake Falls Gazette, will be of interest to many friends of the young man in this community:

Private Peter Boucher of the 8th Canadians, was in Red Lake Falls last week visiting his sister, Mrs. Dan Charboneau, and he paid the Gazette office a welcome visit. Private Boucher is one of the Red Lake county boys of whom we are proud. He was living on his claim a dozen miles from Rainy River, Ont., in April 1916 when he heard and answered the call for volunteers by enlisting in the 141st regiment. In March 1917 he was sent overseas and while in England was transferred to the 8th regiment and shortly afterwards went to France.

For many months he was in the thick of the hard fighting in the sector around Arras and in April 1918 was severely wounded by shrapnel and lost his right arm. Out of the 37 in his platoon, all but three were killed or severely wounded. Then followed ten weary months in hospitals, first at the base hospitals at Etemps, where he spent sixteen days before being transferred to London. In August he was taken back overseas to Toronto where he was trained at government expense and only recently was transferred to a similar school at Winnipeg, and he started his work there Monday. He is fitting himself for a position as dairy and grain inspector.

"I have learned more since I have been wounded than I have for seven years previously," said Private Boucher, "for since I have been in the hospital I have had lots of time to read and study and I have taken advantage of my opportunities. It is hard to learn to write with my left hand, but I am going to do it.

"Of course I am glad to get back to Red Lake county for I was born and raised here and for several years was in business at Brooks. Trench fighting is hard work. The food is poor and you can't get enough to eat and your clothes get so muddy that you can't clean them. Sometimes regiments will be four months at a time at the front without relief, the only change being when you change places with your support which is a quarter of a mile to the rear."

TO TRAIN SOLDIERS ON WOUNDED LIST

PLAN MADE FOR VOCATIONAL EDUCATION TO BE GIVEN BY GOVERNMENT.

Any disabled soldier who has secured compensation from the government, has the right to apply for vocational training. Our country will equip him to handle his old job, or a new one if he prefers. Such training was begun when he was in the hospital. After the soldier is discharged, the Federal Board for Vocational Training will help him choose the work he wants to follow. A course of training is then outlined, covering from several months to four years. Deaf soldiers will be given a preliminary course in lip reading. Men with artificial limbs will be taught to use them and become skilled in various trades. So with the blind. Those who have had high school or college training will be able to take more advanced work, law for instance. A soldier with some special talent will be taught to make use of it.

Men taking vocational training are no longer members of the army. The Federal Board for a group of states is made up of civilians, and the teaching is done in approved schools and shops. But the discharged soldier continues to receive Government pay. This, including his compensation, will ordinarily be $65 a month. If he has a family dependent on him, $10 more will be given, in addition to the former government allowance. Tuition fees and traveling expenses are met by the government.

The Vocational Board will find work for a man after his training is completed. They will also try to place disabled men who do not wish training, in work which they can do in spite of their disability. But the chance for government training is too good for any soldier to miss. Present high wages are a temptation to the returning soldier. But when wages went down, the disabled man would be unable to compete with other workmen. Through vocational training he has the chance to overcome his handicap, and greatly increase his earning power. Application may be made through the Red Cross Home Service.

HOME SERVICE OF RED CROSS BUSY

SECTION TAKES CARE OF MANY CASES FOR RETURNED SOLDIERS.

During the month of November, the Home Service Section of the Northern Division of the Red Cross handled 1,089 cases. In December the number increased to 1,584 and in January, 1919, 1,685 new cases were cared for—the highest total reached since the beginning of the war.

Of these 176 were cases of delayed allotments of allowances, 217 were referred to the Division by the Associate Field Directors in camps here or abroad. Men were anxious about conditions at home and asked Home Service to protect and care for their families. Ninety inquiries came from men overseas who had not heard from home for a long time and wished the Bureau of Foreign Correspondence to obtain information from their families.

The largest source for this month was in after-care cases, totaling 334. These are cases of men who have been assisted in securing medical treatment necessary after their discharge, or in applying for compensation, and often vocational training.

The remainder of the 1,685 cases included welfare inquiries about men overseas, verification of casualty reports, cases of Canadian soldiers' families, cared for by agreement with the Canadian Patriotic fund. It also included aid given to stranded soldiers, and straight informational inquiries.

The growth of the work has not been unexpected. Home Service will continue to grow until every returned soldier is "on his own" again for good.

PRIESTS ARE GIVEN NEW ASSIGNMENTS

NEW MEN CHOSEN TO FILL POSITIONS MADE VACANT BY DEATH.

A number of changes and new assignments were last week announced in the Crookston diocese by Rt. Rev. Bishop Corbett. During the influenza epidemic, three priests, Father Hawks, Proulx and Perrin-Laurent, gave their lives, visiting the sick and dying, not giving up until death overtook them.

Father Thomas Merril, of Warren, goes to St. Mary's at Red Lake Falls, succeeding the late Father Hawks; his place at S. S. Peter and Paul at Warren, will be taken by Father Joseph T. Heavey. Father Deshnies will take charge of Fosston and missions, succeeding the late Father Proulx. Father Bouchard becomes pastor of St. Anthony's at Terrebonne, succeeding the late Father Perrin-Laurent. Father O'Brien succeeds Father Bouchard at Akely, Minn.

RAIL HEADS PLAN TO HERALD STATE

Minnesota's recreational, agricultural and industrial advantages are to be advertised nationally by the Federal railroad administration.

When the roads were taken over by the government, the advertising departments virtually were wiped out, but after the $250,000,000 deficit for the first year appeared the Railroad administration decided that it pays to advertise. So the bars have been let down.

The advertising staffs will not be restored, officials of Northwest lines said, but small forces of experts who are in other departments now will be specially detailed to the work. The major part of the advertising program is being developed by a bureau at Chicago.

Immigration and passenger departments have been authorized to advertise extensively, and thousands of dollars will be spent in every state this year. Minnesota and Wisconsin advertising will be grouped to cover this section. Minnesota's lake regions and tourist resorts will be given wide publicity, as will the Glacier and Yellowstone national parks.

PLAN PROPOSED TO DIVIDE MINNESOTA

BILL INTRODUCED IN LEGISLATURE WOULD CUT STATE IN TWO.

Division of Minnesota into two states, the new state to be called "Lincoln," is proposed in a bill introduced in the legislature last week by Representative C. W. Bouck of Royalton. This is an idea that has been revived regularly at each session of the legislature for many years but it is doubtful whether it will fare any better at the hands of the lawmakers than former propositions of a similar nature. Just what the advantage of state division would be has never been made quite clear by advocates of the plan.

The new state, according to the bill, would include that section north of the Twin Cities and west of Stearns county. Anoka and Chisago counties would be in the new state, but Wright county would be left a part of Minnesota. The bill provides for submission of the question to the voters at the next general election before federal consent to the division is sought.

Miss Hunt is Chairman.

Red Lake Falls Gazette: Miss Rebecca Hunt returned home Tuesday afternoon from Thief River Falls, where she had gone on Monday to attend the addresses given by Mrs. M. L. Burton of Minneapolis and Mrs. Peter Oleson of Cloquet, who came to Thief River Falls under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A., in the interests of the Blue Triangle campaign for funds for the Community Houses, etc. for the Young Women of America. Red Lake county's quota in this campaign is $70.00 and Miss Hunt has been named chairman for the county, and solicitors will be appointed and commence the canvass for the quota at an early date.

STRENGTH

Capital and surplus do not always denote the strength of a Bank. A Bank of real strength has character, age, experience; a record for sound finance and service to its patrons.

These are points to be taken into consideration when making your choice of a Bank and it is by these standards that we ask to be judged.

The Value of Past Performance

When a concern has continued in the same line of business on one location for twenty years it has either become so firmly established in the estimation of the public that its position is unassailable or it is so far down in the business scale that it is no longer a competitor.

There are some things money will not buy. Confidence is one of them. When we say that our past dealings with the lumber buyers of this section have been such as to act as a guarantee for the future we are stating the absolute truth. We can not afford to wreck this reputation now. We cannot even afford to place it in jeopardy. We must be prepared to live up to any promise made and to not only meet any propositions competitors may advance, but to better them.

Our customers know we will do this and do not look further when in need of anything in the building material line. On "past performance" they know that we will do even more than we say.

You are considering building something this spring. Permit us to make a figure on your bill. Let us help you decide on the plans. We have been here a long time and know what is required in this section. Our service and advice will cost you nothing.

LECTURE SHOWS STRONG POINTS

LARGE CROWD ENJOYS TALK ON CHRISTIAN SCIENCE THURSDAY EVENING.

MUCH FOOD FOR THOUGHT

BETTER UNDERSTANDING OF SUBJECT RESULT OF INFORMATION GIVEN.

A large audience was present at the Auditorium last Thursday evening in attendance at the lecture given on Christian Science by Charles I. Ohrenstein, C. S. B. The lecturer was introduced by Mrs. H. A. Pratt, who said in part:

"The Bible gives assurance that wonderful benefits result from knowing God; from a right understanding of Him.

"In Job we find: 'Acquaint now thyself with Him and be at peace.' In John: 'Ye shall know the truth, and the truth shall make you free.' And also: 'And this is life eternal, that they might know thee, the only true God, and Jesus Christ, whom thou hast sent.'

"Who does not crave freedom from sickness and sin? For peace, life eternal? And the one thing needful to obtain these priceless blessings is a closer acquaintance with God, to know Him aright. The study of Christian Science is bringing to many a clearer understanding of God as infinite, ever present good—the only power, and the lecturer tonight will present some of the truths taught in this Science."

The Lecture.

Mr. Ohrenstein then spoke as follows:

All would agree that it was the understanding of God, the supreme power that is all good and always with us, that enabled Jesus to do the healing and reformatory works which he did.

Must not we then in order to be Christians, to benefit by Jesus' Christianity, gain this understanding of God? Must not we ask who or what is this God of whom Jesus had such intimate, exact understanding, knowledge or science?

Going to this master Jew, this master Christian, what do we learn God is? Something different from what was in the beginning? Not at all.

God.

It should be remembered that Jesus did not write; he spoke. He spoke to his own people, the common people who heard him gladly; and he spoke in their tongue. The only instance preserved to us of what he said in that tongue is in the words which preceded his giving up the "ghost," the mere semblance of life, which he said he could lay down and could take up again, as he later proved. These words, all will remember, were "Eloi, Eloi, lama sabachthani?" which are translated, "My God, my God, why has thou forsaken me?" The word Eloi, which Jesus used, is the Old Testament Hebrew word for what in English is called God. It means strength, or power, a meaning which is entirely devoid of anthropomorphism or corporeality. According to Jesus, then, God was his power, the power upon which he always relied, with which he accomplished everything. Nor did he leave us in the dark as to just what this power is. In speaking to his disciples he said, "Call no man your father upon the earth: for one is your Father, which is in heaven." In other words, there is only one creator or cause, and the universe including man is its product, the product of Eloi, the one and only power.

Again, speaking to the woman at the well, Jesus said, "God is Spirit," which would certainly mean that his power, the only power he ever used, the true cause of all, and consequently the cause of only that which is true, was Spirit or Mind, not matter of any kind or physique. And looking at the teachings of Jesus, looking at his words and at his works—words and works due to, impelled by, emanating from this Eloi or power, Spirit, Mind, or intelligence—are we not bound to conclude that this power, Spirit, Mind, was infinite Love, and that this divine Love was the very life of Jesus which nothing could destroy and which was able to raise him up at the last day? This one power then, this one Spirit, Soul, or Mind, this one existence or Life, this one reality or Truth, this one infinite Love, this divine Principle, was all that constituted the Saviour who is the same yesterday, today, and forever, "with whom is no variableness, neither shadow of turning," who is with us alway. This is just what Christian Science defines God to be, as will be seen from the following passage: "God is incorporeal, divine, supreme, infinite Mind, Spirit, Soul, Principle, Life, Truth, Love" (Science and Health, p. 465).

Man.

Not only did Jesus illustrate, not only does Christian Science teach what God is, but in doing this Jesus illustrated and Christian Science teaches what man is.

Does not the father want the son to be like himself, and does not a son want to be like his father? So true is this, that right in the beginning we read that "God created man in his own image, . . . male and female created he them." In other words, He created them just like Himself. Now, how do we know what a man is like? Do we not know it by what he expresses? Was it not the manifestation, the expression of the power, the Mind, the Spirit, the Life, the Truth, and the Love, which are altogether good, God, that made Jesus the best prepared, the safest, the most able or powerful, the most godlike man that ever lived? Did it not make him so godlike that all Christendom has called him God, worshiped him as God? It has done this, too, notwithstanding the fact that Jesus rebuked the man for calling him, not God, but merely good, saying, "There is none good but one, that is, God." He did this because he recognized, as no one else ever has, that even all that he manifested of God did not begin to express, but only indicated the infinite good that is God. This is shown by the fact that he expected not only the emulation of his example by his followers, but more—"He that believeth on me, the works that I do shall he do also; and greater works than these shall he do; because I go unto my Father;" because I illustrate the way, and show, as he again said, that "the Son can do nothing of himself, but what he seeth the Father do: for what things soever he doeth, these also doeth the Son likewise."

This Teaching Scientific.

That this knowledge of God and of man, the knowledge that was taught, illustrated, and demonstrated by Jesus the Christ, is Christian, all will concede. But it may be asked, is it science?

This question can be answered, must be answered in one way alone—that of demonstration or proof. It was so answered when Jesus did his marvelous works; it was so answered when his disciples or students repeated these works; it was so answered when for over two centuries after them their followers, the early Christians, did these works. It is in this way that for the past fifty years it has been answered and is now being answered. It was so answered when Mrs. Eddy, through the spiritual illumination to her of a Bible text—through the coming to her of the right idea, the true meaning of this text—was healed; it was so answered when she, through this true sense of the nature, the presence, and the power of God, healed others, and taught them to do likewise. It was so answered when her students through the presentation of her teachings—given to them in the Christian Science text-book, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures"—reformed, healed, made the abundance of good manifest for others, and in turn taught them to do likewise. It was so answered when this reformed, healed, regenerated, saved multitude established churches and societies of Christ, Scientist, in every part of the habitable globe until it is safe to say that there is no one here who does not know of some one whose life, health, mode of thought, increased usefulness, and freedom from want and woe do not bear witness to this. It has been so answered, and is being so answered here by the fact that this lecture is given to make these facts known: for were it not that some few or many in this community were so benefited, this lecture would not, could not be given, for there would be no one here who would cause it to be given. There is, therefore, abundant proof that this Christianity is Science, demonstrable and demonstrated knowledge. Neither do thinking people deny this overwhelming proof. But the question still remains, How is this accomplished?

The Beginner.

Let us take one who is learning to know this Christ-way, and beginning to walk in it. What effect has this upon him?

He has been believing, like every one else, that he is a material organism with his life, health, strength, intelligence, and love all inside of him; that all that he is and all that he has is limited by heredity and environment. He knows it because he has been experiencing it. Of course he is unprepared for any emergency, feels unsafe, is inefficient. It is not strange if he is discouraged, perhaps sick, dissipated. Now, the unheeded Christ, the spiritual idea of being, the Truth comes to such a one in Christian Science. He hears, and hears for the first time with this new meaning, that God is the only and all power; that God is all his God; that God is Life—his life; that God is Mind, Truth, Love, and that God, who is all this, is all his God. If he admits this—and slow or fast, if he ponders it, he is bound to admit it—will not everything that is right become more and more possible to him, and will not everything that is wrong become less and less dominant over him, and finally impossible to him? Will he not at once be better prepared for every demand upon him, feel more safe, more efficient than before? If he is fallen, will this not uplift him; if he is sorrowful, will this not comfort him; if he is discouraged, will this not encourage him; if he is sick, dis-eased, will not this ease him until it heals him; if he has been a failure, cannot he with this Christian, this right idea of being rise to success? Let me say that in thousands of instances this has been demonstrated, and examples are not far to seek. The neighbors, friends, relatives of many of you here can tell you their experiences, and I am sure you will find them corroborative of this. Neither should these experiences seem so strange after it has been indicated, as it has, what God is and what man's relationship to God is: and I am sure it does not seem so strange as it did that God should comfort the sorrowing, make the weak strong, heal the sick, yes, raise the dying and the dead. But perhaps it can be made still plainer.

Thought Processes.

If God is the all-enabling power, and God is Mind, the operation of this power must primarily be by way of ideas, thoughts. Who can straighten out his finger or bend it without thought dictating the action? Who can bend it when thought dictates to hold it straight? Try it. Will the hand not do kind things under the impulsion of loving thoughts; will it not do cruel things under the impulsion of contrary beliefs? Will it not do brave, powerful, steady, skillful efficient things under the direction of confident, intelligent guidance, and trembling, weak, inefficient things under the impulsion of fear? All have experienced this. Is it not a common saying that one is paralyzed with fear? Do not people die of fear? Does any part of the body not reached by thought do anything or feel any way? If it does, how do you know it without thought?

The schools are beginning to recognize, and in some degree to acknowledge, that in Christian Science a light has come into the world, but they are not able to see that it is all light, and that in it is no darkness at all. Theology is beginning to teach an incorporeal God, but not one who is the Spirit that is all Love, too pure to behold iniquity, evil of any kind, to cause it or to permit it. The healing arts are beginning to teach that mind is at least in part cause, but without recognizing that Mind is God, good, so never the cause of disease and death, but always the cause of restoration, of health, and of life. They call that mind which is but false education, illusion, suggestion, the ultimate cause of sin, sickness, death. But the human beliefs that still obscure cannot forever hide the true light which shines, and shines unto a perfect day when all shall be illumined by it, and there shall be no darkness, ignorance, illusive suggestion, dis-ease, fear, and so no sin, no disease, no death.

A Word About the Discoverer and Founder.

What has been said will but dimly indicate the teachings of the ideal, yet most practical and scientific system of ethics and healing discovered in the words and works of our Master by Mrs. Eddy. Through her faithful, loving, Christlike leadership Mrs. Eddy founded this system, Christian Science, and advanced it to its present world-wide acceptance. Bringing what she did to the world—the "pearl of great price," the applicable, dedmonstrable Christianity of Christ Jesus, which has proved itself such by comforting, reforming, and healing the vast majority of those who have honestly, earnestly studied her books—she has enriched the world beyond all reckoning.

Mrs. Eddy was at times reviled, but she reviled not again. So unmindful of the world was she and so mindful of God that His thoughts, messages that came and do come with healing and with blessings in their wings, were always her thoughts. Her one prayer was to be God's faithful messenger. The answer to this prayer was certainly vouchsafed to her. Mary Baker Eddy founded a world-wide religion, a religion that is Science, a Science that is Christian and that both heals and saves. In doing this she has risen to her rightful place in divine Love—Love that is reflected by the constantly increasing esteem of the world, and the grateful appreciation of hundreds of thousands of her beneficiaries.

PAVILION DEBT IS BEING CARED FOR HANDSOME NEW STRUCTURE VALUABLE ASSET TO LIVE STOCK INDUSTRY.

Red Lake county has joined Kittson county, which was first over the top, and Norman county in sending in their first quotas for the Red River Valley Live Stock pavilion. The amounts provided by these counties according to the latest available figures are Kittson, $1160, Red Lake $1030 and Norman, $1500. Marshall county is progressing rapidly in sending in its $2000, their first apportionment as is Pennington, Mahnomen, Clearwater, Becker and Clay are expected to come in strong from now on. Polk county will raise several thousand dollars more in order to raise its share of the pavilion, barn and lots.

There is a contest between Reis and Andover townships in Polk county, which is getting more interesting every day. At the time the pavilion was opened last Wednesday, the score stood: Reis $470, Andover $350. At the time of going to press the score stood: Andover $640 and Reis $500 with every prospect that Reis is still in the game.

A big lift was given the building when E. M. McMahon, secretary of the St. Paul Association of Public Affairs presented $1,000 to the Red River Valley Live Stock Association as the contribution of the South St. Paul and St. Paul men and firms. H. N. Owen, Minneapolis, publisher of Farm, Stock and Home subscribed $100.

Too much credit cannot be given to the men who have subscribed and to those who have made the canvass. They are building up a great institution that they will own, control and operate themselves, a real cooperative enterprise, which will build up both live stock and community interest.

Croup

"I don't think there is a more anxious time for parents than when their children have croup. Without they are prepared with Chamberlain's Cough Remedy they must wait for the doctor and listen to the choking, metallic cough and watch their little one gasping for breath.

"Granny" Chamberlain

You know the great danger of croup is the formation of a false membrane in the larynx, and until this is expelled relief cannot be obtained, and the spasmodic choking continues. Give Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in frequent doses. It will loosen this membrane and cause the child to expel it by vomiting.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy

is an absolutely safe and certain remedy for croup, and if given as soon as the child becomes hoarse, or even after the croupy cough appears, it will prevent the attack."

Yours for Health—Granny Chamberlain

A JUSTIFIED EXEMPTION.

According to the latest advises, salaries of state, county and municipal officers are not taxable under the new law. This is the opinion of the Commissioner of Internal Revenue, and his guess should at least be as good as the next man's.

There will probably be considerable criticism voiced because of this ruling. The ordinary citizen seems to think that officials are a highly-favored class, particularly as concerns the amount of money they receive for their services, and he refuses to see why their income should be exempt from taxation.

Under ordinary circumstances the critic would be right, but if any way can be found under the law to exempt these men it should be employed, things being as they are.

The public official has gotten rather the worst of the deal during the past few years. His salary or fees have remained absolutely stationary, being fixed by law, while the cost of living has climbed for him as well as for the rest of us. In a county like Pennington, for instance, where the salaries paid county officials run in the neighborhood of $1,600 per year, it has taken some rather close figuring to make things come out even.

The public does not ask competent men to work for an insufficient wage and would be more than willing to see them share in the general prosperity of the country. In order to make this possible, however, new laws would have to be enacted, and this takes time. There is no other way of increasing the pay check of these men, hence they will have to get along with what they are now receiving—at least for some time.

For this reason it would be only right and proper if they were exempted from the general income tax, so far as this applies to that part received from the public for services rendered. We confess that it is a little hard to see just how it is going to be done, but as the Commissioner seems to have found a way we should all be satisfied.

Attention to this matter is only called for the purpose of causing some who might otherwise go into the air and shout "favoritism" from getting excited over the matter before they have had time to look at it in the right light.

PROVIDES ANOTHER WAY.

A bill before the Minnesota legislature provides that cities or towns having a population of 10,000, or less may levy taxes for the purpose of constructing macadam pavements or roads of similar nature. Such improvement may be authorized by the vote of one-half of the property owners affected or by the unanimous vote of the city or village council.

The Times does not know if this bill was introduced for the purpose of particularly helping Thief River Falls, but if it becomes a law it will make paving our streets an easy matter. The objection has been that the property abutting on the paved area has had to bear all the expense, and this has seemed too great to a considerable number of owners. Their objections were not well taken, but they made them stick and this proved as effective as if every argument they presented was perfectly sound. Now it is proposed to so arrange matters that even these will have to get behind the movement or lay themselves open to an easily proven charge of being obstructionists.

It has always seemed to many thoughtful persons as if the present law regulating the payments for paving was somewhat out of plumb. It provides that the cost shall be borne entirely by the property abutting on the section of thoroughfare improved, no matter how much of a stretch this might involve or the relative proportion of use given that particular section of street by the person against whom the assessment was levied. If his property faced the paved area he paid, and that was all there was to it. The hundreds and perhaps thousands of citizens who daily passed his property and therefore had fully as much benefit from the improvement as he did were not asked to contribute anything toward helping defray the cost.

This is the defect in the present law which the measure proposes to remedy. It provides that all those who are benefitted shall help pay the bill, and this is no more than right. The share of the cost to be footed by the more distant property is not specified, it being evidently the intention to leave this to the local authorities. That a just and equitable division could be arrived at is certain. The entire city would be benefitted and all the taxpayers should help pay.

FARMERS WANT TO HELP.

Last week the Times contained a communication signed by two Pennington county farmers, Messrs. Hufdal and Henriksen of Kratka township, which it is to be hoped was read by every man and woman in the county.

The communication was an appeal to our people to donate liberally toward the memorial to be erected in honor of the soldiers and sailors who fought in the late war. These citizens point to the service rendered by the men from the county and the credit with which they acquitted themselves wherever placed. What is left for us to do, they say, is of such small significance when compared with what has been done for us that it will loom up but poorly by comparison, no matter how well it is attended to.

The suggestion that farmers be permitted to make their donations in the shape of notes payable on the first of November will meet with general approval. Spring is the period of greatest cash shortage with the ordinary farmer and he often finds it necessary to keep his expenses down to as low a point as possible just then. It is also a time of heavy outlay with the returns far in the future. Giving him until after his crops have been harvested to pay his share in the memorial will be showing him a favor sure to be appreciated. It will also give many who would otherwise be compelled to forego the privilege of having his name on the list of contributors an opportunity of being represented.

This is an enterprise in which we all wish to be included. It is the one great community undertaking in the history of the county and it would be regretable should anyone be left out because of temporary inability to participate. The arrangement will be easily made and it only remains to give all the publicity possible to the fact that the cash is not absolutely necessary at the time solicitors call.

ARE THE PEOPLE INCOMPETENT?

That the present primary election law in the state of Minnesota is perfect no one will attempt to maintain. That it is vastly better than the former convention system is, however, so patent that it hardly permits of argument. For this reason the law should be improved and remedied where it is found wanting, not abolished entirely as will be the case if the Warner-Hompe bill passes.

The people struggled for years to get the state away from the corrupt practices and unsatisfactory results inevitable under the old convention system. It was not an easy victory. With those who profited under the old method the new order has naturally never been popular and it was to be expected that an attempt would be made to get it out of the way just as soon as the reactionaries considered it safe to make such a move.

To abolish the primary system before it has been given a fair trial is equivalent to saying that the people are not competent to look after the selection of their candidates for office. In effect it will announce to the world that after struggling for years to improve conditions in the state by giving the people a more direct voice in their government it has been found that they have not yet arrived at a point where it is possible to trust them entirely with their own affairs.

The fact that the present law is in some respects unsatisfactory is no argument for its repeal. The plan itself is sound and requires only the perfecting of details to make it ideal. Any movement looking toward a return to former conditions, no matter how slight or how well camouflaged, is a backward step and calculated to infringe to some extent on the right of the people to control their own government.

The Warner-Hompe bill is presented with a lot of plausible argument in its favor, but the real aim behind it is to create an entering wedge for a system that will turn the state back to the politicians.

FIND A JOB FOR A SOLDIER.

Thus far there has been no trouble in finding jobs for returned soldiers in Thief River Falls and Pennington county. The men have gone back to their old positions wherever they have wished to do so and there has been no quibbling about it. Employers here let it be understood that the boys were to be reinstated upon their return and there has been no hard feelings even on the part of those who were let out.

The situation is not so satisfactory in all sections of the state, we are sorry to say. In the cities, particularly St. Paul and Minneapolis, there are large numbers of discharged soldiers who are in actual need because of their inability to secure work. They were turned loose at the dullest time of the year and no sufficient provision was made for their absorption. This does not speak very highly of our capacity for organization, perhaps, but the fact remains, nevertheless.

The country districts can help straighten out matters in the cities if everyone will undertake all the work possible at once. It will be but a short time until the demand for men on farms will be greater than can be supplied and it might be a good plan to secure the needed help now. Something could surely be found to do for a man by the farmer who will need one within a short time and the latter would be making himself secure against a future shortage if he would put in his application now. There are agencies in all counties for the purpose of helping those returning from the war and these will gladly co-operate with the farmers in placing the men.

The one thing which more than anything will help straighten out the situation is a program of construction work. Building roads, ditches, houses, barns, etc., will put men to work at once and keep them busy until general farm operations begin. It is as much a patriotic duty to provide work at this time as it was to provide funds or food a year ago. The fact that none of our own soldiers are likely to remain idle long is not quite all there is to it. Every time we find another job for a man we are helping relieve the congestion in the cities and helping just that much toward bringing about normal conditions.

Build something if possible. If you are a farmer and cannot do this, get a hired man a month or two ahead of the time he is actually needed. Every little helps in a case of this kind.

"BUY NOW!"

(Crookston Times.)

"Buy now!" urges the Council of National Defense.

It is excellent advice, designated to prevent a disastrous slump in business and get more easily and quickly thru the uneasy reconstruction period and into the boom times which, almost everybody agrees, lie ahead.

Prices will come down, to be sure, all along the line, if everybody holds off buying long enough. But to stop buying as a deliberate policy for the sake of lowering prices is suicidal. Both experience and economic teaching show the fallacy of it. The trouble is that by the time price levels have been lowered markedly by this drastic process, people no longer have the money to buy things even at the reduced prices. The same causes that have lowered prices have lowered their earnings and cut into their savings.

Except in special and exceptional cases, there is nothing to be gained by waiting, and much to lose. Buying now will stimulate business and industry. It will keep men and women working. It will hold up wages and salaries and dividends.

If it holds prices at what seems an abnormally high level, that is of minor importance—as long as everybody is making money. There was little real complaint about high prices the last couple of years, because people had the money to pay the prices, and after paying them had more left over than usual, as present bank deposits and Liberty Bond holdings attest.

That condition can be continued, if the public—ultimate consumers and manufacturers and merchants, and all other purchasers of either raw or finished materials—will only have the confidence to "buy now."

Community Sing American Music

(By Stanley R. Avery, President Civic Music League of Minneapolis.)

As music is a universal language, so it is a universal influence. It is a unifying power and, as such, of the utmost value as a national asset. It is a means to the expression of those things which are beyond ordinary speech, and one of the greatest of these is patriotism. This land has recently felt powerful unifying influences, and in bringing them into action music has played a most prominent part. It is hardly fifteen years ago that Arthur Farwell and his co-prophets of the Wa Wan Press, adopting the words of one who preceded them, exclaimed as enthusiastic and truly national musicians: "I hear American singing." Then the voices were few and their song wavered; today it is an ocean of music uniting coast with coast. It is a direct expression of American democracy; and, uniting with the other great influences of the day, it is binding soul to soul with true Americanism.

Music has now entered the home in proper guise. The mechanical appliances spread the influence. Caruso sang in the laborer's hut, and then the laborer went to hear Caruso. Prosperity and philanthropy assisted; more people heard music and more music was heard. Then the war—and everything worth-while was requisitioned. Song—in the home, on the platform, in the camp and in the community gathering—has fallen upon good ground, has grown and blossomed, and is bearing rare fruit.

Music is no longer a peculiar possession of the Old World: America owns it as a national asset. It is developing here in its own way, and it will develop American spirit with it. There is a powerful movement afoot toward American Music; and it lies with the profession and the people alike, and together, to determine what it shall be, how far it shall go, and what it shall do for America. The professionals with their technical training are applying themselves heart and soul, and the people are responding with equal enthusiasm. The Old World peoples among us will be especially appealed to by any musical influence that can be exerted over them. The Community Sing or LIBERTY SING is doubtless the most direct in its effect. Liberty Sings should be held often in foreign districts. Up to date National Songs, however popular, should be used, as they are full of Americanism. The finest artists should, and they do, sing upon every appropriate occasion these direct expressions of the American spirit. The development of musical talent among foreign residents must be constantly encouraged. When they know English sufficiently, they must be led to join choirs and choral organizations. Foreigners must be taught "AMERICA" and "THE STAR SPANGLED BANNER" and especially invited to community and neighborhood sings. Singing in English must be emphasized. When our new citizens realize that music has expanded into a national feature and an essential, they will readily respond to its power for Americanization; for they have always loved music.

Northern Editors Here.

Martin Widsten, editor of the Warroad Pioneer, and J. P. Grothe, editor of the Roseau Times-Region, were in the city on Tuesday renewing old acquaintances. They were on their return from St. Paul where they had spent a few days in attendance at the meeting of the state editorial association.

5 per cent Early-Delivery Discount

On Mogul and Titan Tractors

NEARLY five thousand of our boys in khaki and blue are coming back to work. We shall, of course, make a place in our organization for every one of them, but we wish to do it without throwing out of employment the men who took their places and have worked faithfully for us ever since. This is not going to be so easy for us as for some others, because the Government designated ours as an essential industry during the war, and we actually increased the efficiency of our organization after our boys left to join the ranks.

We can, however, give steady work both to our present help and to the returning soldiers and sailors, if we can bring about an immediate increase in tractor production. In order to do this we must move forward to the farm some thousands of tractors that are ordered for delivery at various dates up to May 1st, and we shall also have to ship a large number of tractors that farmers intended to order later this season, but could just as well take now. To those farmers who are so situated as to be able to take advantage of it we make the following proposition:

Our Early-Delivery Discount Plan

If you will take delivery of a Mogul or Titan tractor now we will reward your co-operation as follows: To those who will accept delivery of a Mogul or Titan 10-20 on or before March 8th we will give an Early Delivery Discount of 5 per cent from the price of the tractor. (This amounts to $61.25 in the case of the Titan 10-20 and $56.25 on the Mogul 10-20.)

After March 8th the following discounts will be given:
For delivery during week of March 10 to March 15 incl. 4 per cent
For delivery during week of March 17 to March 22 incl. 3 per cent
For delivery during week of March 24 to March 29 incl. 2 per cent
For delivery during week of March 31 to April 5 incl. 1 per cent
This discount will go a long ways toward paying the fuel bills of your tractor during this season.

By taking advantage of this Early-Delivery Discount, you will not only be helping yourself, but will enable us more easily to put back to work our army of returning boys without breaking up our present organization.

You will find that you need a few weeks to get acquainted with your new tractor. The man who has his tractor early can become familiar with it, so that when the first day of good plowing weather dawns, he will be able to get in the field without a moment's lost time. That in itself is a very good reason for taking early delivery.

Go to your dealer and tell him that you will accept immediate delivery of your Mogul or Titan 10-20 horsepower tractor, so he can make up his carload shipments without delay.

Library Notes

The fact that Russia is now a central point of interest to the whole world will make all books pertaining to Russian life and character of special interest at this time. Most fascinating are the two volumes of autobiography by Maxim Gorkey, "My Childhood," beginning with his earliest recollections and ending at his seventeenth year, and "In the World," carrying him from that time on into young manhood. They are written in a style classic in its simplicity, but more entertaining than any fiction. They are most human documents by one of Russias greatest writers coming from the heart go to the heart. They are true and fascinating pictures of Russian peasant life and character.

Very entertaining also are two volumes of "Russian Short Stories," translated from the writings of Anton Chekhov, master of the short story in Russia, "The Wife" and other stories, and "The Witch" and other stories. In addition to the entertainment afforded by these stories they give a new insight into phases of Russian life and character with which few are familiar. The Dial says: "Without Chekhov how are we to embark on the discovery of Russia?"

Another book which you will enjoy is "Surgeon Grow," an American in the Russian fighting, by Capt. Malcom Grow. It is a book which gives simply and at first hand the wonderful story of the great Russian campaigns. It is a vivid and terrible account of true happenings.

Other books on Russia are: "Donald Thomson in Russia," "Russia and the Russians," by Edmund Nable; "Russia," by Sir Donald McKenzie Wallace; "Tolstoi's Works," "Siberia," and the "Exile System," by Geo. Keeman.

From now on the Library will open at 2:30 p. m. instead of 3:00, and will not be open Sunday evenings, but will continue to be open in the afternoons.

New fiction just received as follows: "Angelas Business," by Henry Sydnor Harrison; "The Standard Bearers," by Catherine Mayo; "The Boardman Family," by Watts; "Running Free," by James Connely; "Gold and Iron," by Joseph Hergesheimer.

Elif Gravely and daughter, Mrs. N. D. Craig, left Friday for Tacoma, Wash., where they were called by the death of Mr. Gravely's son, Edward. Edward left this city last May with a number of drafted boys and as he did not pass the examination, remained in Washington and worked in the ship yards. The cause of his death is unknown, although it is thought to be influenza.

HIGHEST QUALITY AWARDS

The Farmer and The Income Tax

THE average farmer will have to make an income tax report this year even tho he may not have to pay a tax. While the regulations are simpler under the old law, some of the points may prove to be puzzling; and we will be glad to help out any of our friends who have trouble.

AS soon as the blanks are received, the work sheet should be filled out. Then only a few minutes will be required to make out the report proper when you come in.

LIVE STOCK GIVEN BOOST AT MEETING

BREEDERS' ASSOCIATION FORMED BY REPRESENTATIVE MEN OF COUNTY.

Thirty-six enthusiastic live stock breeders of Pennington county met with the county agent last Friday. Due to the fact that the former live stock organization seemed to have fallen to pieces it was decided to perfect a new body to be known as the Pennington County Live Stock Breeders' association. The new organization was formed without trouble and indications are that it will make itself a power for good in boosting the live stock industry in this section. There was no lack of enthusiasm among the breeders present and all seemed unanimous in the opinion that raising cattle both for dairy and beef purposes is destined to become by far the greatest factor in the development of Northwestern Minnesota and Pennington county in particular.

The subject of a live stock pavilion at the fair grounds was taken up for discussion. After various suggestions had been made and analyzed, it was decided that the best and most effective way out of the matter would be for members to co-operate with the county fair board in selling shares in the fair association for the purpose of raising the required funds. A committee of two men will be appointed for each township in the county to do this work.

The following officers were elected to look after the affairs of the organization for the ensuing year: President, M. McAndress; vice president, Fred Beerbower; secretary, J. J. McCann; treasurer, A. J. Anderson; directors, F. B. Conklin, R. J. McKercher and Paul Engelstad.

A feature of the meeting was the talk given by Hans Anton, president of the local creamery association and one of the leading stockmen of the county. Mr. Anton made a strong plea for more live stock and said that in this way only could the future welfare of this country be assured. He stated that in other parts of the country where farmers confined themselves entirely to grain farming, thereby robbing the soil and placing nothing upon it in return for the benefit of future generations, the result had invariably been that farms were ruined and that farmers who operated on this principle at last were forced to seek other sections where they might again have a chance to rob the virgin soil of its riches. Mr. Anton stated that the best heritage a farmer could possibly leave to his son is a farm made rich by proper methods of cultivation and the fertility secured through keeping a good herd of cattle on the place.

That the other farmers present heartily agreed with Mr. Anton's views was evidenced by the hearty applause given his remarks.

SOCIAL FUNCTION AT HIGH SCHOOL

JUNIOR-SENIOR BANQUET SATURDAY EVENING VERY SUCCESSFUL AFFAIR.

Last Saturday evening at the local gymnasium the most important social function of the high school year, the annual Junior-Senior banquet took place. This event is given in honor of the members of the graduating class, by their successors, the Juniors.

The gymnasium had been transformed into a hall of beauty by means of camouflage decorations. More than ordinary ingenuity and skill were displayed by the Juniors in the decorations and various features of the entertainment and banquet. An immense United States flag was also worked in into the decorations with excellent effect.

Approximately one hundred seventy-five persons, consisting of the members of the two upper classes, board of education members and their wives, and the high school faculty, were entertained. The refreshments were delicious and were excellently served by some under class students under the direction of Mrs. L. G. Larson.

The following program was rendered:

"Star Spangled Banner" .... Audience
Welcome .... Luella Peterson
Response .... Evelyn Tessum
Piano Solo .... Elnor Overland

The class adviser, Miss Lydia Storli, the Junior president, Miss Luella Peterson, were the recipients of many compliments for the success of the event.

All Fuel Records Destroyed.

Daniel Shaw has been ordered to destroy all records kept by him in connection with his office as county fuel administrator, and to send all correspondence in connection with fuel matters to the office of J. F. McGee, state administrator. Thus when the order for final cessation of fuel activities by the government comes to hand, which will be in a short time, every trace of local work along this line will have been done away with. Much information of a strictly private character has naturally been accumulated in these records and correspondence, which is presumably the reason for this request on the part of the government.

Attends Important Meeting.

Rev. F. J. Seltz was at St. Paul last week as a representative of this district at a meeting of all the officials of the Minnesota district, Missouri Synod. At this meeting the Lutheran Laymen's League three million dollar campaign was launched for the purpose of gathering an endowment fund for the support of superannuated pastors and their families. It has been decided to solicit donations chiefly in the form of Liberty Loan bonds, of which according to official statistics 75 million were purchased by members of this church-body during the third and fourth loan campaigns alone.

Noted Speaker Coming.

Dr. E. A. Bess, president of Macalester college, St. Paul, will be in the city on Sunday, March 2, and will speak in the Presbyterian church at the morning and evening services. Dr. Bess has chosen for his theme the up-to-date subject, "Vocation," and a very interesting discourse is anticipated. Any person of this city or vicinity who cares to consult the speaker as a specialist will be given an opportunity to do so at the church on Sunday afternoon between 2:30 and 5 o'clock.

Hunt Funeral Saturday.

The funeral of W. G. Hunt, late county commissioner from the first district, was held last Saturday afternoon from the home and interment was made in the Highlanding cemetery. Rev. J. A. Orrock, pastor of the Methodist church in this city, conducted the services. The remains were accompanied to their last resting place by a large concourse of friends and neighbors, who desired to show their respect for the dead commissioner and appreciation of his work among them.

W. A. Caldwell Dead.

A message was received Saturday that W. Audley Caldwell, better known here as "Pat," had died in France Jan. 17. Deceased is a brother of Miss Mary Caldwell of this city and has a large number of friends here who will be pained to learn of his death.

Mrs. Bishop at Bemidji.

Mrs. J. M. Bishop returned last evening from Bemidji, where she had spent the day on business in connection with the annual Y. W. C. A. campaign, of which she is district chairman. While at Bemidji she was the guest of Mrs. Carl M. Jacobson, chairman for Beltrami county.

Drive Coming Fine.

Miss Olive Booren, in charge of the Y. W. C. A. drive in this county, states that the work is coming along in fine shape and will be completed by the end of the week. No trouble has been experienced in raising Pennington county's share of the fund.

Kosanda-Wakoch.

Miss Elizabeth Wakoch, of Marshall county and Elex Kosanda of Polk county, were united in marriage on Monday, Feb. 24, by Judge of Probate, Ira C. Richardson.

THEATRE NOTES

The week starts out with the noted actress, Madame Petrova, in "The Painted Woman," a play that is different and sure to please. The stock company scheduled for tonight has been cancelled.

Friday evening we have with us Dorothy Dalton in "Vive la France." As the title indicates, the picture deals with the world war and is full of thrills from start to finish.

On Saturday evening Bert Lytell, who is becoming very popular here, appears in "Unexpected Places," a breezy play full of vim and go. This is a top-notcher and no mistake.

Sunday and Bill Hart. 'Nuf sed.

Gladys Leslie is shown on Monday in a pleasing dramatic photoplay entitled "The Mating." This is one of the best numbers of the week and is sure to please.

On Tuesday evening a big special picture will be shown—"My Own United States," a beautiful picture full of romance and thrills. Every true American should see this picture.

Admirers of Elsie Ferguson will have an opportunity of seeing her at her best on Wednesday evening in "Under the Greenwood Tree." Miss Ferguson appears to excellent advantage in this film and will add to the reputation she already enjoys as a talented actress.

New Billiard Hall.

J. P. Legler, who recently was granted a license to conduct a billiard hall and bowling alley in the basement of the Citizens bank building, opened his place for business the first of the week. The interior of the room has been freshly painted and decorated and presents a pleasing appearance. Mr. Legler is a man who has had considerable experience in this line of business and intends to conduct a place which will merit a good patronage.

Neighborhood NEWS

ROSEWOOD

The decided success of the reception arranged by the Rindal Young Peoples society for the returning soldier boys, last Saturday evening at their church, was very eminent. The church was filled to the last place and a large number were standing. Among the speakers of the evening were: Rev. Geo. Larson of Thief River Falls, E. A. Silverness and our old battling hero, John Batten, ex-President of the New Solum Farmers club, all of whom must be given due credit. Their speeches were well made, right to the point and tended from A to Z to leave an indelible impression of the gratitude and joy of the community in welcoming home the brave boys who so gallantly had offered their services to the government in the latters contrivance of making the world safe for democracy, and in which its successful accomplishment it received a world endorsement. Solo singers of the evening were: Misses Synneva Sorenson, Ebba Wahlbeck, Carrie Nelson and E. A. Silverness. Recitations and minor readings were given by a number of pupils from the Rosebank and Busy Bee schools, producing a diversified program both profitable and entertaining and adaptable to both young and old. A dainty luncheon, donated by the Y. P. S., was served without cost to all present.

Those who entered the Physicians hospital for medical attention from last Thursday morning up to this morning are: Mrs. Mathilda Krusa, city; Camera Biecse, Middle River; Ruth Knutson, Holt; Sam Brownbold, St. Hilaire; Emil Ostby, Roundup, Mont.; Cordelia Hall, city; Mrs. Wm. Overly, Lenard; Miss Tillie Ostmo, city; Miss Edith Jung, city; Mrs. P. Jacobson, city; Joseph Hance, Oklee; and Mrs. Breese Skjerving, Kratka.

A Real Surprise.

Rev. and Mrs. A. N. Skogerboe received an invitation from a number of the young people of the Norwegian Lutheran church to come to the church basement and assist them in re-organizing the Dorcas society. They were a little late in coming, and when they opened the door expecting a few ladies, the church was filled with members of the congregation. A program was rendered after which Rev. Skogerboe gave a pleasing address. About ten o'clock a delicious lunch was served. Rev. Skogerboe and his wife were presented with a purse.

Club Highly Complimented.

The Thief River Falls Woman's club was represented at the mid-winter luncheon of the State Federation of Women's clubs at Minneapolis last week by Mrs. H. W. Froehlich, Mrs. C. A. Nason, Mrs. M. H. Connelly and Mrs. Reynolds. The last-named lady is now a resident of Minneapolis but still holds her membership in the Thief River Falls club.

The president of the federation, Mrs. George J. Allen of Rochester, publicly paid the local club a very high compliment, stating that it is the most democratic organization in the state and is pursuing a policy that it would be profitable for others to follow. Mrs. Allen was recently in this city and spoke in the highest terms of the work being done by the women here.

The meeting was one of the best in the history of the organization and many matters of interest were up for discussion.

May Keep Uniforms.

The bill providing that honorably discharged soldiers may remain in permanent possession of their uniforms has been passed by both houses of congress and only requires the president's signature to become a law. Returned soldiers have been somewhat puzzled as to what disposition to make of their uniforms as the old ruling required that they be returned to the government within ninety days from the date of discharge. Naturally every soldier is anxious to retain his uniform and the new law will be pleasing news to all of them. Many soldiers here were interested very much in the matter as the ninety day limit had just about expired.

Coumbe's Mother Dies.

S. C. Coumbe left last Saturday evening for Chicago in response to a message announcing the sudden death of his mother. Mr. Coumbe did not know just when he would return to this city as the arrangements for the funeral had not yet been made when he left here.

New Era Banquet.

A men's New Era banquet was given at the Presbyterian church last Thursday evening, at which nearly fifty were present. After partaking of a delicious meal prepared by the ladies, those present were privileged to listen to some very good short talks by Dr. F. H. Gambell, Dr. L. F. Fisher and others. The main talk of the evening was delivered by Rev. S. M. Kelly, pastor of the Presbyterian church at Red Lake Falls, who gave an outline and explained the New Era movement inaugurated by the church at this time. Rev. Kelly's speech contained much of interest and was thoroughly enjoyed by his hearers.

Commercial Club Meeting.

The next regular meeting of the Commercial club will be held at the club rooms on Thursday evening, March 13. In addition to the regular program, the banquet to be provided by the losing side in the great membership drive will be given that evening. The biggest session in the history of the club is anticipated.

Attend Loan Meeting.

Attorneys G. Howard Smith and C. A. Pitkin have returned from Minneapolis, where they were in attendance at a meeting of county chairmen for the coming liberty loan. General methods to be employed during the forthcoming drive were discussed at the meeting. It was decided to have each county chairman arrange his own plans for the campaign, and much will depend upon whether the new loan will be in the form of bonds or short term notes. The size of the loan has not yet been determined and Pennington county's quota is therefore not yet known.

Card of Thanks.

Schools Buy Victor.

A large Victor talking machine was this week sold by the Thief River Music company for use in the local public schools. The machine is a very large one and is built especially for this purpose. It will no doubt prove a valuable addition to the equipment of the schools.

Officers on Sick List.

County Auditor T. P. Anderson and Sheriff W. J. LaBree have been confined to their homes for several days the past week with severe colds. They are not seriously ill, however, and expect to be back in their accustomed places at the court house within a few days.

Basket Social.

The Young Peoples' society of the Silver Creek congregation has invited the public to attend a basket social to be given at the L. O. Williams home on Saturday evening. The girls are expected to bring the necessary cups and saucers as well as baskets containing sufficient lunch for two persons. There will be a musical program.

REASON IS GIVEN FOR HIGH PRICES

YEAR BOOK OF SWIFT & COMPANY EXPLAINS HIGH COST OF LIVING.

COMPETITION SETS PRICES

THE GOVERNMENT HAS TAKEN HUGE STORES OF PRODUCE FOR ARMY USE.

Some of the reasons for the prices of poultry, butter, and eggs are explained in the 1919 Year Book of Swift & Company, which has just been issued.

Butter, eggs, poultry and cheese are highly perishable products, which are subject to rapid deterioration, according to the Year Book, which continues:

"Therefore they require suitable facilities for their collection and distribution.

"The principal reason why we handle these products is that we have a nation-wide distributing and selling organization composed of 7,000 refrigerator cars, over 400 branch houses, regular refrigerator car trips to towns not having branch houses, refrigerating facilities, corps of salesmen and expert handlers of perishable products, and delivery equipment for reaching retailers. This distributing organization was built up primarily to take care of our fresh meat; not to use it for other perishable products, which require similar handling, and reach the same class of retail dealers, would obviously be an economic and social waste.

Competition is Keen.

"Swift & Company handles such a small percentage of the total trade in poultry, butter, eggs and cheese that it, of course, has no control whatever over market prices; we are also in keen competition with all other packers in the buying and selling of these commodities.

"In order to make still more effective our handling of these products we have established properly equipped plants throughout the producing sections where butter, eggs, and poultry are gathered from nearby communities and where they are skillfully prepared and graded for market. These commodities are then largely shipped in carloads direct to our distributing houses in different parts of the country, thus enabling them to arrive at the principal population centers in the very best condition. The route from producer to consumer is the most direct that is possible, and the number of handlings is reduced to a minimum.

"This system of gathering and marketing results in an ever-ready cash market for the producer, and also broadens his market, because of our extensive distributing facilities. The use of cold storage warehouses in connection with this system has also tended to broaden the market, make it more stable throughout the year, and has generally tended to increase production of the commodities handled. At the same time it affords consumers the opportunity to buy the best possible products throughout the whole year, and at more uniform prices than would otherwise exist.

Why Prices Are High.

"The extremely high prices of butter and eggs during the winter of 1918 have been causing considerable alarm and misgiving, especially since the production of both these commodities during the past year has been heavier than usual.

"The three principal reasons for the extremely high prices of these products are, first, that domestic demand has been very heavy because of high wages and general prosperity; second, the fact that the Government was obliged to make tremendous inroads on the stocks held in storage, and third, the fact that the profit margins allowed by the Food Administration kept the price so low during the early fall that storage stocks were used up too rapidly.

"In the case of butter, the Government, without any warning, commandeered 60 per cent of the stocks held in storage in August, 1918. This left only a small fraction of the usual storage stocks available for ordinary commercial channels, and this amount was soon practically used up. Because of the resulting shortage in storage butter, the demand for fresh butter has been so great as to raise the price to a high level. No substantial relief from high butter and egg prices can be expected until the heavy production season begins in the spring of 1919.

Value of Cold Storage.

"The profits of dealers who store commodities are no more than reasonable in the long run; years during which losses are suffered are almost as frequent as years when profits are made. For this reason the policy of the Food Administration in limiting the profits on cold storage, and not at the same time guaranteeing against losses, although it has undoubtedly been beneficial during war times, would never do during peace times, and would discourage the putting away of storage goods. Swift & Company makes no misrepresentation in the sale of storage products—each package correctly shows the nature of the contents."

Shop and Railroad News

Bridge Soon Completed.

The bridge being built for the Great Northern Railway company across the Red river, adjoining Grand Forks, by the Kelly-Atkinson Construction company of Chicago, is nearing completion. The work of constructing a new steel bridge commenced some two weeks ago, and, according to the steel gang foreman, the work of putting up the steel girders on the sides of the bridge was completed Saturday. The only work left to be done now is that of pounding in the huge piles and construction of the cement foundation to support the bridge, and the bridge gang foreman says that this work will take about two weeks' time to finish. The work being done is drawing no little attention, as the big derrick picks the large timbers off the bridge and dumps them on the ground. There are about fifty men at work. The bridge will be a modern, fire-proof structure when finished.

New Rule in Force.

The practice of paying employes at the round house on company time has been discontinued and in the future employes must go to the freight depot for their checks, which are issued every two weeks. The freight office will be open for this purpose during the noon hour on pay day and until six o'clock p. m. After six o'clock the checks may be found at the passenger depot. The new ruling is evidently made with the intention of conserving time as it is quite an item to have a long string of men standing in line waiting for their pay checks during working hours. The railroad administration seems to be operating on the theory that time is money.

An Unusual Winter.

This is an unusual winter in more ways than one from the standpoint of the railroad man. So far the boys have not had the least bit of trouble on account of snow, and the old rotary has not been moved from its place near the round house. On the sixth division it has become necessary on two or three occasions to run the Congdon plow over the road ahead of a train, but no delay was occasioned in any instance. Never within the experience of the oldest railroad man can a winter so free from snow be recalled.

Grain Embargo Lifted.

On Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of this week the embargo on shipments of wheat, barley and rye were removed. This livened up freight business considerably for a few days, but it was not for long. There is a great deal of grain in the country yet to be moved but the continual embargo makes it impossible to get it to the terminal markets. The farmers are not doing much worrying, however, as the prices are set at a certain point and wheat in the bin is as good as gold or silver bullion.

Ice Shortage Feared.

Due to the poor quality of ice secured this year it is feared by the Soo that a shortage is likely to occur during the coming summer. In order to guard against this shortage a few extra chunks of congealed water have been stacked up outside the ice houses in this city and at Mahnomen. At this place about 500 tons have thus been stored while at Mahnomen 150 tons have been put up in addition to the capacity of the ice house.

New Agent at Crookston.

J. G. Ryan, for some time Great Northern agent at Bemidji, has been transferred to the Crookston station, succeeding Earl Fox, who has resumed his former position as cashier. Mr. Ryan was born and raised at St. Vincent and has made rapid advancement in railroad circles. The relief agent, R. Stephenson, will act as agent for a short time until the regular agent has qualified.

Soo Loses Verdict.

After a deliberation of three and a half hours, the jury in the case of Cromwell vs. The Soo Railway company on Saturday returned a verdict for the plaintiff, awarding him $1,600 on account of injuries received by his son while a passenger on that road some time ago. Cromwell sued for $20,000 besides a small amount for medical attention for the injured boy, which amount the jury considered too large. This was the most important case tried before the district court this term in Polk county and attracted almost state-wide attention.

Returns From Service.

Glenn Richardson, former operator in the local dispatchers' office, is back at his old job after having put in several months as a soldier at Camp Grant. Mr. Richardson says that while army life suited him all right, it can't hold a candle to "pounding the brass."

Division Jottings.

Chas. Votava, hostler helper, visited over Sunday at Detroit.

Joe Gulden, blacksmith helper, has quit the service.

Ole Hermanson, boiler washer, took a joy ride to Minneapolis the last of the week.

Chas. Langer, machinist, spent the latter part of last week with friends at Erskine.

Peter Parenteau, boiler maker helper, was the guest of relatives at Noyes over Sunday.

C. E. Hellquist and F. C. Dablow have been under the weather for the past week with bad colds.

C. O. Ryan has entered the employ of the Soo and has been given a position as helper at the Orleans station.

Supt. W. A. Barnard visited with friends and attended to business matters in the Twin Cities over Sunday.

Car Repairer E. R. Elofson has returned from Minneapolis, where he visited for a few days with friends.

Miss Olga Gulrud, stenographer in the superintendent's office, visited over Sunday with friends at Winnipeg.

Phil Lundberg, car man, has returned to work after being laid up for two or three weeks on account of illness.

Blacksmith L. N. Nielson and Mrs. Nielson left last Friday for the Twin Cities to spend a few days with friends.

Henry Jensen, warehouseman at Fordville, has been confined to his home for a few days on account of illness.

Gunder T. Lee, box packer at the round house, went to Henning, Saturday to visit for a few days with friends.

John Linde, car man, is back at work after having enjoyed a trip to the Twin Cities to take in the sights at the auto show.

Julius Weldner, fireman, is taking advantage of the lull in business and is spending the time visiting his parents at Fordville.

R. H. Rhode, car man, returned the last of the week from Hutchinson, Kansas, where he had gone to attend the funeral of a relative.

Chief Boiler Inspector Diedrich of Shoreham was here Tuesday and made a thorough inspection of the boilers at the round house.

Engineer Joe Brennan and his better half have returned from the Twin Cities, where they put in a few days admiring the new models at the auto show.

Robert G. Wales, who started last week as a machinist at the round house, worked just one day and then decided that he did not care for the job. He left the following day for Duluth.

C. H. Bartlett, engineer, accompanied by his two sons, C. B. and R. J., left the latter part of the week for Tripoli, Wis., where they will visit for a few days at the home of a brother of the senior Mr. Bartlett.

A meeting of North Dakota telegraphers was held at Kenmare last Friday evening. The following operators and agents along the Soo line were in attendance: C. E. Strock, Greene; H. Pavek, Gardena; H. G. Kraus, Omemee; Walter Palm, Rys-

B. J. Thorn, agent at Balta, N. D., relieved C. O. Kaufman, agent at Devils Lake, for a few days this week while the latter was under the weather with illness. Mrs. Thorn, who also is an operator, had charge of the station at Balta during the absence of her husband.

sell; F. L. Pettit, Eckman, and J. L. Schoenig, Grano.

I. H. Fossum, storekeeper, and Victor Polman, clerk in the master mechanic's office, are trying to get their necks back to normal after having spent a day or two in the Twin Cities skylarking around among the tall buildings and gazing at the attractive damsels who crowd the boulevards. The boys admit that they had a good time and threaten to go again as soon as they can find a good excuse.

The City Churches

St. Johns Lutheran Church, F. J. Seltz, Pastor—Services with Holy communion at Thief River Falls next Sunday forenoon at 10:30. Rev. W. Schwentker of St. Paul, Supt. of our Children's Home Finding Society, will occupy the pulpit. Services at Holt Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock. The Berea Bible class meets Thursday evening at 8 o'clock in the church basement. Religious instruction Saturday at 9 o'clock. A conference of all the pastors and lay delegates of the North Park Conference will be held at our church next Tuesday, March 4. The purpose of this meeting is to perfect an organization, which is to conduct a systematic campaign in order to raise quota in the 4 million dollar fund, which our Synod expects to gather by April 1, for the benefit of Aged Professors, Pastors, their Widows and Orphans. The Ladies Aid society will meet in the basement of the church next Wednesday afternoon.

Presbyterian Church, R. L. Barackman, Pastor—On March 2, Dr. E. A. Bess, President of Macalester College, will speak at the morning and evening services. His theme will be the very up-to-date subject: "Vocation." Any persons of Thief River Falls who care to consult him as a specialist will be able to do so at the church on that afternoon between 2:30 and 5 p. m. This is a chance that the young people of Thief River Falls ought to use. The services are at 11 a. m., and 8 p. m. The Ladies Aid society will be entertained on Friday afternoon by Mrs. Dr. C. R. Crandall, 604 Bridge St.

Methodist Episcopal Church, James A. Orrock, Pastor—Services next Sunday. Sunday school at 10. Preaching service at 11. The subject for the morning service is "Making Our Church 100 Per Cent Efficient." We can do it if we will. Epworth League at 7 p. m. Evening worship at 8, subject "Community Service, Shall it be Hot Air or Hard Cash?" The time is now here for action. Are there some practical plans by which we can meet the present problems? This service will interest you. Don't miss it.

The Scandinavian Ev. Church, Hot Nyborg, Pastor—Sunday services at 10:30 a. m., and 7:30 p. m. The subject for the morning service will be: "Jesus Christ as the High Priest," and for the gospel meeting in the evening: "The Experience of Regeneration." Sunday school at 9:30 a. m. Prayer meeting Monday night at 7:30; Wednesday, 7:30 p. m., Bible study meeting. The theme will be: "Daniel's Missing Week." All are welcome.

Zion Lutheran Church, George Larson, Pastor—Service at 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Zion congregation business meeting Friday evening in the church basement at 8 p. m. Mr. A. Why Putter With Corns? Use "Gets-It"

Common-Sense, Simple, Never Fails.

You can tear out your corns and suffer, or you can peel off your corns and smile. The joy-peeling way is the "Gets-It" way. It is the only happy, painless way in the world. Two drops of "Gets-It" on any corn or callus dries at once. The corn finally loosens off from the toe, so that you can peel it off with your fingers in one piece, painlessly, like peeling a banana. "Great stuff, wish I'd done that before." There's only one corn-peeler—"Gets-It." Toes wrapped up big with tape and bandages, toes squirming from irritating salves, it's all a barbarity. Toes wounded by razors and knives, that's butchery, ridiculous, unnecessary, dangerous. Use "Gets-It," the liberty way—simple, painless, always sure. Take no chances. Get "Gets-It." Don't be insulted by imitations. See that you get "Gets-It." "Gets-It," the guaranteed, money-back corn-remover, the only sure way, costs but a trifle at any drug store. M'f'd by E. Lawrence & Co., Chicago, Ill.

"Get the Drop" on That Corn—Use "Gets-It" and the Corn is a "Goner"!

Sold in Thief River Falls by J. P. Curtis and Lambert's Drug stores.

Delinquent Tax List For Pennington County, Minn.

Showing Delinquents on the First Monday in January, 1919

STATE OF MINNESOTA, }
} ss.
County of Pennington. }

DISTRICT COURT
14th Judicial District.

THE STATE OF MINNESOTA, To all persons, companies, or corporations who have or claim any estate, right, title, or interest in, claim to, or lien upon, any of the several parcels of land described in the list hereto attached:

The list of taxes and penalties on real property for the County of Pennington remaining delinquent on the first Monday in January, 1919, has been filed in the office of the Clerk of the District Court of said county, of which that hereto attached is a copy. Therefore you, and each of you, are hereby required to file in the office of said Clerk, on or before the Twentieth day after the publication of this notice and list, your answer in writing, setting forth any objections or defence you may have to the taxes, or any part thereof, upon any parcel of land described in said list, in, to, or on which you have or claim any estate, right, title, interest, claim, or lien, and in default thereof, judgment will be entered against such parcel of land for the taxes on said list, appearing against it, and for all penalties, interest and costs.

All Smoking Tobaccos are Flavored

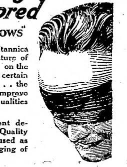
"Your Nose Knows"

The Encyclopaedia Britannica says about the manufacture of smoking tobacco, " . . . on the Continent and in America certain 'sauces' are employed . . . the use of the 'sauces' is to improve the flavour and burning qualities of the leaves."

Your smoke-enjoyment depends as much upon the Quality and kind of flavoring used as upon the Quality and aging of the tobacco.

Tuxedo tobacco uses the purest, most wholesome and delicious of all flavorings—chocolate! That flavoring, added to the finest of carefully aged and blended burley tobacco, produces Tuxedo—the perfect tobacco—

"Your Nose Knows."



GUARANTEED TO SATISFY OR YOUR MONEY BACK
Tuxedo TOBACCO
SPECIALLY PREPARED FOR PIPE & CIGARETTE

Try This Test: Rub a little Tuxedo briskly in the palm of your hand to bring out its full aroma. Then smell it deep—its delicious, pure fragrance will convince you. Try this test with any other tobacco and we will let Tuxedo stand or fall on your judgment—"Your Nose Knows."

Why Swift & Company Handle Poultry, Eggs, Butter and Cheese

Swift & Company went into the produce business because they saw a crying need for the kind of service they were equipped to perform.

The produce business was in chaos. Collecting, transportation, preparation and distribution was hit or miss, with delay, deterioration and loss on every hand.

The farmer was at the mercy of an uncertain, localized market. He had no way of reaching through to the people who needed what he was raising for them. There was no premium upon improving his stocks, for grading was lax or lacking.

The consumer had to accept produce that, as a rule, had no known responsible name behind it. He had no way of knowing how long the eggs or the butter he was buying had been lying around in miscellaneous lots in the back room of a country store. Much of the poultry was not properly refrigerated before shipment or properly protected by refrigeration in transit.

Swift & Company's initiative brought system to this chaos. Their organization, equipment, and experience in handling perishable food products were already adjusted to the task. Their refrigerator cars, branch houses, central points, far-reaching connections, trained sales force, supplied just what was demanded.

Now the farmer has a daily cash market in touch with the nation's needs with better prices. Standardization makes better produce more profitable. More consumers are served with better, fresher, finer foodstuffs.

Nothing suffers from this save inefficiency, which has no claim upon public support.

A Divorce Remedy.

The topic of a popular lecturer is "Love and Groceries." When you meet with that combination you don't see love in the divorce courts.—Atlanta Constitution.

Perseverance.

The tendency to persevere, to persist in spite of hindrances, discouragements and impossibilities—it is this that in all things distinguishes the strong man from the weak.

THE MOST DANGEROUS DISEASE

No organs of the human body are so important to health and long life as the kidneys. When they slow up and commence to lag in their duties, look out! Find out what the trouble is—without delay. Whenever you feel nervous, weak, dizzy, suffer from sleeplessness, or have pains in the back—wake up at once. Your kidneys need help. These are signs to warn you that your kidneys are not performing their functions properly. They are only half doing their work and are allowing impurities to accumulate and be converted into uric acid and other poisons, which are causing you distress and will destroy you unless they are driven from your system.

INCOME TAX TO BE PAID BY MARCH 15

STRICT RULES GOVERN PAYMENT—SEVERE PUNISHMENT FOR EVASION.

Income Tax payments this year are due earlier than ever before. The first payment date is March 15th, simultaneous with the final due date of the return required by the new Revenue Law.

"File and Pay by March 15th" is the new slogan of the Internal Revenue Bureau. Collector Lynch is preparing to handle the flood of income tax payments that will reach him between now and the close of business on Saturday, March 15th.

"Early payment of Income Taxes is of the utmost importance in meeting the Treasury's debts brought about by the war," explains Collector Lynch. "The new law names March 15th as the first payment date because there are large obligations outstanding in the form of certificates of indebtedness that must be met on that date.

"The earlier payment this year should cause no hardship to taxpayers, who, generally speaking, have anticipated the enactment of the new law and have set aside a reserve from 1918 income to meet the government tax.

"What is needed now is another practical display of the great spirit of cooperation which has carried over the top every big government objective that had to do with the winning of the war. The persons and corporations who are called upon by the new law to pay Income and War Excess Profits taxes on 1918 income have a great, vital duty to perform. That it will be done in the thorough American way is a foregone conclusion.

"Every taxpayer who can possibly do so is urged to pay his entire tax when filing his return, on or before March 15th. The installment method, by which one-quarter of the amount may be paid at that time, followed by quarterly payments on June 15th, Sept. 15th and Dec. 15th, is intended for taxpayers whose financing of the tax at one time would tend to upset local financial conditions.

"Don't wait until the final due date, March 15th for filing your return or paying your tax. Let us eliminate the last minute rush, as far as possible. By evenly distributing the load, between now and March 15th, every taxpayer will have a chance to get any needed advice and aid in determining his liability and preparing his return. The Internal Revenue Bureau has placed its entire energies into meeting the needs of the taxpayers in this respect. Also, by distributing the load the government machinery will be better able to stand the strain that this great effort entails.

"Cooperation is the spirit of the time. It is vital to the Income Tax. Let us all get together and establish another record for Americanism."

RED CROSS RELIEF WORK IN BELGIUM

HUGE SUM HAS BEEN SET ASIDE TO CARE FOR BLEEDING NATION.

The American Red Cross has appropriated $1,616,662 for relief work in Belgium for the two months ending March 1, this amount representing a considerable increase over previous appropriations for Red Cross work in the little kingdom. The increase was made necessary because conditions following the evacuation of the German army prompted the American Red Cross to extend its aid to all Belgium instead of a small part of the kingdom as heretofore. In continuing its assistance to the brave people whose gallant struggle against German domination called forth the admiration of the world the American Red Cross, through its Belgian commissioner, is cooperating with the Commission for the Relief of Belgium, whose splendid practical aid during the war helped the Belgians to "carry on," and with the officials and relief agencies of the Belgian government. The chief needs of the country now are machinery, farming implements and raw materials and all agencies are working hard to the end that these essentials to rehabilitation shall be provided without unnecessary delay. Even while waiting for the equipment which will enable a resumption of industrial and agricultural pursuits on a large scale, the inhabitants are busying themselves with any work that comes to hand, their natural thrift and industry making it impossible for them to remain idle.

Red Cross workers in Belgium report that the men and women of that country are rapidly readjusting their disturbed lives and eagerly making every effort to get back into the stride which made Belgium one of the most prosperous countries in Europe.

Of the amount appropriated by the Red Cross, $402,061 will go for relief work among the children of Belgium. Other Red Cross activities that will share in the fund are: Refugee work, $516,792; military hospitals, $100,650; military canteens, $172,020 and civilian hospitals, $412,229.

Oklee Forging Ahead.

Oklee voters took a decidedly progressive step last week when at a special election they voted by large majorities to bond the village to build an electric light and waterworks plant. There were two questions voted on—a proposition to issue $10,000 bonds for water works, which proposition was carried by 45 to 6, and another proposition to issue $5,000 bonds for an electric light plant. This was carried by 33 to 13.

STUFFED UP WITH "A BAD COLD?"

Get busy with a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery at once

Coughs, colds and bronchial attacks—they are all likely to result in dangerous aftermaths unless checked in time. And how effectively and quickly Dr. King's New Discovery helps to do the checking work! Inflamed, irritated membranes are soothed, the mucous phlegm loosened freely, and quiet, restful sleep follows. All druggists have it. Sold since 1869.

Constipation Emancipation

No more lazy bowels, yellow complexion, sick headache, indigestion, embarrassing breath, when you use as a corrective Dr. King's New Life Pills. They systematize the system and keep the world looking cheerful.

Dr. Miles' Laxative Tablets

"I'm Not Constipated Now"

For the man at the desk Constipation is a common ailment. His habits of life are such that his bowels become sluggish and if neglected the result is serious.

Read the experience of J. R. Grosch of La Crosse, Wis.

"For the past two years I have had stomach trouble and was badly constipated. My business was such that I was without physical exercise all day long. I tried many remedies, and recently tried DR. MILES' LAXATIVE TABLETS. I found them to be exactly what I needed. I never used any medicine that acted so naturally and without any griping or cramping."

Any man, woman or child suffering from constipation and its attendant ills, who will try DR. MILES' LAXATIVE TABLETS will find in them a safe and effective medicine. They are pleasant to take—taste like candy—no trouble to get children to take them—can be chewed. Costs only a few cents a box at any drug store.

RURAL SCHOOL NOTES

State High School Board Examinations,
April 3rd and 4th.

Under State High School Board Rules, every county is limited to only one examination district for each township, excepting high and consolidated schools. Therefore the schools applying for examinations must necessarily be grouped. This county has twenty-one townships and is therefore entitled to only twenty-one examination districts. These district have been established according to the following precautions: First, number of pupils to be examined: Second, location. Third, natural barriers, like rivers, without suitable crossings. And fourth, distance. Now the establishment of these districts may not suit all concerned; but it is, however, the best that could be done under the circumstances. Several schools have not applied for the examinations and this gives cause for irregularity as to the number in each township. If all four schools in a township had applied for questions, the most central point in the township would have been selected, with, of course, attention paid to natural barriers.

The "Eighth Grade Information Cards," relating to the examinations were mailed out to all teachers over a month ago. There may have been some teachers who through a faulty address or otherwise have not received these cards; or after having received them they may have been mislaid. To these unfortunate ones I am sorry to say: "It is now too late to have your school provided for, for the March examinations." The High School Board's ruling reads: "Requisition must be made not later than February 22, 1919." This means requisition by county superintendents to the State Department.

The reason that these examinations were not held in the month of March as heretofore, is on account of the influenza epidemic causing the closing of schools. The examinations will be conducted in the following order: Thursday, April 3, Spelling, 8th Grade Grammar and Composition, American History. Friday, April 4th; Arithmetic, Geography. Note: English Grammar and Eighth Grade Composition will be covered in one examination. The next examination will begin Friday, May 23d.

The examiners will be in charge of all pupils grouped into one examination district. The teachers from other districts whose pupils attend this examination district should accompany their pupils. They should also mark their own pupils' examination papers and leave them in charge of the examiner. See that the school district number where the pupil belongs is placed on his or her paper. The papers must be certified to and sent in through the examiner in charge. Do not permit any 7th grade pupils to take the examination for credits. The former teachers' term reports will be consulted when the papers are reviewed at this office. All pupils found to be 7th grade pupils will have their papers destroyed and not be entered for credit. All other rules will be mailed out with the examination supplies. Pupils whose papers are sent in at this examination will be barred from taking the May examination.

An outline showing the grouping of the schools will follow this article. It is self-explanatory. First the township in which the school is located is given. The number of the school district. The teacher's name teaching in that district. Number of pupils in that district desiring to be examined. The district number in which the examination will be held. Last, the name of the examiner.

All school boards are advised that they should not require their teachers to make up the time of examination days. It is very necessary the teachers accompany their pupils to the place of examination. The examiner in charge cannot be expected to take up the additional work of marking other school papers than her own. If other school boards should pay him or her for this aditional work they would be nothing ahead. Besides this the school boards should always look to the best interests of the schools at all times. These examinations will give the rural pupils new courage if they have success with them. Instead of "Quitting" school at 16 years of age, they will be "honorably discharged" through examinations, and ready for higher schools.

Yours truly,
GEO. M. GUNDERSON,
County Superintendent.

WATERLOO BOY The Original Kerosene Tractor

In offering to you the Waterloo Boy, the Original Kerosene Burning Tractor, we believe we have selected the most practical, economical and dependable farm tractor on the market.

POINTS OF MERIT ON WHICH OUR JUDGMENT IS BASED

PAST PERFORMANCE—The Waterloo Boy has been a success on farms for five years. In no way is it an experiment.

ECONOMICAL—It is a three plow tractor—most economical and practical size to use—burns kerosene perfectly without destroying lubricating oil. Its special, patented inbuilt manifold converts every drop of kerosene into pure gas—cylinders are not carbonized—spark plugs are not fouled. The perfect burning of kerosene saves the owner of the Waterloo Boy many dollars every year in cost of fuel and care of motor.

POWERFUL—The two cylinders, with big bore and long stroke, furnish a guaranteed power of 12 H. P. at the draw bar and 25 H. P. at the belt, with ample reserve for emergencies. The Waterloo Boy pulls three plows under almost any field condition. Hyatt roller bearings at all important bearing points conserve full power. Weight of the tractor is sufficient to insure good traction for drive wheels.

SIMPLE—Every part is easy to get at and easy to adjust or repair. It doesn't require a tractor expert to keep the Waterloo Boy in good working order. The crank case cover, the inspection plate, the upper half of gear case can all be removed for purpose of inspection or repair—the operator can work from a standing position.

DURABLE—Its heat-treated steel cut gears; its force and sight feed oiling system; its 11 sets of Hyatt Roller bearings at all important bearing points and its simple, powerful two-cylinder motor combined with uniformly high grade construction throughout, result in a tractor that has given and will give many years of dependable and economical service.

FOR ALL FARM WORK—You can depend upon the Waterloo Boy in all farm power work, up to its high rated capacity. It is just as satisfactory in operating belt machines—threshers, shellers, ensilage cutters, hay balers, etc—as it is in pulling tractor implements of all kinds.

We Want You to See the Waterloo Boy—Come In the Next Time You Are in Town

BAND GETS LIBERAL SUPPORT FROM CITY

ACTION OF COUNCIL ASSURES PLENTY OF MUSIC DURING SUMMER MONTHS.

Thief River Falls is to have a first-class band during the coming summer. This much is assured through the action of the city council at its meeting Tuesday evening. The aldermen voted to pay $75 per month toward the upkeep of the band for the next seven months, at the end of which time it was thought that other arrangements could be made for its support. This money, in addition to the sum which can be secured from other sources, will amply provide for the band.

Aside from the band matter, routine business occupied the attention of the aldermen during the session. A cigarette license was unanimously granted to J. P. Legler, who recently opened a billiard and bowling parlor in the basement of the Citizens' State bank building.

Free use of the auditorium was granted for March 5, when Judge F. T. Wilson of Stillwater will deliver an address under the auspices of the Farm Bureau. Use of the building also was granted to Uncle Sammy's Minstrels, a troupe of soldier boys, who will give an entertainment here on Sunday, March 30.

The matter of purchasing a new siren for fire alarm purposes was laid on the table until the next meeting. A salesman was present at the meeting and gave a very forceful demonstration of the siren through the use of a small model.

A resolution was passed ordering a new sewer on Kendall avenue between Johnson street and Taft street. The petition asking for this improvement was signed by nearly every property owner affected.

At this juncture E. M. Bennes appeared on behalf of the band to learn what could be secured from the council in the way of help for the organization. He stated that the band stood ready to furnish free music on all public occasions, such as are sponsored by the city, the Commercial club, the Merchants' association, and the like, and in addition would agree to give one free concert each week during the summer months. This arrangement proved satisfactory to the council and it was voted to allow the band $75 per month from now until Sept. 1. All other matters pertaining to the band are left in the hands of the band committee and the leader, E. J. Cordes.

The bond and contract of The Times company for the city printing were unanimously accepted. After the usual batch of bills had been allowed, the council adjourned until the next regular meeting.

County Treasurer Busy.

County Treasurer John Gullingsrud and his able assistant, Mrs. T. H. Liden, have been the busiest people in the city during the past few days. The rush is occasioned by the fact that practically everybody is trying to pay personal property taxes before March 1 in order to save the penalty which is attached on that date.

Washington's Birthday.

Last Saturday was Washington's birthday and the event was observed by the banks and some offices, which remained closed. The schools held appropriate exercises on the previous day.

WORK IS OUTLINED FOR FARM BUREAU

DIRECTORS FORMULATE COMPREHENSIVE PLANS TO BE FOLLOWED THIS YEAR.

The board of directors of the Pennington County Farm Bureau held a meeting Monday afternoon at the office of the county agent. The meeting was held for the purpose of deciding on a program for the coming year, and looking after other affairs of the organization. Much interest has been shown by the farmers during the past year in the work of the Farm Bureau, and from present indications the organization will prove a powerful factor for good in the year to come. Farmers have come to realize the value of the farm bureau and are determined to get all benefits possible from it.

After a formal discussion of the work in hand, the directors perfected the following plan of work for the farm bureau during the coming year:

1. Further development of the Farm Bureau association. Extension of membership to all parts of the county. Selection of committees to direct definite lines of work on projects and in communities.

2. Co-operation with the government in all war reconstruction activities. Food conservation. Securing suitable employment for returned soldiers. Red Cross and other camp activities.

3. Live stock production. Improvement and increase. Introducing more pure bred sires. Assistance in exchange of breeding stock through exchange list, and erection of an exhibit and sale pavilion on fair grounds. Better feeding. Erection of more silos. Conducting of legume, forage crop, balanced ration and hog pasture demonstrations. Cow testing associations. Shipping association. Disease control. Tuberculosis demonstrations.

4. Crop production—soils. Grains. Seed supplies. Exchange lists. Pure seed plot demonstrations. Seed certification. Disease control. Smut treating demonstrations. Potatoes. Seed supply. Exchange list. Selection demonstrations. Disease and pest control. Seed treating demonstrations. Spraying. Sugar beet demonstration. Peat land reclamation demonstration.

5. Co-operation with and work through existing organizations, and further organization of such as are needed, as: Farmers' clubs, community clubs, commercial clubs, live stock breeders' associations, creameries, fair associaton, live stock shipping association, poultry association, potato association, bankers' association.

6. Farm management and farm labor. Urging better use of farm manure. Urging weed control thru cultivated crops, summer fallowing and crop rotation. Assistance in farm accounting; keeping farm records; securing farm labor.

7. Boys' and girls' club work. Potato, sheep and calf.

The committee on club work met at the Farm Bureau office on Saturday to arrange for the premiums on calf, sheep and potato exhibits. The premiums on poultry are to be arranged at some later date. The prizes decided upon were as follows:

Dairy Calves—1st, $5; 2nd, $3; 3rd, $2; next ten, $1 each.

Beef Calves—1st, $5; 2nd, $4; 3rd $3; 4th, $2; next eleven, $1 each.

Sheep—1st, $5; 2nd, $4; 3rd, $3; 4th, $2; next eleven $1 each.

Ohio Potatoes—1st, $1.50; 2nd, $1; 3rd, 75c; 4th, 50c; 5th, 25c.

Burbank Potatoes—1st, $1.50; 2nd, $1; 3rd, 75c; 4th, 50c; 5th, 25c.

Green Mountain Potatoes—1st, $1.50; 2nd, $1; 3rd, 75c; 4th, 50c; 5th, 25c.

Rural New Yorkers—1st, $1.50; 2nd, $1; 3rd, 75c; 4th, 30c; 5th, 25c.

Any other variety—1st, $1.50; 2nd, $1; 3rd, 75c; 4th, 50c; 5th, 25c.

YOUNGSTERS SHOW INTEREST IN SHEEP

FURTHER ENTRIES IN CONTEST WILL BE REFUSED AFTER MARCH 10.

More sheep than any other variety of livestock will be raised in Pennington county within a few years, in the opinion of A. J. Anderson who is in charge of the boys' and girls' sheep contest being promoted by the Citizens State bank. Mr. Anderson bases his prediction on the fact that the growing generation on the farm is very much interested in the subject of sheep. He reports as evidence that he has received so many entries in the prize contest already that it will be necessary to refuse any entries after March 10, which is an earlier closing date than had been planned.

The contest will be limited to not more than thirty boys and girls, according to Mr. Anderson, in order that each contestant may receive as much personal attention as possible. It is planned to examine the stock of each entrant at regular intervals during the summer. Further information can be secured at the Citizens State bank.

ERROR IS MADE IN RED CROSS REPORT

MISTAKE IN THE TIMES PLACES BRAY IN WRONG LIGHT BEFORE PUBLIC.

A grave injustice was done the township of Bray in the report of Red Cross crop pledges, which was published in The Times two weeks ago. Through a typographical error it was made to appear that the township donated a total of only $36.74, while as a matter of fact the total sum so pledged should have been $361.74. In the hurry incident to reading proofs and making up the paper such errors are likely to occur, but it places the people of Bray township in a wrong light before their neighbors and before the world nevertheless. For this reason The Times takes this opportunity of correcting the mistake, and trusts that all concerned will understand how the wrong number came to be published in the report. Mistakes are bound to occur, but this one was particularly unfortunate.

Emil Larson, treasurer of the Bray township branch of the Red Cross, calls the attention of The Times to its error in the following letter: "In publishing the statement concerning the crop pledges to the Red Cross for this county, an error occurred in the figures for this township. We were credited with only $36.71, and my books show $361.74 received from Mr. White for crop pledges. Please announce this error in your paper for the reason that the sentiment at large seems to have been that the township of Bray has not done much of anything."

FIRE LOSS GROWS LARGER IN COUNTY

PEOPLE SHOULD SPEED UP ON PREVENTION MEASURES, SAYS MARSHAL.

The fire loss in Pennington county last year was $33,838, while the total fires numbered eighteen. This is an increase over the preceding year of $11,978, with one more fire, according to George H. Nettleton, chief assistant state fire marshal. While it is probably true that many of these fires were of such nature that they occurred despite precautions taken, still nothing should be overlooked at this time to keep down this loss.

The state and federal governments are doing their utmost to conserve resources and fire losses are coming to be distinguished as a menace that every citizen should guard against.

INCOME TAX IS DUE; MUST FILE RETURNS

HEAVY PENALTIES PROVIDED UNLESS RETURNS ARE FILED BY MARCH 15.

Work on the collection of $6,000,000 has been begun by the Bureau of Internal Revenue. This is the estimated yield of the new revenue bill. The income tax provisions of the act reach the pocket book of every single person in the United States whose income for 1918 was $1,000 or more, and of every married person whose net income was $2,000 or more. Persons whose net income equalled or exceeded these amounts, according to their marital status, must file a return of income with the collector of internal revenue for the district in which they live on or before March 15.

Here is what will happen to them if they don't: For failure to file a return on time, a fine of not more than $1,000 and an additional assessment of 25 per cent of the amount of tax due. For wilfully refusing to make a return on time, a fine not exceeding $10,000, or not exceeding one year's imprisonment, or both. For making a false or fraudulent return, a fine of not more than $10,000, or imprisonment for not more than one year, or both, together with an additional assessment of 50 per cent of the amount of tax evaded. For failure to pay the tax on time, a fine of not more than $1,000 and an additional assessment of 5 per cent of the amount of tax unpaid, plus 1 per cent interest for each full month during which it remains unpaid.

In addition to the $1,000 and $2,000 personal exemptions, taxpayers are allowed an exemption of $200 for each person dependent on them for chief support if such person is under 18 years of age incapable of self-support.

Payment of the tax may be made in full at the time of filing return or in four installments, on or before March 15, on or before June 15, on or before September 15, and on or before December 15.

Revenue officers will visit every county in the United States to aid taxpayers in making out their returns. The date of their arrival and the location of their offices may be ascertained by inquiring at banks, postoffices, etc. Failure to see these officers, however, does not relieve the taxpayer of his obligation to file his returns and pay his tax within the time specified by law. In this case the taxpayer must seek the government, not the government the tax-payer.

GUERNSEY BREEDERS FORM ORGANIZATION

MEMBERSHIP TO INCLUDE ALL COUNTIES IN NINTH CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT.

A meeting of considerable interest to live stock breeders was held last Friday evening at the Commercial club rooms in this city, at which a Guernsey Breeders' association was organized. The new organization will take in the entire 9th congressional district and is expected to become one of the strongest of its kind in the state.

Harry C. Woolson was elected first president of the association, L. Jensen, Clearbrook, vice president; Leonard Houske, Halstad, secretary, and F. B. Conklin, treasurer. The membership fee was set at $1 for the first year, and a general plan of procedure was outlined. About twenty Guernsey breeders were present at the meeting and much interest was manifested. Pennington has more breeders of Guernsey cattle than any other county in the district and for this reason will likely be the central point of the new association.

WHEAT PRICE BILL PASSED BY HOUSE

MEASURE ADOPTED BY BIG MAJORITY TO GUARANTEE PRICE FOR 1919.

The wheat guarantee bill authorizing the president to use existing agencies or create new ones to buy wheat of the 1918 and 1919 crop at the government guaranteed price and dispose of it at market prices, was passed Saturday by the house by a vote of 227 to 15.

The measure carried one billion dollars expenditures and was passed with only two important amendments attached to it, one changing the date of expiration from October 15, 1920, to June 1, 1920, and the other giving the president more authority in the restriction of the wheat market. The president was given blanket authority over the machinery of the law from the time the grain is purchased until it reaches the consumer with full control over millers, wholesalers, jobbers, bakers, importers and exporters.

"HELP PRODUCE MAXIMUM CROPS"

National Farm Equipment Repair Week

March 3 to 8, 1919

Save Expensive Delays and Transportation Charges and Help in the Big Drive for Maximum Crop Production.

Encouraged by the success of 1918 Repair Week and knowing the importance of the question of repair supply the implement dealers of the United States with the co-operation of the manufacturers, and the encouragement of the Food Administration, the United States and State Agricultural Departments, Agricultural Colleges and Farm Bureaus, have designated March 3 to 8, 1919, as NATIONAL FARM EQUIPMENT REPAIR WEEK and farmers are urged to place orders for needed repairs that week.

WARNING: If the crops are to be gathered without waste, the farm machinery must be in good repair, so as to avoid delays in the field. Do not put off ordering until the day you want to use the implement. The difficulty of having orders filled promptly in the rush season, together with the delays in transportation render it necessary to place orders for your repair requirements early.

Many farmers, who last year, failed to heed the warning, suffered loss. Do not let this happen to you. You will receive good repair service if you will co-operate with your dealer.

SIGN PETITIONS FOR J. H. HAY'S REINSTATEMENT

DEMAND GENERAL THAT HE BE RETAINED IN PRESENT POSITION.

CITIZENS HOLD MEETING

ACTION OF BOARD CONSIDERED ILL-ADVISED AND UNWARRANTED.

SUPT. J. H. HAY

Petitions are today being circulated throughout School District No. 18, requesting the school board to reconsider its action on the resignation of Supt. J. H. Hay and urging that he be continued in the position which practically everyone admits he has filled with signal ability.

Mr. Hay's resignation was accepted by the board of education at a special meeting last Saturday, the vote standing four for acceptance and two against. President O. F. Mellby, H. S. Dahlen, Dr. H. W. Froehlich and P. O. Myhrum voted in the affirmative, while Lars Backe and F. F. Haynes held out against acceptance.

Friction No Secret.

It has been known in a general way for some time that certain members of the board had decided on dropping the superintendent at the end of the present term and it was no secret that he was given an opportunity of resigning. This left him no choice and he reluctantly decided to lay down the work he had followed since the city was in its swaddling clothes. Supt. Hay makes no attempt to give the impression that the matter is of no moment to him, frankly stating that he would like to retain the position. His home is here and whatever of property he may have accumulated is located in the county. A disinclination to leave is under the circumstances not to be wondered at.

Friends Get Busy Quick.

No sooner had the action of the board become generally known about the city than reasons were demanded on every hand. The members who voted to accept the resignation stated that they had for some time been dissatisfied with the work of Mr. Hay and that they only acted for the best interests of the schools. The specific reasons they gave for considering Mr. Hay as no longer acceptable failed to satisfy and a movement was started to have him reinstated.

Meeting is Held.

Yesterday afternoon a meeting was called at the Commercial club rooms for the purpose of discussing the matter. A representative gathering of citizens was present and it was decided to ask the board to reconsider its decision. In order that the school board might be in no doubt as to whether or not the demand for his retention was general, it was decided to circulate petitions among the citizens of the district asking that he be retained. These petitions were at once started and it is already apparent that there will be an overwhelming demand that the popular superintendent be continued in his present position.

Charges Fail of Proof.

One of the principal charges against Supt. Hay seems to have been that he failed to maintain discipline in the schools and that there was general dissatisfaction among the teachers over his manner of conducting affairs. This last contention is most emphatically denied by the teachers themselves, as the resolution printed in connection herewith proves. On the score of discipline Mr. Hay is willing that his school shall be compared with that of any other superintendent in the state.

The General Attitude.

Here is a question that intimately concerns every home in the county. Those who would replace Supt. Hay with a new man believe that the schools will be benefitted by the change, while those opposed to this program are just as certain that his removal will be a serious setback to the same schools. The latter are without the slightest doubt overwhelmingly in the majority. They have come to regard Mr. Hay as something more than the head of the city's school system. He has become so closely identified with every movement for a better city and section it is a hard matter for many of them to reconcile themselves to the idea of his being gone. Always ready to serve in any capacity where his experience or knowledge might be of value, Mr. Hay has been more generally called upon than any man in the city. This has given him a wide acquaintance in the outlying districts as well, and there the demand that he be retained is almost unanimous. Several farmers in the city yesterday afternoon stated that they were going home for the purpose of starting petitions to be presented to the school board asking that the superintendent be reinstated.

Peculiarly Fitted.

The general impression is that for the one particular job of heading the Thief River Falls schools no better man than J. H. Hay can be found. When compared to the innumerable factors in his favor the objections voiced against him seem puerile. No man could have more conscientiously tried to do his duty by pupils, parents and citizens generally. He knows the home environment of practically every child coming under his care and knows that child's history almost from its birth. With him its future welfare has become a personal responsibility and one that he has never attempted to shirk. He is a most approachable man and no person, whether a resident of the city or coming from a distance, has ever found him too greatly occupied with other matters to give freely of his time and advice on subjects pertaining to the welfare of children and schools. These are the arguments put forth by his supporters in favor of his retention.

Has Become Valuable.

There are others who argue the matter from a more cold-blooded standpoint, but nevertheless arrive at the same conclusion. They state their position thus: Here is a man right now in the prime of life. His understanding is ripe and his judgment mature. He has worked with us and for us for many years and we have in a way paid for much of the knowledge he has acquired. Is it not a poor piece of business judgment to let him go now and put a new and untried man in his place? No matter how capable his successor might be, or how great his erudition, he could not possibly give us the same excellent service for a long time to come. They point out that their sons and daughters have gone out from the Thief River Falls high school and have taken their places in the world, a credit to themselves and everyone connected with them. They name large numbers who have continued their studies at institutions of higher learning, making excellent records on the foundation laid here at home. They ask one to consider the fact that students from all sections of the Northwest pass by high schools nearer their homes in order to attend here—and wish to know if this is an indication of incompetency in our teaching staff. They point to the many teachers holding good positions in many sections of the Union and are unable to understand how these can be products of a faulty system of training. They mention that Supt. Hay was highly enough considered by the school authorities of the state to be placed at the head of the teachers' institute at Crookston last year and received very high praise for his work there. Finally they want to be informed in just what manner he has failed and just what he has left undone that another may be expected to do. Before this man, who has spent the best years of his life in their service, is discharged they want to know just exactly what is going to be put in his place and by whose authority the change is made.

TEACHERS' RESOLUTIONS.

WHEREAS, Our friend and superintendent, J. H. Hay has tendered his resignation we wish to state that he has certainly stood by his teachers and we have always felt we have had his co-operation in every move.

RESOLVED, That we, the members of the faculty of the Lincoln School hereby express our regret for the action that he has taken.

RESOLVED, That these resolutions be made a part of the school records, and that a copy of them be sent to Supt. Hay, Board of Education and City Papers.

Big Republican Rally.

William R. Hays, chairman of the Republican national committee, will be the guest of the Minnesota Republican state central committee at St. Paul tomorrow, and a big political rally is planned. Republicans of prominence from all parts of the Northwest will participate in the rally. The meeting at St. Paul is intended to mark the opening of the 1920 campaign, and initial steps will be taken for the organization of the party forces of the state.

LOCAL FAIR IN EAST COUNTRY

TRI-COUNTY FAIR ASSOCIATION FORMED AT MEETING HELD FRIDAY.

FAIR SITE AT GOODRIDGE

PLAN TO PUT ON EXHIBIT DURING MONTH OF SEPTEMBER.

Plans are under way for an institution to be known as the Tri-County Fair, and the new undertaking was launched at a meeting held last Friday afternoon at Goodridge by the Goodridge Community club. An association was organized for the purpose of carrying on the affair and work is already under way for the first exhibition. This will probably be held at Goodridge about the middle of September.

The following officers were chosen for the new association: Stuart McLeod, president; Morgan Vaughn, vice president; J. P. Jensen, secretary and treasurer.

Why Move is Started.

There is a large stretch of territory in eastern Pennington, eastern Marshall and western Beltrami counties which is so situated that it is extremely difficult for people living there to take part in the county fairs held at Thief River Falls, Warren or Bemidji, owing to the distance and the difficulties of transportation. For this reason it is planned to hold a fair at Goodridge, which is a central point for this vast territory and is easily accessible. The country to the east of Thief River Falls is fast developing and its people have a desire to show to the world what they can do in the matter of raising crops, etc. A fair of some kind is the only solution and for this reason the new enterprise has been started.

No Conflict Expected.

The time for holding the new fair has been arranged so that it will not conflict with the regular county fairs to be held in the three counties above named. On the other hand, it will tend to inspire greater effort on the part of the people living within this area to compete with others from different sections. No doubt many of the exhibits to be shown at the Tri-County fair will also be shown at the other fairs in the vicinity, thus serving the two-fold purpose of creating an interest among the producers living in the vast empire to the east of Thief River Falls and also showing what can be grown in that section of the state.

Making Rapid Progress.

Several things are of course needed to bring the territory east of this city to the highly developed state where it properly belongs. First comes the need of better transportation facilities, but this will no doubt be provided for as soon as the advantages of that section can be brought to public attention in a forcible manner. A successful fair held once each year, showing what this territory is capable of producing, should go far in showing to the world what this section of the state can accomplish. The new fair is a highly commendable project and deserves the support of every man in Northwestern Minnesota.

BOARD FORMED BY REAL ESTATE MEN

COUNTY ORGANIZATION WILL WORK UNDER DIRECTION OF STATE BODY.

The Pennington County Realty Board was formed last Saturday and the following officers elected: John Bratrud, president; T. P. Hamre, vice president; F. F. Haynes, secretary-treasurer. These officers will also serve on the board of directors, together with the following members: W. H. Frederick, C. W. McDaniel and H. Hadrath, Thief River Falls, and K. O. Gigstad, St. Hilaire.

The object of the organization is to cooperate with the State Realty association, particularly in the matter of getting unoccupied lands improved and securing settlers. The development of the county in other directions will also be given due consideration.

The new board is affiliated with the state association and will have a share in any program launched by that organization.

GOODRIDGE SCHOOL GETS ADDED AREA

NEARLY THREE-FOURTHS OF TOWNSHIP ADDED TO CONSOLIDATED DISTRICT

A meeting was held at the court house in this city Monday evening at which steps were taken to attach nearly three-fourths of a township of unorganized school district lying between Goodridge and Mavie to the consolidated district at Goodridge. A large delegation of farmers from the territory affected was at the meeting and practically all of them were in favor of the move to give them improved educational facilities. This addition to the consolidated district at Goodridge naturally strengthens that district as it increases both the number of pupils and the taxable valuation.

A significant thing brought out in connection with the recent hearing was the fact that during the first agitation in that part of the county for a consolidated school at Goodridge, a large part of the rural population was opposed to the move. Now, after the school has been in operation long enough to demonstrate its value, these same people and many others living at even greater distances from the village, almost without exception are anxious to join the consolidated district.

Clinic Postponed.

Owing to circumstances which were unavoidable it has been found necessary to indefinitely postpone the child welfare clinic by Dr. E. J. Hueneken, scheduled for next Saturday, March 8. It is thought likely that a clinic can be arranged for some date in the future, ample notice of which will be given through the columns of The Times.

A. W. HANSON NAMED NEW COMMISSIONER

HIGHLANDING MAN IS CHOSEN TO SUCCEED W. G. HUNT, DECEASED.

A. W. Hanson of Highlanding township was elected last Friday as county commissioner from the first district to serve out the unexpired term of W. G. Hunt, whose death occurred Feb. 17. Only two other names were proposed in connection with the vacancy, these being Peter C. Wold and Eley Aakre.

The meeting at the court house last Friday afternoon was attended by the chairmen of the township boards of the first district and the president of the village council of Goodridge. These men are designated by law to fill a vacancy on the board of county commissioners. The meeting was harmonious and the business at hand was completed within a few minutes. No other idea than choosing the best possible man for the position was given any consideration and the three men proposed would each have proven acceptable to their constituents. On the first ballot Mr. Hanson received three votes, Mr. Wold three and Mr. Aakre one. Another ballot was thereupon taken and this resulted in Mr. Hanson getting four votes and Mr. Wold three. Four votes being a clear majority, Mr. Hanson was declared duly elected as county commissioner.

The new commissioner is one of the most prominent farmers of Highlanding and one of the township's most progressive citizens. He is a man of sound judgment and has always taken an active part in public affairs. He owns and has for a number of years operated a fine farm in section 1 of that township. Mr. Hanson will assume his new duties under the most favorable conditions and will no doubt prove to the satisfaction of everyone that he is the right man for the place. A meeting of the commissioners will be held at the court house today and Mr. Hanson will assume his new duties at that time.

Grocery Changes Hands.

Ostby's Grocery, of which Orrin Ostby has been manager since the business was purchased from W. W. Watson last spring, was this week sold to Silas Simonson of Baudette, who will take charge the first of next week. Mr. Simonson intends to make some changes in the interior of the place and will add a general stock of meats. He has been in business in Baudette for some time and but recently sold his interests to his partner. He is a practical grocery and meat market man and believes there is an opening here for an aggressive merchant in these lines. Mrs. Simonson and her sister, Miss Nellie Aspelund, who are former Thief River Falls girls, will arrive with Mr. Simonson.

13 HOLES THROUGH INTESTINES; LIVES

MIDDLE RIVER LAD IS DOING WELL ALTHOUGH BADLY PERFORATED.

Arthur Ellingson of Middle River is reported to have a very good chance of pulling through, although he is at the Physicians' hospital with 13 bullet holes in his intestines. He was brought to this city for treatment on Monday and in spite of his injuries seems to have a fair chance of recovery.

The young man was out after a load of wood and was practicing shooting at a stump with a 38-calibre revolver. In ejecting the cartridges he turned the barrel toward himself and in making a sudden move struck the hammer against a sleigh stake. The shot entered the stomach and penetrated the intestines in 13 different places. His condition for a time was very serious and but slight hopes were held out for him, but he began mending and now has rather better than an even chance.

WAR HISTORIES IN BIG DEMAND

RUSH ON TO TAKE ADVANTAGE OF THE TIMES' UNUSUAL OFFER.

FIRST AUTHENTIC ACCOUNT

CONTAINS GEN. PERSHING'S OWN STORY AND PRESIDENT WILSON'S REVIEW.

When The Times, about two weeks ago announced that there would soon be available for distribution the first authentic history of the Great War and made an offer whereby it would be possible for a limited number of people to secure the book, it was with the understanding that all orders must be received before March 1. More than 300 persons took advantage of this offer before the time expired.

The publishers are now in position to announce that the books may be had in unlimited quantities and that the offer then made will hold good until further notice. Anyone wishing this exceptional history is urged to fill out the coupon on this page and return it at once. The subscriber will be notified upon the arrival of the books and can then make settlement.

Is Authentic Work.

The book is written by Francis A. March, Ph. D., with an introduction by Gen. Peyton C. March, chief of staff of the United States army. It contains 736 pages and treats of the war from the time the first preparations were made by Germany for invading Belgium until the armistice was signed on Nov. 11, 1918. It is profusely illustrated throughout, and many of the pictures are unusual. There is one in particular that is attracting much interest. It shows the kaiser and the hetman of the Ukranian republic, and its sale was forbidden in Germany because of the manner it emphasizes the withered arm of the kaiser as well as other of his physical peculiarities.

Summarized Chronology.

At the end of the volume is a summarized chronology, giving the principal events of the great war in the order of their happening. This section is a history in short paragraphs by itself.

Used in Libraries.

To show just how highly the work is considered it needs only be stated that the largest libraries in the country are using it as a reference work and it is also being employed as a textbook by many of the leading schools.

No better opportunity will be presented for securing this invaluable history than is now offered by The Times. No better history will be issued for ten years at least.

FORMER SOLDIERS TO GET $60 BONUS

ALL MEN DISCHARGED SINCE APRIL 6, 1917, AFFECTED BY ORDER.

Rules governing the $60 bonus authorized by Congress to members of the military forces separated from active service have been received from the war department by Major W. C. Garis, chief of staff to Adjutant General Rhinow.

All men who resigned or were honorably discharged from service after April 6, 1917, are entitled to a $60 bonus. Applications for payment must be sent to the zone finance officer, Lemon building, Washington, D. C., accompanied by the discharge certificate, state of military service since April 6, 1917, and the address to which the check is to be sent.

Copies of the instructions will soon be in the hands of local draft boards and wide publicity will be given the matter in order that all discharged soldiers may be given an opportunity to make application for the bonus. Pennington county soldiers are requested to take the matter up with T. P. Anderson, clerk of the local draft board, who will give all assistance possible. He expects to receive complete instructions in the course of a few days.

Asks Additional Aid.

Supt. J. H. Hay of the city schools returned last week from St. Paul, where he had been for the purpose of urging upon the legislative committee in charge of the matter the importance of granting additional high school aid to cities situated as is Thief River Falls. He pointed out that out of 330 high school students attending here this year, 140 are nonresidents. In order to receive the state aid it is incumbent on the district to give instruction to these outsiders and the amount received does not near cover the cost. Mr. Hay stated that it costs in the neighborhood of $80 per year for each pupil who thus comes from the outside, and suggested that a bill be passed allowing the district $5 per month as a tuition fee for each one. It is his opinion that this would reduce the taxes in the district by four or five mills. He received considerable encouragement and is inclined to think that something will be done at the present session.

GREAT BATTLE HAS NOT YET SUBSIDED

BIG DRIVE FOR COMMERCIAL CLUB MEMBERS GOES MERRILY ON.

From present indications the Commercial club will be better off to the extent of over a hundred members when the great membership campaign comes to a close next Thursday evening. The red army, under the leadership of E. O. Mogensen, and the blue army, with L. A. Lampert at its head, have both been putting in some good licks during the past week and it is hard to tell which faction will be forced to pay for the feed or which leader will enjoy the pleasure of having the other push him about town in a wheelbarrow. It is nip and tuck between them and the contest will not likely be settled until the last minute.

Mr. Mogensen was absent from the city for a few days last week and it was feared that his faction would lose ground seriously on this account. He claims, however, that his friends did nobly during his absence and that he hasn't the slightest intention of admitting defeat. Mogy intends to show what a real hustler can do when it comes to a showdown and says it is too soon for his opponent to do any crowing. Lampert, on the other hand, isn't saying a great deal but is busy sawing wood and expects to be able to spring a surprise at the final windup. One more week will tell the story of the greatest membership drive in the history of the city and indications are that it will be a very successful effort.

One Result of the Flu.

Rev. J. A. Orrock of the Methodist church is confined to his home. In case anyone wishes to know what is the matter with him, he or she may get some idea by reading the following, sent in by him as the weekly notice for his church:

"The best laid plans of mice or men gang aft aglee." No man knoweth the day or the hour when he will get the "flu," and is never quite sure when he gets over it. He is quite sure he has had it and equally certain he never wants to have it again. We wish to thank the many friends for their many tokens of love and good will. The doctor says stay in and we are going to mind the doctor. Such action we believe has a tendency to prolong life. The services will be held as usual next Sunday in the Methodist church. Dr. W. H. Jordan of Minneapolis will preach at both services. He is a strong preacher and we feel sure will bring a message that you will want to hear. All services at the usual hours. Come. A cordial welcome awaits you.

MORE GARDENS ARE PLANNED FOR 1919

Last year Thief River Falls had 500 "war" gardens. A year ago we were deeply engaged in the great war. Therefore, those who couldn't put on the uniform, either of the soldier or the nurse, bought Liberty Bonds or put out a garden. Then the cry was: "The United States must feed the Allies or we will lose the war."

Yet the reasons for increased food production are greater and more urgent this year than they were last. Last year on March 1st we had an army of about 2,000,000 men. There are more than that number in our army today. In 1918 the United States exported to Europe, 12,500,000 tons, or one-third more than last year's accomplishment.

With the need for increased food production so urgent, it is hoped that every boy and girl in Thief River Falls and in Pennington county, who is able to do so, will make every effort to put out a garden this spring.

The county agent and the agricultural instructor in the high school will each be glad to give any assistance possible in the way of information regarding seeds, available plots of grounds, methods of cultivation, etc., to anyone desiring such information.

NEW SCHOOL IN SIGHT FOR CITY

PROSPECTS BRIGHT FOR ESTABLISHMENT OF BUSINESS COLLEGE SOON.

VARIOUS PLANS PROPOSED

INSTITUTION WOULD PROVE OF GREAT VALUE TO CITY AND SECTION.

One more important institution is soon to be established in Thief River Falls if present indications can be taken as a criterion. A business college is the matter now under consideration and chances appear to be very bright that one will be established here in the near future. At a recent meeting of the Commercial club a committee was appointed to look into the matter with a view to ascertaining the best method to pursue in securing a business college for the city and this committee has already done much work to bring the matter to a head.

Committee Met Yesterday.

This committee, which is composed of F. F. Haynes, chairman, W. B. Fuller, H. W. Protzeller and J. J. McCann, held a meeting yesterday afternoon and made considerable progress toward the desired goal. Supt. J. H. Hay was called to the meeting for consultation, and he expressed the opinion that a business college can successfully be operated in the local field and stated that such institutions are usually good propositions from a business standpoint. President E. M. Stanton of the Commercial club also met with the committee to lend what aid he could in the undertaking. Information at hand showed several business colleges in other parts of the state no more favored than this to be good moneymakers if properly conducted, and there appears to be no reason why such a school in this city could not be made to pay.

Incorporation Favored.

Sentiment at the meeting favored incorporating a stock company to secure money with which to establish the school. Then it is proposed to get a good man to put at the head of the institution and place its affairs in the hands of a board chosen by the stockholders. Various suggestions were brought up at the meeting as to courses of study, providing dormitory accommodations for non-residents, etc. It was considered advisable to add gasoline engine and tractor courses, a course in common school branches, and during the winter months an agricultural course under the supervision of the Extension division of the state university. The latter could be added for the benefit of the boys from the farms who at that time of the year would be at liberty to attend school.

There is no question but what a good business college would prove a valuable asset to the city. It would bring in hundreds of students and these in turn would bring in considerable money to pay for their tuition and living expenses. In addition it would give home boys and girls an opportunity of acquiring a thorough business education without having to attend schools at distant points. That it would add materially to the prosperity of the city goes without saying. Authentic data and plans will be prepared by the committee and placed before the Commercial club for action at the next regular meeting of that body on Thursday evening, March 13.

Farm Brings $85 Per Acre.

Knute and Andrew Jorde, prominent farmers residing three miles north of this city, closed a deal this week whereby they purchased the farm of their neighbor, Nels Amren, at a price of $85 per acre. The deal was made through the agency of T. P. Hamre. The purchasers of this farm have resided in this section for many years and have had an opportunity of learning the value of Pennington county real estate. They consider the farm a bargain at the price paid.

Morgan is Reappointed.

John Morgan is slated for postmaster of Thief River Falls for four more years. His nomination for the position was sent to the senate the last of the week by President Wilson, and the formality of confirming the appointment is all that remains. Under a rule established by the administration some time ago, postmasters of all classes are henceforth to hold their positions under civil service regulations and accordingly cannot be removed simply for political reasons. This makes the job good for life in every case and the matter of renominating and reappointing a postmaster once in each four years is only a matter of form.

Returned From France.

Every day adds to the number of Pennington county soldiers returning from service in France, and it is therefore extremely difficult to keep tab on all who arrive. A contingent of three local men direct from the other side came Monday morning, having received their discharge from the army at Camp Grant, Ill. These men are Theo. Jensen, John E. Johnson and Oscar Adolphson, who were members of the 332d regiment, 86th division.

WORKING RESERVE COMING TO FRONT

MUCH INTEREST IS SHOWN BY LOCAL BOYS IN NEW ORGANIZATION.

A number of boys have inquired of the director of the Pennington County Boys Working Reserve as to whether or not boys who worked on farms last summer, but who are not actually enrolled in the Reserve, are entitled to the bronze medal and bar awarded members of the Reserve for service on farms or in other productive labor. According to Lieut. Hiatt, county director, only those boys who were actually enrolled last spring are eligible to receive the official recognition of the government in this respect. Lieut. Haitt is anxious to have all boys between the ages and 16 and 20 enroll in the Reserve within the next few weeks. All boys who enroll now and do satisfactory work during their summer vacation in some form of productive labor will be awarded the official government bronze medal next fall upon recommendation of the county director.

Boys recently enrolling in the reserve are: Dreng Bjornarua, Knute Hegtvedt, Knute Nelson, Lloyd Alves and Clayton Steenerson, all students in the Lincoln high school in this city.

If there are any boys in Pennington county who were enrolled in the Reserve last year, who worked during the summer and who have not yet received their bronze medal or bar, they may receive same upon application to Lieut. Hiatt, director for Pennington county, Thief River Falls.

RED CROSS TO AID WITH OLD CLOTHES

TO GATHER LARGE QUANTITY FOR DESTITUTE IN ALL PARTS OF EUROPE.

A national campaign for used clothing to be shipped to the destitute refugees of Europe will be conducted by the American Red Cross during the coming spring. On account of climatic conditions, the Northern Division will hold its collection campaign several weeks later than the other thirteen Divisions, that is, during the week of May 5. As the program of the Red Cross at present includes the shipping of one million garments to the refugees monthly, much will depend upon the success of this mammoth collection of clothing, shoes and blankets.

American Red Cross representatives abroad, and Herbert Hoover, head of the European relief administration, have cabled that an immediate supply of every kind of clothing is absolutely vital to the health and very life of the millions of men, women and children freed from the German yoke. The field for such relief extends throughout northern France, Belgium, Italy, Roumania, Serbia, Greece, Montenegro, Palestine, Albania, Czecho-Slovakia and Poland, and is so vast that the main problem can only be coped with by Allied governments.

The very valuable supplementary relief can only be rendered by the American Red Cross. However, according to its millions of members and the American people at large, the organization will be asked to assist by a donation of old clothing that will prove to be a veritable godsend to those who have borne the brunt of Germany's assault on civilization.

The collection will be made just at a time when practically the whole country is discarding winter clothing, much of which would never again be donned by the owners. Thus at a minimum of sacrifice, the American people will be able to show in a most substantial way their brotherhood to those unfortunate peoples liberated at the close of the war.

At least 10,000 tons of clothing are needed in the drive which will be conducted by all Red Cross Chapters. Without any delay the garments will be shipped to a concentration point and forwarded to Europe. There it will be sorted and repaired by the people for whose benefit it is intended, the distribution being made under American supervision.

ATTEMPT TO CLOSE SALOONS IS KILLED

DRY SENATORS FAIL TO PASS BILL AIMED AT RED LAKE FALLS.

The bill by Senators Cumming of East Grand Forks and Peterson of Moorhead to prevent the sale of liquor within 50 miles of an Indian reservation, and aimed at Red Lake Falls, started a hot discussion in the senate temperance committee last week. Only two senators voted for it and it was definitely postponed. Senator Cumming declared that in certain parts of Polk county conditions were "unbearable."

"Women don't dare to go out at night for fear of insult from drunken men," he said, "and it was unsafe to travel on the roads because of drunken autoists."

Cumming's statements apparently had little effect on the committee and the proposition was turned down cold. Many people in Polk county are up in the air as a result of the charges made by the senator and resent very strongly the inference made that any part of the county is not safe as a place of residence for women and children. These people also claim that the danger from drunken autoists is largely overdrawn and that there is no justification in fact for the statements attributed to the East Grand Forks statesman.

Civil Service Examinations.

An open competitive examination under the rules of the U. S. Civil Service commission, for the position of clerk (male only) and carrier in the postoffice at Thief River Falls, Minn., will be held on Saturday, March 22, 1919, commencing at 9 o'clock a. m.

Applications for this examination must be made on the prescribed form, which, with necessary instructions, may be obtained from the commission's local representative, T. S. Brokke, secretary U. S. Civil Service Board, at the Thief River Falls postoffice, or from the undersigned.

All persons wishing to take this examination should secure blanks and file their applications with the undersigned at once in order to allow time for any necessary corrections and to arrange for the examination. Each applicant will be required to submit to the examiner on the day of examination a photograph of himself taken within two years. The entrance salary of clerks and carriers is $1,000 per annum.

SUFFRAGE BILL IS KILLED BY SENATE

MADIGAN RESOLUTION, FAVORING SUBMISSION OF AMENDMENT BEATEN.

Equal suffrage by state constitutional amendment was killed in the Senate last Thursday by a vote of 40 to 21.

The question arose on the report of the elections committee, asking the indefinite postponement of the House bill providing submission of a suffrage amendment to the vote of the people.

J. S. Madigan, Maple Lake, author of a similar bill in the Senate, moved to substitute a recommendation for the bill's passage for the committee report.

"This is an important measure," he declared. "It already has passed the House and there certainly is strong sentiment throughout the state for its passage."

Senator Ole Sageng of Otter Tail, chairman of the elections committee, opposed the Madigan motion.

"The women of this state," he said, "who have spent years in advocation of equal suffrage, don't want this bill passed. National suffrage is just around the corner and these women don't want the trying and expensive battle for a state amendment thrust upon them now. I am for suffrage but I think the attitude of these women is the sensible one at this time."

Senator O. A. Naplin of Thief River Falls, was among those who voted to have the amendment submitted to a vote at the next general election.

FREIGHT WRECK ON SOO; NOBODY HURT

FIFTEEN CARS DERAILED IN SMASHUP AT ORLEANS SATURDAY MORNING.

The first serious wreck in over five years on the Winnipeg division of the Soo took place last Saturday morning at nine o'clock, when a broken arch bar caused the derailment of fifteen cars on freight train No. 71 near Orleans. Neither the engine nor the caboose left the rails. Eight of the cars were badly smashed, while the remaining seven which left the track fared much better and were not seriously broken up. None of the train crew was injured in the smashup.

A wrecking crew from this city was at once sent to the scene of the accident and proceeded to clear the main line of debris. This they succeeded in doing so that No. 119 passed thru at nine o'clock the same evening. The crew has been on the job most of the time since the wreck and has it pretty well cleared up by this time.

The Winnipeg division has been singularly fortunate in the matter of wrecks and more than five years have elapsed since a mixup of any consequence has taken place. In September, 1913, eighteen cars were derailed in a wreck which occurred at a point just half a mile west of where the accident took place last Saturday.

Snow Gives Trouble.

The spell has at last been broken and the Soo has during the past week Freight wreck on soo; Nobody hurt.. experienced more or less trouble from drifting snow at various places along the line. The line between Fordville and Drake has been tied up since Monday, when a strong blizzard filled up nearly every cut along the entire distance. The wheat line has been more fortunate and no passenger trains have so far been annulled on account of snow. No freights were sent over this line on Tuesday, however, and the passenger trains arrived at their destinations from two to four hours late.

Division Jottings.

Elmer Roll has returned from a visit with relatives at Gleawood.

Julius Weidner, wiper at the round house, has been laying off for a few days.

John Lavelle, engineer, has returned to work after a short leave of absence.

John Stangle, night boiler washer helper, is laid up with an attack of the "flu."

Leo Bradley, fireman, held down the job as engine dispatcher last Friday night.

B. E. Gage, fireman, has been officiating fo ra few days as engine dispatcher.

Engine Dispatcher J. L. Garrow has been laying off for a few days on account of sickness.

Fireman Martin Stenberg has been officiating as call boy for a few days to keep busy during the dull period.

Miss Esther Gertson, freight cashier at the Great Northern depot, is confined to her room with a sore throat.

Ole Hermanson, boiler washer, has quit work for a while and John Stangle has been named to take his place at the round house.

Carl Rossmon, day yard clerk for the Soo, left Sunday night for Minneapolis to look after business matters for a few days.

E. C. Wills has been put on as regular agent at Mylo, N. D., vice C. T. Franson, who has been transferred to Karlstad as regular agent.

Bernard Burggraf has taken the position of first call boy in this city, vice J. R. Bartley, who has gone back into the train service.

Phil Bryant, dispatcher, has been absent from his post for a few days on account of sickness. His place has been filled by A. L. Chapman.

Engineer Joe Brennan is taking a short vacation and has improved the time by making a trip to Minneapolis and St. Cloud to visit relatives and friends.

E. E. Blair, operator for some time in the local office of the Soo, has been transferred to second trick operator at Mahnomen to take the place of E. C. Wills.

Aug. N. Weberg has resigned as custodian at Westbury, Minn., and the station has been temporarily closed as it has been impossible to get anyone to take his place.

John Sagvold, who handles the throttle of the switch engine in the local yards of the Soo, went to Rochester the first of the week to consult the Mayos in regard to his health.

C. F. Lawrence, helper at Lancaster, has been transferred to the position of warehouseman and clerk at Mahnomen. He traded places with H. L. Otto, who is now holding down the job as helper at Lancaster.

G. I. Richardson made a trip to Mylo, N. D., last week to look over the station with a view to taking charge as agent. After giving the place close scrutiny he decided that someone else could have the job.

E. W. Lathrop, formerly agent at Karlstad, has been given the position as regular agent at Ottertail. O. P. Johnson, who took care of the Ottertail station as relief agent for several weeks, is now on a leave of absence.

Conductor J. S. Barnett of the Soo, left Sunday evening for St. Paul, where he will consult a medical specialist. An operation will be necessary, and although it is not of a serious nature, Mr. Barnett was unable to tell just how long he might have to lay up.

G. A. Krueger, who has been enjoying a leave of absence, resumed work as agent at Plummer on Tuesday. R. A. Preston, who looked after the duties of the agent's office during Krueger's absence, has been put on as second trick operator at the same place. E. J. Langevin has been transferred from second to third trick, relieving M. L. Parsons, who is on a leave of absence.

Farmers---List Your Repair Needs

IT WOULD be hard to find a farmer who at some time or another had not lost valuable time waiting for necessary repair parts. Take this territory and total up the time lost in this way and it will astonish you. And all because repairs are not ordered as early as they should be.

There is no better time than right now—just before the busiest season on the farm—to go over your machines carefully, make up a list of repairs you are likely to need and send it to us BEFORE OR DURING REPAIR AND INSPECTION WEEK, MARCH 3-8. With this list in our hands, we can order our stock so as to be prepared to meet every call promptly.

Repair part service is a necessary part of our business. We realize what it means to you in time and money to get what you need at once. Help us to help you by making up your list now and sending it in to us.

In order that you may know where to go to get REPAIRS for your machinery we list below a few of our lines:

M'CORMICK, DEERING, MOLINE AND MINNESOTA BINDERS, MOWERS, HAY RAKES, ETC. MOLINE, EMERSON, GRAND DETOUR, CASE, P. & O., AVERY, RUMLEY, FULLER & JOHNSON AND OTHER KINDS OF PLOWS. MONITOR, KENTUCKY, IDEAL, EMERSON, DOWAGIAC AND SEVERAL OTHER GRAIN DRILLS.

(Covering Chains and Rubber Spouts for all makes of drills.)

OSBORN, MOLINE, EMERSON, ECONOMY AND SEVERAL OTHER DISC HARROWS.

(Extra Discs, Blades, Etc., for all makes.)

TITAN, MOGUL, AVERY, RUMLEY, CASE, BULL, NICHOLS & SHEPARD, AULTAMN TAYLOR, AND A NUMBER OF OTHER MAKES OF TRACTORS. ALL KINDS OF THRESHING MACHINERY.

PRIMROSE, LILLIE AND ALL OTHER I. H. C. CREAM SEPARATORS. ALSO VIKING, EMPIRE, DIABOLO AND SEVERAL OTHERS.

(We carry a full line of all kinds of RUBBER RINGS and several other repair parts for all kinds of separators.)

GASOLINE ENGINES—We recharge Magnetos and can give you first-class service on all makes.

It would be impossible to list all the different kinds and makes of Fanning Mills, Feed Mills, Gas Engines, Potato machinery, Wagons, Barn Equipment, Corn Planters, Cultivators and a thousand different things that we handle, but if you will give us a list of what you want we will do our best to give you service.

WILSON EXPLAINS SCOPE OF LEAGUE

MONROE DOCTRINE STANDS AND NO BRITISH DOMINATION, SAYS PRESIDENT.

EACH NATION MUST DECDIE

WILL NOT BE ASKED TO DISARM BEYOND POINT OF SAFETY.

President Wilson's own interpretation of the league of nations constitution was placed before congress last Thursday. It was presented informally to the house and senate members by the foreign-relations committees of the two bodies. They received it from the president Wednesday at a dinner and conference at the White House.

It will be given more formally to the senate in speeches by administration leaders. Absolute freedom to make public every detail of the conference was explicitly given those attending it. At the very outset the president invited full, frank discussion of the league by congress and the country.

The president's position on provisions about which debate has centered was made plain in answer to questions asked him by his guests, they said.

Answers Questions.

The president did not take up the league constitution, article by article, and expound it, nor did he make a speech. He invited questions and then answered them.

In view of the president's desire that congress and the people get all possible information concerning the working of the projected league, those attending the dinner and conference have talked very freely.

The president's interpretation, as it appeared to the committee members and as stated by them to the United Press, is given herewith:

Monroe Doctrine.

The proposed league extends the Monroe dictrine to the entire world and thus would strengthen instead of weaken or destroy this traditional American policy.

Mandatories.

The provision for states mandatory to supervise, guide and guard former colonies of Germany or her allies does not compel any nation to assume the task of mandatory against its will.

In this connection the president stated, according to the committee members, that numerous requests have been made that the United States act as mandatory in the cases of a number of countries. But it will be with the greatest reluctance that this country will undertake such work, the president is quoted as saying. He indicated, it was stated, that if this country does become a mandatory, Armenia is likely to be the object of our care.

The mandatory plan was adopted, committee members quoted the president as saying, because of the obvious difficulties of outright annexations.

Disarmament.

Effective disarmament, in the president's view, as stated by members depends upon (1) the good faith and honor of nations of the league, and (2) enforcement of the provision against general private manufacture of arms, ammunitions and war materials.

Each nation is the judge of the program necessary to insure its own safety and it is here, in the president's view, that unless absolute good faith is shown, disarmament will not be completely effective. But the provision limiting production of war material will, in his opinion, go far to aid disarmament by preventing the equipping of a huge army or superarmy. Nothing in the constitution, he is quoted as saying, prevents the training of any number of men, but they do not constitute an army unless armed and equipped.

The president impressed his hearers with the fact that once the program for any nation has been ratified that nation cannot, of its own motion, increase the program without flying into the face of its solemn pledge as a league member.

Great Britain's Power.

The British empire will have five votes in the full league, but only one in the executive council. Each of Britain's self-governing colonial possessions will get a separate vote in the full league, but the United Kingdom alone will have one vote in the council. This disposes, in the view of administration senators, of the argument that British power would be increased out of all proportions by creation of the league under the proposed constitution.

Ireland.

For the present, Ireland will not have a vote or be a member of the league as a seperate nation, committee men understood. The president indicated, they said, that Ireland's future status is a matter between Ireland and the British government and that the league has no jurisdiction.

Withdrawal from the League.

Any nation wishing to withdraw from the league may do so by renouncing the treaty, the president stated according to congressmen. This is the same course any nation is at liberty to pursue with respect to any treaty. Amendment to the constitution, once it has been ratified, will be difficult and not to be accomplished upon the whim of any nation the president told his guests, they said. He also was quoted as saying practically all neutral nations have expressed a desire to become league members.

He emphasized what he said at Boston that despair will grip the world if the United States does not ratify the league plan.

League Imperative Now.

"Serious complications will occur almost at once if the league is not created," President Wilson told us, Senator Hitchcock, chairman of the senate committee, said. "He said the league already is in use, a number of questions having been referred to it by the peace conference for settlement.

He impressed members with the necessity of America standing by the Czecho-Slovaks and the Jugo-Slavs.

Nothing was said, according to committee men, concerning the probable date of completing the peace treaty, nor of the president's final return from Europe.

Did Not Argue.

Following the dinner, which lasted from 8 p. m. until nearly 10 p. m., the president without any long preliminary statement, invited them to question him. So many questions were asked that the session did not end until just before midnight.

Members declared the president did not present any arguments.

He simply answered inquiries, usually by stating his own view of what the effect of a specific provision would be. There was an entire absence of the controversial spirit, according to committee members.

Senator Brandagee, Republican, took a leading part in the questioning, as did also Senator Hitchcock, Democrat, chairman of the foreign relations committee. A number of questions were also asked by Senators Lodge and Knox. These three are scheduled to address the senate this week on the league of nations.

Chairman Flood of the house committee, in a formal statement following the conference, said:

"I am heartily in favor of a league, and since talking with the president I see nothing in it affecting the sovereignty of this country or the right to control its domestic affairs, or anything that weakens the Monroe doctrine."

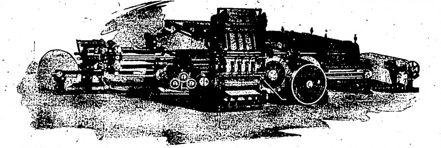
NEW NEWSPAPER PRESS SHORTLY TO BE INSTALLED BY THIEF RIVER FALLS TIMES



The above cut represents the new newspaper press recently purchased by the publishers of The Times and which will be installed about the first of April. It is what is known as a Goss Semi-Rotary, printing direct from type forms but without any hand labor being required in the feeding. The paper is supplied from rolls, printed all at one time and folded. Four, six, eight or ten page papers will be delivered complete at the rate of 4,000 per hour.

The press is 30 feet long and weighs 20 tons. It will be necessary to construct a foundation for the machine extending clear to the ground as no floor would stand up under the weight.

The Times will be the only weekly paper in the Northwest owning such a machine. The cost of this press alone is greater than the entire investment in most country printing offices. The publishers believe the move warranted, however, by the steadily increasing demand upon the equipment of The Times. There will be a very great saving in time and the new arrangement will permit of a much better make-up of the paper. It now takes at least 15 hours to make the three runs necessary to print 4,000 papers for The Times list, and this is quite an item of expense. When the new machine is in running order the entire edition can be printed in about an hour.

It takes courage as well as faith in the future to make an outlay of such proportions at this time, but The Times has both.

Moline Universal Tractor

Having the good fortune to be appointed agents in this territory for the Moline Universal Tractor we wish to urge upon prospective buyers the importance of looking over this wonderful machine before placing their orders. It is important that they get the best and they should take the time to investigate all makes.

By March 10th at the Latest

We will have on display at our salesroom a demonstration tractor with plow and road truck. We will be pleased to explain these machines to you.

MOTOR CAR TRADE BOOMS THIS YEAR

PROSPECTS ARE BRIGHT FOR BIGGEST YEAR IN HISTORY OF INDUSTRY.

The open winter which the greater part of the country has thus far enjoyed has had a beneficial effect on automobile business, according to the proprietor of a local garage. Tire business has been keeping up wonderfully this winter and it is difficult for tire manufactruers to keep pace with the demand. Usually this time of year is exceptionally slow in auto accessory trade.

Open winter conditions especially are contrasted with last year, and this year a large proportion of automobiles have been kept running even in the northern states. More cross state touring is reported this winter than ever before in the history of the motor car industry. Of course this is directly due to the absence of snow-bound highways. In years past there were very few days in which the roads were not clogged with ice, snow and slush.

During the past year when war restrictions caused an enormous depression in the automobile industry, the big majority of motorists economized in gasoline and tires to the very limit. The patriotism of the American motorist asserted itself most emphatically. Now conditions are different. It has been said there would be double the touring in 1919 that there was last year even with no new cars—but of course there will be well over a million new cars manufactrued in 1919. There is nothing to stop the motoring public this year. Peace has lifted the lid. Car owners intend to make up for lost time and the roads will be crowded with touring from early spring until late fall.

Genuine optimism of the entire automobile industry as to the future, combined with having the weather man on their side of the fence this winter, has performed wonders for the local automobile and tire dealer.

Well-Known Editor Dead.

G. T. Hagen, editor and publisher of Vesterheimen, a Norwegian language newspaper issued at Crookston, died last week, aged 55 years. Deceased conducted the paper for 19 years and was widely known throughout this section. A widow, three daughters and five sons survive.

The late editor was a strong temperance advocate and was in demand for addresses and lectures on the subject both in the English and Norwegian languages.

Boy Loses Finger.

Gerald Berg, little three-year-old son of A. J. Berg of this city, had the misfortune of losing his finger last Monday morning. The little fellow was playing around the washing machine and put the first finger of his right hand in the connection wheels on the machine. The wheel took the finger off at the first joint and crushed the rest so badly that it had to be amputated. The wound is healing nicely.

PRICES ON TOBACCO TAKE UPWARD JUMP

NEW TAX MAKES USERS OF WEED WONDER WHERE THEY ARE AT.

Tobacco took another jump in price on Saturday and is now almost in rank with prohibitive articles. Another tax was imposed and all tobaccos retailing at from ten to fifteen cents went up from two and a half cents to five cents a package. Cigarettes formerly selling at twenty cents per package now cost 25 cents.

Inventory of the tobaccos on hand were made in all the local stores and the new prices in most places went into effect at once. Five cent cigars, fifteen cent cigarettes and former ten cent cigars are things of the past, in the opinion of dealers.

The tax is imposed on tobacco and the consumer pays. Those who have the tobacco habit are hit by the tax and many wonder now when the price will cease going up. The new revenue tax will also be felt by the other sex when the soda fountain season begins as all ice cream sundaes and cooling beverages are affected by the revenue tax.

Mr. and Mrs. O. M. Molting, who have been guests at the S. E. Egness home for the past month, left Thursday afternoon for Halstad to visit relatives.

THE TIMES' BIRTHDAY.

This issue of The Thief River Falls Times is Volume 9, Number 1, showing that the paper has passed another milestone in its history. It is our birthday and a proper time for taking a look back over the past as well as a peep into the future.

The Times is the successor of all the newspapers ever published in Thief River Falls as well as some others. Through a process of elimination it has been left alone in the field, proving again that the fittest will survive.

There have been papers printed in this city since way back in 1880, when a little six column folio sheet called The Press was started. Others followed with varying fortune, there being at one time three publications bidding for the business of a town scarcely large enough to support one. Finally the business men concluded that everyone concerned would be better off with one good newspaper and it was largely through their efforts that the field was cleared, The Times emerging alone after all the consolidations and eliminations had been attended to. That this arrangement has proven satisfactory is evidenced by the growing subscription list and increased advertising patronage of the paper.

We are fully aware that this gratifying result could not have been attained had not the business men of the city seen the wisdom of the move. It is also certain that the arrangement could not have continued had not The Times aimed continuously to give the community the best newspaper possible. Working together the plan has proven advantageous to all parties concerned.

The history of this paper during the past year also disproves the generally accepted idea that it is necessary for a weekly publication to tie up irrevocably with some political party or to stand sponsor for some local clique. The paper has been absolutely and fearlessly independent, and this policy will be continued. Politics have been discussed and matters of local concern dealt with, but always from a purely independent viewpoint. No man, set of men, or organization can in any manner dictate the policy to be pursued by the paper or employ it for the purpose of furthering their own ambitions at the expense of the public welfare.

The Times has already one of the best country printing plants in the state, but further improvements are coming. An order has been placed for a new press and the machine will be in operation about April 1. The machine is a Goss semi-rotary, printing the entire paper at one time at the rate of 4,000 copies per hour. This means a very considerable investment and one that could not be made did not the publishers have every faith in the future of the city and section as well as every reasonable assurance that any effort to still further better the publication would be appreciated by the public. It is a step only the very largest and most firmly established weekly papers in the state have felt themselves justified in taking and a considerable amount of confidence is indicated by their willingness to shoulder this unusual outlay. The installation of this machine will mean that the public will receive even better service than heretofore.

The Times at present is paying out more than $1,000 a month for labor alone, being one of the largest employers in Thief River Falls. This money is paid out to people living right here and is again turned back into the channels of trade. The present payroll of The Times is larger than the total when there were two or more papers published in the city. The advantage lies in the saving of overhead expense, such as rent, fuel, light, etc.

The Times now stands almost in a class by itself among Minnesota publications. This is evidenced by the amount of business carried in its columns for national advertisers. These concerns do not place their orders without knowing what they are buying. Every newspaper patronized by them is closely investigated and must have the circulation and standing or it is not considered. Local business men naturally know these things first hand and the patronage accorded the paper by them is sufficient evidence of their opinion as to its value.

We believe the community has reason to be proud of The Times. We know The Times is pleased and satisfied with the treatment received and the confidence shown.

ONE SERIOUS OMISSION.

It looks as if another session of the legislature would come to an end without anything being done to remedy one of the biggest injustices of which the state is guilty. Unless something in the way of a special effort is made the present system of taxation for school purposes will be continued and it is not right.

The schools of Minnesota as a whole are the richest in the world. The trouble is, under the present system of distribution, that of the money derived from taxation an almost indecent amount goes to a very limited section of country. Certain districts of St. Louis and Itasca county have more money than can ever be spent wisely for school purposes, while other districts, located but a short distance away, are barely able to struggle along. The money is not even equitably distributed in the counties where it is colected, to say nothing about the rest of the state.

There is Cloquet, for instance. The great forest fire destroyed every school house in the city. Some of the buildings were not paid for, yet the community finds itself compelled to provide new ones. The expense must be borne by the people of the district unless they can get some relief through a special act of the legislature. This in spite of the fact that there are right now millions of dollars to the credit of the schools in the state treasury and more coming in all the time. On the iron ranges they are wallowing in money while in Carlton county, a few miles away, there is such scarcity that the necessary schools cannot be built.

Another thing:

It is costing the people of District No. 18, Pennington county, $80 per pupil per year to give high school privileges to a large number residing outside the district, and even outside the county. The aid received from the state does not begin to cover this cost, yet there is no way of denying these pupils the right to attend the Thief River Falls high school. In Virginia, Hibbing and other range towns there is a plethora of money—all derived from the common heretage of the whole people. Is such distribution fair?

There are many persons residing in the farming sections of the state who have serious doubts as to the wisdom of singling out any particular kind of property as the object of special taxation and for this reason are not enthusiastic over the tonnage tax proposition. They feel, however, that in this matter of school money distribution they are getting the worst of it and will take any means at their command to have the matter adjusted in some more satisfactory manner.

There is still time to do something about this and the legislature should not overlook it.

GENERAL PERSHING'S OWN STORY.

Twenty pages of the History of the Great War, which The Times is giving its subscribers an opportunity to secure at a very low cost, is devoted to General Pershing's own story of the war. He takes the army from the time that he received orders to start for Europe with his staff and in concise language tells of the organization, transportation and disposition of the troops under his command. From this point his account is an outline of the fighting in which the Americans were engaged—all told in simple, straightforward fashion, as becomes a soldier.

The story of St. Mihiel is here told for the first time by the man commanding the boys who there wrote one of the most glorious pages of American military history. Gen. Pershing explains the first, second and last phases of the Meuse-Argonne offensive, clear up to the time of the signing of the armistice. The work of the division in Belgium is given a chapter by itself, the intensely interesting story winding up with an account of the operations east of the Meuse. The commander-in-chief gives the exact number of casualties in killed, prisoners and missing for the entire period of the American participation as well as the number of men actually engaged and the position of each division. This crisp, concise department of the greatest war history thus far published winds up with the following tribute to the officers and men of the army:

"Finally, I pay the supreme tribute to our officers and soldiers of the line. When I think of their heroism, their patience under hardships, their unflinching spirit of offensive action, I am filled with emotion which I am unable to express. Their deeds are immortal, and they have earned the eternal gratitude of our country."

The Times is rather proud of its ability to place this wonderful history in the hands of our people on such terms. The book is a beauty and the contents authentic. The work itself is by Francis A. March, Ph. D., with an introduction by Gen. Peyton C. March, chief of staff of the United States army. Because of the care taken in setting forth the causes leading up to the war in easily understandable language the work will prove of the greatest value to students, and the book is already to be found in both schools and libraries.

PEOPLE ENDORSE THE LEAGUE.

Nothing is more certain than that those who are opposing the President's efforts to have this country endorse a league of nations are assuming an unpopular attitude. There are perhaps arguments to sustain their position, but the people are in no mood to listen to them.

If something like a league of nations is not to result from the late bloodbath, many Americans will feel as if their sacrifices have been made to no purpose. It was with the understanding that we were to end war for all time that we entered the conflict, and to the ordinary run-of-citizen it looks as if this league of nations would come the nearest to insuring this desirable result.

The matter is of such far-reaching importance to the entire human race that a mistake at this time would prove a greater disaster than the war itself, as it would simply lay the foundation for other wars, even more murderous and destructive. It is not a matter to be lightly considered and the best thought of the nation can in no manner be better employed than in trying to reach the proper solution.

Thus far the arguments presented against the formation of such a league are far from convincing. For the most part they smatter too much of personal opposition to President Wilson. Politics is permitted to have too much influence with those on whom will devolve the final approval of any treaty or agreement entered into. They do not seem to realize that the American people consider the question greater than the political future of any one man or the success of any political party. It is a problem involving the welfare of the entire human race and for this reason the plain men and women of the country look with decided disapproval upon any attempt to give it a political coloring.

There may be objections to a league of nations, but it looks like the best thing for everyone concerned obtainable at this time. That this is the opinion of a large section of our population is indicated by the reports from Washington to the effect that the President and Congress are fairly swamped with messages urging that there be no obstacles placed in the way of its adoption. The President, as on many former occasions, has appealed directly to the country to aid him in his efforts to have this international agreement entered into and has explained that its adoption will in no way affect the internal affairs of this republic or jeopardize the Monroe doctrine. There is no question but that this view is shared by the large majority of his countrymen and the probabilities at least are that those who are setting themselves in opposition will find their support rather slim and of decidedly poor quality.

WHAT ABOUT THE TEACHERS?

The Times has been reliably informed that there is a movement on foot among the teachers in the city to make a request for a raise in salary. The change would not take affect during the present term, in all likelihood, as the instructors now employed are under contract which they would not care to break, but it may make it difficult for the board of education to fill the ranks next year unless some attention is paid to the demand.

Along with other salaried people—particularly those employed in public positions—teachers have found that their income has not kept pace with their outgo during the past few years. Their salaries are little if any higher now than five years ago, and they were too low at that time. All must admit that they have been patient and long-suffering, but a point seems to have been reached where they believe themselves entitled to some consideration.

This will hardly be denied. In a large number of places the matter has already been attended to. The city of Minneapolis is asking the legislature for permission to raise the tax levy two and one-half mills in order to meet the added expense incident to increasing the pay of the public school teachers. The increase there will amount to $200 per year for grade and $300 for high school teachers, the city finding that it is impossible to secure the best instructors at the salaries now paid.

Even to a pestered and harrassed taxpayer it must appear reasonable that the man or woman to whom is entrusted the education of his children ought of right to receive almost as much pay as the call boy at a railway station or a carpenter's apprentice. During the past two or three years they have not been getting it and they are beginning to show signs of rebellion. They can hardly be blamed.

TO MAKE THRIFT A HAPPY HABIT.

Your Government Announces a Campaign:

To promote wise buying, avoidance of waste, intelligent saving, and safe investment, with the aim of meeting war obligations and promoting individual, community and national prosperity.

To develop the demand for War-Savings Stamps as a thoroughly democratic methods of helping finance the Government.

To make earnings and their time count more for the individual.

Doesn't this sound wise and practical?

Here is a program that commends itself to every thinking man, woman and child of this great, prosperous Ninth Federal Reserve District.

It appeals to the individual because it recommends to him a course of action that leads to competence, power, contentment and happiness for himself and his family.

All the time he is thus helping himself he will be practicing the peace time patriotism that will result in the increased prosperity, power and pestige of America.

If you agree, show it now by joining a group War Savings Society.

TEN AND 20 YEARS AGO

Twnety Years Ago.

The state legislature passed a law to protect bicycle paths and bicyclists. That was as far as motor vehicle legislation went in those days.

Wrestling was the chief sport twenty years ago. The following challenge appeared in The Press: "Wrestle or take a bluff. Hearing that you, Harry Dobner, claim to be a great wrestler, I will wrestle you in the course of five days after your match with Sam Bardelson. Never mind telling me to get a reputation because I have as good a reputation as you. I have thrown men that could throw you as fast as you could get up, best two out of three, catch-as-catch-can. Signed Charles Rockstad."

Never had there been a better winter for lumbering in this section and the cut of timber was correspondingly large.

The lumber camps were breaking up and the boys were coming back, looking as if they had got in a good winter's work. Lumber jacks were gathering here in anticipation of the spring drive.

Jos. Johnson, after an extensive trip through the southern states, returned to Thief River Falls, purchased lots and decided to make his permanent home here. The place looked better than ever to him.

Prof. Fuller was obliged to stay out of school for a few days on account of an attack of the grippe.

Interest was at fever heat in the coming wrestling match between H. G. Dobner and Sam Bardelson, which was scheduled to take place within a few days.

Fire did $100 damage to the livery barn of C. C. Schustes. The fire started in the hay loft and the fire laddies had a hard time saving the building.

Judge H. E. Ives was about to remove from St. Hilaire to Cass Lake, where he expected to engage in the newspaper business. It also was rumored that he would be appointed U. S. Commissioner, a lucrative position in those days.

Ten Years Ago.

Ninety-nine cars of lumber were shipped from this place during February, an increase of 300 per cent over the previous year. The lumber industry made Thief River Falls the busiest city in the northwest.

Mrs. Swen Johnson, one of the oldest settlers of Rocksbury township, died at her home. The funeral was held from the Synod church with Rev. I. T. Aastad officiating.

The ice crop was harvested and reported to be the largest in the history of the city. Quality was excellent and one piece cut from the river is said to have measured 62 inches in thickness. Must have had a few chilly nights ten years ago this winter.

John F. Brown of Kennedy purchased the interest of H. H. Skaagen in the Langseth Mercantile company. Mr. Brown immediately took charge of the hardware department.

The silver wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Johnson was celebrated in an appropriate manner at their home in this city.

Olaf Ramstad left on an extended trip through the southern part of the state and Wisconsin for the purpose of buying a carload of horses. The horses were to be sold to farmers in this section.

It was expected that Prof. Maxwell of Red Lake Falls would be secured as leader for the local band.

W. W. Prichard, Sr., returned from an extended trip through the West and reported having had a delightful time. He advised local farmers who had the western fever to remain where they were, stating that he had not seen any part of the country where a farmer had better opportunities than right here in Northwestern Minnesota.

Ephraim Thompson, Henry Eide and Carl Angell had completed arrangements to open a show house in the building formerly occupied by the Hub restaurant.

Fred Haug was offering for sale his gasoline boat, "Dan Patch."

J. M. Bishop and daughter, Marion, left on a trip through the South. They expected to be absent for two or three weeks.

Christ Granum left for Spokane, Wash., where he expected to locate permanetly.

Louis Lonson and Dennis LaSage attended the firemen's meeting at Crookston.

T. P. Hamre, D. P. O'Neill and Robert McGinn spent the week in the Twin Cities attending to normal school matters.

Elks Have Good Time.

The last dancing party before the lenten season was given by the Elks' lodge for members and their ladies on Friday evening. About 40 couples attended and had the usual good time. The supper was furnished by Julian Provencher and the music by Cordes' orchestra. Both details were of the highest order. The Elks will hold their annual installation of officers next Friday evening.

Building for the Future

America—great, big, powerful America—is in the throes of a rebuilding era that is without a counterpart in her history. Uncle Sam has held a restraining hand on building activities for many long, weary months. But now—with peace prosperity and happiness—the building idea comes with a great rush. It is the most important mission America has to consider. And whether it be a modest bungalow or a 16-story sky-scraper, all the materials that enter into it are now available. Long deferred plans will now be resurrected for immediate revision.

The home coming soldiers and sailors will help in the reconstruction work; their brains and brawn—their sinew and strength will form an integral part of the intensive building program.

The Winton-Nichols Company is ready to confer with you and explain its facilities. Our judgment and experience will help you solve your building problems. We have satisfied the people of this section for over twenty years.

All restrictions on building are now off

Back to the good old U. S. A.

They're coming home erect, full-chested, slender-waisted, springy-gaited, hard as nails; a new physical type, different from the men who went away not long ago.

We have new, special models for them; designed by Hart Schaffner & Marx. The makers put lively style in them with all-wool fabrics and best workmanship. They are styles you want, too.

Waist-seam suits

You'll like the waist-seam suits: single and double-breasted; two and three-button; many variations in pockets and other details.

Waist-seam Overcoats

The waist-seam idea is popular in the spring overcoats; we've designed some very stylish ones that you ought to see.

Varsity suits

The Varsity suits for spring are for the men who like the plain sacks, but want all the stylish touches; there's an "air" about these suits you'll like.

LARGE HOUSE FOR TOWN OR COUNTRY

Straight Wall Lines Keep Down the Expense.

ETS MOST OUT OF SPACE

Design Shows Substantial Building With No Frills But at the Same Time Attractive in Appearance.

By WM. A. RADFORD.

Mr. William A. Radford will answer questions and give advice FREE OF COST on all subjects pertaining to the subject of building, for the readers of this paper. On account of his wide experience as Editor, Author and Manufacturer, he is, without doubt, the highest authority on all these subjects. Address all inquiries to William A. Radford, No. 1827 Prairie avenue, Chicago, Ill., and only enclose three-cent stamp for reply.

In spring a young man's fancy may turn to thoughts of love, but to the man of family, after a winter of more or less discomfort in his old house, barren of many of the modern conveniences, thoughts of a new home are more engrossing. During the winter evenings that new home that has been in contemplation for several years now has been discussed by the whole family and many ideas of what that home should be, both as to exterior appearance and interior arrangement and of what materials it should be built, have been advanced.

However, the head of the family—the man who provides the money for the new home—is the man who has the last say. To him there enters the idea of practicability, coupled with cost. He is in favor of the new house; in fact, has decided to build, but to him there are things of greater importance than a nook here and an angle there. There is the question of how he can get a good, substantial, comfortable and convenient home for his family, if he be a city man, or his family and the hired help, if he be a farmer, for the amount of money he has available for the house.

To such a man, the house shown in the accompanying illustration will appeal. For here is combined all of the things that a practical city or town man or farmer wants in his home—convenience in arrangement of rooms, provision for the things that will make the work of the housewife easier, and a house that externally will compare with the best ones in that community.

Cutting the Corners.

"Corners cost" is an axiom among contractors and builders. The straighter the walls, the less expensive the building. The house shown herewith is a substantial building, with no frills, and at the same time is good to look at.

The bare building is 26 by 41 feet, dimensions that are suitable for a narrow lot. As will be seen by the illustration the foundation and porch walls and columns are of brick, while the house is of clapboard and shingle construction.

The large porch, 22 by 8 feet, the hip roof, and the bay window at the side relieve the straight lines of the building and make it an attractive home from the exterior. The size of the porch, 22 by 8 feet, makes it a comfortable sitting place in the summer.

The house contains ten rooms and bath, six bedrooms providing sleeping accommodations for at least that many persons. Five of the bedrooms are on the second floor and one on the first floor.

The front entrance door opens into a hall 4 by 10 feet. To the left is the front stairway, and at the right through double glazed doors is the living room. Being the gathering place of the family, this room is large, 17 by 13 feet. At one end is an open fireplace with spaces for built-in bookcases on either side.

The dining room is immediately back of the living room through an open double doorway. This room is 14 by 13 feet, but its straight lines are broken by the bay window, which forms an alcove 2 by 9 feet, providing a place for either a long wall seat, or flowers.

Many Conveniences in Kitchen.

Connecting with the dining room is the kitchen, 10½ by 13 feet. Here every convenience is provided for. Beside the door leading to the dining room is the sink. Adjoining it and running around the full length of the outside wall and part of the rear wall is a work table. On either side of the window is a wall case. Thus does the kitchen worker have everything needed at hand. Off the kitchen, at the rear, is a large pantry, also equipped with work table and shelves. Here is located the ice chest, with an opening to the back porch, from which it may be iced.

Another door from the kitchen leads to the rear hall. Here are the back stairs, a toilet, and a washroom, with plumbing fixtures. The entrance to the washroom is from the back porch, 11½ by 6 feet.

Thus it will be seen that a person can come in at the rear door, wash, and go either upstairs, or to the dining room without passing through the kitchen, which in many houses, in fact most farm houses, is a combined kitchen and passageway. At the end of this back hall toward the front of the house is a bedroom, 10½ by 10 feet.

The front stairs lead to a hallway, which extends to the center of the house and then to the back. At the front are two bedrooms, one 10 by 9½ feet, the other 10½ by 13 feet. The two bedrooms in the center of the house are 10½ by 13 feet and 10½ by 10 feet. The rear bedroom is 10½ feet square.

At the head of the rear stairs is the bathroom and toilet, two separate rooms. The former is exceptionally large and provides a dressing as well as a bath room.

Closets Are Numerous.

Closets are numerous in this house. Downstairs there is a large coat closet at the end of the front entrance hall. There are two more closets in the first-floor bedroom. Each room upstairs also has a closet.

This is a substantial home that will appeal especially to the farmer who is considering building a new house. There are no frills about it, yet it is an attractive appearing house and one in which all the modern farm conveniences, running hot and cold water, electric light and sewage system can be installed. As the modern farm now has a power, pumping and electric system, the cost of putting these conveniences in the house will be small, but they will add much to keeping the boy and girl on the farm and making the work in the house as easy as it now is in the modernly equipped barn.

A consultation with the local builder and lumber and material dealer will soon disclose the cost of such a home, either in town or on the farm.

KARWAND STILL IN SERVICE OVERSEAS

FORMER HAZEL BANKER NOW IN ARMY LONGS FOR MINNESOTA WEATHER.

The Times is in receipt of a short letter from Edwin C. Karwand, formerly cashier of the Citizens State bank of Hazel, who is at present with the 354th aero squadron in France. The letter is short but indicates that Karwand is enjoying life as well as might be expected under the restrictions which army life place upon a man. With the letter was enclosed a number of picture post cards showing interesting views at Nancy, France. The letter follows:

"Saizenois, France, Feb. 2, 1919. Just a note to let you know I am feeling fine and dandy but of course longing for the time to come when we hear 'it's home, boys, once more.' The weather is somewhat cold and the ground is covered with a thin coating of snow. I like it much better now than the muddy slush we have had heretofore. More like good old Minnesota, you know, and I long to get back home and to stay.

"We learn something new each day besides the usual squadron duties, and time passes by quickly enough at that. Have been at Nancy a few times and on Sundays go to Liverdieu to get a feed of pork chops, French fried spuds, etc. You know what that means of course. Saw some of the Rainbow boys of the 42nd division yesterday and they are real veterans, I'll tell you. Best wishes to all the brothers and friends. Private Edwin C. Karwand, 354th Aero Squadron, A. E. F. France."

HOME AFTER YEAR SPENT IN FRANCE

SOLDIER'S ONLY REGRET IS THAT HE COULD NOT REACH FRONT.

Theodore C. Tandberg, who up to the time he enlisted in the army, was bookkeeper for the P. W. Sharp company in this city, returned last week after a service of fifteen months. He was in France just one year, arriving there on Jan. 15, 1918, and leaving for home on the same date just one year later. Previous to his embarkment he put in the training period at American University, Washington.

Private Tandberg was with the Tenth Engineers, a forestry division. During the greater part of his stay in France he was located about 75 miles from Bordeaux and employed in felling trees. He states that the job was all right but that the boys all were sore because they did not have an opportunity to get to the front. Especially was this disappointment keen at the time the Germans were driving southward last spring. "The situation looked rather bad and every one of the men employed about the saw mills and in the woods wanted to have a hand in the proceedings.

The Americans operated 107 mills in France and the daily output was 1,500,000 feet of lumber every 24 hours. The men worked regular ten hour shifts, there being day and night crews.

The unit to which Tandberg was attached went over on a transport but returned on the battleship Jersey. They were 20 days getting back, including the two days spent at the Azores. This returned soldier will not have to look for a job, having accepted the position of assistant cashier of the Goodridge State bank.

Mr. Tandberg says that he met only two Thief River Falls boys in France—Gib Lonson and Sam Landro.

Information Clearing House.

All men in camps in this country have been informed by their morale officers that the Home Service section of the Red Cross would be the clearing house for government information for discharged soldiers. The Home Service section will instruct men how to apply for compensation, and take advantage of the government plan for reconstruction and vocational training. It will aid and advise them in regard to any legal difficulties that may have arisen in their absences. Government plans for replacement of discharged soldiers in industry will be made known through this department. A survey is now being made to determine the number and nature of positions open to returned men. Keep in touch with this branch of the Red Cross. It is going right on with its work of helpfulness to men.

SOLDIERS ENJOYING VERY GOOD HEALTH

MEN OF 88th DIVISION HAVE FINE RECORD IN THIS RESPECT.

Gongrecourt, France, January 27, 1919. The abounding health of the 88th division is a matter of pride to its officers and satisfaction to the men. Despite the climate and crabbing there has been very little sickness. In fact the rate for the last several weeks is less than two per cent—far below normal in civil life and about half of what is considered a fair percentage for troops in the field. And this rate is dropping as the living conditions improve, with better billets and messes.

Now that the great wastage due to active operations is curtailed, clothes are more numerous. The games and amusements that help to fill up the idle hours also tend to keep up the spirit of the men and keep the records low.

The division is entirely free from epidemics. There is no pneumonia and the "flu" has been limited to a few mild cases. There have been a few isolated cases of typhoid but it has never shown any tendency to become an epidemic. There is less meningitis, expressed in percentage, than ever known in civil life. All the minor cases that make up the sick report are in the same proportion. In commenting upon this happy condition Major Hanson, Division Surgeon, said:

"The same forces that have made this record possible will enable us to maintain it in the future. These forces are well known to us: eternal vigilance on the part of the medical officers, hearty co-operation between the doctors and the line officers, and a determination on the part of the men to put into practice the recommendations made. And we are going to persist in our efforts to keep the 88th division what we firmly believe it to be today—the healthiest division of the A. E. F."

Seven Million Killed.

Battle deaths during the war among all participants, as far as available statistics show, were given by General March as 7,354,000, representing only the men killed in action or who died of wounds. In the list prepared by General March, Russia leads with 1,700,000. Germany was second with 1,600,000 and the United States last with 50,000. The approximate figures for the other nations were: France, 1,385,000; Austria-Hungary, 800,000; England, 706,000; Italy, 460,000; Turkey, 400,000; Belgium, 102,000; Rumania, 100,000; Serbia and Montenegro, 100,000, and Bulgaria, 100,000.

Forest Fire Loss Blamed on Roads

Eighteen suits for damages aggregating $138,500 have been filed against the Duluth, Mesaba & Northern and the Great Northern railways in district court at Duluth. The action was brought by farmers whose property was destroyed during the forest fires of October, 1918. In seventeen complaints it is alleged damage complained of was incurred October 12. In one complaint the date is set at October 10.

Ten of the suits are filed against the Duluth, Mesaba and Northern railway and the total claims aggregate $80,000. The complaints ask the judgment for the destruction of property by fire along the company's right-of-way. It is alleged the fire was due to negligence of the railroads. The cases against the Great Northern, eight in number, are based on the same grounds.

Our reputation for fair dealing and reliable goods, coupled with the De Laval record of service and durability, has made the De Laval Cream Separator the leader in this community.

No matter what anyone may tell you, there is only one speed at which you can turn a separator crank and get all the cream and cream of uniform thickness.

That's the speed plainly indicated on the crank of every separator, of whatever make.

Full speed is the only assurance of full capacity and full efficiency.

Every De Laval now has a Bell Speed-Indicator. The bell warns you if the handle is going round too slowly. You can't be mistaken about it.

The Bell Speed-Indicator adds nothing to the price but much to the value of the De Laval Separator.

Come in, examine the machine and see how the Bell Speed-Indicator works.

WATERLOO BOY The Original Kerosene Tractor

In offering to you the Waterloo Boy, the Original Kerosene Burning Tractor, we believe we have selected the most practical, economical and dependable farm tractor on the market.

POINTS OF MERIT ON WHICH OUR JUDGMENT IS BASED

PAST PERFORMANCE—The Waterloo Boy has been a success on farms for five years. In no way is it an experiment.

ECONOMICAL—It is a three plow tractor—most economical and practical size to use—burns kerosene perfectly without destroying lubricating oil. Its special, patented inbuilt manifold converts every drop of kerosene into pure gas—cylinders are not carbonized—spark plugs are not fouled. The perfect burning of kerosene saves the owner of the Waterloo Boy many dollars every year in cost of fuel and care of motor.

POWERFUL—The two cylinders, with big bore and long stroke, furnish a guaranteed power of 12 H. P. at the draw bar and 25 H. P. at the belt, with ample reserve for emergencies. The Waterloo Boy pulls three plows under almost any field condition. Hyatt roller bearings at all important bearing points conserve full power. Weight of the tractor is sufficient to insure good traction for drive wheels.

SIMPLE—Every part is easy to get at and easy to adjust or repair. It doesn't require a tractor expert to keep the Waterloo Boy in good working order. The crank case cover, the inspection plate, the upper half of gear case can all be removed for purpose of inspection or repair—the operator can work from a standing position.

DURABLE—Its heat-treated steel cut gears; its force and sight feed oiling system; its 11 sets of Hyatt Roller bearings at all important bearing points and its simple, powerful two-cylinder motor combined with uniformly high grade construction throughout, result in a tractor that has given and will give many years of dependable and economical service.

FOR ALL FARM WORK—You can depend upon the Waterloo Boy in all farm power work, up to its high rated capacity. It is just as satisfactory in operating belt machines—threshers, shellers, ensilage cutters, hay balers, etc—as it is in pulling tractor implements of all kinds.

We Want You to See the Waterloo Boy—Come in the Next Time You Are in Town

DONATE FINE HOME AT ROCHESTER TO LOCAL BRANCH OF SOCIETY.

Dr. and Mrs. Charles Mayo have presented the Young Women's Christian Association of Rochester, with their beautiful town home in token of their appreciation of the value of the association work in that city. Mrs. Mayo, because of her deep regard for the place that had been her home for years, did not wish to sell it when it was decided that they would move permanently to Maywood, and decided that she would like to feel that it was making a home for lonesome girls and women who were visiting the city.

With comparatively few alterations the commodious residence will be ready for occupancy this spring, and will become a center for the various branches of the association work. Rochester has been conducting a campaign in connection with the Blue Triangle Campaign to raise money not only for the national work, in which they wish to have a share, but to cover repairs on the new home, and running expenses for the coming year.

Mortgage Foreclosure Sale.

Default having been made in the payment of Forty-eight and 50-100ths ($48.50) Dollars, which became due on the 22nd day of April, 1917, and is due and claimed to be due at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage executed and delivered by Eddie Hyland, a single man, mortgagor to Merchants State Bank of Red Lake Falls, mortgagee, bearing date the 22nd day of April, 1916, and with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the County of Pennington, State of Minnesota, on the 20th day of January, 1917 at 1:00 o'clock p. m., in Book 53 of Mortgages on Page 432 thereof; and whereas, pursuant to the terms and conditions of said mortgage by reason of said default, the whole principal sum of said mortgage remaining unpaid, to-wit: Two Hundred Forty-two and 50-100ths ($242.50) Dollars became at once due and payable, and was and is hereby so declared by Merchants State Bank of Red Lake Falls; and whereas, there is actually due and claimed to be due and payable at the date of this notice upon said mortgage, the sum of Two Hundred Forty-two and 50-100ths ($242.50) Dollars, with interest thereon at Ten per cent (10%) per annum since April 22nd, 1917 and the further sum of One Hundred Forty-eight and 50-100ths ($148.50) Dollars, with interest thereon at five and a half (5½%) per annum since April 22nd, 1917, and the further sum of One Hundred Forty-eight and 50-100ths ($148.50) Dollars, with interest thereon at five and a half per cent (5½%) per annum since April 22nd, 1918, the two latter amounts of One Hundred Forty-eight and 50-100ths ($148.50) Dollars each being for interest paid by said Merchants State Bank of Red Lake Falls under the terms of said mortgage upon a prior first mortgage of Twenty-seven Hundred ($2700.00) Dollars, upon said land, default having been made in the payment of the same and in said amounts by said mortgagor, the total amounts so claimed to be due and payable at the date of this notice being Six Hundred Five and 72-100ths ($605.72) Dollars; and whereas, the said power of sale has become operative and no action or proceedings having been instituted at law or otherwise to recover the debt secured by said mortgage or any part thereof, NOW THEREFORE, notice is hereby given that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage first described herein will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage, to-wit, the Southwest Quarter (SW¼) of Section Eight (8) in Township One Hundred Fifty-two (152) North of Range Forty (40) West, in Pennington County, State of Minnesota, which sale will be made by the Sheriff of said Pennington County at the front door of the Court House in the City of Thief River Falls in said County and State on the 4th day of April, A. D. 1919 at 11:00 o'clock A. M. of said day, at public vendue, to pay said debt of Six Hundred Five and 72-100ths ($605.72) Dollars, and interest from the date of this notice, and an attorney's fee of Twenty-five ($25.00) Dollars as stipulated in said mortgage, and the disbursements allowed by law, subject to redemption at any time within one (1) year from the date of sale as provided by law.

Dated February 20th, 1919.

WARREN PRIEST IS BURNED TO DEATH

CHARRED BODY FOUND SUNDAY MORNING IN RUINS FOLLOWING FIRE.

News of the terrible death suffered by Rev. Father Joseph Heavey, Catholic priest at Warren, was received here on Sunday.

Father Heavey was burned to death in the parish house in that city late Saturday night when the oil stove in the office exploded and set the building on fire. The priest was sleeping in the living quarters over the office and it is believed the flames gained headway so fast that he was unable to save himself. The building burned to the very ground and Sunday morning when the embers had cooled the friends found his charred body lying in the ruins.

Rev. Father Joseph Heavey had only been in this part of the country since February 9, coming here at that time from West New York.

Father Heavey was 33 years old and received his education for the priesthood at St. Mary's Seminary, Baltimore. After exercising this ministry in the Wilmington Diocese, Delaware, his bishop allowed him to come West for awhile to recuperate on account of his ill health. His remains are being shipped to his old home, Scotland, St. Orange, N. J., where his brother, Rev. C. A. Heavey will officiate at the funeral.

ACCOUNTANTS ARE GIVEN GOOD JOBS

UNCLE SAM WANTS EXPERTS AT ONCE AND OFFERS BIG INDUCEMENTS.

The government has some big tasks in accounting and auditing on its hands as a result of the war, and is willing to pay good salaries to men and women who are qualified to perform them.

The Income Tax Unit of the Bureau of Internal Revenue, Treasury Department, is in urgent need of 350 traveling auditors and resident auditors for the higher-grade positions, which pay entrance salaries from $3,000 to $4,500 a year.

The Ordinance Department of the Army needs at once 250 senior cost accountants at entrance salaries from $2,200 to $4,200 a year, and 250 junior cost accountants at $1,200 to $2,000 a year.

The Interstate Commerce Commission wants 50 examiners of accounts. These are usually appointed at entrance salaries from $1,800 to $2,100 a year, the higher-salaried positions, paying from $2,200 to $3,000 a year or more, being filled as a rule by promotion.

All of these positions are open to both men and women, except positions of examiner of accounts in the Interstate Commerce Commission, which are open to men only.

The United States Civil Service Commission will receive applications for these positions at any time until further notice. Full information and application blanks may be obtained by calling upon the secretary of the local board of civil-service examiners at the customhouse or post office in any important city, or by communicating with the United States Civil Service Commission, Washington, D. C.

Applicants will not be assembled for a written examination but will be rated upon their sworn statements in their applications as to education, experience, etc., and upon corroborative evidence adduced by the Civil Service Commission.

The City Churches

The Scandinavian Ev. Church, Bot Nyborg, Pastor—Sunday services at 10:30 a. m., and 7:30 p. m. You Can Increase Your Yield 3 to 9 Bu. per Acre

Several farms in California got 3 to 6 bushels, Illinois 5, Kansas 3 1-2 and Iowa 9 bushels more per acre by drilling small grain instead of broadcasting.

Here is the big advantage in drilling which we want all of our customers to understand—only one trip over the field is necessary to plant the seed. The drill completes four operations—it makes the seed furrows, drops and covers the seed and pulverizes the soil. Not necessary to drag a harrow over the field afterwards.

You will always need a machine of some kind for planting your small grain crops. Why not get one from us now that will do all of this work—one that plants the seed at even depth so that the crop will all be ready for harvest at one time?

We have the drill in stock that we know will do the work for you. It is a John Deere-Van Brunt—the famous drill that has worked very successfully all over the country for forty years. We want you to know all about the Van Brunt Grain Drill. It has a patented adjustable gate force-feed that will interest you in the way it works. Come in and let us show you how easy it is to plant even, continuous streams of fine, medium or coarse seed with this drill.

NEW STORE WILL OPEN ON MAR. 15

L. L. COHN TO LAUNCH NEW ENTERPRISE ON LABREE AVENUE NORTH.

A new clothing store will be open for business in this city March 15. L. L. Cohn of St. Paul has leased the Christensen building on LaBree avenue and is making preparations to be ready for business on the date mentioned above. He is putting in a complete new line of fixtures and promises to have a store right up to top notch in every respect. Mr. Cohn plans on putting in a complete stock of men's clothing, shoes and furnishings, and states that his stock will consist of the very best articles to be secured in these lines.

The new clothier has been connected as salesman with other stores in Thief River Falls during the past year or two and concluded that the field warranted the addition of another establishment of this kind. He has had a great deal of experience in the business and anticipates that he will receive a share of the local patronage. The new store will be known as the Palace Clothing House, and the proprietor will have an announcement of interest in next week's issue of The Times.

Labor Situation Good.

Many men are now needed for employment in Pennington county and elsewhere. The local Farm Bureau office has placed six men in positions during the past two weeks and have calls for ten additional men to take up work as soon as possible, with good wages guaranteed. From this it would appear that the problem of employment for returned soldiers will easily be taken care of in Pennington county.

Restaurant Changes Hands.

Sam Brown yesterday took possession of the restaurant on Third street which he recently purchased from Peter Hanson. Mr. Brown is a colored gentleman and has had much previous experience in the restaurant business. Both he and Mrs. Brown are first class cooks.

Basket Tossers to Fosston.

The Thief River basket ball team will go to Fosston tomorrow to play a return game with the champion team of that town. The local boys are determined to do everything in their power to break the spell by defeating the Fosston lads on their home floor.

Physicians Hospital Notes.

Those who entered the hospital for medical and surgical attention from last Thursday until this morning are: William Poirier, Red Lake Falls; Ole Larson, Bronson; Baby Peterson, Viking; Mildred Nubson, Greenbush; Dennis McGinn, city; Dora Magnoll, Rhoda; Anna Lungren, Lancaster; Mildred Clauson, Germantown; Arthur Ellingson, Middle River; Mrs. D. Anderson, Gonvick; Mrs. Mary Gordon, Lancaster; Mrs. Maria Lager, Lancaster.

School Moneys Distributed.

The March apportionment of school moneys has been made by the state and the different districts of Pennington county will soon receive checks from the office of County Auditor T. P. Anderson. The rate is $2.30 for each pupil as compared with $2.50 a year ago. Pennington county gets $6,897.70, the number of pupils being 2,999. Thirty counties in the state receive sums smaller than Pennington.

Payments Now Due.

The last payment of moneys pledged during the United War Work campaign is now due and must be turned in by March 15. Chairman C. D. Gustafson states that there is still outstanding $2,000 in the county and that those signed up will be conferring a favor on the committee if they remit at once.

Locals Get Compliments.

The following excerpts from a long article in last week's issue of the Fosston Thirteen Towns will be of interest to local basket ball fans:

"Last Friday evening Coach Schrader's 'Jack Pine Aborigines' blasted Thief River Falls' championship aspirations when they defeated the fast Thief River quintet by the score of 17-14. The teams were evenly matched as to size and while Thief River played a spectacular game it was the steady sure low passing of our lads that gave them the victory.

"Owing to the inability of the outside officials to officiate, the game was refereed and umpired by Coaches Schrader and Connell. They gave evident satisfaction and were fair and square, and for such an important game the number of fouls called was few. Thief River got off with the fewest in that respect. Our lads cannot speak too highly of the magnificent and sportsmanlike way in which the Thief River people and coach treated them. Every possible courtesy was tendered and shown our team.

Mrs. Ingaborg T. Brokke.

Mrs. Ingaborg T. Brokke passed away at her home, 421 Duluth avenue south, March 5th after an illness of two weeks. Her death was caused by appoplexy.

Mrs. Brokke was born in Norway Oct. 11, 1850, and has lived in this country for the past 32 years. She had been a resident of Thief River Falls four and a half years, and was 68 years 4 months and 24 days old at the time of her death.

The remains will be interred in the Silver Creek cemetery on March 7. Deceased leaves to mourn her death Mrs. N. Gunderson, Mrs. E. Tronnes, Targe Brokke and Miss Anna Brokke, of this city, and Ben Brokke of Argenta, Ark.; Mrs. H. Naicaro, Little Rock, Ark., and Mrs. G. Fritz of St. Paul.

A Denial.

A rumor has been circulated to the effect that Susie Lindwick of Germantown P. O., is guilty of taking a woolen sweater from our place of business. Her name has never been mentioned nor has it been said that she was guilty of this theft. As dozens of people frequent our place and furthermore we had several employes at the time, we could not make this assertion without seeing it. We had forgotten all about the sweater and accused no one of it, and were surprised when the rumor was brought to us.—Stephenson Cafe, M. J. Stephenson, Prop., Goodridge, Minn. m6

Help Humanity.

To the ladies of Thief River Falls: We have been asked to set aside the third Friday of each month to contribute some of our cookies or any other goodies that we may be making and fill a box to be sent to the reconstruction hospital at Fort Snelling. We are told there are many pitiful cases there—some without arms, some without legs, and some even worse off, so I am sure most of us will be glad to help keep the cookie jar filled and thereby make them feel that they are not forgotten. Mrs. J. O. Sether, 716 Knight avenue north, will send the goodies where they will go direct to the boys.—Contributed.

SCHOOL BOARD NOT READY FOR FINAL DECISION

WANTS MORE TIME TO CONSIDER MATTER OF SUPT. HAY'S ENGAGEMENT.

OVER 800 SIGN PETITION

UNUSUAL EXPRESSION OF CONFIDENCE TENDERED PRESENT SCHOOL HEAD

Whether or not the school board of District No. 18 will accede to the wishes of the vast majority of people in the district and employ J. H. Hay as superintendent of the Thief River Falls schools for another year will be decided at a meeting to be called within a short time by President O. F. Mellby. This was the decision reached on Monday evening after a petition signed by more than 800 citizens had been presented to the board.

A volunteer delegation of about 100 men appeared at the board room of the Lincoln school for the purpose of urging that the acceptance of Mr. Hay's resignation be reconsidered and that he be engaged to continue in the position he has held for the past 14 years. They carried with them a petition circulated after it became known that Mr. Hay had resigned and the reasons therefor generally understood. In this petition it was stated that in the opinion of the signers the interests of the schools and the city would be best served by the retention of the present superintendent.

Herbert Fuller, Spokesman.

The petition was presented by Herbert Fuller. He stated at the outset that there was no malice in his being present at the meeting for the purpose of urging upon the board the advisability of reconsidering the action taken. So far from bearing any member of the board ill will, Mr. Fuller said that he would be proud to call any man serving with that body his friend. He had himself served four years as a teacher in the schools of Thief River Falls when the city was in its infancy; had always taken a keen interest in educational matters and was proud of the record made in this respect by the community. Nothing but his honest conviction that a mistake had been made would induce him to appear as spokesman for the many citizens who were signers of the petition, and he hoped that he would be understood as being only desirous of avoiding discord.

Has Compared the Schools.

Being a school man himself, Mr. Fuller had perhaps watched the progress made by the city along educational lines more closely than the average citizen, he said, and was proud to state that he had found it highly satisfactory. He believed our schools not only equal to any in the state, but insisted that they were superior to a very large number. Finally he hoped that the petition would be received in the spirit in which it was offered, and stated that upon the reception accorded it would to a great extent depend the efficiency of the schools.

Met No Opposition.

Mr. Fuller in closing asked those who had had the petitions in charge to give their experiences in securing signers. M. C. Burns, L. G. Sands and J. S. Conner replied that not in a single instance had they found a person who refused to sign the request for Supt. Hay's reinstatement. They told of how people called them up on the telephone, asking that the list be brought to them or that some place be designated where it might be found. Others got up in the middle of the night for the purpose of signifying their preference in the matter. The three men reporting had found the sentiment so overwhelming in favor of Mr. Hay as superintendent that they were certain there could be no question as to the attitude of the people on the subject.

Opposed to Haste.

During the time that these reports were being presented there was not an interruption of any kind from a board member, every man being listened to with the closest attention. When Mr. Conner concluded his report President Mellby said that he had been a member of the board for nine years and that any action he had taken during that time was with the sole idea of benefitting the school system of the city. He had only the good of the community at heart and while he recognized the right of all citizens to be heard on a matter of public concern, he was opposed to taking hasty action. He had no apologies to offer for the course pursued with regard to Mr. Hay, he said.

Petition Tabled.

Dr. H. W. Froehlich of the board moved that the petition be laid on the table for the present, stating that in spite of any pressure the matter should not be hastily decided.

Lars Backe, the veteran of the board, who stated he had served since there was any need for a school trustee in the community, said the matter was most serious and that he had seldom seen the people so aroused on any subject. He believed that it would be to the interest of everyone to have the matter decided at once. Trustee F. F. Haynes agreed with Mr. Backe and was of the opinion that any unnecessary delay would only increase the ill feeling already evident. Trustee P. O. Myhrum could see no necessity for haste and believed that a short time given over to consideration might prove of value to all concerned.

Discussion Permitted.

The board had evidently no intention of shutting off debate or of preventing anyone from expressing an opinion on the subject under discussion. In fact, every member showed a decided willingness to get all the opinions available, in spite of the fact that those expressed were unanimously in opposition to the course the board had pursued.

W. A. Boreen said he had been a member of the board for three years and during that time had found no opposition to Mr. Hay as superintendent. He wanted to know if the latter had deteriorated to such an extent in a short time that he was no longer considered competent to fill the position. If not, the speaker was of the opinion that he should be retained. Mr. Boreen disclaimed any intention of criticising the board for the action taken, but believed it ill-advised.

Little Ill Feeling Displayed.

J. F. Dudley was the only speaker who permitted his temper to get the best of his judgment. He openly censored the board and said that in some other communities their attitude would not go unpunished. Daniel Shaw took issue with him, maintaining that he believed the board members were actuated only by the best motives and that they were doing what they thought best for the people as a whole. For this reason they should not be abused, even though a mistake might have been made.

Trustee Backe here stated that he did not see how the board could do anything but reconsider its action in the face of the general demand. He did not believe that the members would lose caste by deferring to the popular opinion.

Mr. Sands wanted to know the specific reasons for Mr. Hay's dismissal, but received no satisfactory answer.

Moved to Reconsider.

Mr. Backe here moved to reconsider at once. His motion was seconded by Mr. Haynes. The motion was lost, four to two, Directors Dahlen, Froehlich, Myhrum and Mellby voting against it. Mr. Backe then wanted the board to go on record as making the matter a subject to be decided at the next meeting, and Mr. Haynes moved that this be set for next Monday night. Mr. Dahlen did not see how the board could be bound to act at any specified date, at least within so short a time. In favor of this proposition Dr. Froehlich voted with Messrs. Backe and Haynes, but the motion was lost on a tie. The motion to lay the petition on the table for the present was then voted on and carried, the only negative vote being that of Mr. Haynes.

Finally the board adjourned to meet at the call of the president.

Proceedings Deliberate.

Those who came with the expectation or hope of witnessing a display of fireworks were disappointed. The proceedings were carried on in the friendliest spirit, each side evidently wishing to treat the other with respect and fairness.

LOCAL SCHOOL MAN FOR IMPORTANT JOB

SUPT. J. H. HAY AGAIN CHOSEN TO DIRECT THE CROOKSTON TRAINING SCHOOL.

Supt. J. H. Hay of the local schools received notice yesterday that he had again been chosen to take entire charge of the State Teachers Training school to be held for six weeks during the summer at the Crookston Agricultural college. The school will open about the middle of June and will be attended by teachers from the entire northwestern portion of Minnesota.

Mr. Hay has for the past two years directed the affairs of the summer training school at Crookston and that his work has given complete satisfaction is evident from the fact that the choice has fallen upon him for the third time. State authorities conduct a scarce half dozen of these schools during the summer months and at that season of the year the best talent in the Northwest is available as instructors and superintendents. Mr. Hay's appointment for this position is cause for much gratification among his friends, who realize that the choice of the Thief River Falls man is a strong testimonial from men who are recognized authorities in school matters and therefore in a position to judge accurately the local superintendent's qualifications as an educator.

Mr. Mogensen is determined to open his new store on the date set even though it proves necessary to work night and day in order to do so.

NEW LAW WILL HELP MAKE UP DITCH DEFICIT

RELIEF SOUGHT THROUGH LEGISLATION FOR SHORTAGE IN DITCH FUNDS.

AFFECTS VALLEY COUNTIES

SENATORS NAPLIN AND PETERSON TO SPONSOR MEASURE IN LEGISLATURE.

Pennington county, in common with many other counties in this section of the state, is up against a serious problem in the matter of financing its drainage ditches. This comes about through the fact that often a ditch costs considerably more than the orginial estimate, thus leaving a deficit after the bonds have been sold and the liens filed against the lands affected. In some cases the shortage is only a few hundred dollars, while in many others the sum runs into the thousands. Including the deficit inherited from Red Lake county, Pennington now faces a shortage of approximately $70,000 in its ditch fund. This has not given serious trouble in the past, as most of the ditches have been constructed through bond issues covering a period of ten or fifteen years. Many of these bonds will soon have to be taken up, however, and now some means must be found to meet the shortage.

Meeting Held Friday.

County Auditors DuPont of Red Lake county and Welte of Polk county were here last Friday for a conference with local officials in regard to the matter of these shortages. Polk and Red Lake counties also have the same problems although the shortage there is not as large as that facing Pennington. Senator O. A. Naplin also was present at the meeting. After the question had been discussed from all angles, County Attorney Quale presented for the consideration of the meeting a bill which he had drafted, it being the intention to have this measure passed at the present session of the legislature. This bill is prepared with a particular view to giving relief to all counties in the state which find themselves facing shortages in their ditch funds and provides for additional assessments to be filed against the property benefitted by the drainage ditches.

A Reasonable Measure.

The injustice of making up these deficits from the general revenue funds of the county is apparent, for the reason that only the owner of land in the immediate vicinity of a ditch is benefitted through the construction of the drain. On the other hand, where only a very small sum remains unpaid, the proposed bill provides that it shall be discretionary with the county board whether the assessment shall immediately be collected or spread out in liens covering several years. These provisions serve to make the law sufficiently elastic to fit all local needs. The bill is intended as an amendment to a similar law passed at the 1917 session of the legislature.

Naplin Sponsors Bill.

Senator Naplin will take charge of the bill in the senate and stated that he believed its chances for passage are extremely bright. Senator Peterson of Moorhead is chairman of the drainage committee in the senate and knows a great deal about drainage problems existing in Northwestern Minnesota counties. Mr. Naplin is confident that he can get Mr. Peterson's assistance in securing the passage of the bill and as it is simply a curative act with no appropriation attached he feels sure that no serious trouble will be encountered. Chairman Oscar J. Peterson of the board of county commissioners also went to St. Paul the first of the week to lend what assistance he could in making smooth sailing for the proposed new law.

C. A. PITKIN DIES WHILE AWAY ON BUSINESS TRIP

Charles A. Pitkin, well known attorney of this city, died last night of influenza at a hospital in the Twin Cities. The telegram announcing Mr. Pitkin's death comes from Mrs. Pitkin, who was with her husband at the time of his death. The message gives no details except that the funeral will be held at Crookston tomorrow afternoon. The Elks lodge and bar association of this city will send representatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Pitkin left this city about two weeks ago and had since that time been in the Twin Cities and Mankato, where they had visited relatives and attended to business matters in connection with the estate of Mr. Pitkin's mother, Mrs. A. L. J. ACKERMAN IS INFLUENZA VICTIM

PROMINENT EAST SIDE MERCHANT LOSES BATTLE WITH DREAD DISEASE.

Louis J. Ackerman, proprietor of the East Side grocery, died Tuesday evening at 11:20. Death was due to pneumonia following a siege of influenza and he had been ill for about two weeks. Besides Mrs. Ackerman and the children, a brother, J. O. Ackerman, of Hastings, and two sisters, Miss Celia Ackerman and Miss Mary Ackerman, of Lakeville, this state, were at the bedside when the end came.

Deceased came to this city about three and a half years ago, at which time he purchased the grocery store owned by him at the time of his death. Through courtesy and fair dealing he had built up a large business among residents of the East Side and had come to be regarded as one of the successful young business men of the city.

Louis J. Ackerman was born May 20, 1876, at Lakeville, Dakota county, this state, and was married at Minneapolis on Feb. 22, 1909, to Miss May Ressler, of Worthington, Iowa. To this union three children have been born—Vern, age 6; James, age 3, and Cecelia, ten months old. Two brothers and seven sisters of deceased are the other immediate relatives surviving.

The body was shipped last evening over the Soo to the old home at Lakeville, where funeral services will be held and interment made tomorrow. The sympathy of the entire community is extended to the bereaved relatives in their great sorrow.

SUBSCRIBERS FINDING IT CONVENIENT TO CALL URGED TO DO SO.

Persons residing in or near the city and who have signed up for a copy of the History of the Great War, which The Times is giving everyone an opportunity at this time of securing on terms that will never again be equalled, may now procure the books by calling at the office of publication. In order to supply those who were most urgent in their demand for the book, The Times publisher ordered the first hundred sent by express, and these are now at hand. A further shipment of 500 is on the way and as soon as it arrives those residing at a distance will receive their books by mail upon the payment of the agreed price.

While this consignment lasts, therefore, the first making application will be supplied. It would hardly be worth while to begin shipping the books until the rest of the order arrives.

Many Already Gone.

As soon as it became generally known that the histories were to be had there was a general demand, but quite a number can still be supplied. It should be possible to send the work to all subscribers arranging for it within a very few days.

Those who have examined the work are loud in their praise of it and wonder how anyone can sell it on the terms at which it is offered by The Times. The books are sold for less than the wholesale price to ordinary agents, but one dollar additional being asked when the subscription price of the paper for one year is added. This makes $3.00 for the history and paper for one year, being just about the sum asked for the book alone in the very cheapest binding.

Should Send the Amount.

Those residing at a distance and who signed the cards sent out should at once send in the $3.00 necessary in order to have the book forwarded and should regard this article as a notification that The Times is ready to complete its part of the agreement. Upon receipt of the money the book will at once be sent.

Opportunity Not Gone.

Those who did not return the card within the time specified in the original notice may still secure the history on the same terms, but it will be necessary for them to act at once. Sign the coupon appearing on this page of The Times and send it in today. If the $3.00 is enclosed the book will be sent at once.

WARREN TEACHER COMMITS SUICIDE

RUTH BOREEN TAKES CARBOLIC ACID—ILL HEALTH GIVEN AS CAUSE.

Carbolic acid was the means taken by Miss Ruth Boreen, high school teacher in the Warren schools, to end her life. Her remains were found Monday morning in her room at a Warren rooming house. Temporary mental derangement is said to be the cause for the suicide. Miss Boreen had for some time past gradually been losing her health and it is believed that this is the reason for the rash deed. Presumably Miss Boreen had made preparations for her night's rest as she had disrobed.

Deceased was a niece of Wm. Boreen of this city, who went to the scene of the tragedy as soon as he learned of the young lady's death. Mr. Boreen accompanied the remains to Minneapolis, where the parents of the dead woman reside, and where the funeral will be held. Miss Boreen had some time ago suffered from a severe attack of nervous prostration and of late had expressed a fear that her trouble was coming back. Brooding over this fact is presumably what caused her to take the fatal step.

ORGANIZE BODY TO SAFEGUARD HEALTH

NEW ASSOCIATION TO WORK IN HARMONY WITH STATE SOCIETY.

The Pennington County Public Health association met Monday evening in the office of County Superintendent George M. Gunderson. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: W. W. Prichard, Sr., president; Mrs. J. J. Richter, vice president; J. J. McCann, secretary; George M. Gunderson, assistant secretary; Effie Hamry, treasurer.

The object of this association is to continue the anti-tuberculosis educational work and further to promote the cause of public health in Pennington county and to co-operate with the Minnesota Public Health association and with local and state health authorities in carrying out their programs.

Pennington was one of the first counties in the state to have such an organization. From the standpoint of education along the lines of public health, much has been accomplished in this county. All the preliminary work incidental to our county co-operating in securing a sanitarium was done by this association. They have furnished a nurse for short periods several years to do public health work, and gave of their funds to carry on the child conservation work ordered by the government last year. They used their influence in urging the necessity of a school nurse for the city, one of whom is now employed by the board. The next effort will likely be to secure a county nurse who will work with the county agent and county superintendent. Health talks and baby week programs have been given and have aroused much interest.

All money used has been from the sale of Red Cross seals, and this year instead of the seal sale a small part of the money from the Red Cross membership drive is available. This will probably be used to secure the services of a nurse a short time for the rural districts.

The following topics concerning Minnesota have been assigned and will be given at the club meeting: "Pioneer Life in Minnesota," Mrs. Gay Halvorson; "Bishop Whipple and the Missionaries," Mrs. E. M. Papers along similar lines have proven very interesting and instructive on previous occasions, and the numbers to be presented Monday afternoon hold promise of being something unusually good. All club members are urged to make an effort to be present.

CLUB BANQUET SATURDAY EVE AT AUDITORIUM

DATE OF THE BIG FEAST HAS BEEN POSTPONED FROM THURSDAY.

BIG DOINGS ARE PROMISED

NEARLY ONE HUNDRED FIFTY NEW MEMBERS AS RESULT OF DRIVE.

Next Saturday night is the time of the big doings. Thursday night had previously been announced as the time of the banquet to be given in connection with the membership campaign of the Commercial club, but this has now been changed to Saturday night at 8:30 o'clock and the affair will be staged at the auditorium instead of at the club rooms as previously announced.

The war for memberships has been on long enough. Peace will be declared Saturday night and the big feed will be in the nature of a peace offering. That it will be a feast worth while goes without saying. One hundred and forty new members have so far been secured for the Commercial club as a result of the present membership drive and many more will be added before the hour of the banquet. Interest is now at fever heat, while the red and blue card men are using every honorable effort to outdo one another in the quest for new members.

No Armistice Signed.

No armistice has been signed in this war and the battle will rage until final arrangements have been made at the peace table Saturday evening. Captain Mogensen and Captain Lamport each have a number of trusty lieutenants in the field who are doing effective work in bringing members into the fold. Neither side has as yet set aside money for the purchase of a flag of truce, each being morally certain that the other fellows will have to hoist the white rag. Owing to the fact that it will be impossible to decide which side is loser before the hour set for the banquet, it has been decided that old members of the club shall be taxed one dollar per plate at the banquet while the new members will get their chow for nothing.

Band and Everything.

The old and new members will meet at the Commercial club rooms at 8:00 o'clock. From there a procession headed by the band will march to the auditorium. On account of the large number to be taken care of at the banquet it was found advisable to use the larger building for this purpose. H. A. Brumund of the Brumund hotel has charge of the banquet and will do his part to see that the affair is a complete success. An orchestra will be provided to furnish music during the meal. In addition to the music, an interesting program is in preparation under the guidance of a committee headed by Mayor G. A. Penney.

IS NOT ALWAYS TO BLAME.

It is all very well to keep urging the people to hang onto their Liberty Bonds, but intimating that anyone who disposes of them is exhibiting a questionable quality of patriotism is decidedly wrong. There are any number of people who have sold their bonds when they would much rather have retained them. They undoubtedly recognize the fact that as an investment the securities are of the very highest order and that it is the duty of every American to secure as many as possible and to hang onto them after they had once been secured. These people should not be blamed for what they cannot very well help.

There can be no very serious question concerning the patriotism of any person who will borrow money at ten per cent in order to buy bonds paying four per cent, just because his government needs the money. Nor does it prove him disloyal if he afterwards disposes of the securities, receiving therefore anyywhere from three to six dollars less than their face value. He has taken the only way open to him of meeting his obligations as a citizen and should receive due credit rather than a lot of ill-considered blame.

This thing of holding up as a horrible example the man who has been compellled to part with his good securities is liable to hurt the sale of bonds in the future. After a man has paid his money to the government he has done his part and in a way it is no one's business what he does with his securities. They have served their purpose in providing the cash for Uncle Sam, and this was the first consideration. It is perfectly proper to point out to bondholders that they are making a mistake by not keeping what they have, but the act of letting go should not be viewed as one of questionable propriety. Everyone should hold onto their Liberty Bonds if they possibly can, but they should not be censored for being forced to unload.

NO BIG WHEAT SURPLUS.

Those who were so quick in voicing their opposition to the price of wheat being fixed at $2.26 per bushel will now have an opportunity to find out just how lucky they were that the government insisted upon the regulation. Herbert Hoover, who is suspected of knowing something of the food situation in the world, has stated that unless the price of the cereial had been stipulated it would undoubtedly have reached $3.50 per bushel by next harvest.

Asked whether the United States government would lose the $1,000,000,000 appropriated to support the guarantee for next year's wheat crop, Mr. Hoover said:

"The question of government loss, if any, will revolve around several different factors; first, whether we or the world will have any surplus from the 1918 crop to carry over into next year; second, what the supply and demand will be for the 1919 crop, and third, whether the government should deliberately decide to take a loss in order to lower the price of bread.

"As to the supply and demand for the 1918 crop, changes in the world demand during the last month, shown by widespread investigation of the food needs of Europe, indicated that there will be no surplus to carry over into the 1919 crop. The India famine has proved so serious that a large part of the Australian wheat must go there at once. In addition, a considerable proportion of the Australian supply which has been pilling up for years has spoiled.

"The needs of Europe are larger than our previous estimates. Altogether the balance of the supply and demand for our present wheat now looks as though we might see wheat at $3.50 a bushel, as it was in the spring of 1917, if there is a free market in wheat and uncontrolled prices. So much for the 1918 crop. There can be no free market of 90 per cent of the world's exports. Wheat is controlled by the wheat executive in London."

When the price-fixing bill was passed congress was so careful lest it should let the government in for a big deficit that it provided for the holding down of the amount to be planted by stipulating that no wheat raiser would be permitted to market no more than in 1918. It would not be surprising to find that instead of this prohibition being made effective there is another campaign launched urging the farmer to plant every available acre to wheat.

The situation is not so greatly different from what it was last year. The world must be feed and it is up to America to feed a large share of it.

SATURDAY NIGHT'S BANQUET.

What will undoubtedly prove the most interesting and important meeting ever held by the Thief River Falls Commercial club is to take place on Saturday evening, when the result of the recent membership campaign will be made known. The banquet will be held in the Auditorium in order that all members—new and old—shall have an opportunity to be present.

Three years ago Thief River Falls had the most progressive and active commercial club in this section of the state. Excellent work was being accomplished for the city and section; the farmers had arrived at the conclusion that it would be vastly to their benefit to become members and were lending their support to the different undertakings of a rather ambitious program. Then came the war and everything else was laid aside while the more important matter of helping to whip the Hun was was given the right-of-way.

This proved a good thing in more ways than one. The work followed by the club directly, and the vastly more numerous undertandings which it sponsored in one way or another, had a very marked effect upon the attitude of our people toward the great struggle. War auxiliaries of every description used the club rooms as their headquarters and were made more than welcome. This proved to many who had previously considered commercial clubs as somewhat exclusive bodies, to which only merchants and professional men belonged, that they were mistaken in their view. Friendly feelings sprang up where there had previously been more or less antagonism and misunderstanding. Farmers and city workingmen found that they had more in common with the men composing the commercial club than they had ever suspected and discovered that their neighbors were pretty much "just folks" after all.

In order that all this good feeling should not be wasted it was decided to launch a membership campaign, the principal object of which would be the signing up of these men as members. The attempt has succeeded wonderfully well. There will be 150 new members announced at the banquet, which is the largest number ever secured in any drive made by the organization. There will be a feast at which the new members will be the guests and for which the old timers will pay. This is not because of a suspicion that the former may not have the price, but simply to show that it is not primarily their money the club is after.

No attempt to talk the new members to death will be tolerated. President Stanton has very decided views as to how long a person who has nothing to say should be permitted to talk and may be depended on to keep the flow of oratory within bounds. The idea is to get together for a closer acquaintanceship and a better understanding. Other matters can wait.

This after-the-war start with 150 new members augurs well for the future usefulness of the club. The quality of the membership could not be improved upon, composing just the elements the organization has heretofore lacked.

There are numerous ways of proving oneself a slacker and failure on the part of any old member to be present on Saturday evening may well be considered as one of the most effective.

LET'S NOT LOSE OUR BALANCE.

That the controversy centering about the selection of a superintendent of schools is deplorable is something that all will very frankly admit. There having been hints and accusations, inuendo and open charges, all tending to divide our people. This is the very worst kind of a situation to have in a community.

There is generally a willingness to admit that the school board members who have displayed such uncompromising opposition to the retention of Mr. Hay as superintendent think they are acting for the best interests of the schools and the community. The contention is, however, that they are making a mistake and that they should be willing to rectify it, particularly now that the people whom they serve have given such indisputable evidence of their preference in the premises. For it is after all the majority that should rule, even in matters where school board members are legally the final arbiters. For four men to set their judgment against the wishes of practically an entire community requires a faith in the position taken that would only be justified under the most exceptional circumstances.

For fourteen years Mr. Hay has headed our schools. To his efforts and untiring energy is largely due the present excellent standing of our educational plant as a whole. His services must have been attended with at least a considerable measure of success, otherwise former school boards would have discovered his shortcomings and demanded his removal.

It is admitted that Mr. Hay has repeatedly found himself handicapped both for lack of room and a scarcity of equipment. In overcoming these difficulties he has been ably aided by the various boards, it is true, but the fact remains that, whatever the difficulties, our schools have kept their high place among similar institutions in the state. A weaker or less resourceful man would not have carried the work ahead without a single backward step during the frequent periods of growing pains experienced by our city.

The situation contains this one element of grave danger. If the board sticks to the position taken it will mean the dividing of the city into hostile camps. This must be apparent to anyone who notes the temper of our people. A large majority is determined that Mr. Hay shall remain in his present position, while the board, or a majority thereof, seems just as determined that he shall go. The question thus assumes greater proportions than justice to Mr. Hay or even the welfare of our schools. It can easily mean the destruction of the community spirit, and this is something to be avoided at almost any cost. While we are all struggling together to get along the best we can we are all right; the minute we begin pulling in different directions all the work of years may easily be undone.

The Times holds no brief for Mr. Hay. Neither has the paper, so far as it is aware, an enemy on the school board. It is, however, very much interested in seeing our people reside together in peace and harmony. Unless the board can see its way clear to look at this matter in a different light it is very much to be feared that the situation will be anything but peaceful and harmonious.

H. Mayne Stanton, whose interest in the Bemidji Sentinel was purchased by H. Z. Mitchell, formerly of Thief River Falls, has returned to newspaper work in this section, having allied himself with the Pioneer in his home city. Mayne is one of the most popular of the younger newspaper men of the state and the bunch is mighty glad to see him back. He evidently saw nothing in his travels to be preferred to good old Minnesota as a place of residence.

"Won't you give something to a soldier who has lost an eye?"

We looked up from our seat in the train and saw a young giant in Uncle Sam's uniform. He was a pathetic figure. He towered above us, six feet two, with a great frame suggesting strength and power. But one eye was gone, and the other badly infected. He was drunk, and begging for alms. He was making capital of his injury. "Won't you give something to a poor soldier?" And a whole train-load of people responded. Some of us gave because we did not know any better; some of us because we were too timid to tell him not to degrade himself like that. It was rich harvest. In his work in the woods, before the draft took him for a soldier, he probably had never seen so much money before. He did not need to work. Simply get drunk. No one would refuse liquor to a crippled soldier. And then, when his money was gone, pass the hat again. But what a life for a hero; what a way to show our pity and patriotism.

A soldier from the United States hospital for the blind of Baltimore, with both eyes gone, has applied to the Government for compensation. He will receive $100 a month as long as he lives. The Federal Vocational Board is training him to earn an honest living by tuning pianos which a blind man can do as well as men with eyes. When his training at government expense is over, he can face the world, independent, selfrespecting, asking no man for pity and charity. Some day Minnesota people will wake up to what an enlightened nation of today owes to its crippled soldiers. The pressure of public opinion will compel the injured man to take the harder road, which leads him out of pauperism to self-support. See that every disabled soldier, or other soldier out of a job or in difficulty of any sort, reports to the Red Cross Home Service Bureau.

Navy Wants Tradesmen.

To enroll tradesmen in the United States Navy as rapidly as possible is the order received by Bos'n T. Anderson of the Grand Forks Recruiting station, rooms 304 and 305, Federal building. A special call has been sent out for electricians, carpenters, blacksmiths, coppersmiths, machinists, ship fitters, cooks, bakers and molders. Bos'n Anderson points out the fact that a big future awaits every man who is a tradesman and enlists in the navy. Opportunity to learn and advance is offered those who are proficient will receive ratings as petty officers with an excellent chance of obtaining a warrant or commission.

The Buick
and
The Chevrolet

WHEN we were accorded the opportunity of becoming the Thief River Falls agents for the famous Buick automobile we at once jumped at the offer. Knowing that no better nor more popular car is manufactured in America today we considered ourselves fortunate.

The advance orders already received sustain our judgment in this matter. Any person having the slightest idea of automobile values cannot help but be attracted by the many distinct and exclusive features presented by the 1919 models from this great factory.

We also wanted a smaller and less expensive car to go with the Buick and we picked out the Chevrolet. This is the second season we are handling this wonderful little machine and it is more popular today than ever. There are many new features that places it ahead of even the beautiful production of last year. These cars can be seen at Borry's or the Aaseby & Burstad Garage and will later be on display at our new show room on Horace Avenue. An inspection is cordially invited.

Spring Opening Display
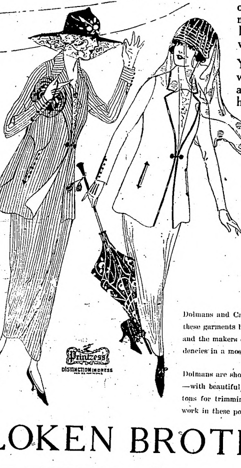
Fashion's Latest Creations

Spring is here---Easter is just around the corner---even Nature is taking on a different hue, expressing the joy of living in new clothes. Be sure to visit our garment department today. We want you to see the lovliness of the new spring Printzess coats and suits---to try them on---to examine them thoroughly whether you are ready to purchase or not.

You will delight in the soft durability of the all-wool materials---in the subtle originality of the designs which combine the "chic" of the French master designers with practical American ideals. You will appreciate the exquisite hand-finished tailoring which shows that the beauty of the garment could only have been executed by master craftsmen. Each model has a distinctive touch of individuality and a promise of "utmost" in wear. Let the Printzess label guide your purchase of a coat or suit.

Also showing a complete line of Sterling and Hoveland high grade garments.



Suits are Certainly Charming

The lines are slender and tapering, this latter effect given largely by the skirt. And what are the jackets like?—Ah! one may have the much discussed boxed style with its "link button front" and its vest of bright color or fancy silk—or you can select a blouse style, or the belted high wait models that so many women like?

No matter which style you prefer, you'll find these suits here so well tailored of beautiful fabrics and with unusual style touches that you'll stamp them as above the ordinary. You will surely find your suit in these assortments.

Coats, Capes and Dolmans are Here

Dolmans and Capes are in Vogue—there's a decided favoritism shown these garments by good dressers in style centers when selecting a wrap, and the makers of these we are showing, have interpreted th style tendencies in a most satisfactory manner.

Dolmans are shown in loose flowing styles with tricky cuffs and collars—with beautiful fancy lining and in some cases with many, many buttons for trimming. Designers certainly have shown some wonderful work in these popular garments—there's one here you'll like.

If one prefers the regular coat, she may make a fine selection too. Sometimes they are full belted and straight in line, but many good styles are shown with full or cape backs and belted fronts. Some are unlined, others are full lined with fancy silks.

In Capes one sees the full circular styles and those made with coatee fronts. Both are very popular and will please many good dressers—very often they are silk braid bound and trimmed with rows of buttons—many novel openings for your arms are seen and liked.

A Wonderful Display.

Practically every store handling wearing apparel in Thief River Falls has made the usual preparations for the spring season, but none have quite gone to the same extent in this direction as Loken Brothers. All the large show windows are designed to give a spring and early summer effect. Beginning with that at the southwest corner there is depicted a scene on the Hudson river with a cottage in the background. The three large windows on the west side of the store show a typical city park, the beautiful English box trees lending great value to this scene. In the northwest windows is shown a very pretty glen effect. Five pretty spring-like scenes are depicted in the corner windows—lambs, violets, etc., helping out the suggestion. The northwest window represents an Italian garden scene. The appropriate cards and the elegant line of merchandise shown add greatly in giving the impression that the spring time is at hand. The painting is the work of C. A. Bedell, and proves him an artist in his line.

Shop and Railroad News

Immigrants Arriving.

Immigration into this section of the country will soon be on in full swing and indications are that many new settlers will arrive here to make their homes on farms in the vicinity. Among the early arrivals are Gray & Sparks, who came up from Washta, Iowa, this week to take charge of a farm near Mavie which they purchased last fall. These men brought with them two carloads of farm equipment and expect to go after farming in earnest.

Owing to the possibility of the company not being able to get all reports out in time for income tax returns, all employes are asked to make out their own tax reports so as to have them all ready by the 15th of this month. This is a very important matter and one that all employes should keep in mind.

Wreck Cleared Up.

The wreckage resulting from the mixup at Orleans last week has all been cleared away by this time. Most of the damaged equipment can be repaired in the local yards but a few of the box cars were so badly damaged that it will be necessary to send them to Shoreham to make repairs. Other cars are being placed on foundations near the roundhouse to be used as store rooms. A railroad wreck is a mighty expensive proposition for the company.

Special Musical Program.

Mrs. Irma Mallory Fisher will sing in the Presbyterian church next Sunday. In the morning she will render "Fear Not Ye, Oh Israel," by Dudley Buck, and in the evening "That Sweet Story of Old," by West. Mrs. Fisher comes to Thief River Falls from Grand Forks where she was assistant professor in voice in Wesley College. The city will know how to welcome another singer of note who has come to make her home among us.

Railroad Slang.

The railroad engineer is known variously as "eagle eye," "hoghead" and "throttle puller"; the fireman as "diamond pusher" and "tallow pot"; new fireman, "student"; brakeman, "shack," "ground hog," "fielder" and "car catcher"; yardmaster, "switch hog"; yardmaster's office, "knowledge box"; yard clerk, "number grabber"; railroad clerk, "paper weight"; track laborer, "jerry" or "snipe"; a nonunion man, "short-tail"; a man who stays on a division about one payday, "boomer."

The locomotive is a "mill" or "kettle"; the heaviest type of consolidation engine, "battleship"; lighter type of consolidation engine, "hog"; passenger car, "varnished car"; observation Pullman car, "rubberneck car"; boxcar, "sidedoor Pullman"; coalcar, "gon"; steel car, "whale belly"; refrigerator car, "reefer"; freight caboose, "doghouse" or "buggy"; paycar, "handwagon" or "family disturber"; a train on which extra fare is charged, "dude train"; roof of a car, "deck"; riding on the roof of a car, "decking"; boards running lengthwise of the roof of a car, "running board" or "toe path."

Switching is "shuffling them up" if three cars are to be cut off you might "amputate three," "saw off three," "hand me three" or "'scuse three." The overheated journal bearing is a "hotbox", and to cool a hotbox is to "freeze the hub"; to set the brakes, "anchor them"; to set the emergency brakes, "wing her"; the roadpath on the side of the track is the "grit," and to have to jump is "hitting the grit"; missing a meal is "flying light"; to leave the service, "pull the pin"; to boast, "blow smoke."

Division Jottings.

John Stangle, boiler washer, made a trip to Waubun on Tuesday.

C. A. Joslyn, car inspector, is off duty at present on account of illness.

Nels Ostvolden has returned to the rip track after a siege of sickness.

Engineer J. F. LaValle has returned to work after an absence of two weeks.

Orville Herron, car man, has been off the job for a few days on account of illness.

C. T. Fransen, agent at Karlstad, spent Saturday in this city visiting with friends.

Carl Christopherson, hostler helper, spent the fore-part of the week with friends at Noyes.

Engineer Joe Brennan is back at the throttle after enjoying a short leave of absence.

Victor Norquist, machinist helper, spent last Thursday taking in the sights at Erskine.

Knute Melby, engineer, is relieving F. W. Kenyon on the Fordville-Drake line for a few days.

John C. Berg, pipe fitter, is laid up by illness and his place is being taken by Conrad Klappenback.

Jack Reed has recently been put on as wrecking engineer on the Winnipeg division of the Soo.

During the present lull in business Fireman Gustav Freitag has been trying his hand at washing boilers.

Harry O. Mjelde has taken the place of Carl Christopherson, who recently resigned as hostler helper.

M. L. Parsons has been checked in as agent at Carlos, Minn., vice E. B. Dickey, who is on a leave of absence.

Carl Votava, who has been firing an engine for a while, has returned to his former position as boiler washer.

W. A. Rhode, car man, has returned to work after having been laid up with the flu for a week or ten days.

Emil Norquist, boiler maker foreman, and Jack Farley, round house foreman, put in Sunday at Mahnomen.

Stationery Engineer Anton Carlson and his whole family are down with the flu. One of the children is reported quite seriously sick.

Syver Klopp, coach cleaner, has resigned to take up other work. His place was immediately taken by Hjalmer Bugge, a new man in the service.

Roadmaster G. Ellason of Detroit is in attendance this week at the roadmasters' convention held at Orangeburg, S. C. It is a fine trip and he will no doubt enjoy it very much.

S. A. Ovsak, warehouseman at Alsen, N. D., is on the sick list this week and his place is being filled by Clarence Sorenson for the present. Mr. Ovsak has returned to his home at Warren.

Miss Olga Gulrud, who has for some time held a position as clerk in the superintendent's office, has been released to make room for Glenn C. Anderson, who returned this week from service in the army.

An extra effort is being made these days to get suitable covering for the 600 tons of ice lying on the ground near the ice house. The warm weather has a decidedly harmful effect on this mountain of congealed water.

C. F. Lawrence has been transferred from Mahnomen to Detroit as warehouseman, vice Lars Halvorson, who has resigned from the service. Chas. Wittensten of Warren is now holding down the job as warehouseman at Mahnomen.

Tom Berge, night yard clerk at the freight depot, is sick with the flu, while Geo. Charboneau and Peter Amundson are laid up for the same reason. The remainder of the force is still on the job but are having a hard time to keep up with the work.

Earl Elofson, car inspector, returned to work this week after having gone through a heavy siege of the flu. This popular disease is playing havoc among the car men and those of them who have not already had it are expecting to get it most any old time.

Ole Hermanson, for the past twelve years boiler washer at the Soo roundhouse, has resigned from the service and will try his hand at farming during the coming season. He left the first of the week for Montevideo and will operate his mother's farm near that village. The new work will prove a big change for Ole.

Glenn C. Anderson, who has been serving in the army for nearly two years and during most of that time doing clerical duty at Camp Funston, Kan., has been discharged from military duty and on Monday morning resumed his former position as clerk in the superintendent's office at the Soo. The Soo will continue the policy of placing former employes in their old positions as soon as they are released from army service.

Simonson Gets Sendoff.

Baudette Region: Si Simonson, for the past five years connected with the Baudette Provision company store here, has purchased the Ostby grocery at Thief River Falls, closing the deal this week. He expects to leave about the middle of next week to take charge of the store. Beaudette and Spooner residents, as well as farmers in this vicinity, will miss good natured Si, who has waited on them for these years and though they dislike to see the Simonson family leave here because they have many friends here, they are glad that such a splendid opportunity has been opened to this estimable young couple. The best wishes of all go with them to their new home. Mrs. Simonson and daughter and Miss Millie Apelund leave Saturday for Thief River Falls.

TEN AND 20 YEARS AGO

Twenty Years Ago.

Twelve hundred acres of land changed ownership in Red Lake county during the month of February, the average price per acre being $7.36.

The Stephen Leader started out upon its 17th year, with Sam Clark as editor. Mr. Clark received many compliments because of the splendid paper he was getting out.

The long-looked-for wrestling match between Sam Bardelson and Harry Dobner was pulled off. Dobner proved to be the better man, winning two straight falls after a hard tussle. The Press stated that the principal reason for this result was the fact that Bardelson was long on muscle but short on wind. Dobner was hard-boiled in all respects.

Immigrants were arriving every day at Crookston and were moving onto land in the Red River valley. It was predicted by local authorities that prices of land would double within ten years.

Red Lake county had about 2,500 school children and received $2,250.40 from the March state apportionment. There were 28 counties in the state with a smaller enrollment.

County Superintendent Jeffries was conducting examinations in the Knox school building.

Joseph Votava moved with his family to a farm four miles southwest of the city, which he had purchased.

Peter Newman opened a restaurant in the building he purchased from John Sorum.

Mayor Dobner spent a part of the week at the stock ranch of his brother-in-law, Will Vaughn. He spoke in great confidence of the sheep industry adventure.

S. Kennison and Will Vaughn secured a stretch of land in the Thief Lake country and were getting started in stock raising. Among other live stock, they were putting a flock of 100 pure bred Shropshire sheep on the farm.

Ten Years Ago.

The senior class was preparing to present "The Merchant of Venice" on March 27 and 28.

Emil Zeh and George Curran purchased the Pure Food Grocery and took immediate possession.

The saloons at Middle River were voted out after a hotly contested campaign. The vote resulted in a tie, but an opinion from the attorney general declared the town dry.

Prof. Maxwell arrived from Red Lake Falls to take charge of his position as leader of the local band.

A deal was closed through which the controlling interest in the First National bank was sold by W. W. Prichard, Sr., to C. L. Hansen and Daniel Patterson of St. Hilaire. W. W. Prichard, Jr., expected to remain indefinitely with the new firm as assistant cashier. The elder Mr. Prichard had become interested in the lumber business, having acquired large holdings at Tacoma, Wash.

Bernhard Knudsen returned from a trip to Tennessee, where he had been spending the winter for the benefit of his health.

Red Lake county got $6,789.60 as its share of the March school apportionment.

About 60 pupils were preparing to graduate from the eighth grade of the local schools in May.

Mr. and Mrs. N. W. Tarrant moved into their new home on the East Side.

The targets and sub-caliber rifles for the indoor rifle range to be installed by the local militia company had arrived. The range was to be fitted up in the basement of the Golden Rule block.

Arthur Crick went to Rochester to be treated for cancer of the stomach. He underwent an operation and was apparently making satisfactory recovery.

Ernest O'Neill left on a vacation trip to Wisconsin, the Twin Cities and Norman county, this state.

W. C. T. U. Notes

"Sound the Jubilee!"

Hand in hand with its rejoicing over the ratification of the Federal Amendment for National Prohibition and in anticipation of the reaching of its fifty years of organization in 1924, the National W. C. T. U., will begin a five year Jubilee program by putting on in March a drive for one million dollars and one million members, according to plans given out from the National W. C. T. U. Headquarters in Evanston, Ill.

At the jubilee meetings over ratification of prohibition, being held in almost every city and town in the United States, the one body receiving the most glowing tributes is the Woman's Christian Temperance Union, referred to by the Anti Saloon League and prohibition workers as "Our Mother" in the temperance work.

When the "Crusaders," that handful of pioneer temperance women, went into the trenches in Hillsboro, Ohio, in 1873, to banish the saloons in that town, they faced a storm of sneers and stones, and literally knelt in the mud to pray. No prophet could have foreseen that their courage and prayers would spread like wild fire and their work be the forerunner of an organization literally encircling the world.

There is no suggestion or thought that the work of the organization is over, and in their jubilee program plans are being made which will cover the world.

The budget will furnish money for work always emphasized by the organization and especially needed now in the reconstruction and stabilizing period. Child Welfare $150,000, Health and Morality $100,000, Americanization $200,000, Women in Industry $30,000, Education and Information $50,000, World Prohibition $300,000, Headquarters, Evanston and Washington $50,000, Equipment and Repairs $20,000, Field Service $30,000, Administration $70,000.

The W. C. T. U. realizes that scientific temperance education must be continued for years to come and propagande will be disseminated that will insure the retaining of the prohibition laws.

No other organization is termed "organized mother love" and child welfare work will involve co-operation with the program given out by the government, with added moral education and protection for children.

Every state, including Alaska, has been given its quota of the one million dollars to be raised in the drive, beginning March 20 and continuing until May 31. The country has been divided into ten groups of states. There are ten items in the budget. Ten National field representatives to be sent out. Ten state speakers or multiple in all states, ten being the magic number to be used. Miss Josephine Sizer of Janesville has been appointed campaign manager for Minnesota.

Some readers may be interested to know that Acting Secretary of State, Frank L. Polk, used several pens in signing the prohibition proclamation, and the one he used first was presented to our national president, Miss Anna Gorden.

Officers Elected By U. T. C.

At a meeting held Saturday the following officers were elected for the ensuing year by the local lodge of the United Commercial Travelers: S. R. Johnston, senior counselor; L. G. Larsen, junior counselor; H. T. Swenson, past counselor; E. M. Bennes, secretary-treasurer; F. H. Herrick, conductor; John Ward, page; John L. Rolland, sentinel. The local lodge of traveling men is a very live organization and has done much good work during the past year. The election of the above officers insures that the lodge will continue in its efforts for more and better work during the coming year.

Open Letters to Farmers

No. 1

Dear Sir:-

Some business expert once said that if many of the "so-called business men" could buy, sell and manage as well as the farmers there would be fewer business failures.

Because you are a good buyer, you know that real economy is not in a "cheap" price, but in paying enough to get quality. It means that $30 for a suit of clothes is often really less than $18.

Here's the idea: A $30 Hart Schaffner & Marx suit at this store will outwear two ordinary $18 suits; you make $6. That's what we mean by economy and that's just the thing you are after.

Hart Schaffner & Marx clothes are all-wool; they are honestly tailored; the style is good; they will wear a long time; the colors are fast and will not fade. Here are serges, hard finished worsteds at $25 and up. We'd like to have a chance to show them to you, together with the shirts, hats and other good merchandise. Everything we sell is guaranteed to give you satisfaction. Satisfaction means to us just what it does to you. If you aren't pleased, you get your money back.

Come in any time you are in town; you don't need to buy a thing. Make this store your headquarters; use our phone; check bundles. You'll like the friendly spirit here.

Yours truly,

LIEBERMAN BROS.

MINNESOTA PEAT IS CLAIMED GOOD FOR FERTILIZER

[illegible] HINDSHAW, STATE BU[illegible] OF MINES, PRESENTS [illegible] FACTS AND FIGURES.

PLAN IS OF LOCAL VALUE

PRODUCT OF NORTHERN PART OF STATE HELD FAR AHEAD OF GERMAN POTASH.

(By Henry D. Hindshaw, Mining Department, State of Minnesota.)

Farming is the greatest industry of the United States. American farming has evolved under very different conditions than in the Old World. We have been content to get a small yield per acre from a large acreage.

The crowded countries have fewer acres and more men, and the denser the population the greater has been the use of fertilizers, Japan making use of every scrap of waste material at all suitable and the United States using practically none except in the production of special crops.

Greater Development Necessary.

The fact that America has had to feed the world and that it will have to continue to do so to a large extent, have forcibly brought to mind to all thinking people that the development of American efficiency in crop production is as vital as in manufacturing.

Machinery, drainage, irrigation and fertilizers must make the American farm unit of labor at least twice that of any European country. Carrying out this development means an increased use of fertilizers. Our yield per acre of wheat, corn and potato crops could be doubled without great expense by proper culture and fertilization.

Let us consider what is needed. The great amount of talk spent on potash within the last few years has given us these results: First, the big agricultural chemical companies and dealers still claimed great virtue for potash, scarcity of which warranted higher prices.

No Potash to Sell.

Third year of the war, potash need not be used in such large proportions. Limestone was sometimes just as good, then eventually, there being no potash to sell, it was only needed on certain kinds of soil or for special crops.

What I wish to show is that nitrogen, of which we have millions of tons in Minnesota peat beds, is of immeasurably greater agricultural value than all the potash of Germany.

The German potash salt beds have been considered one of the most valuable mineral deposits in the world. Before the war we were absolutely dependent on them for our supplies. Years of German advertising through the German Kali company made people believe that except for the loving kindness of the German government we would come to a sudden end for lack of potash. We got through without it and can continue to get along on American potash.

But with all the fuss about potash, compared with nitrogen, it is a minor consideration.

What are fertilizers and why used?

Few Essential Elements.

There are ten essential elements of plain food: Carbon, hydrogen and oxygen are derived from the air; phosphorus, potash and nitrogen are the elements sometimes deficient in soils and must be supplied from outside sources. These are the fertilizer elements.

Sulphur, lime, iron and magnesia are always present in the soil. There are five or six other not absolutely essential mineral elements entering into plant growth but all common enough. All necessary plant food elements are abundant in normal virgin soils. Those first depleted by cropping are nitrogen, phosphorus and potash. Nitrogen is needed in great amounts and is the first element exhausted. Worn out soils are almost invariably good soils from which the nitrogen has been nearly depleted by improper methods of farming.

Other Things Needed.

However much in excess the element, phosphorus or potash or nitrogen, may exist, it has no value without a proper ratio of the others. The element short its necessary amount is known as the limiting factor. In ordinary farming this is almost invariably nitrogen.

Soil improvement is a complicated process and free use should be made of the agricultural college in working towards this end, but I wish to point out that we have in Minnesota peat one of the most valuable factors.

There are great stores of potash and phosphorus in the soil and subsoil, but nitrogen is not, as the other soil constituents, derived primarily from the rocks, but must come from the air, indirectly and mostly through organic agencies.

Peat contains an average of about two per cent nitrogen. It is in such combined form as to be unavailable as plant food and draw peat has practically no fertilizer value.

In Manufacturing of Soda.

Coal usually carries about one per cent of nitrogen and our present supplies are from the distillation of coal for gas or for coke. The by-product coke oven was introduced to this country to insure a constant supply of nitrogen in the form of ammonia for the manufacture of soda in which it is largely used.

Ammonium sulphate, the form in which nitrogen is usually contained, is made by washing coal gas through dilute sulphuric acid and concentrating the liquid until the ammonium sulphate crystalizes out. The production of sulphate of ammonia in the United States increased from 19,500 tons in 1899 to 249,049 tons in 1915. Its consumption increased from 58,650 tons in 1903 to 232,000 tons in 1912. In 1911 Germany produced 400,000 metric tons, England, 378,000, United States, 127,000.

As to the agricultural value of nitrogen as sulphate of ammonia in 1911 there was used in pounds per acre.

	Sulphate lb.	Wheat lb.	Potatoes lb.
Belgium	17.8	2,228	13,160
Germany	0.98	2,012	10,250
England	5.35	1,756	10,025
France	2.22	1,238	6,360
United States	1.34	900	5,400

From this table the deduction is plainly that by using 18 pounds of sulphate costing 65 cents, Belgium raised 2½ times the wheat and potatoes as the United States.

While all the credit cannot be due to this one factor, the same time the results could be attained by no other means.

Much Peat in Minnesota.

Minnesota has 5,800,000,000 tons of peat. The average nitrogen content is about 2 per cent. Through gassification about 150 pounds of sulphate of ammonia can be recovered per ton of peat, making a total of 435,000,000 tons at $60 per ton, 26 million dollars. This looks like the theoretical profit on raising chickens, the figures don't agree with practical results, but the actual results are enormous.

Sulphate of ammonia is now a by-product of making coke and gas. With peat it will be the by-product of great power plants using as fuel. Charcoal can also be another by-product or the main products may be considered the charcoal and sulphate and the power the by-product. The proportionate values of a ton of peat will roughly be:

Gas, 6,000 feet at 3 cents	$1.80
Sulphate, 150 lbs. at 3 cents	4.50
Charcoal, 750 lbs., at $15 a ton	5.00

By complete gassification a much greater amount of power can be generated. This is not a new and startling innovation. By-product power plants are in operation in European countries. Some of these under very disadvantageous conditions. One Italian plant has a small peat deposit, five feet deep with one foot of gravel in the middle requiring a very expensive hand operation. This deposit would be laughed at in Minnesota where we have individual bogs with thousands of acres and 20 or more feet deep.

It is impossible to comprehend the big figures involved in Minnesota peat, but the values are comparable with the iron ores. A very few years ago even after their discovery, many great authorities could prove the ore to be valueless on account of its fine texture. The same kind of people can prove that peat is not usable, but fortunately they are a small minority.

Conserve Interests of State.

One feature of the development which we should bear in mind is to properly conserve the interest of the state. Peat lands have been considered the least valuable and great sums have been spent in drainage ditches and in other means of making them salable at any price.

If such sums were available for demonstration of practical methods of utilization, the great results, which must come some time soon, would arrive more quickly and the harvest, lying dormant as our forests did for ages, can be systematically garnered and with the values to the state cared for as it could not be in forests products.

The State Mines' department at Hibbing is looking into some of the larger features of the situation and I hope to have something more to say, especially as to peat making available a great source of sulphuric acid, in Minnesota, which isn't of the links in the chain of recovery of sulphate of ammonia.

WHEAT PRICE BILL PASSED THE SENATE

LAW BODY TAKES ACTION AT EARLY HOUR LAST FRIDAY MORNING.

The administration bill, appropriating $1,000,000,000 to fulfill the government's guaranteed wheat price to the farmer for the 1919 crop, was passed at 12:30 o'clock Friday morning by the senate, without material amendment, and now is a law.

Debate on amendments to the bill took place, with both Republican and Democratic members agreeing the measure was necessary so the government could keep faith with the farmer.

Senator McCumber of North Dakota, Republican, declared $350,000,000 would be enough to maintain the price of the 1919 crop if the organization provided for in the bill were eliminated. All that was necessary, he said, was for the government to take care of the surplus that would not be required in this country. This was denied by Senator Kellogg of Minnesota, Republican, who predicted every cent of the billion dollars would be required.

Declaring that profiteers had "robbed the people" by high prices of wheat products, Senator Kirby of Arkansas, Democrat, proposed an amendment to have the wheat sold at the price that would prevail if the government were not to dispose of it. This was defeated without a record vote after Chairman Gore said it would kill the bill.

Senator Penrose said under the bill the senate was called upon to appropriate one billion dollars to "make good a mistake," and an "expensive blunder." The speech of Senator Gore, in charge of the measure, was the only explanation for the bill, the Pennsylvania senator said. He added that he had copies of the Oklahoma senator's speech printed at his own expense to send to his own constituents as the only way to justify his vote for the bill.

The senate adopted an amendment by Senator Pomerene of Ohio, Democrat, prohibiting payment of the government's guarantee to farmers who raise 1919 spring wheat and who did not plant spring wheat in 1918. Senator Pomerene said some farmers are planning to defraud the government by planting an increased spring wheat acreage.

No change was made by the senate in the house provisions for import and export restrictions, or in the limitation to June 1, 1920, of the operation of the act. Efforts to reduce the appropriation and to strike out the licensing provision failed.

BARLEY IS TURNED INTO CHICKEN FEED

FORMERLY USED FOR BEER MAKING, NOW CONVERTED INTO POULTRY FEED.

Northwest barley, formerly used in beer making, is now being converted into poultry feed, with a growing demand, according to Minneapolis grain men. To such proportions is the poultry industry attaining, they said, that the elimination of the breweries from the local grain market is causing scarcely a ripple in the industry.

Additional demands for barley arise from large buying orders for dairy feed and malting purposes for export trade, according to one grain man who has been in the business here for years. These demands, he declared, would be augmented by increased purchases for making yeast, indicating the United States would become a strong factor in yeast production for exporting.

The remarkable rise in the poultry industry is attributed by grain men largely to revised standards of living brought about by the war. Eating of poultry and dairy products, they pointed out, was urged by the food administration to save the other meat for the soldiers. This, they said, has given a great impetus to the poultry industry, and, incidentally, has increased the demand for the courser grains.

More than 300,000 bushels of barley and wheat was purchased by one poultry grower during 1918, one dealer declared. He said another concern that engaged only in the raising of pigeons had purchased from him two carloads a month of cracked grains for pigeon feeding. Other firms reported barley and cracked grain sales to poultrymen, bringing the total sales for the city during the year into millions of bushels.

With the rise in prices of millfeed products, the poultry and dairy farmers turned to the use of coarse grains as a protective measure. The result, a dealer declared, had been the quick decline of all millfeed prices approximately 25 per cent during the last six weeks.

A Successful Sale.

The special sale put on by M. Giller of the stock of clothing and men's furnishings which had been damaged by fire, has proved to be a strong attraction for the people of Thief River Falls and vicinity who are on the lookout for bargains. The sale opened Saturday morning and the store was crowded to capacity from the opening hour until late at night. Mr. Giller states that more than $3,000 worth of goods were sold on Saturday alone, and that business has been good each day following. The power of proper advertising has been clearly demonstrated in the case of this sale, the event being announced thru a large advertisement in The Times last week. The fact that people from long distances came to the store to take advantage of the bargains offered proves that it pays to make business announcements through the columns of The Times. Mr. Giller is using a page again this week to announce further bargains to be offered during the next few days of the sale.

The Only Peel-It-Off Way is "Gets-It."

Only One Corn Peeler, "Gets-It"

Stop Corn Pains; See Corn Peel Off.

It is just when a corn hurts that you want to feel surest about getting rid of it. Why take chances of keeping the corn and having the pain grow worse? You'll use "Gets-It" anyhow, sooner or later; might as well use it sooner. Then you are absolutely sure that the corn will loosen from your toe so that you can peel the whole thing off painlessly with your fingers, in one complete piece—just like peeling a banana. It takes a second or two to apply "Gets-It." There's no fussing or puttering. Corn-pains will vanish—that'll keep you sweet while the "Gets-It" does the rest. Nothing new for corns has been discovered since "Gets-It" was born. Follow the judgment of the millions; use "Gets-It" and be sure to be corn and pain free! You'll say it's magic. "Gets-It," the guaranteed, money-back corn-remover, the only sure way, costs but a trifle at any drug store. M'f'd by E. Lawrence & Co., Chicago, Ill.

IT'S NOT YOUR HEART IT'S YOUR KIDNEYS

Kidney disease is no respecter of persons. A majority of the ills afflicting people today can be traced back to kidney trouble.

The kidneys are the most important organs of the body. They are the filterers, the purifiers, of your blood.

Kidney disease is usually indicated by weariness, sleeplessness, nervousness, despondency, backache, stomach trouble, pain in loins and lower abdomen, gall stones, gravel, rheumatism, sciatica and lumbago.

All these derangements are nature's signals to warn you that the kidneys need help. You should use GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules immediately. The soothing, healing oil stimulates the kidneys, relieves inflammations and destroys the germs which have caused it. Do not wait until tomorrow. Go to your druggist today and insist on GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules. In twenty-four hours you should feel health and vigor returning and will bless the day you first heard of GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil.

After you feel that you have cured yourself, continue to take one or two capsules each day, so as to keep in first-class condition and ward off the danger of other attacks.

WATERLOO BOY The Original Kerosene Tractor

In offering to you the Waterloo Boy, the Original Kerosene Burning Tractor, we believe we have selected the most practical, economical and dependable farm tractor on the market.

POINTS OF MERIT ON WHICH OUR JUDGMENT IS BASED

PAST PERFORMANCE—The Waterloo Boy has been a success on farms for five years. In no way is it an experiment.

ECONOMICAL—It is a three plow tractor—most economical and practical size to use—burns kerosene perfectly without destroying lubricating oil. Its special, patented inbuilt manifold converts every drop of kerosene into pure gas—cylinders are not carbonized—spark plugs are not fouled. The perfect burning of kerosene saves the owner of the Waterloo Boy many dollars every year in cost of fuel and care of motor.

POWERFUL—The two cylinders, with big bore and long stroke, furnish a guaranteed power of 12 H. P. at the draw bar and 25 H. P. at the belt, with ample reserve for emergencies. The Waterloo Boy pulls three plows under almost any field condition. Hyatt roller bearings at all important bearing points conserve full power. Weight of the tractor is sufficient to insure good traction for drive wheels.

SIMPLE—Every part is easy to get at and easy to adjust or repair. It doesn't require a tractor expert to keep the Waterloo Boy in good working order. The crank case cover, the inspection plate, the upper half of gear case can all be removed for purpose of inspection or repair—the operator can work from a standing position.

DURABLE—Its heat-treated steel cut gears; its force and sight feed oiling system; its 11 sets of Hyatt Roller bearings at all important bearing points and its simple, powerful two-cylinder motor combined with uniformly high grade construction throughout, result in a tractor that has given and will give many years of dependable and economical service.

FOR ALL FARM WORK—You can depend upon the Waterloo Boy in all farm power work, up to its high rated capacity. It is just as satisfactory in operating belt machines—threshers, shellers, ensilage cutters, hay balers, etc—as it is in pulling tractor implements of all kinds.

TO BEGIN SALE OF GOVERNMENT GRAIN

GRAIN CORPORATION IS ATTEMPTING TO KEEP FLOUR PRICES NORMAL.

The United States Food Administration Grain Corporation announced today that on March 15 it will begin sale of its surplus wheat holdings in American milling centers in an effort to prevent an increase in flour prices.

Julius H. Barnes, president of the corporation, said the department of agriculture report, issued recently, indicated that "contrary to public opinion, the crop of 1918 will provide no more than sufficient to meet our home need and the foreign requirements falling upon us," and added that already mills were experiencing such difficulty in obtaining wheat for milling that they were offering as high as 10 to 15 cents a bushel above the government's guaranteed price to the farmers.

"The grain corporation," he said, "by using part of its accumulated stock for re-sale in the United States, hopes to relieve the public from any material advance in the price of flour."

During 1917 and 1918, Mr. Barnes pointed out, the price of flour was stabilized by agreement of millers with the food administration, but this agreement no longer is in force, and only government sale of an adequate supply of wheat to the millers would prevent an increase in flour prices, he said. This, he added, was in direct contradiction of "the general belief that only the purchase by the government of wheat at the guaranteed price maintained the price level for the farmers."

"The government wheat, Mr. Barnes said, will be offered for sale on and after March 15 at such milling centers as Duluth, Kansas City, Chicago and St. Louis, on the basis of cost plus accumulated charges.

INLAND STATES TO UTILIZE FRESH FISH

PEOPLE IN RURAL COMMUNITIES CAN NOW GET FINE FROZEN DAINTIES.

People living in the rural districts in Minnesota can enjoy salt water fish in the best of condition without going to the seashore or anywhere near it. Furthermore they can reduce their grocery bills by using more of this kind of food, says the United States department of agriculture. Frozen fish, equal in flavor to those prepared immediately after they are drawn from the deep, cool sea, can be shipped by express or sent by parcel post to your very door during the cold months. After studying the subject for years, investigators of the bureau of chemistry of the department say that fish frozen hard just as soon as they are drawn out of the water, covered with a jacket of ice and so kept until they reach the consumer, are fresher than the so-called fresh fish that go to the market packed in ice.

There is a large supply of frozen fish in stock, accumulated to provide for war needs but not yet used, say the department specialists, and the holdings include some excellent kinds, such as weakfish, mackerel, whiting and herring, which are noted for their quality. Because of the unusually large stock on hand, probably twice as much as the country has ever before carried, frozen fish are reasonable in price. The department suggests that dealers in towns should communicate with wholesale fish men in the larger northern cities and get a supply for their trade. All packages of frozen fish sent by express or parcel post should be well wrapped and should be marked "Frozen Fish, Keep Cold."

Let's Keep Our Professor.

At the school meeting held Monday evening at the Lincoln high school it was a clear case of "The Public Be Damned," with four of the members of the board—Mellby, Dahlen, Froehlich and Myhrum. If they meant to do the fair thing with the public they would have considered the petition which was presented at that time, or at least set a definite date on which it would be taken up. The chances are it will die of old age. It was a slam at over eight hundred citizens and an insult to Prof. Hay.

In the fifth ward school at Dubuque, Iowa, where I formerly lived, one professor held the position continually from 1857 until 1897, forty years, and when he resigned on account of old age some of his friends gave his a farewell reception which was a remarkable one in that among the many who gathered at the school to bid this old professor farewell, were four generations of his pupils. The same thing should happen here. When you get a good man try and keep him.

B. G. WALKER.

Indorse Mr. Hay.

Eveleth, Minn., March 10, 1919.
Editor Times: As former members of the Thief River Falls faculty we wish to make public the fact that during our teaching career in the Thief River schools we found Supt. J. H. Hay to be very fair in his dealing with both teachers and pupils.

The teaching experience we acquired under the supervision of Mr. Hay has enabled us to secure positions in one of the best equipped school systems in Minnesota. We feel that the years spent with Mr. Hay as our advisor improved us both intellectually and socially.

We desire to have this letter published for we want the populace of Thief River Falls to understand that we appreciate what your estimable superintendent has done for not only us, but many other teachers.

In conclusion let us add that you are losing a very valuable man.

Thanking you for the publication of this letter, we remain Sincerely yours.—Marion H. McKusick, and A. Brackett Rutherford.

Commends Mr. Hay.

In our journey through life we sometimes notice things that will make us stop, look and listen. In a case like that we have to use good judgment. I was surprised when I heard that our friend, Prof. J. H. Hay, had resigned. I thought that it could not be true, but when I saw it in the newspapers I had to believe it.

I don't think there is anybody who has called upon Mr. Hay as often as I have, but he has always used his rare good judgment for the good of both sides—the children and the teachers—so that everything went fine. They may find men with just as good an education as that possessed by Mr. Hay, but when it comes to experience I think he is as good as any man. Any time or anywhere you want to talk to him, he will always give a sensible answer, and he is neither too busy nor too stuck up to talk with you.

Some may think that he cannot control the young folks and that the youngsters are running wild all over town late at night. If the parents cannot take care of their own children, they should be ashamed to ask anyone else to care for them when they should be at home. I have had no trouble that way as I tell my children to be at home at a certain time or the doors will be locked. The young folks always were home early enough and as long as I am able to take care of the home I don't want anyone else to do so.

I hope Mr. Hay will stay with us as I believe most of the people of Thief River Falls wish him to do so.

A CITIZEN.

An Answer is Wanted.

I was one of the men who circulated the petitions presented to the school board at its meeting Monday evening. I was asked by a number of taxpayers and citizens to assist in the matter. I went out in good faith, believing that the objective was worthy of my best efforts. The petition under my care was signed freely by some of the largest taxpayers in the city and surrounding community. Not one man whom I encountered refused to sign the petition because of any objection to Mr. Hay or his work. Therefore it must be assumed that the sentiment in favor of Mr. Hay is very nearly unanimous.

Personally, I am for Mr. Hay in this controversy and consider that I have good and sufficient reasons for taking this attitude. I have been a resident of the city during the fourteen years which Mr. Hay has spent as head of our schools and for many years before his arrival. Three of my children have graduated from the local high school and a fourth is now a student there. During all these years of close contact with the schools I have never had the slightest reason for criticizing Mr. Hay nor his methods. He has proven to my entire satisfaction that he is the right man for the place.

As a citizen and a taxpayer of Thief River Falls, I would like to know the reasons for Mr. Hay's dismissal. If any member of the school board will give me this information I shall be glad to call at his office to receive it. My telephone number is 384, and I may also be reached by phone in case this method of conveying the information should prove more convenient.

NEW PAPER FOR FOR SOLDIERS STILL SERVING

EDITION OF "CAMP DODGER" NOW PUBLISHED REGULARLY IN FRANCE.

DEPICTS LIFE OF SOLDIER

VARIOUS DIFFICULTIES HAVE BEEN OVERCOME IN ESTABLISHING PAPER.

In a dusty little French print shop on the upper Meuse, very late one night last month, an ink-smeared American soldier stuck his head thru the composing room door and bawled out "Thirty," at the top of his lungs. Which is the way American newspapermen have of telling the other fellow that the copy is all in for the night and the pressman can start his roller going just as soon as he wants to.

The ink-smeared soldier was Private George L. O'Brien of the 352nd Infantry. The other fellow was Private Tonquin Gregory of the 349th. An hour later Private Gregory emerged jubilantly from the press room and went into ecstacies with Private O'Brien over a very ordinary-appearing newspaper upon which the ink was still fresh. That particular paper was, however, one of the most unusual ever run off by an American pressman. It was the first edition of the Overseas Camp Dodger, the oldest newspaper in the National Army and the first publication ever to be carried across the seas by its founders and survive the havoc of campaigning in the world war. Furthermore, it was the first soldier newspaper which ever successfully attempted publishing simultaneously on two continents, for there are now two Camp Dodgers—the first one founded by the 88th Division at Camp Dodge in September, 1917, and the Overseas Edition now being issued by the same organization on the upper Meuse in France.

Unique Publication.

Aside from being one of the most unique in the history of American newspapering, the story of the Overseas Camp Dodger has come to be regarded by the men of the 88th as one of their proudest boasts. Today it not only is the principal means of maintaining contact between the soldiers of the numerous organizations of a great division, but it has reached out still farther and is assisting the relatives and friends of those same soldiers to keep in touch with the things that these men are doing over in France. This latter is being accomplished by means of a monster news agency, inaugurated by the paper during the middle part of January, which now serves more than a thousand newspapers all over the United States. By means of articles, photographs, and cable dispatches, this bureau keeps papers constantly informed about what the men from their particular territory are doing, stories about the part they have already taken in the fighting now finished, and anything else which those interested in these particular soldiers may ask for.

Many Difficulties Overcome.

Those men who founded The Camp Dodger back in the states in 1917 and later developed it into the leading camp newspaper in the army, faced probably the most severe obstacles ever coped with by a military publication when they launched the initial issue of their overseas edition and founded the news bureau which is now serving the home states. In the first place, the divisional training area at Gondrecourt is in the heart of the upper Meuse, miles away from any printing plant, and the division itself scattered over an area of more than 25 miles. To collect the news each week from this vast territory, with practically no transportation was a problem in itself. But on top of this, the nearest printing office was 30 miles still farther to the north, at Bar-le-Duc. And, as a climax, this little French print-shop had neither linotype machines nor hand compositors. All the printers had gone to war, and the only remaining inhabitant of the office was a feeble, old pressman, who stated that he knew something about running a machine, but that he wasn't able to work on a very strenuous time schedule.

To add to these troubles, the print paper situation in France is about the worst in the world. All paper is controlled by the government, the same as bread and other foodstuffs. Only the larger plants can buy any quantity. The Bar-le-Duc shop had no regular print paper, but the owner had purchased a small extra supply of book paper before the war, and he offered the use of this until a supply of the ordinary stock could be obtained. It is this paper which the Overseas Camp Dodger is now using. In the meantime, appeals are going to Paris for help. Whether or not they will obtain results is doubtful.

Efficient Staff Organized.

To meet these unusual conditions and at the same time publish with regularity, an equally unusual organization was instituted. Lieutenant L. R. Fairall, founder of the original Camp Dodger in the home states, was placed in charge of the new overseas edition and, together with all of the staff of the old paper, set about to assemble the news forces of the twenty or more different units of the division under one head. A system of regimental representatives, with individual news couriers, was instituted, and this big chain united with a central receiving office under Corp. Fred Bunch, late telegraph editor of the San Francisco Examiner. In the main office at Gondrecourt a corps of reporters was assembled to write the material thus gathered and arrange it for both the paper and the overseas news service to the home states.

The Mechanical Department.

The printing problem was solved by two old-time compositors, brought down from one of the regiments. Every week now the copy is assembled at Gondrecourt, dispatched 30 miles by courier to Bar-le-Duc, and the rest is left to these two men who toil over it seven days in the week to get the paper out on time. The composition is all done by hand, letter by letter, and the proofs corrected in the same way. The actual printing of the paper is a two-day process. Just before the close of hostilities, a Boche aviator dropped a bomb on the printing plant and destroyed all the presses with the exception of one very ancient model, rusty and almost shaken to pieces, which has a maximum capacity of only a few hundred papers an hour. This press is operated by an aged Frenchman, the sole survivor of the pre-war force of employes.

After the paper has been printed, it is folded by hand by a force of soldiers who are likewise brought from the office at Gondrecourt. It is then loaded in motor trucks and transported to the center of the division area, whence a train of automobiles completes the distribution to the farthest companies.

In this way, 10,000 papers a week are written, printed, and distributed. The process is slow and difficult, but in France a soldier has to "Do as the Romans." The paper is sold for five cents a copy and all profits are turned over to the Division Athletic Fund, to be used for the purchase of uniforms and equipment for the various regimental teams. Money making is only a very small incidental, however, in the real work of the paper.

Object of Paper.

"The Overseas Camp Dodger plans to make expenses and a small margin over—that is all. Its primary duty is to unify the division, develop an esprit de corps, promote the welfare of the man in the ranks, and bring a little cheer into the rainy wastes of the Meuse."

The overseas newspaper idea was not a new one born with the 88th Division since its arrival in France. Long before it left the states, the directors of the paper had completed arrangements for continuing the publication of a journal on both continents, the two being linked together as closely as possible. As a result, plans were made accordingly, but at the last minute, it turned out that none of the old, original staff of the 88th's paper were willing to stay behind when the time came for leaving. There were only one or two minor exceptions to this, and the edition at Camp Dodge had to undergo an entire reorganization.

Then, after the division had been in France only a few weeks, and while the organization for the overseas publication was still in the process of completion, word came that the entire command was to move up to the front soon. Immediately, every member of the staff hurried back to his unit to prepare for the bigger work to come—for fighting men were needed at the front, and there was plenty of time later on for publishing newspapers, after the battling was over with.

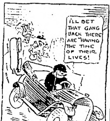
To Continue Indefinitely.

Now that the fighting is over, however, the Overseas Camp Dodger will be a regular part of the division's life, and will publish until the organization is finally mustered out. In a like manner, General Weigel, commanding the division, has expressed the desire to keep the home folks constantly informed from now on about what their boys are doing, and the news service will be an equally permanent feature of this new branch of headquarters.

The entire organization is still in its infancy, but it has already demonstrated its immense usefulness. What a city newspaper is to the civilian, the Overseas Camp Dodger is to the soldiers—and more, for it not only furnishes the main link which ties the thoughts and activities of more than 30,000 men into one, but it reaches even farther and brings the daily life of these men to the thousands of homes in every part of America, from which they come.

"It Happened at Thief River Falls"

Under the above caption the Minneapolis Daily News republishes the following short story from The Times, having added the illustration for good measure. The chauffeur does not bear any particular resemblance to Mr. Baker and the accident took place on the prairie instead of among the hills, but those present will doubtless recognize the automobile. The Times story was as follows:



I'LL BET THAT GANG BACK THERE ARE HAVING THE TIME OF THEIR LIVES!

"Agent W. E. Baker of the Great Northern treated a number of young folks to a sleighride party on Sunday afternoon. He hitched a coasting bob behind his auto and started with the load for St. Hilaire. When a mile or so from town the joy-riders managed to upset the conveyance, and were dumped out in the middle of the road. Mr. Baker knew nothing of the accident, and kept right on feeding the juice to Old Reliable. After he had gone a couple of miles he noticed that his tow was slewing badly, and looked around, only to find that the passengers were missing. He started back, and found the latter huddled against a strawstack in a rather vain endeavor to keep warm."

Minnesota Gets Benefits.

Minnesota will receive $7,500,000 federal aid for road building, proportionately more than any other state will get, Senator Frank B. Kellogg told the members of the state legislature at a joint session on Saturday. Mr. Kellogg declared the passing of the wheat guarantee bill by congress would prove of great assistance to the state farmers.

Dr. Miles' LAXATIVE TABLETS

Mother's Health affects the whole family

When mother is feeling "out of sorts" the home life is "out of tune." When suffering from headache, or any of the various ailments caused by constipation she is obliged to neglect her home duties. Children and husband miss the hundred and one little things she does for them.

Read how Mrs. Lillie Smith of Burlington, Vt., found relief.

"For years I suffered from chronic constipation. I grew steadily worse and was unable to do any work. I used different remedies but to no avail. I used DR. MILES' LAXATIVE TABLETS and they gave me prompt relief."

Women, men and children find in DR. MILES' LAXATIVE TABLETS a splendid and effective medicine for constipation and it's ills. Keep a box always on hand. Delicate women and children can take them with safety. Money back if first box fails to satisfy. All druggists.

The Mail Order House and the Country Merchant

(Editorial from The Duluth Herald.)

F. P. Mann, president of the North Dakota Retail Merchants' association, contributed some hard common sense to a discussion of the mail order problem before the recent convention in Minneapolis of the Minnesota Retail Grocers' association.

He said that mail order houses should be fought by better merchandising methods, and above all by advertising. "One reason why mail order houses have made such progress," he said, "is that ninety per cent of the rural business men do not believe in advertising."

The truth of that idea is to be seen plainly on every hand.

In the many rural newspapers that come to this office we have many times observed this phenomenon; that most of the outcry against mail order houses comes from the communities whose local merchants, judged by the advertising columns of their local newspapers, are the least progressive.

In nine times out of ten, when you find a country paper attacking the mail order houses and urging people—vainly, no doubt—to do their buying at home, you will find few local store advertisements in that paper, and the few that are there are bare announcements, seldom or never changed, that such and such merchants are engaged in such and such business enterprises. Such advertisements, inserted by so-called merchants, are the products of men who do not believe in advertising, and who do what advertising they do largely as a charity to the local newspaper. Yet the local editor, handicapped by the unprogressive sloth of the merchants battles week in and week out against the mail order houses in behalf of these unprogressive merchant whose neglect of a great opportunity gives the mail order houses their best opening.

On the other hand, when a country newspaper carries real advertisements, using good space and full of detailed figures and bargain prices, showing that that town has progressive merchants, you seldom find it worrying about the mail order houses. The mail order house is no problem there because the merchants, by up-to-date merchandising and effective advertising, are able to hold their own and more.

In nine times out of ten the merchant that sits under his cobwebs and whines about the mail order house deserves to be defeated by this distant competitor because he doesn't brush up on his merchandising and especially on his advertising. Country stores that run real advertisements, like those of the leading merchants in Duluth stand up successfully against mail order competition, and the newspapers of such towns never need to waste breath in academic arguments in favor of buying at home.

One advertised bargain, showing that the live home store can compete with the mail order houses, is worth yards and yards of printed appeals to patronize home industries.

The merchant who is worried by mail order competition has his remedy right at his elbow in the local newspaper's advertising columns, providing he studies the advertising methods of city merchants and keeps as up-to-date in his advertising as he does in his other merchandising methods.

Send Original Papers.

Payment to discharged soldiers of the $60 bonus authorized by the last congress is being delayed by failure of the soldiers to comply with the requirements of the law, according to information recently received. War department disbursing officials have announced that thousands of soldiers had sent "true copies" of their discharge papers and that payment of the bonuses would be delayed until the original copies were sent. In cases where the original certificates have been lost, the original order for discharge must be submitted.

"Granny" Chamberlain

Whooping Cough

"The disease I most dread is Whooping Cough, for children are often permanently injured by the awful straining of the cough. You should never neglect it, and treatment should be started at the first symptom. You cannot mistake the symptoms: protracted coughing, worse at night; peculiar whoop; labored expectoration of mucus; apparent suffocation after coughing.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy

is a positive remedy for this disease—repeat the dose frequently, for if given freely it liquifies the tough mucus, makes it easy to expectorate and counteracts any tendency toward pneumonia. There is no danger whatever from Whooping Cough when Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is freely given."

The Searchlight of Publicity

The most powerful search-light in the world today is the search-light of publicity. Any enterprise, any science, any new invention which can "stand up" under the piercing rays of publicity, the strongest of all search-lights is bound to be a lasting success.

The New Health Science CHIROPRACTIC

"Stands up" well under this search-light, the strongest rays being unable to find any defect. And the result is that thousands of men and women have reason to bless the day when Chiropractic was discovered. To Set Clocks Ahead.

The bill to repeal the daylight saving law was among the lost in the shuffle at the windup of congress. As the president refuses to call an extra session while he is away, the present law will hold and clocks will be set forward an hour on the last Sunday in March, which means on the morning of March 30.

WORK PROGRESSING ON PAVILLION PLAN

LIVE STOCK ASSOCIATION IS TAKING STEPS TO SECURE NEEDED BUILDING.

At a meeting of the Livestock Breeders' association on February 21, a number of men were selected to sell shares or receive donations for a livestock pavilion to be built on the fair grounds in Thief River Falls. Such a building will greatly increase the value of the property, thereby making the purchasing of shares a more profitable investment than in the past.

This building will be erected so that cattle, sheep, hogs or poultry can be brought in, safely housed and sold to the best advantage to prospective buyers. Shares sell at $25.00 each. It is not necessary for one man to purchase a share alone as several may go in together. Each township will be credited with as many shares as the total amount subscribed is divisible by twenty-five. Funds may be received towards buying shares or for donations for the building without purchasing a share.

The amount subscribed by each township will be published from time to time so that the progress of the work can be seen by all. Any further information will be gladly given by the people of this committee, which is composed of the following men: Mike McAndrews, St. Hilaire; Fred Beerbower, Thief River Falls; J. J. McCann, Thief River Falls; A. J. Anderson, Thief River Falls; F. B. Conklin, Thief River Falls; R. J. McKercher, St. Hilaire and Paul Engelstad, Thief River Falls.

The men who were selected in each township to receive subscriptions are as follows:

Black River—R. J. McKercher, Wm. Novak.
Bray—Emil Larson, deputy appointed by Larson.
Village of St. Hilaire—Charles Biglow, B. Burkee.
Cloverleaf—Thos. H. Smith, deputy to be appointed by Smith.

CITY COUNCIL ACTS ON MANY MATTERS

LARGE BATCH OF ROUTINE BUSINESS DISPOSED OF AT TUESDAY MEETING.

Routine business occupied the attention of the city council at the meeting of that body held Tuesday evening. Reports of the various city officials were read and accepted. The resignation of Harry Warner as a member of the fire department was accepted and George Curran was chosen to take his place.

A report from Engineer Geo. W. Walker regarding the proposed new sewer on Kendall avenue was read. After some discussion of the matter it was voted to postpone action until further investigation had been made. It also was deemed advisable to get more signatures on the original petition for the sewer, thus removing any doubt about a majority of the affected property owners desiring the improvement.

The matter of a new siren fire alarm for the city was gone into at some length but no definite action was taken. The president of the council appointed a committee to investigate the siren proposition and also to gather additional information to be used in case it is decided to install a filtering plant for this city. All members of the council with the exception of the president were named on this committee.

The city clerk was instructed to advertise for bids for the construction of a new electric sewer lift at the intersection of Horace avenue and Seventh street. Plans and specifications had been prepared by Engineer Geo. W. Walker and were accepted by the council. The new improvement, while its initial cost is considerable, will prove a good investment in the long run as it will practically do away with the former expense of over a thousand dollars a year necessary to handle sewage at this point.

Leonard Peterson, superintendent of the water and light department, appeared before the council to urge the necessity of either buying a new pump for the waterwork or making extensive repairs on the old machine. The present pump has now reached a point where it is liable to go to pieces without warning, and it is the opinion of the superintendent that the city cannot afford to take these chances. Mr. Peterson was instructed to arrange a temporary pump by using the fire department engine, and to give the large pump a thorough overhauling at the earliest possible moment.

Street Commissioner Bakken was authorized to purchase 200 yards of gravel from Chas. Johnson to be used in repair work on the streets and crossings during the coming season. This gravel is to be delivered to any point in the city at $2 per yard.

In view of the fact that most of the other buildings in the city which have for the past year or more flown flags recently have ceased to do so, the advisability of continuing to display the national emblem from the flag pole of the auditorium every day was brought up for discussion. A motion to let the flag fly at least until formal peace treaties had been signed with Germany was passed by the council.

The financial statement of the city for the year 1918 as prepared by B. E. Dalquist was next presented to the council for consideration. The report was accepted and ordered published. After the usual batch of bills had been allowed the council adjourned until the next regular meeting.

RED CROSS HELPS IN BONUS MATTER

HOME SERVICE SECTION TO ASSIST SOLDIERS IN PRESENTING CLAIMS.

The Home Service Section of the American Red Cross announces that a revenue act approved February 24 authorizes a bonus of sixty dollars, payable to all persons who have served in the military or naval forces and have been discharged since April 6, 1917.

All discharged men who are entitled to this amount should write to the Zone Finance Office, Lemon Building, Washington, D. C., enclosing certificate of discharge, a copy of the order of release or papers bearing the endorsement of final payment. A statement of all military service during the war, place and date of reporting at first station, and the address to which the check should be sent are also required. All papers will be returned with check.

The local Home Service committee will be glad to aid any soldier in writing for this bonus.

Mrs. Barbara Votava.

Mrs. Barbara Votava died on Monday at her home, 506 Kendall avenue south. Influenza with complications was the cause of death after an illness of only eleven days. Mrs. Votava was among the pioneers of this city, having resided here for the past 22 years. She had reached the age of 47 years at the time of her death. Twenty-seven years ago she was united in marriage to Joseph Votava, who, with seven children, is left to mourn the death of a good wife and mother. The children are Joseph, Frank, Barbara, Mamie, Rose, George and James. Deceased was a woman of loving and cheerful disposition and will be greatly missed by her many friends and neighbors. The funeral is held this morning from the Catholic church with Rev. Fr. M. J. Noesen conducting the services.

Harold Strupp.

Harold, the year old son of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Strupp, passed away on Monday after a short illness, death being caused by pneumonia. The little fellow was born in this city on March 4 last year and was a most lovable child, who had made a strong place for himself in the hearts of his parents, brothers and sisters. The funeral was conducted at the Catholic church, Rev. Fr. M. J. Noesen conducting the services.

Otto Forlund.

Otto Forlund passed away at the Oakland Park Sanitarium last Friday after a lingering illness from tuberculosis. Mr. Forlund was a farmer and had resided for a number of years on a farm near Warren, and the remains were shipped to Warren for burial. Deceased was born March 6, 1878.

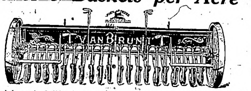
You Can Increase Your Yield 3 to 9 Bushels per Acre



Several farms in California got 3 to 6 bushels, Illinois 5, Kansas 3 1-2 and Iowa 9 bushels more per acre by drilling small grain instead of broadcasting.

Here is the big advantage in drilling which we want all of our customers to understand—only one trip over the field is necessary to plant the seed. The drill completes four operations—it makes the seed furrows, drops and covers the seed and pulverizes the soil. Not necessary to drag a harrow over the field afterwards.

You will always need a machine of some kind for planting your small grain crops. Why not get one from us now that will do all of this work—one that plants the seed at even depth so that the crop will all be ready for harvest at one time?

We have the drill in stock that we know will do the work for you. It is a John Deere-Van Brunt—the famous drill that has worked very successfully all over the country for forty years. We want you to know all about the Van Brunt Grain Drill. It has a patented adjustable gate force-feed that will interest you in the way it works. Come in and let us show you how easy it is to plant even, continuous streams of fine, medium or coarse seed with this drill.

DEFENDS MARKS EARNED BY MEN IN ARMY ABROAD

"THIEF RIVER FALLS SOLDIER STRONGLY IN FAVOR OF CHEVRON SYSTEM."

PRESENT GOOD ARGUMENTS

BELIEVES AMERICAN SOLDIERS SERVING IN FRANCE SHOULD BE RECOGNIZED.

A move has been on foot in this country for some time to abolish the system of awarding service chevrons to soldiers, the claim being made that it is unfair to soldiers remaining on this side to give special marks to the men who were fortunate enough to be called for service in France. The proposition has been argued at length and the view of a soldier actually in service with the American Expeditionary Forces will no doubt be of interest.

The Times is in receipt of the following letter from Sgt. C. Arthur Swanson, a former Thief River Falls boy who is now with the army in France, and it is such a powerful argument from the standpoint of the soldier in overseas service that this paper takes pleasure in reproducing the letter in its entirety. It is as follows:

View of A. E. F.

"Ribeaucourt, France, Feb. 12, 1919. An obscure news item in the Paris edition of the 'Daily Mail' reads in part as follows:

"'An Amendment to the Army Appropriation bill, unanimously agreed on by the Committee, abolishes all war service chevrons. Since the authorization of silver chevrons for home service during the war, many letters have been received by Congress protesting against it, saying that the result is a discrimination being made against the men who served at home, in distinction from those who served overseas.'

"The whole A. E. F. stands aghast in contemplation of the petty envious spirit which prompted the protests referred to in the above news item. If the gold service chevron for overseas service of six months or more is a discrimination against the unfortunate ones who served at home, then other questions must arise, namely:

Arguments Advanced.

"Is the wound chevron a discrimination against those too unfortunate to be wounded? Is the D. S. C. a discrimination against those to whom Dame Fortune denied the chance to be heroes? Is the D. S. M., given to the great generals of this war, a discrimination against those who, while perhaps of the same heroic mold, were denied the big chance? Is the uniform a discrimination against the civilians who bought Liberty Bonds?

"We would ask that the protestors publish their protest over their names. About two millions of us would like to give such a list the 'once over.' Are they ashamed of their work at home that they would fain have people believe they served in France?

"We know that thousands of true loyal soldiers served in the United States, and we know that they are not ashamed of the service they rendered there, and that they do not feel they are being discriminated against because those who served in France for six months or more will bear a little stripe to show where they served. We who will wear but one stripe do not feel slighted because others wear two or three. We realize what a soldier must undergo when he follows the various fortunes of an army's sojourn 3,000 miles from home, and we realize what six months, 12 months, or 18 months 'over here' means to a man, especially to members of the combat divisions.

Wants Measure Defeated.

"I would therefore ask that you kindly give space in your paper for this letter, and I appeal to the readers thereof, nearly all of whom have relatives or dear friends in the A. E. F., to use their influence to defeat the purpose of those who would spitefully rob us of the little insignia indicating that we have unselfishly and cheerfully spent six months or more in France under conditions little realized back home. Very respectfully yours, Sgt. C. Arthur Swanson, Co. A, 352nd Inf. (88th Div.) A. P. O. 795, A. E. F."

PATRIOTISM MADE TEST FOR ALIENS

MOVE ON FOOT TO REPORT MEN WHO FAILED TO DO THEIR DUTY.

A movement has been started by the local draft boards of Seattle, Wash., looking toward the deportation of all aliens, both declarants and non-declarants, who had claimed exemption from military service on the mere ground of non-citizenship.

The exemption of aliens was the most exasperating experience of the boards. The action of such aliens was cowardly, disgraceful and unpatriotic. Every such person immediately branded himself as a dangerous and undesirable resident. This country nurtured and protected these ingrates. At the very first test, when this nation faced a crisis, these men were not willing to bear any burdens. For every alien so exempted a good American boy had to go to the front. The aliens remained at home in ease and safety. In many cases these aliens retain good jobs to the exclusion of our returned soldiers.

Congress has recently considered a bill to restrict immigration. In this connection there is a strong feeling all over the country that aliens who refused to help in time of need should also be given attention by the government. It is the opinion of many that these men should, for the good of the country, be deported without further ceremony. Agitation along these lines is bound to bring beneficial results.

HINDERERS SCORED BY LOAN CHAIRMAN

ROGERS SCORES THOSE CIRCULATING REPORT OF NO MORE LOAN CAMPAIGNS.

Certain persons who are anxious to hinder the efforts of the United States government in its reconstruction work came in for a sound scoring this week by A. R. Rogers, chairman of the Ninth District War Loan organization, in explaining that there will be a Liberty Loan campaign in April.

A report recently gained wide circulation that the next bond issue would be absorbed by the banks without asking individuals to purchase the government securities.

"There will be one more Liberty Loan," said A. R. Rogers. "It will be known as the Victory Liberty Loan, and it will come in April.

"Somehow the report got abroad that the government had no intention of inaugurating another drive. We do not know where the report started but we do know that it was freely circulated by persons anxious to impede the work of the government.

"America may well be proud of the part she played in the historic struggle. She gave lavishly of her best blood and she poured out her money in a golden flood. So nobly did the nation respond to the call to arms that the war came to an abrupt end six months before the experts predicted it would. The early peace saved the country hundreds of thousands of her sons and countless millions of her treasure.

"But the job is not finished. Government officials calculate that about five billion dollars will be needed to finish it. The boys must be brought home; they must be fed and clothed until demobilization is complete; the sick and the wounded must be taken care of as though the war was still going on and thousands of disabled men must be taught new ways to earn a living.

"With the tumult and shouting gone, this country will be put to the test. We met the stress during the stress of war and I know we will meet it again when the time comes. We are a grateful nation, and I think the Fifth Liberty Loan will prove it to the world."

NEW FEDERAL TAX LAW IS IN EFFECT

AUTOS, PIANOS AND SODA WATER ON LUXURY LIST; WHISKEY DOUBLED.

Signing of the revenue bill by President Wilson on his special train en route to Washington Monday night puts into operation the machinery for collecting six billions of taxes this year.

Higher taxes provided in the new bill go into effect at once on liquor and soft drinks, including near beer, grape juice, soda water and mineral waters and on tobacco and so-called luxuries.

Anticipating the imposition of new taxes, thousands of gallons of whisky had been withdrawn from government bonded warehouses within the last week, with tax paid at the old rate of $3.20 a gallon, to escape the higher rate of $6.40 a gallon now effective.

Articles in the "luxury" class include automobiles and motor accessories, pianos, sporting goods, chewing gum, cameras, candy, fire arms, slot machines, toilet soaps and art goods. The tax is paid by the manufacturer.

Other features of the tax bill which go into effect today, but which are retroactive, and consequently not practically affected by the time of the signing of the bill, include the following:

Taxes on incomes, excess profits and war profits, estates and inheritances, and excise taxes on a number of special businesses, such as brokerage firms, bowling alleys, insurance companies, theatres and amusement places and liquor firms. Drastic measures to prevent the narcotic drug traffic become effective at once.

On April 1 new taxes on railroad and steamship tickets, pipe lines, insurance, theater admissions and club dues, and a variety of stamp taxes become effective. Levies against the excess of value of so-called semi-luxuries, such as articles of dress, will be made after May 1. The soda fountain tax becomes effective May 1. Taxes on products of child labor will be imposed in sixty days.

Without awaiting signature of the bill by the President, the internal revenue bureau has gone ahead preparing to administer the law tax. Return forms and regulations are being issued, and income and profits tax returns must be filed by March 15.

Redby Commercial Club Will Visit the Neighbors

The Commercial club of Redby, a village located on the shores of the great Red Lake and adjoining the Red Lake Indian reservation, has taken the initial steps to have a harbor established there for the better handling of the boat traffic on the largest lake in any state in the Union.

The club has adopted a resolution asking congress for an appropriation to construct the harbor and named a committee to take the matter up with Minnesota's representatives in congress and with Senators Nelson and Kellogg. During navigation at least 100,000 tons of freight, mostly fish, are handled at Redby, and at present there is no breakwater nor anything to shelter the boats that ply on the lake, which at times is swept by storms almost equal in intensity to those that stir up Lake Superior.

What the Public Should Know About the Packing Industry

THE business of collecting, preparing and distributing foods so relates to the daily life of all that it has close, personal interest for everybody. Sensation seekers have long realized this and capitalized on it. An attack on the packers could always be relied upon either to draw notice to its instigator or divert too close investigation of some other question.

Possibly we are partially to blame for the lack of understanding which exists in regard to our business. In the past, knowing that attacks upon us have been based on tissues of half-truths, adroitly handled innuendo and misinformation, we may have forgotten that the public were not in full possession of the true facts.

Armour and Company have always courted proper inquiry into methods and operations. And, in the past few years, because of so many ex-parte hearings, we have voluntarily put our case before the public. Through publication advertising, we have met the misleading headlines through which people get impressions, headlines frequently controverted by the text matter under them.

Confident that fair-minded people will respond to complete knowledge, we seek better understanding with them. Through newspapers, booklets, moving pictures of our processes and other similar methods, we are explaining the place Armour and Company occupy in the world of human needs and the manner in which they fulfill their function.

We are putting our case squarely up to all parties who are interested—to producer, merchant, consumer and labor—and that each may realize how our obligations to him must combine with our responsibilities to the other involved, we let all know the entire story as we tell it to the rest. We tell consumers what we say to the producers—producers what we say to consumers.

When all is said, however, the size of any business dealing competitively in staples must remain the best evidence of its economic soundness. If our methods were not sound, Armour and Company could not have attained size in proportion to national needs.

Bearing this thought in mind, you will readily appreciate that your own self-interest and your right to fullest value for your money both urge that you always ask your dealer for Armour Products.

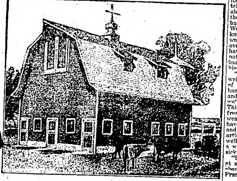
"[illegible]uild a barn!"

[illegible] advice is being urged on the [illegible]rs by the United States govern[illegible].

[illegible]re are two reasons why farm [illegible]ng should be resumed at once. [illegible]s the need of farm buildings to [illegible] the increased crop production [illegible]e live stock; the other is that the building trades and the building industry of this country must be employed if the farmers are to continue to enjoy the prosperity that has come to them during the last four years.



The need of buildings is known to every farmer, whose place is not properly supplied with housing facilities for his crops and his live stock. Both are too valuable nowadays to be housed in anything but the most modern building. The old-fashioned barn, where it cost 90 cents in labor to produce $1 in milk has given way to the modern barn, equipped with labor-saving devices—devices that promote greater milk production. Scarcity of labor makes such a barn a requirement for the profitable conduct of the farming industry.

That his own prosperity depends on [illegible] prosperity of labor, not the labor [illegible] his own community, but on the [illegible]or of the country, probably has not occurred to the average farmer. To bring this fact home, let us consider the broad subject of labor and its employment.

War Work Brought Prosperity.

During the four or five years previous to November 11 when the armistice was signed, bringing to a halt all of those industries that had been employed in furnishing war materials, labor had been 100 per cent employed. Wages were the highest known to this country, or any other country, for that matter. The wage earners were prosperous and that prosperity was reflected in every other branch of our commercial, industrial and agricultural activity.

Prices of food were high, the highest known since the Civil war. Farmers were getting 200 and 300 per cent more for their crops, live stock and dairy products than they had received in former times. The reason for this increase was that the demand was there, and the wage earners had the money to buy. Farm costs of production increased considerably, it is true, but the fact that no class of workers [illegible] United States has been more prosperous or was a larger buyer of government bonds than the agricultural workers, shows that there was a good profit in farming.

The signing of the armistice, however, put a different complexion on the situation. War industries halted. The millions of men and women employed by them at high wages were suddenly thrown out of employment. The factories had been transformed into munitions plants. Time is necessary to re-transform them into condition to produce the things needed in peace time.

February 1 it was estimated that there were 10,000,000 persons, men and women, out of employment in the United States. From being earners of large wages and capable of buying food at high prices, they suddenly were deprived of their wages and have become consumers, without the means of buying things they consume.

Quickest Solution Is Building.

The government, in considering the possibilities of employing this labor, looked upon building as the thing that would provide the quickest solution of the problem. Building, that is, the erection of buildings, homes in the cities and towns, office buildings, factories, municipal buildings and schoolhouses, public improvements, and buildings on the farms, had been halted because of the need of both labor and materials in the production of war-time needs. Therefore, it was reasoned, there is need of building and building can start at once.

"Build a building!" That is the thing that the government is urging.

Every farmer wants a modern building on his farm.

There has been great progress in the construction of barns during the last few years. State laws have made some features of barn construction obligatory to protect the milk and butter from contamination. Lack of labor has made other features necessary because they save labor.

Barn for Small Farm.

A combination horse and dairy barn is shown in an accompanying illustration. This is a design for a small farm, where a dozen cows and four or five horses are kept. Here these animals may be safely housed, the work can be done easily and the winter's supply of feed for horses and cows may be stored.

As the ground floor plan shows, the horse barn and cow stable are separated by a solid wall. This prevents the ammonia fumes from the horse barn penetrating the cow stable, a feature of barn construction demanded by the laws of some of the states.

Three single and two double or box stalls are provided in the horse barn. Stalls for 12 cows are provided in the cattle barn.

The floor of the barn is concrete, the feed alley being through the center. The litter alleys are along the side walls. The feed alley runs through the building and is connected at the rear with the silo by a covered chute, which provides a feed room. Over each of the litter alleys is a carrier track, so that the manure may be transported out of the building to the pits on either side of the silo, where the winter feed of the cows is stored.

The hay mow on the second floor is connected with the horse barn by a trap door, near the door that divides the horse and cow sections of the barn. Hay for both animals is thrown down and is convenient to the mangers of both.

Ventilation Is Provided.

The barn is of wooden construction, with gambrel roofs and a system of ventilation, without which the modern barn is not complete, is also provided.

There has been a considerable reduction recently in the cost of building materials. The cost of such a barn can easily be ascertained from the local building contractor or lumber dealer.

"Build a building!" It is a patriotic duty to employ the labor and will help keep the country and everyone in it prosperous.

FRANCIS BURNS IS ANXIOUS TO LEAVE

TIRED OF FRANCE AND PATIENTLY AWAITS CHANCE TO GET HOME.

The following letter has been received by M. C. Burns from his son, Francis, who is on duty in France with the 20th engineers. The young man is evidently anxious to get home and no doubt expresses the sentiment of most American soldiers over there. Army life does not appeal very strongly to the boys since the signing of the armistice and they are all waiting for a chance to get home in order to take up civilian duties once more. The letter follows:

"Winter is quickly passing by and here is one month of the new year already gone. Troops are passing through every day and it's some consolation to know that a few of the boys are getting home. I was speaking to one of our officers the other day and he said that pressure from the other side was the only thing that could get us home soon. If any party or congressman wants to get the votes of the soldiers over here, all they have to do is to get us home.

"Last night I met Ed. Brevig. He is with a detachment out of the First Battalion and is located only five miles from our camp working on the roads. His company was all ready to go home but an order came the last minute for them to stay. Ed. is surely disgusted and he cussed Uncle Samuel's army scandalously for a bank clerk. Just speak to some of the boys who have been over here if you want to find out about France, its people, our treatment, etc. They'll tell you the honest to God truth about the layout. You may think they're exaggerating things at first, but listen and you'll learn different. We've taken our hardships and hard knocks with a smile while the war was on but now since everything is over, why can't we be sent home? I have no future in the army and I am patiently awaiting the day to get back into civilian life and get some kind of a start in the world.

"There's nothing in particular to write about this week. A thin sheet of snow is covering the ground. It hasn't been cold so far this winter and I think about the coldest day we've had was fifteen above zero. This is one winter that I've got away from the cold Minnesota winter weather. The French people only have small fireplaces in their homes and a heater seems to be an unknown article to them. They are not very well protected against cold and it's a wonder to us that they are not all sick during the damp weather.

"Ed. Stebbins and Tom Lonson are at an aviation camp near Glovres, about 40 miles from here. Your son, Francis."

GOOD ROADS MOST URGENT NEED NOW

INTERESTING REPLIES BY FARMERS TO QUESTIONNAIRES REVEALS SENTIMENT.

Good roads is the greatest economic need for agricultural communities.

This is the answer of 200 prominent farmers of the State of Maine to questionnaires which asked them to summarize urgent necessities to bring their districts up to the desired economic standard.

The farmers who answered the questionnaires were selected as those best fitted to answer the questions and they were asked to furnish a digest of the situation in their respective communities with reference to acreage, crops, farm improvements, civic and social conditions, etc.

The definitions of the greatest needs covered a wide and interesting range. The largest records of needs was good roads, 85 emphasizing the urgent necessity of adequate highways. There were 45 who asked for more farm laborers; 44 for co-operative buying and selling; 35 for better school privileges; 29 for more blue-blooded stock; 29 for manufacturing plants; 29 for better marketing facilities; 21 for greater credit extension by banks; 19 better transportation facilities; 15 cheaper and better fertilizers; 14 for steam and trolley connections, and 14 for the utilization of water powers.

One farmer in answer to the question of his community's greatest need wrote: "Ambition, knowledge, public spirit and a white oak road stick with a two inch brad, and a good man behind it." Another Maine farmer summarized his district's needs in this manner: "Confidence in farming, hustle in working, less loafing around the stores, willingness for some one else to make a dollar, farm loans."

MINNESOTA STILL BOSSES RAILROADS

ALL FORMER POWERS EXCEPT RATE MAKING RESTORED TO THE STATE.

All authority ever exercised by the Minnesota Railroad and Warehouse Commission over the railroads, save only that of rate making, has been restored to the state by Walker D. Hines, Director General of Railroads. Following a conference in Washington last week, at which Minnesota was represented by Commissioner Fred W. Putnam, a formal order defining the federal and state jurisdictions was issued by Mr. Hines for the instruction of all railroad officials. The latter are directed to comply with all the state laws regulating transportation and to recognize the authority of the several state commissions. The question of authority in supervising intrastate rates, fares and charges will be determined by the courts. But even in the matter of rates the railroads are directed to file their tariffs with the state commissions and directors of traffic will make no advances until the question has been submitted to state commissions for advice and suggestion.

In every other respect, the railroads are subject to the police powers of the state, their status being exactly the same as before the war. The Minnesota commission will have jurisdiction over such matters as train service, the construction and abandonment of spur tracks, the installation and maintenance of signal systems and all safety appliances, track connections, the location, maintenance and sanitation of all depots, investigation of accidents, and in fact, all questions relating to service, equipment and safety.

The state commission is to make investigations as to passenger and freight service, facilities for handling freight, the physical condition of tracks and rolling stock and the general efficiency of railroads and to report their findings with recommendations to the United States Railroad Administration. The order of Director Hines removes a great many causes for friction, uncertainty and dissatisfaction between the shippers and the railroads, and should prove a great boon to the general public.

Not Releasing Men.

Railroads generally are not laying off employes as the result of the failure of congress to appropriate funds for the railroad administration, it was stated recently at the office of Director General Hines. A few cases of dismissal of a number of men have been reported to headquarters but in each case, it was stated, the reasons were local and related to operating conditions rather than to a financial predicament.

SPECIAL EFFORT TO OUST SOW THISTLE FROM RED RIVER VALLEY.

Something should be done in every county of the Red River Valley to fight the sow thistle. The most practical plan yet proposed was tried during 1918 in Clay county where the county commissioners appointed a county weed inspector under the provisions of Chapter 391, Laws of 1917. The annual report of this inspector shows that his work was mainly educational; that it was not necessary to force anyone to do anything; that nearly all the farmers and land-owners were willing to cooperate; and that the campaign was popular and successful.

The principal thing accomplished by the county weed inspector acting in cooperation with the county agents and farm bureau is to call to the attention of each individual farmer and land-owner the best methods of fighting this weed, and to secure cooperative community effort in the entire county.

The Northwest Experiment Station advocated the passage of the county weed inspector law, and has urged the appointment of inspectors. It may be said that this will cost something, but the entire cost to the county is a mere nothing compared to the losses in crop returns from sow thistle. One of the most important things the inspector will do is to point out the need of crop rotation, the need of live stock, especially sheep, and other plans.

Ten per cent of the voters may petition the county board to appoint this inspector. His salary is limited to $100.00 a month for six months only. There is no county that can afford not to use this law and start a movement to fight the worst weed in the valley.

TWO CENT POSTAGE RATE COMING BACK

CHANGE TO BE MADE JULY 1 IN COST OF MAILING LETTERS.

The resumption of the two-cent letter postage rate and the one-cent post card rate are in prospect for July 1 next, according to advices from Washington. The changes are provided in the revised war revenue bill, the draft of which has recently been completed.

Letters now require a three-cent stamp. Postal cards are carried for two cents. The increase of a cent was offered as a war measure last year. The advance, while it was of a minor nature, affected practically every person.

According to reports, postal rate changes will also be made if the measure is finally adopted, on second class matter. This will be effective when the measure becomes a law. The present graduated zone rates upon newspapers, magazines and other periodicals will be lifted. The new rate would be one cent per pound within a 200-mile radius and one and a half cents outside of that zone.

CAMPAIGN TO STOP ENORMOUS GRAIN LOSS.

To reduce or prevent an annual loss of millions of dollars worth of Minnesota grains caused by the ravages of smuts is the object of a campaign begun in Minnesota this week by the extension and plant pathology divisions of the Minnesota college of agriculture, aided by farm bureaus and county agents throughout the state. The loss of barley last year was 954,000 bushels; of oats, 3,498,000 bushels; of wheat, 3,259,000 bushels. The campaign consists of demonstrations held at St. Cloud, March 11; Morris, March 12; University Farm, March 15; Owatonna, March 17; Worthington, March 17; Rochester, March 18; St. James, March 18; Redwood Falls, March 19; Montevideo, March 20; Detroit, March 25; Thief River Falls, March 26; Bemidji, March 27. Each of these meetings will be attended by county agents and farm bureau officials of from 5 to 10 counties.

TO TAKE UP WORK FOR DEVELOPMENT

MEETING SOON TO BE HELD AT CROOKSTON TO DISCUSS VALLEY PROBLEMS.

A call has been sent out by Secretary Zealand of the Minnesota Red River Valley Development association for a meeting to be held in Crookston, Friday evening, March 14 at which several matters of importance from a development standpoint are to come up for attention. One of the principal subjects to be considered will be the raising of a common fund from which appropriations can be made to the numerous national highways which traverse the Valley. A count discloses no less than six. This is believed to be more than reach any other part of the state excepting as they center into the Twin Cities. Through the official booklets of these several highways this section of the state received good recognition of its agricultural resources, and it is hoped to be possible to still further improve upon this avenue of publicity, to the benefit of the territory.

The present season is already witnessing an unusual number of calls for farms to rent, few of which can be filled; and the meeting will result in much good if it can succeed in inaugurating a campaign to get good buildings erected by the owners of uncultivated lands and get them producing. This has been agitated for a number of years, but the fact that the Red River Valley has had abundant crops when less favored sections had practical failures should have the effect of impressing upon owners, if brought well to their attention, the advisability of equipping their lands for occupancy. Better still would be the outright purchase of them by good farmers, and if a means can be evolved to assist would-be renters to become purchasers, a lasting good will have been accomplished. This is being done in a remarkably satisfactory way in one part of Wisconsin, and is as assuredly possible in the fertile Red River Valley if taken in hand by the right men and the right kind of support then given them. The recent farm crops and stock show held at Crookston during Northwestern Minnesota Farmers' Week, at which time the new Red River Valley Live Stock building was formally opened, well demonstrated that this section of the state was unified in its activities for development and agricultural promotion.

THREE MILLION IS GOAL OF CAMPAIGN

LUTHERAN LAYMEN'S LEAGUE TO PROVIDE PERMANENT ENDOWMENT FUND.

The Lutheran Laymen's League, an organization of influential laymen of the Missouri Synod, has launched a drive for a Three Million Endowment fund among the communicant members of its own Synod, the income of which will be used to support the Synod's incapacitated pastors, professors, teachers and the widows and orphans of the deceased.

The members of said Synod have enthusiastically subscribed for a large number of Liberty Bonds. Almost every congregation knows the approximate amount of Liberty Bonds purchased by its members. A resolution was adopted that all congregations be asked to raise a sum which would equal at least 10 per cent of the Liberty Bonds purchased by their own members and donate the same to the endowment fund.

A meeting of all the pastors and congregational campaign chairmen was held in Thief River Falls, on March 4, where details of this drive were discussed and various committees appointed. Thirty-eight delegates were present and all pledged themselves to do their utmost in order to make this campaign successful. Rev. F. J. Seltz, of the local St. Johns Lutheran church, was elected conference campaign chairman, while Hans Anton, an influential member of the local congregation, will have charge of the campaign in the Thief River Falls parish.

The actual drive is to take place Sunday, March 30 from 2 to 6 o'clock to be preceded, however, by an intensive educational campaign.

NO CHANGE IN ATTITUDE OF SCHOOL BOARD

ACCEPTANCE OF RESIGNATION OF SUPT. HAY IS NOT RECONSIDERED

TEACHERS FOR NEXT TERM

PRACTICALLY EVERY MEMBER OF PRESENT CORPS TENDERED NEW CONTRACT.

The school board of District No. 18 at a special meeting on Monday night definitely went on record as refusing to reconsider its action in accepting the resignation of J. H. Hay, for 13 years superintendent of the Thief River Falls schools, and he will end his services with the present term.

At a meeting held at the Lincoln high school one week previously, a petition signed by a large number of citizens was presented to the board, asking that Mr. Hay be again tendered the position of superintendent. The board at that time postponed action but did not allow the matter to hang fire. As soon as permissible under the rules the subject was brought up on Monday night and a motion to indefinitely postpone action was carried.

Vote Remains the Same.

Further consideration of the question evidently had no effect on the board members. When the proposition was put to a vote, Dr. O. F. Mellby, Dr. H. W. Froehlich, H. S. Dahlen and P. O. Myhrum voted in the affirmative, while Lars Backe and F. F. Haynes remained where they have stood from the outset and voted against indefinite postponement.

Teachers Are Engaged.

The board thereupon took up the matter of securing teachers for the coming year. Practically all the instructors now employed will be asked to remain, although formal action was in some cases not taken at this meeting. For this reason the board prefers to withhold the names of those employed for the present, there being every probability that the list will be added to as soon as any doubt as to the ability or willingness of certain former instructors to again resume their posts is definitely settled.

BANKERS BACK OF WEED FIGHT IDEA

PENNINGTON COUNTY ASSOCIATION GOES ON RECORD AS FAVORING MOVE.

A meeting of the Pennington County Bankers' association was held last Friday evening at the Citizens bank building in this city. Representatives of all the local banks together with several from other points in the county were present, and the meeting was a very successful one from every point of view.

After the routine business of the evening had been completed, the matter of noxious weeds was taken up for consideration. It was the sentiment of all those present that something should be done to combat the growth of weeds within the county, and after a lengthy discussion of the question it was decided that the best way of accomplishing this would be to appoint a man for the county whose duty it shall be to see that all regulations with regard to noxious weeds are lived up to by rural residents. It is not fair for those who are trying hard to combat the weed evil to have their work rendered useless through the carelessness of some neighbor or non-resident land-owner. The only way to do effective work along this line is for everyone to do his part and for each township board to see that the roadsides within their respective jurisdictions are kept free from weeds. To have this work under the supervision of one man with authority to carry out his plans is the most logical method of securing results.

At the conclusion of the business meeting the members of the association were treated to a luncheon at the Evelyn hotel. This part of the program proved to be a very enjoyable feature of the evening.

Local Man Honored.

Former Senator D. P. O'Neill is to be the guest of honor at a banquet given this evening by the Red Lake Falls Commercial club. This banquet is given as a token of esteem for the many things Mr. O'Neill has done to help the citizens of Red Lake county. They feel that had it not been for Mr. O'Neill's efforts it would have been impossible for them to secure an amendment to the Babcock road bill providing for a hard surfaced road between Red Lake Falls and Bagley. Also in many other ways has the former senator gone out of his way to be of assistance to the people of Red Lake county. It is expected that people from all parts of the county will be present at the banquet.

The Farm Bureau office will send out the first of each month an exchange sheet to everyone interested in agriculture in this county. After the first issue it will be possible to send it only to members of the association. Part of their membership fee supports it, but the membership is not large enough at the present time to make possible its distribution to all. The sheet will be issued primarily to help in the distribution of seed and stock of all kinds. Space is free to all members. The value will increase directly with the use made of it. A Wanted and For Sale list will be printed with each issue and all notices will be run only once unless advised to continue. A complete description of stock with the price should be sent to the office not later than the 25th of the month preceding date of issue.

OVER THE TOP IN ARMENIAN DRIVE

TWO THOUSAND DOLLARS RAISED IN THE COUNTY FOR WAR VICTIMS.

Nearly complete reports have been received in the drive to secure funds for the relief of Armenian and Syrian war sufferers, the only precincts in the county which have so far failed to report being Wyandotte, Kratka and Hickory townships. Reports from these places are expected within a short time. The total amount collected to date, including the village of St. Hilaire and the city of Thief River Falls, is $1,910.90. Theo. H. Liden and Miss Effie Hamry, who had charge of the campaign in Pennington county, wish to thank the solicitors for the efficient work done and the people generally for their generous contributions. Out of the total funds secured, the city of Thief River Falls gave $810.63, while the remainder of the county furnished $1,100.27.

Following is a list of the chairmen in the various townships and villages, together with the amount secured in each division. The large number of donations makes it impossible to publish the names of all who gave to the good cause, much as The Times would like to do so.

Numedahl township, Halvor Johnson, chairman, $34.00; Goodridge village, $61.50; Highlanding township, A. Hammersten, chairman, $90.25; Mayfield township, Miss Leone Wilde, chairman, $17.00; Black River township, Felix Anderson, chairman, $43.00; Norden township, P. Voldness, chairman, $84.75; Deer Park township, O. M. Mandt, chairman, $58.50; Star township, C. O. Elg, chairman, $63.00; Goodridge township, Chris Urdahl, chairman, $31.50; North township, Will Smith and Andrew Jorde, chairmen, $53.95; Silverton township, Henry Hanson, chairman, $43.00; Smiley township, B. B. Hammer, chairman, $60.50; Reiner township, T. Morken, chairman, $29.25; Polk Centre township, H. Johnson, chairman, $40.00; Rocksbury township, S. O. Lee, chairman, $103.00; Bray township, Chas. Lindquist, chairman, $38.50; River Falls township, $51.25; Sanders township, $90.00; St. Hilaire village, $35.82; Cloverleaf township, $22.00.

Pennington county went over the top as usual in this drive. The allotment for the county was $1,875, and when all the returns are in it is expected that more than $2,000 will have been collected. It was a big job but the object is a very worthy one and made a strong appeal to the people. The leaders in the drive are entitled to much credit for the efficient work and highly creditable showing.

TAX PAYERS MAKE LAST MINUTE RUSH

COUNTY TREASURER'S OFFICE BUSY PLACE DURING LAST DAYS OF FEBRUARY.

March 1 closed a very busy period for the force in the office of John Gullingsrud, county treasurer. On this date personal property taxes became delinquent and a large number of taxpayers made an effort to get under the wire before the penalty was attached. The taxes were pretty well cleared away before closing time on the evening of Feb. 28, and fewer items remained delinquent this year than has been the case for a number of years past.

During January the total payment of personal property taxes amounted to only $4,176.36. More than ten times this sum was paid in during February, the exact amount being $46,870.71. From this it may be gathered that Mr. Gullingsrud and his clerk, Mrs. Theo. H. Liden, were kept on the jump during February in caring for the large number of people who wished to liquidate their tax obligations. The collections this year were larger for both January and February than last year, the figures for a year ago being as follows: January, $2,540.79; February, $43,038.43.

BIG BANQUET IS FITTING END OF FAST CAMPAIGN

COMMERCIAL CLUB MEMBERSHIP MORE THAN DOUBLED DURING DRIVE.

BEST MEETING IN HISTORY

HARMONY AND ENTHUSIASM MARK PROCEEDINGS THRUOUT EVENING.

The Commercial club of Thief River Falls is not going to disband. On the contrary it is going ahead with greater enthusiasm and a more definite program than ever before in its history. New life has been injected into the organization and from now on it may be expected to make up for lost time.

Last Saturday saw the close of the most memorable membership campaign ever witnessed in this section. As a result of the work performed by the two teams—the Blues under the leadership of L. A. Lampert, and the Reds headed by E. O. Mogensen—between them added 142 names to the roster. And this was not the best part of it. The names added were those of men whom the club particularly needs. There were farmers, railroaders, traveling men and others, and they were present to the tune of about a hundred, swelling the total to more than twice that number.

Blue Team Wins.

Mr. Lampert's team was the winner in the contest, and Mr. Mogensen had the honor of trundling his victorious opponent to the Auditorium in a wheelbarrow, followed by the band and an admiring throng.

142 New Ones Added.

President E. M. Stanton was toastmaster and carried off the honor in a most efficient and appropriate manner. Secretary G. Howard Smith announced the result of the campaign and suggested that both captains be crowned.

Fine Speaking Program.

After a most excellent supper, served by H. A. Brumund and a corps of able assistants, President Stanton called upon men representative of the different enterprises and occupations for addresses, and these responded in a manner that left no doubt as to the sincerity of their attitude toward the club.

Herbert Fuller, president of the Pennington County Fair association, was the first speaker. He asked the cooperation of the club in securing better livestock buildings at the fair grounds and called attention to the prominence given the Crookston fair by reason of the new pavilion erected in that city. He believed that Thief River Falls and Pennington county people spent enough money in visiting the neighboring fair to put up a fine building right here at home.

Albert Johnson, representing the farmers and stockraisers, spoke along the same lines later in the evening, it being his opinion that in no manner could the club make itself of more value to the community than by encouraging in every way the raising of more and better livestock. He bespoke for the club the enthusiastic support of the farmers.

Promised Good Roads.

Hon. D. P. O'Neill disclaimed all knowledge of any bills pending before the legislature of particular interest to Pennington county, but assured his hearers that the matter of good roads was receiving its full share of attention. He explained the workings of the proposed Babcock bill and believed that Pennington county would be justified in anticipating the passage of that measure.

Many Others Heard.

County Agent J. J. McCann spoke on noxious weed eradication and his remarks were listened to with much interest, it being the first time the new official had appeared before a club audience. He made an excellent impression and showed he had the right idea when he said that even weeds might prove a good thing if they forced the farmers to get away from a grain growing program.

Rev. I. T. Anstad of the Norwegian Lutheran church, spoke on the Fifth Liberty Loan. He said that those who were inclined to consider such loan a burden at this time should stop and think what the conditions would be if there were no occasion for a Victory Loan. He briefly reviewed our history during the past two years and urged his hearers not to fail the government in this important matter.

Soldier Boys Speak.

There were three soldiers present as guests of honor—Martin Langseth, Harry L. Bakken and Lieut. Backus of St. Paul, the latter a brother of Lieut. David Backus, formerly of this city. The first-named boys gave brief histories of their experiences in the army, their stories following the accounts heretofore appearing in The Times. Lieut. Backus is an aviator and he gave interesting sidelights on the work of that branch.

Traveling Man Speaks.

After Daniel Shaw had excused himself from speaking on the subject of good roads because of the lateness of the hour, Loren Johnson was asked to say something on behalf of the traveling men. He said that there were 65 of these claiming Thief River Falls as their home and that they were responsible for the expenditure of approximately $200,000 per year in the city. These men are natural boosters, said the speaker, and can be depended on to do the most effective kind of missionary work on the outside. "They will sell anything for you, from Liberty Bonds to stock in the fair association building," he said.

For the Railroaders.

N. J. Silk was asked to give his views from the position of a railroad man. He said he was glad of the privilege of becoming a member of the club and believed that the men in his line of work would be valuable boosters for the organization now that an effort had been made to interest them.

Soldier Memorial.

Supt. J. H. Hay made a strong appeal for support of the soldier memorial plan. He stated that everything thus far done by the people who remained at home was as nothing compared with the sacrifices of men like the soldier boys present. Mr. Hay was the recipient of an ovation when he arose to speak and was roundly applauded upon resuming his seat.

The respects of the gathering were paid to the members of the club who have died during the past year—George G. Johnson, Ross P. White and Charles A. Pitkin.

In closing President Stanton said he hoped that the work so well begun might be continued throughout the year.

A feature which added much to the pleasant surroundings of the evening was the flowers profusely decorating the tables. These were contributions from the local greenhouses of Martin Bothun.

NEW CLUB STARTS WITH GOOD PLANS

HOLDS MEETING MONDAY EVENING AND BEGINS WORK OF MERCY.

The Girls' Community club, an auxiliary of the Woman's club, held a meeting Monday evening in the auditorium of the public library. About 35 young ladies were present at the meeting and all of them displayed a lively interest in the organization. After the business of the evening had been completed, a chafing dish lunch was enjoyed.

The work outlined for the new society is both civic and social in its nature. Every girl out of high school is eligible for membership and is earnestly invited to join. Through a large membership the club may be made stronger and much more effective in its work. Girls wishing to join are requested to give their names to Miss Marie Nelson at the First National bank.

At the meeting Monday evening it was decided to collect old magazines and periodicals to be sent to the people of the burned out districts near Duluth. All those having magazines or periodicals to donate will kindly leave them with Miss Blanche Johnson at her studio in the First National bank building.

The first officers elected for the new society are Miss Blanche Johnson, president; Miss Marie Nelson, secretary, and Miss Dora Holmes, treasurer. It is a decidedly live organization and much good will no doubt result from its work.

PURE SEED GRAIN FOR LOCAL FARMS

CROOKSTON STATION TO FURNISH LIMITED AMOUNT FOR SEED PLOTS.

A. M. Christensen of the Northwest station at Crookston announces that the following quantities of seed have been allotted to Pennington county for distribution this season:

Minnesota 470 Durum wheat, 40 bushels; Minnesota 169 Bluestem, 15 bushels; Oderbrucker barley, 60 bushels; Manchuria barley, 15 bushels; Swanhals barley, 6 bushels; Princess barley, 10 bushels; Minnesota 281 oats, 60 bushels; Minnesota 295 oats, 20 bushels; English Newmarket, 30 bushels.

The price of the wheat will be $2.50 per bushel, oats 80 cents, barley $1.25 per bushel, all f.o.b. Crookston, sacks extra. This grain has been thoroughly cleaned and is in very good shape for seeding. There may be an occasional barley seed in the Durum seed, but outside of this it is in very good shape.

This seed is being sent out for the purpose of getting a few pure seed plots in Pennington county and anyone interested in securing such seed should notify the Farm Bureau office at once in order that they may get the application in before the supply is exhausted.

Irish Holiday Monday.

Monday was St. Patrick's day but the event was not very generally observed in this city, due to the fact that but a very small part of the local population hails from the Emerald Isle. Green neckties and shamrocks were worn by some of the staunch Irish who never fail to remember old St. Patrick's day. Lenten bans were lifted for the day with the result that the dance at the auditorium in the evening drew a record attendance.

PLAN CONTESTS FOR AMBITIOUS BOYS AND GIRLS

LIBERAL PRIZES WILL BE AWARDED NEXT FALL TO THE WINNERS.

POULTRY, POTATOES, SHEEP

FARM BUREAU AND HIGH SCHOOL AGRICULTURAL DEPARTMENT SPONSORS.

The County Farm Bureau, in cooperation with the agricultural department of the high school, is anxious this year to put on a good live boys' and girls' poultry, potato and sheep contest. Enrollment for these contests should be made as soon as possible in the agricultural department of the high school or sent in to the county agent's office in the city auditorium. The following is a list of requirements for the potato and poultry club work:

Poultry Contest.

Age: 10 to 18 years. The first year's project includes the hatching of three settings of eggs from 13 to 15 eggs in each setting, or a total of from 39 to 45 eggs, and the rearing of the chicks until they are four months old. Hatching should be completed by June 1. Turkeys, ducks or geese may be used instead of chickens. If turkeys or ducks are used, not less than 24 eggs should be set. If geese are used the number of eggs set should not be less than 18.

Only eggs from standard bred fowls should be used. A record should be kept of the hatching and raising of the chickens, and the showing of a pen of three birds at a local or county fair or show. The hatching of the chicks as a part of the contest is preferred, but if day-old chicks are used each club member must start with not less than 25 chicks.

Basis of Award: Percent of chicks alive at the end of four months, 40. Quality of pen of birds exhibited, 40. Story "How I Raised My Chickens, 20. If the poultry project is one of the two strongest projects in the county, the boy 16 years or over, making the best record will get a free trip to the state fair, and membership in the boys' camp. The second year's project includes the management of a flock of not less than eight birds, with record of feed, eggs and marketing of products. The flock may consist of chickens raised in the first year's project or the entire home flock. Details and other prizes will be announced later.

Potato Growing Contest.

Age: 10 to 18 years, inclusive. Acreage at least 1-8 acre. Varieties: The contest will be limited to four standard varieties, Rural New Yorker, Irish Cobbler, Early Ohio, Green Mountains.

Basis of Award: 1. Greatest yield, 40. 2. Financial report, showing economy of production, value of potatoes considered at market price, 25. 3. Exhibit of 30 potatoes, 20. 4. Story "How I Grew My Crop of Potatoes," 15.

Each member must enroll not later than July 1, 1919, with the club leader or county agent, who will send enrollments to the Agricultural Extension Division, University Farm, St. Paul. Club members must fill out the regular report blank carefully with pen and ink, and forward same to the state leader or to the local leader, on or before December 1, 1919.

The boy from each county making the best record in the potato contest, providing he is 15 years old or more, will receive free railway fare to and from the state fair and membership in the Boys' Camp with all privileges of such membership, providing the enrollment in potato club work for the county ranks first or second compared with other projects.

The boys who win first in each of the four sections will receive a solid gold club medal. Every boy who finishes his project and reports will have his name on the club honor roll and will receive a diploma of merit. Liberal premiums are offered by the Pennington County Fair association for the boys' and girls' potato club. Every club member should try for them.

WAR VETERANS TO HELP IN CAMPAIGN

DISCHARGED SOLDIERS TO TELL PEOPLE WHY VICTORY LOAN IS NEEDED.

Discharged soldiers bearing the marks of the Great War that they received in France will tell people of the Ninth Federal Reserve district why everyone should subscribe to the Victory Liberty Loan that will be staged in April.

In every county throughout the district the men who served their country so well are being listed and scores have agreed willingly to speak at Liberty Loan rallies wherever their voices may be needed to further the sale of bonds.

"Nothing will bring the war to the people of the district like the living evidences of modern warfare," said A. R. Rogers, chairman of the Ninth District War Loan organization, in outlining the plans for the speaking campaign.

"No one like the returned soldier can explain the need of raising the five billion dollars that our government is asking for. These men who have seen the desolation of France; who have tasted the poisonous gases that the Germans used; who have starved and fought and suffered that democracy might not perish from the earth—these men will spur the people of the northwest to the realization of the immediate necessity of 'finishing the job' that the brave American boys started."

The empty sleeve, the crutches, the artificial eyes and limbs, the maimed bodies and the disfigured faces that were received in the cause of right will be everywhere throughout the Ninth District during the coming drive.

The man who refuses to buy bonds will have to give his reasons to the men who fought the battles of this country.

SCHOOLS RECEIVE STATE AID MONEY

MARCH APPORTIONMENT SENT OUT THIS WEEK TO COUNTY DISTRICTS.

County Auditor T. P. Anderson this week completed the work of making out the March school apportionment for the various districts of Pennington and checks have been mailed to the district treasurers for the sums due them. The apportionment is based on a sum of $2.30 for each pupil in the county who has come up to the requirements necessary in order to get state aid.

The sum received by the county for the March settlement this year is slightly less than that received a year ago, $7,600 being received a year ago as against $6,897.70 this year. The school district numbers and the sum to which each is entitled are enumerated in the table below:

A Landmark Gone.

G. L. Sterns last week purchased the old river boat used as a home for many years by John Durbin. The boat was originally built as a river patrol by the government, carrying a crew whose duty it was to keep the deadheads out of the channel and remove the large rocks when these appeared so near the surface as to endanger other craft. When steamboating came to an end Mr. Durbin purchased the patrol vessel and converted it into a very comfortable houseboat on which he maintained his bachelor quarters until a year or so ago. The boat was historic and one of the last was originally built as a river patrol no ignoble end, however, it being the intention of Mr. Sterns to convert it into a chicken coop.

STANDARD OIL ACQUIRES NEW STATION SITE

WILL INSTALL MODERN GASOLINE EQUIPMENT AT MAIN AND SECOND

PASSING OF A LANDMARK

CITY'S FIRST BANK BUILDING TO BE OFFERED UNDER THE HAMMER

The building which has the distinction of housing the first bank in Thief River Falls will soon be but a memory. The Standard Oil company this week purchased the site from the First and Peoples bank interests and will erect thereon a modern filling station at a cost of approximately $7,000. The site secured has a frontage of 50 feet on Main avenue and 90 feet on Second street.

Three Buildings at Auction.

In order to make room for the new station it will be necessary to remove three structures, of which the former bank building is the largest. The new purchasers have nothing to do with this part of the program and the First and Peoples bank management has decided to put the buildings up at auction, the sale being advertised for March 27. These buildings being erected at a time when only the best pine was used for purposes of this kind, the lumber is of a quality that would be hard to secure now days.

A Modern Plant.

According to J. H. Hay, resident agent for the Standard Oil company, the intention is to provide a filling station equal to any to be found in this section. The building proper will be modern in every respect, containing offices, waiting rooms and everything usually found in places of this kind. There will be paved driveways to the filling tanks, and flower beds will be maintained for the purpose of adding to the park-like appearance of the grounds. Mr. Hay is unable to state just when the work will be begun but an application for the permit will be presented to the city council at its next meeting.

Site is Historic.

The site to be occupied by the new station is described as the west 50 feet of Lots 13 and 14, Block 57, Original Townsite of Thief River Falls. By deed dated Jan. 26, 1893, it was transferred to J. W. Wheeler, Adolph C. Gallasch, Lewis Ellington and Carl Hendrickson. These parties opened a private bank in the building, continuing in business until Sept. 1, 1896, when the property was transferred to the First State bank, which was then owned principally by the Dobners. Since that time up to its final merger with the Peoples bank a year ago the history of the institution is well known.

Is Valuable Addition.

Aside from the convenience of having a filling station of this nature thus handily located, the contemplated program will greatly improve a section of the city that has been needing some sort of stimulus for several years.

LOCAL SOLDIER RETURNS AFTER ACTIVE SERVICE

MARTIN LANGSETH HOME AFTER SIXTEEN MONTHS IN FRANCE.

WITH RAINBOW DIVISION

SAW MORE SERVICE THAN FALLS TO THE LOT OF THE AVERAGE SOLDIER.

Martin Langseth returned last Friday morning to his home in this city after having performed his part in the great war. He arrived from France on Feb. 15 and was sent to Camp Grant, where he was given an honorable discharge from the army. Langseth was a member of Battery F, 151st Minnesota Field artillery, which unit formed a part of the famous Rainbow division. He served for sixteen months in France with the American Expeditionary Forces and probably saw as much of real war as any man from the states. The unit to which Langseth belonged is now with the army of occupation in Germany, but he was sent home as a casual on account of having received several severe burns from gas in action shortly before the signing of the armistice.

Enlisted Early.

Private Langseth, in company with Hardy Bothun, who is still with the army in Germany, enlisted at Fort Snelling on June 25, 1917, in what was then known as the First Minnesota artillery. Fred Scanlan and Harold Provencher were already members of this organization, having enlisted a short time previously. The name of the unit was changed to the 151st Field artillery and the boys were given three months of training at Fort Riley, Kansas, with three-inch American guns. From Fort Riley the boys were sent to Camp Mills, N. Y., where they underwent another siege of intensive training preparatory to going overseas. On October 18, 1917, they left the states and on the 31st of the same month landed at St. Nazaire, France, being part of the first hundred thousand American troops to reach European soil.

More Training.

After reaching France the regiment was stationed at Camp Coetquidan, where the boys entered upon another period of hard training. Instead of the American field pieces to which they had become accustomed they were here provided with the famous French "75's." The boys soon established several records in training and accomplished the heretofore unattained feat of firing 33 shots per minute with one of these French guns. So far as known this record has never been surpassed by any unit. The boys were growing a bit tired of all this training and were beginning to ache for a chance at the Hun.

In Active Service.

They were not destined to wait long for this chance. On Feb. 22 they were transferred to the Lorraine front and from that time on did not lack real excitement. On March 9th the fresh American unit took part in the fighting at Banedvillers, where the Americans captured their first land in the war from the enemy. The 151st then remained in active service on this sector for 110 days continuously, which is believed to be the record for an American unit. When the fifth Hun drive was launched the boys were transferred to the Champagne front and took part in holding back the enemy during those memorable days from July 14 to July 18. In this battle Fred Scanlan was so badly gassed that he was eliminated from further service on the firing line. This was without doubt the greatest artillery battle of the war and Private Langseth says that any description of it is next to impossible. The allies did wonderful work here and inflicted losses on the pink of the kaiser's army from which it never recovered. This great battle made possible all the other offensives which the allies so successfully carried out later in the summer.

To Chateau Thierry.

Then came the famous battle of Chateau Thierry, in which the Americans won undying glory. The 151st was also in the thick of this battle, and took part in the fighting from Epides to the Vesle river. Here the drive lasted for nine solid days and the boys made an advance of 19 kilometers during that time. The struggle was particularly fierce and resulted in the American boys covering themselves with glory. Battery F, of which Langseth was a member, came through the fray mighty lucky, losing only three men killed and a number wounded. Other batteries were less fortunate, however, and the casualties as a whole were very heavy.

One Continual Fight.

There appeared to be no rest for the 151st, however, and no sooner had one battle been won than the boys were ordered to some other point to take a whack at the Germans. To finish up their work in the Chateau Thierry sector they took part in fierce fighting at the Ourcq river, at Sergy and Seringes. In September they were ordered to the St. Mihiel sector, where the Americans did such a memorable job of starting the Hun back towards Metz. When this had been completed the 151st was rushed to the Argonne Woods, where they remained until Nov. 9, almost continually in action. It was war with a vengeance but Private Langseth states that the boys had now become so accustomed to fighting that it had become second nature to them and they enjoyed nothing better than making the boastful Hun seek cover. On Oct. 28 Langseth received several severe burns from mustard gas but was unwilling to give up and remained with his command for another month. Then his wounds began to bother him so much, that he was forced to go to a hospital.

Another Drive Planned.

Just before the armistice was signed, according to Private Langseth, another drive had been planned against Metz and the 151st already had received orders for transfer to that sector. Of course this drive did not take place, the armistice making it unnecessary. The 151st was then placed on duty as an army of occupation and passed northward through Luxemburg and a part of Belgium. At this time it became necessary for Langseth to leave the command on account of his wounds, after which he spent several weeks in various hospitals, among them being those located at Langres and Pruniers. He then was placed with a casual company formed at Blois and left Feb. 3 on his return trip to America, reaching the states on Feb. 15.

A Great Experience.

Private Langseth is glad that he joined the army, and even more glad it is all over and that he is home once more. As an adventure it was a great thing, but one which no man would care to repeat. He saw enough of war to satisfy him for the rest of his life, and states that every one of the two million boys who have been or are now in France probably feel the same way about it. Langseth is sick and tired of everything pertaining to France—and to any part of Europe for that matter—and says that henceforth America is good *enough for him. He has no immedi*ate plans for the future but will likely complete a course of schooling, having graduated from the local high school just before entering the army. Private Langseth is in the best of health and claims to have gained 25 pounds in weight since leaving here two years ago. He is at present the busiest man in town relating his experiences to friends. Saturday evening he gave a very good talk at the meeting of the Commercial club, and Monday afternoon he favored the Woman's club with an interesting narrative concerning his experiences.

DISTRICT MEETING OF SWEDISH BODY

AUGUSTANA SYNOD OF RED RIVER VALLEY HOLDS ANNUAL CONVENTION.

The annual meeting of the Red River district of the Lutheran Augustana Synod was held at Hallock last week. The district embraces 35 congregations and an adult membership of 2,283. Nearly all of the congregations were represented by their pastors or by lay delegates or both. The afternoon of the first day was taken up with a business session at which reports were received from the president and treasurer, and the work of the coming year with respect to division of charges that are vacant and mission meetings in all congregations was planned.

The report of the president was largely devoted to a summary of the war activities of the year by the church members and its effect on the church. It was pointed out that by actual statistics the members of the district had proven themselves to be extremely loyal, and this was to be expected from people who came from a stock which in the old country had learned loyalty to the country whose protection they seek and enjoy. The Swedish nation has in the past had fewer revolutions than any other country and has at all times been a forerunner in democratic freedom.

The election of officers resulted in the re-election of Rev. Persenius of Grand Forks, as president and Rev. Carlstedt of Kennedy as secretary. As vice president and treasurer, in place of Rev. Moody of Roseau, who is soon to leave, and Rev. Henrickson, formerly of Lancaster, were elected Rev. A. F. Nelson of St. Hilaire and Rev. A. A. Larson of this city. Rev. C. G. Gronberg of Strandquist was chosen statistician. J. M. Persenius, L. P. Lindgren, Hallock, senior pastor of the district, Prof S. E. Sjorstrand of Warren and Senator O. A. Naplin of Thief River Falls were elected to represent the district at the annual meeting of Augustana Synod to be held at Lindsborg, Kan., next June. P. G. Carlstedt and A. A. Larson were chosen as alternates.

NEW BANK CASHIER

Graduate of Dakota Business College Promoted

It has been announced that C. J. Wage is to be the new cashier of the First State Bank, Forney, S. D. Mr. Wage has risen steadily in the banking business since his graduation from the Dakota Business College, Fargo, N. D.

Pupils of this seat of business learning are always in great demand by banks and business firms. Just recently two positions with the Amenia-Sharon Land Co., Amenia, N. D., were filled by D. B. C. pupils, C. P. Meintzer at a salary of $125.00 and Maurice Bean at $85.00. Miss Mabel Damon has been employed by P. P. Schlosser, Registrar of Deeds, Grant Co., Carson, N. D.

The great demand for D. B. C. pupils is no doubt due to the fact that real business methods and not mere text-book theories are taught. F. L. Watkins, President of the Dakota Business College, 806 Front Street, Fargo, N. D., is always ready to answer inquiries.

SOLDIER BOYS HONOR GUESTS AT BIG PARTY

ROYALLY ENTERTAINED MONDAY BY ODD FELLOWS AND REBEKAHS.

FINE BANQUET A FEATURE

SUPT. J. H. HAY IN SPEECH PAYS COMPLIMENTS TO AMERICAN FIGHTERS.

A very successful social function was carried out Monday evening by the Odd Fellows and Rebekahs at the reception, banquet and dance given in honor of returned soldiers and sailors. The banquet and reception took place at the Odd Fellows' hall, while the auditorium was pressed into service to accommodate those who desired to dance. Nearly one hundred men in uniform were present as guests of the societies, and everything connected with the affair was free to them. It was the intention to reach all returned soldiers and sailors of the county with invitations, but some were undoubtedly missed, due to the fact that they had failed to register upon their return from service. It is very important that all service men register upon their return in order that a record may be kept of them.

An Elaborate Affair.

It is estimated that more than two hundred persons were present at the banquet. Nothing had been left undone to make this part of the program a complete success and the delicious viands were thoroughly enjoyed by everyone. Cordes' orchestra furnished delightful music during the banquet, which added greatly to the pleasure of the occasion. Bernhard Knudsen, on behalf of the Odd Fellows and Rebekahs, gave a short talk in which he welcomed the soldier boys back home and dwelt upon the great service they had performed for their country and humanity. Mr. Knudsen then introduced Supt. J. H. Hay who delivered one of his characteristically able talks. He spoke for nearly an hour and was listened to with rapt attention.

Many Things Gained.

Mr. Hay made several good points in his speech. First he commented on the wonderful fact that four million young men of America who had never before given a thought to things military had in so short a time been transformed into a powerful army which turned the tide in the great war and made victory possible for the allies.

The speaker then called attention to the faculty of the American soldier for doing unlooked for things. This often led the Yanks to ignore rules and conventions, but through initiative and spirit they succeeded in badly defeating the professional soldiers placed against them by the kaiser. Next Mr. Hay commented on the broadening influence which this war has had upon the young manhood of the country. The two million who went abroad will return with broader views of the value of American citizenship and will appreciate America all the more after having compared her with Europe. Those who did not go across were taught valuable lessons in submission to authority and were given a broader view of their responsibilities as citizens.

Dance Was Big Success.

The dance given at the auditorium was a fitting conclusion to an evening of real enjoyment. Here upwards of a hundred couples danced to fine music furnished by the Cordes orchestra, and everyone present had a real good time. The whole affair was a success from every viewpoint, and those who made the thing possible are entitled to much credit for the smoothness with which every detail was carried out.

GILLER'S "FORMER STAND"
J. E. DOBNER, Trustee

PERMITTED TO RAISE $200,000 BY BOND ISSUE

COUNTY COMMISSIONERS CAN MAKE THIS SUM AVAILABLE AT ONCE.

ANTICIPATE BABCOCK LAW

GOVERNMENT APPROPRIATION WILL TAKE CARE OF ABOUT ONE-HALF.

The Pennington county board of commissioners may, if it is so desired, bond the county in the sum of $200,000 for the purpose of constructing paved highways. The proposition need not even be submitted to a vote of the people. A law passed at the present session of the legislature gives them this power in anticipation of the endorsement of the Babcock amendment to the constitution in 1920.

Under ordinary circumstances it is doubtful if the boards of many counties would obligate their constituents for any such sum, but as matters stand it would seem as if they are perfectly safe in doing so.

Half From the Government.

The federal good roads appropriation, of which there is no doubt, gives Minnesota something like $7,000,000. Of this amount Pennington county's share will be practically $100,000. This much is assured. The other half will be taken care of by the money raised under the Babcock law, should that measure pass. In this way the $200,000 highway improvement would cost the people of the county absolutely nothing.

Many Have Applied.

Fourteen counties in the state have already made applications for permission to go ahead with the work and practically all the rest are expected to follow as soon as the advantages of the plan are understood.

May Help the City.

The law provides that where a highway passes through a city of the second or third class the paving provision may be made to apply, provided that only the regular state roads width may thus be included. This means that communities of this class will generally be able to get the center 32 feet of one street paved with no direct cost, but that if wider pavement is desired the cost of covering the additional surface must be borne by the taxpayers as at present.

Jefferson Highway Included.

Main avenue in Thief River Falls, from Sixth street to the tracks of the Great Northern railway, is a part of the Jefferson Highway and as such comes under the provisions of this law. This would mean, in case the opportunity is taken advantage of, the paving of theses seven blocks at a very small assessment against the abutting property. This particular stretch could not possibly be assessed more than 50 per cent of the total cost, as the balance is provided for in the national appropriation, while if the Babcock bill passes the entire outlay would be taken care of.

Is Comprehensive Scheme.

It is certain that next summer will prove the greatest road-building season in the history of the country. Minnesota is one of the foremost of the states in its advocacy of improved highways and will be one of the communities most generally benefitted.

Whether or not the commissioners of Pennington have considered this matter is not known, but it opens an opportunity for a program of road construction that is well worthy of the most careful consideration.

SCHOOL DISTRICTS MAY CONSOLIDATE

MEETING TO BE HELD AT ROSEWOOD TO CONSIDER PROPOSED PLAN.

A public meeting will be held at the Rosewood church on Saturday, March [illegible] at 3 o'clock, for the purpose of discussing the organization of a consolidated school district. A full attendance of the citizens in the districts surrounding Rosewood is requested.

County Superintendent David John[illegible] of Marshall county, and Supt. J. [illegible] Hay of the Thief River Falls schools, will attend and explain the plan and purpose of consolidated schools.

The districts affected in case the proposed consolidation is carried out are as follows: No. 41 will be what is termed the home district. With this will be included District No. 34 to the west, No. 137 on the north, and No. 2 to the south. The first named three districts are in Marshall county while District No. 2 is in Pennington county.

It is expected that a number of people from Thief River Falls will attend this meeting and there will a special effort be made to have representatives from the Goodridge district there to explain the advantages of having a consolidated school.

Musical Section Busy.

The musical section of the Woman's club is a very active organization and is doing much good for the members who are interested in this line of endeavor. Last Monday evening a well attended meeting of the section was held at the home of Mrs. E. M. Stanton, while next Monday evening the ladies will meet at the home of Mrs. T. L. Melgaard. Excellent programs are rendered at these meetings, many of the ladies being talented musicians.

BETTER DROP IT NOW.

The school board stand pat on the proposition that Supt. J. H. Hay shall not remain at the head of the city's educational system after the close of the present term. The members are braving the weight of an overwhelming public opinion in making their original decision stick, but are clearly within their legal rights, no matter what may be thought of their judgment.

It is to be hoped that the incident is closed. Mr. Hay's friends will be serving him but an ill turn by attempting anything further in his behalf, so far as his connection with our schools in the near future is concerned. It is absolutely certain that Mr. Hay himself would be the last man to urge upon these friends any other course than that of yielding to the expressed wishes of the board without further fuss. No good can come of continued agitation, while much harm may follow in its wake.

The Times stated at the outset that a mistake had been made in neglecting to again engage Mr. Hay as superintendent, and is more firmly committed to this view than ever. Realizing, however, that there is nothing left to be done, so far as securing a revision is concerned, this paper believes that all parties immediately interested, as well as the city at large, will be best served by dropping the matter. As before stated, we are certain that this is the wish of Mr. Hay.

The next superintendent, whoever he may be, will probably be made to feel the effects of this controversy. He will in no manner be to blame for what has happened, but unless our people act toward him with fairness and in a spirit of helpfulness his position may be made impossible. It is sincerely to be hoped that such will not be the case. The welfare of our schools is the first consideration and the best results cannot be secured unless the people back up the superintendent.

Threats of reprisals should also be avoided. It is easy to get worked up over this matter just now and we are all more or less liable to say things that might better remain unsaid—at least for the present. The members of the school board have deliberately placed themselves on trial and the verdict should be withheld until the evidence is all in.

THE RIGHT KIND OF START.

A stranger happening to drop in at the Auditorium last Saturday evening while the Thief River Falls Commercial club was holding its first get-together meeting in about two years, would have gone away with the idea that this town has the most remarkable organization of its kind in America. He would have found teachers, merchants, professional men, traveling men, workingmen and farmers all gathered together for the purpose of discussing ways and means for improving their city and section. He would have found preachers of the gospel taking an active part in the development of the community they serve, and along lines other than purely religious. He would have seen harmony prevail and enthusiasm displayed to a degree that would have sent him forth convinced that here was a people working together for the advancement of every worthy object.

It is doubtful if just such another meeting was ever before held in a city in this section. It decided once and for all the question as to whether or not the people of Thief River Falls consider their commercial club worth maintaining. It also proved to the satisfaction of all present that the much-desired cooperation between city and country is here an established fact. It demonstrated that there are so many things upon which all must act together that any idea of getting along without the club—the common clearing house for opinions—is not to be thought of.

He must indeed be a pessimist and a grouch who can see nothing of value to the community in the people thus getting together. Nothing but a confirmed obstructionist can hereafter say that he sees nothing wherein the different classes in the community have an idea or ambition in common.

From every standpoint the meeting was a success. The speeches were all very good, the supper was exceptional and the general feeling best of all. Now let the good work go on.

The membership of the club was more than doubled during the drive which preceded the meeting. There are now 250 men, representing every branch of industry in the county, on the roster of the club. Forth-two of these are farmers—perhaps the largest percentage of members of this class to be found in any club in the state. There are 35 men connected with the railroads in one capacity or other, many of them regular trainmen. This addition is particularly welcome, their interest proving that they are willing to take their share of the work and responsibility in making Thief River Falls a better town in which to live. Nearly every traveling man making the city his headquarters is now a member of the organization—a fact that will prove of the greatest value.

It is a wonderfully complete representation and one that should get results.

PAVING MADE EASY.

It begins to look as if there were to be left no excuse for neglecting to pave the business streets of Thief River Falls this year. There is every reason for believing that the legislature will pass the measure providing for a more general distribution of the cost, and now comes the report that the federal good roads appropriation can also be made to apply to some extent in helping communities through which trunk lines run.

As the proposition is understood by the ordinary citizens it amounts to this: Practically one-half the cost of improving highways in the state will be borne by the government. Where these highways are continued through cities or towns this improvement may take the nature of pavement, if it is so desired. The pavement laid down under this provision would naturally not be the width of a city street, the intention being to secure the maximum mileage in country roads—but by adding a small sum to the appropriation the municipality can easily secure a street of full width.

This would leave about one-half the cost to be paid by the taxpayers, but it may be that he will escape even this burden. In case the Babcock paved roads amendment is approved by the people when it comes up for ratification in 1920, the communities helping pay for these roads where they are located within the corporate limits will be reimbursed as soon as the money is available. The expense of paving these highway will be taken care of by a tax on automobiles and where the money has been paid out before this tax can be collected it will be returned.

The Jefferson highway is one of the Minnesota thoroughfares designated in the Babcock six thousand mile project. For seven block of its length the road follows Main avenue in this city, which is also a section of the proposed paving district. The strip that would thus be taken care of, while necessary in the paving plan, has been regarded as not being so greatly benefitted by such improvement as some of the other streets and it was therefore expected that the residents there might object to the paving plan. The knowledge that the government stands ready to assume about one-half of the expense should remove all opposition on the part of these citizens, which would be a considerable obstacle overcome.

The business men of the city have by no means dropped this paving matter and are gaining converts to their way of thinking every day. People realize that our streets must be paved, but are inclined to dread the cost. So many ways of lightening the expense are being devised, however, that it hardly seems as if there should be any further excuse for delay.

TEN AND 20 YEARS AGO

Twenty Years Ago.

A bicycle trust was formed at Chicago with a capital of $50,000,000.

A number of friends surprised Editor H. E. Mussey of the Press and helped him celebrate his 60th birthday anniversary. From this it may be gathered that Mr. Mussey, who now ably controls the destinies of the Grygla Eagle, is not as young as he once was.

F. H. Kratka returned from a business trip to Minneapolis.

Carl Kretzschmar shipped over a thousand dollars worth of furs which he had purchased in this vicinity during the winter.

Spring came with a temperature of 20 degrees below zero.

A great building boom was in sight for the city during the coming summer.

Long distance connections for the local telephone system were in sight and citizens were anxious for a chance to talk to the outside world.

A very pleasant party was given at the home of Attorney and Mrs. Ira C. Richardson. Cards formed the principal amusement for the evening.

Ten Years Ago.

Ole Overum, prominent Highlanding farmer, died after a brief illness.

Christ Granum returned after a second trip through the West in search of a new location. He was more firmly convinced than ever that Thief River Falls was the best town on the map.

County Ditch No. 33 was ordered established. This ditch was for the purpose of draining large tracts of land in North, Smiley and Silverton.

The largest load of logs ever hauled in this section of the woods was hauled at Pine Island by a crew of men from Joe Irwing's camp. There were 56,000 feet of lumber loaded on two sleds and pulled for fifteen miles by a six-horse team. The logs later were floated down the river to be sawed at the local mill.

A special election was called for April 15 to vote on the proposition of issuing city bonds in the sum of $20,000.

Efforts were being made to secure Hon. J. Adam Bede to deliver the commencement address at the high school.

Supt. J. H. Hay left for Crookston to attend the meeting of the Northwestern Minnesota Educational association. He was scheduled to deliver an address at the meeting and also to lead in two or three discussions.

Daniel Shaw, Wilhelm Michelet and Ed. Aubol drove to Red Lake Falls to attend a special meeting of the county commissioners.

H. E. Ives, editor of the St. Hilaire Spectator, was in the city on business for a few days.

Bert Walker returned home from Duluth, where he had spent three weeks visiting relatives.

John H. Ley was in the city working on the first directory to be gotten out here. He was given permission by the council to number the city. First street and Bridge street were decided upon as the dividing line running east and west, while Main avenue was named the north and south dividing line. Mr. Ley offered to do the work free of charge in connection with getting out the city directory.

Foch is a Master of Sitting Tight

In a recent issue of the house magazine of the National Biscuit Company there appeared an editorial entitled "Sitting Tight," inspired by the great human qualities of Marshal Foch. A copy of the magazine was sent to the Marshal who acknowledged it by inditing on his personal card this message: "Sinceres remerciements," meaning "sincere thanks." Terse and to the point, as is the man. "The most unassuming great man I ever met," says Charles M. Schwab. The editorial was as follows:

"The peace for which the free peoples of the world have had to fight is won. Truth and Justice and Right have triumphed as they always triumphed and eternally will triumph. There is a God!

"Large against the background of the war's end looms the figure of Ferdinand Foch, whose fame will last until Man has run his course and the River of Time is dry. A military genius? Yes! But more than that a Man—one who thinks little in terms of self but much in terms of humanity.

"Silent, sincere and Master of Sitting Tight is Ferdinand Foch. It is only a few months back that the Germans had the armies of the Allies backed to the wall. In those critical days the whole world somewhat querulously asked: 'Where is Foch?'

"Foch has heart as well as brains. He sat tight because he knew thousands upon thousands of human lives depended upon his every decision. Men of his type do not take long chances—only fools and gamblers and German military leaders, to whom soldiers are cannon fodder, do that.

"Foch sat tight, letting the world pass such comment as it might. He knew that he would be responsible for the result—and he accepted that responsibility seriously. Foch waited until the chances at least were equal. The world knows what happened but it little appreciates, now, the lives he saved.

"There is a lesson here for everyone. It is to sit tight until you are sure you may go ahead with the minimum chance of disappointment or failure.

"Unless you have something worth while to offer when a subject is presented, sit tight. If you don't know what it is all about there is all the more reason you should sit tight, for in that way you will be learning something instead of displaying your ignorance. Sit tight, but say the right thing at the right time. Criticise when you can criticise constructively, when you can suggest something better for the thing you tear down."

Dear Sir:-

Did you ever buy a 75c ax? You can get them, but in most cases they are not worth even 75c; the ax dulls right up; too much soft metal, adulteration, in other words.

Well, that's just what is going on in a good many clothes this spring. Because wool is a little scarce, many manufacturers are adulterating their fabrics with cotton. Such clothes won't wear as long as wool or hold their shape, so you've got to be mighty careful what you buy. You can't afford to invest in these cheap clothes now.

It will pay you big dividends in economy, wear and satifaction to buy standard all-wool clothes, and the way to be sure of all-wool quality is to buy Hart Schaffner & Marx clothes at this store.

These goods are guaranteed to satisfy or your eoney back. They cost a little more than other clothes but they are worth many times as much in the long service and wear that you get. When you consider the cost of such clothes year in and year out they are really the lowest priced clothes you can buy because you buy fewer suits.

Come in and see the hard finished worsteds and serges at $20, $25, $30 and $35; we have just your size. We'll be glad to show you and you'll be under no obligations.

Yours truly,

LIEBERMAN BROS.

Have You Ever Known A Dissatisfied Buick Owner?

THE BUICK was one of the first cars manufactured. It has always been one of the best. Never satisfied to simply keep pace with the progress made in automobile production, the aim has been to always lead the procession. This has been instrumental in inaugurating such departures from the established rule as valve-in-head motor construction, complete housing-in of motor, automatic lubrication of valve mechanism, new oil filler, lengthened rear springs, round type switch with rotary contact. This season has added a new instrument board, new type rim, improved top and heavy crowned fenders.

The Buick was Always A Leader---This Season It is Pre-eminently the Best

You will have reason to regret it if you do not inspect this truly superior car before deciding upon your purchase for this spring.

THE CHEVROLET--- The small car of character and Charm

While light, The Chevrolet is a roomy five passenger, having every late improvement and convenience. For the man who wants a dependable car at a low cost there is nothing better than the Chevrolet.

The Buick and the Chevrolet are now on exhibition at the garage of Burstad & Auseby, and at the Borry garage, and will soon be found at our remodelled show rooms on Horace avenue.

Armour and Company NOT in the Retail Grocery Business

CERTAIN jobbing salesmen are circulating reports to the effect that Armour and Company control certain retail grocery stores or are planning to enter into the retail grocery business.

These reports are utterly and absolutely false. We desire to brand them as such once and for all. Armour and Company do not control any retail grocery stores wholly or in part. Neither have we any affiliation or connection in any way whatsoever with any owners of any retail grocery stores. Armour and Company have no intention of engaging in the retail grocery business.

Armour and Company distribute and sell a very limited number of food lines not directly produced from livestock. This is only the result of natural evolution. Our system of distribution and marketing must be maintained with the greatest possible efficiency. It is necessary, for reasons of economy, that it handle as great a volume at all seasons as possible.

This same distributive system enables us to carry staple foods to the people of this country with greater efficiency and at a cost that is low commensurate with the service. If our facilities are such that we have been able to serve the public more economically and efficiently than our competitors, then it is the retailer and consumer who benefit.

Armour and Company are more than packers. They are food purveyors. But, our participation in grocery lines represents only 4.6 per cent of our total business. Yet, wholesale grocery houses whose representatives spread these false reports are, themselves, engaged in numerous side-lines far removed from edible products. A recent bill of goods which we purchased from a wholesale grocer, contained more than forty items, not one of which could be used for food—except by an ostrich.

Reports of our engaging, or intending to engage, in the retail grocery business are, without exception, untrue. In the words of Mr. J. Ogden Armour, "We have no intention of adding the woes of retailing to the burdens of manufacturing and distributing."

Armour and Company will continue to regard all retailers as our co-workers. By means of our refrigerator cars and our branch houses it will be our effort to continue to provide them with the finest foods of all kinds that we can select and prepare—under the quality mark of the OVAL LABEL.

COW TESTING MAY BE STARTED HERE

LEADERS IN MATTER SEE GOOD CHANCES FOR SUCCESS OF PLAN.

An effort is to be made to organize a cow testing association in Pennington county. All persons interested in such an organization should send in their names at once to the Farm Bureau office. Leonard Houske of Halstad will be in the city on March 20 and it is desired to know how many farmers care to join an association. Mr. Houske has had a great deal of experience along these lines and will give information to anyone interested in perfecting a local cow testing society.

If a sufficient number of farmers show an interest, a competent tester may be employed to take charge of the work, otherwise it will be necessary to make arrangements with the creameries, if possible, to have testing done for those farmers who wish to start the work immediately.

A large number of the farmers adjacent to Thief River Falls are interested in the dairy industry and most of them realize the importance of a testing association as a means of keeping their herds up to top notch. These organizations have proven of much value in other districts where they have been given a trial and have become permanent fixtures. Pennington county dairymen can hardly afford to miss this opportunity of securing something which will be of great value to them.

Back From France.
One by one the soldier boys return and assume their former positions with the Soo. The latest to arrive is Alex Campbell, fireman, who recently returned from active service in France. Mr. Campbell was one of the first to enlist after the outbreak of the war and served for eighteen months with the expeditionary forces. He was a member of the heavy artillery and was with a unit which operated a number of heavy guns on railway trucks. These heavy guns did effective work in driving back the Hun, shooting from long distances with deadly effect. Mr. Campbell's home is at Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., from which place he enlisted in the service. He passed all through the war without receiving a scratch, and naturally considers himself just a little bit lucky. It seems natural for him to be back at his old job heaving coal into a locomotive, and the boys are all glad to welcome him back to the ranks of the railroaders.

Loses Two Fingers.

In a manner not yet fully explained, John Gunderson of Lowell, section worker on the Great Northern, was seriously injured on Monday. Two fingers of the left hand were amputated when Gunderson was taken to the Crookston hospital for treatment. The first knowledge of the accident was when Gunderson made his appearance at the yard office of the Great Northern in Redland. He was rushed to Crookston immediately and taken to the hospital. It is believed that Gunderson, while at work, slipped and fell in front of a passing switch engine and the wheels ran over his hand. A slight skull injury was also received in the fall.

On Eight Hour Basis.

An eight hour schedule has this week been established among the clerks connected with the local freight offices of the Soo. Among other changes this necessitates the addition of another yard clerk, which position is being filled by T. A. Carlson, formerly night clerk at the ticket office. Mr. Carlson's place is taken by Miss Albina Doucet, formerly stenographer in the freight office, whose place in turn is taken by Miss Olga Gulrud, who gave up her position in the superintendent's office upon the return of Glenn C. Anderson from military service.

Much Work Expected.

Railroad men anticipate considerable activity during the coming season along this division of the Soo. Much repair work, such as graveling road bed, filling grades, placing new bridges and culverts is under contemplation and consequently a busy season is expected among the construction crews. It appears to be the policy of the government, which now has control of the railroads, to keep the roads in the best condition possible regardless of the fact that the retiring congress made little or no provision for such work.

R. Vance checked in as custodian at Westbury station on Saturday.

Henry J. Peterson, car man, made a business trip to Warren last Friday.

W. E. Miller, machinist at the Soo, spent Sunday with friends at Mahnomen.

Traveling Fireman A. C. Langdo was a visitor on Tuesday at the local yards.

J. O. Johnson, agent at Henning, was at Waubun between trains on Friday.

C. L. Orvis, helper at Newfolden, visited at Noyes for a few hours on Tuesday.

Sigvard Vold, machinist helper, is among those who are laid up on account of illness.

John Stangle, boiler washer, spent the latter part of the week with friends at Waubun.

Carl Christopherson, boiler washer, returned the last of the week from a brief trip to Noyes.

John C. Bird, pipe fitter, is listed among those who are under the weather from illness this week.

Melvin Peterson, car man, has resigned from the service and will try his hand at something else for awhile.

Alex Roisland, sweeper, made a trip to Gully last Friday to look after business matters and to visit friends.

R. E. Marcoe, fireman, left Monday for the Twin Cities on a business trip. He expected to be absent for only a few days.

Miss Selma Simonson, cashier at the local ticket office of the Soo, visited over Sunday at St. Hilaire with her parents.

Emil Norquist is for the present holding down the trick of Anton B. Carlson, stationary fireman, who is absent on account of illness.

F. C. Chandler, who recently returned from military service, has resumed his former position as warehouseman at Erskine, relieving Max A. Paine.

Tom Kinsela, freight house foreman, is the latest victim of the prevailing epidemic and has been forced to remain at home for several days as a result.

Orville Herron, formerly in the car repair department, has been transferred to the force at the company blacksmith shop. He takes to his new work like a duck to water.

Emil Norquist, boiler maker foreman at the local Soo round house, left yesterday morning on a trip to Fordville and Overley for the purpose of giving the stationary boilers at those places their annual going over.

Andy Eckbom, engineer on the Soo, is back in the harness after having enjoyed a two-months vacation. Andy usually takes a vacation during the severe winter months to escape the rigors of northern Minnesota weather.

The local station of the Soo has received authority to accept for shipment daily until further orders eight cars daily of grain and seeds to the Duluth terminals. The order is not definite and may be terminated at any time.

Anton Carlson, stationary fireman at the Soo round house, is still confined to his home on account of illness. He is having an unusually hard time of it this winter, several members of his family having been afflicted with the flu at the same time.

The train dispatchers of the local offices of the Soo are again enjoying their regular two-day monthly lay-off. The first man to go was A. J. Odin, who laid off from Tuesday until today. He will be followed in turn by E. F. Dolan, R. E. Fillmore, C. W. Stewart and Phil Bryant, each taking the allotted time for any purpose he may choose. A. L. Chapman, relief dispatcher, is taking the place of the absent members of the staff.

SMOKING TOBACCO FACTS FROM THE ENCYCLOPAEDIA

The Use of Flavorings Determines Difference In Brands

The Encyclopædia Britannica says about the manufacture of smoking tobacco: "...on the Continent and in America, certain 'sauces' are employed ...the use of the 'sauces' is to improve the flavour and burning qualities of the leaves." Which indicates that a smoker's enjoyment depends as much upon the flavoring used as upon the tobacco.

Your nose is a sure guide in the matter of flavorings. Try this simple test with several tobacco brands: pour some tobacco into your palm, rub briskly, and smell. You will notice a distinct difference in the fragrance of every brand. The tobacco that smells best to you will smoke best in your pipe, you can rest assured.

Carefully aged, old Burley tobacco, plus a dash of pure chocolate, gives TUXEDO Tobacco a pure fragrance your nose can quickly distinguish from any other tobacco. Try it and see.

KIDNEYS WEAKENING? LOOK OUT!

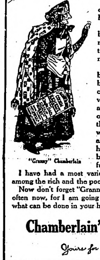
Kidney troubles don't disappear of themselves. They grow slowly but steadily, undermining health with deadly certainty, until you fall a victim to incurable disease.

Stop your troubles while there is time. Don't wait until little pains become big aches. Don't trifle with disease. To avoid future suffering begin treatment with GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules now. Take three or four every day until you are entirely free from pain.

This well-known preparation has been one of the national remedies of Holland for centuries. In 1696 the government of the Netherlands granted a special charter authorizing its preparation and sale.

The housewife of Holland would almost as soon be without food as without her "Real Dutch Drops," as she quaintly calls GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules. They restore strength and are responsible in a great measure for the sturdy, robust health of the Hollanders.

Do not delay. Go to your druggist and insist on his supplying you with GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules. Take them as directed, and if you are not satisfied with results your druggist will gladly refund your money. Look for the name GOLD MEDAL on the box and accept no other. In sealed boxes, three sizes.



"Granny" Chamberlain

I Am "Granny" Chamberlain

Everybody's friend when they have coughs and colds and their children have croup and whooping cough.

Most everyone knows me. I have been going from home to home for nearly fifty years—always welcome, too, for I never fail in their hour of need.

I have helped young mothers whose babies were choking with croup, and been the comfort of parents whose children tramp to school through the wet winter weather. Many a cold and attack of bronchitis I have warded off, and thousands I have helped through the anxious moments of whooping cough. I have come to the aid of mothers and fathers when they had colds and influenza, and have been a relief to old folks suffering from bronchitis and asthma.

I have had a most varied experience; I go everywhere—among the rich and the poor, in cities and the country.

Now don't forget "Granny" Chamberlain! You will see me often now, for I am going to tell you of my experience and what can be done in your home with

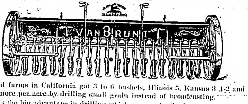
You Can Increase Your Yield 3 to 9 Bushels per Acre



Several farms in California got 3 to 6 bushels, Illinois 5, Kansas 3 1-2 and Iowa 9 bushels more per acre by drilling small grain instead of broadcasting.

Here is the big advantage in drilling which we want all of our customers to understand—only one trip over the field is necessary to plant the seed. The drill completes four operations—it makes the seed furrows, drops and covers the seed and pulverizes the soil. Not necessary to drag a harrow over the field afterwards.

You will always need a machine of some kind for planting your small grain crops. Why not get one from us now that will do all of this work—one that plants the seed at even depth so that the crop will all be ready for harvest at one time?

We have the drill in stock that we know will do the work for you. It is a John Deere-Van Brunt—the famous drill that has worked very successfully all over the country for forty years. We want you to know all about the Van Brunt Grain Drill. It has a patented adjustable gate force-feed that will interest you in the way it works. Come in and let us show you how easy it is to plant even, continuous streams of fine, medium or coarse seed with this drill.

Mrs. Ernest B. O'Neill.

One of the saddest deaths to take place here for some time occurred Tuesday evening when Mrs. Ernest B. O'Neill passed away at the Physicians hospital. Death resulted from complications following an attack of influenza, of which deceased had been suffering for about two weeks. An operation was resorted to in an effort to save her life, but in spite of all that could be done life ebbed slowly away.

Mary Moran was born May 27, 1892, at Pembina, N. D., and was married Nov. 19, 1912 to Ernest O'Neill. To this union two children were born, Marcella, aged five years, and Vivian, aged two and a half years, who with Mr. O'Neill are left to mourn the loss of a loving wife and mother. Other surviving relatives are two sisters and two brothers, Mrs. Julien Provencher of this city, Mrs. A. F. Worner of Fargo, N. D., George Moran, Ft. Francis, Canada, and Peter Moran of Humboldt, this state.

The funeral was held yesterday afternoon from the Larson undertaking parlors, with interment in the Catholic cemetery. Rev. M. J. Noesen of St. Bernard's church conducted the services. Friends and neighbors extend their sympathy to the bereaved relatives in their great sorrow.

Charles A. Pitkin.

Charles A. Pitkin, whose death was chronicled in The Times last week, was born at Sabula, Ia. There he completed his common school education, after which he attended the University of Minnesota and finished with high honors. After his graduation from the university, Mr. Pitkin became private secretary to Senator Joel P. Heatwole of Northfield, a position in which he gained much valuable experience. For a time he also was associated with Herbert Temple, prominent St. Paul accountant, with F. I. Whitney and Fred B. Lynch, leading men of that city. Later he became associated with Harris Richardson, thus gaining much practical knowledge of law.

About eight years ago his parents moved to Crookston and later to St. Hilaire, where the elder Mr. Pitkin died about a year ago. The subject of this sketch came to Thief River Falls about six years ago and in partnership with H. O. Kjomme opened a law practice. This firm was a short time later dissolved and Mr. Pitkin continued his law business alone. In 1906 he was married to Miss Ethel Corbitt of St. Paul, who survives to mourn his death.

The funeral was held last Friday at Crookston and was largely attended. Attorneys Theo. Quale, E. M. Stanton, G. Howard Smith and P. W. Mabey representing the legal fraternity of this city, while H. W. Protzeller, F. H. Herrick, and Roy Lambert represented the local lodge of Elks. The Polk county bar association and Elks attended the funeral in a body.

Charles A. Pitkin proved a valuable citizen to Thief River Falls and Pennington county during his residence here. His place will indeed be hard to fill. He was extremely patriotic and had the ability and initiative to do effective work for the good of the community. Charles Pitkin proved his worth as a public spirited man and as a friend. His death is deeply mourned by all who knew him.

Library Notes.

Business men, attention!

Are you looking for a certain article or special line of goods?

Do you know where to get it?

At the public library you will find a new copy of Donelley's National Classified Telephone directory and Buyer's Guide. This book is issued semi-annually and consists of three sections:

First, the Business Section, containing classified lists of materials, merchandise and services offered by reputable concerns, whose name, address and telephone number is given.

Second, the Geographical Section. All businesses are classified alphabetically by state, city and kind, so that you may easily find the one nearest your home town.

Third, the Catalog Section, containing detailed and specific information about the merchandise, products and services of each concern listed.

Another useful reference book, which has recently been added is An Index to Poetry and Recitations. In this book are indexed the contents of 450 volumes comprising standard and popular collections of poetry, recitations, orations, dialogues, etc. The list includes over 60,000 titles. As everything is indexed by title, author and first line it is very easy to find whatever you may be looking for.

Following are books for Boys' Working Reserve:

1. Farm—"Craft Lessons."
2. Bailey—"Training of Farmers."
3. Brooks—"Study of Corn."
4. Duncan—"When Mother Lets Us Garden."
5. Hall—"Three Acres and Liberty."
6. Higgins—"Little Gardens For Boys and Girls."
7. Keffer—"Nature Studies on the Farm."
8. Saint Maur—"Self Supporting Home."

Pamphlets:

1. "Making Boy-power Count."
2. "Booklets of Information."

A Hint to Poultry Raisers

EXPERTS tell us that it is none too early now to let your hens start setting. By getting the chicks hatched early in the spring, you will have much larger pullets when fall comes than your neighbor who doesn't get started until well along in April.

ANOTHER advantage is that when fair time comes around in the fall your pullets will be well developed in comparison with those that get a later start. Farmers who exhibited last year will remember that many of their birds were disqualified on account of being under weight.

MILK

A Preventative Against Disease

Strong healthy babies are safeguarded against contagion. The child that resists disease successfully is the well-nourished child—fed with pure milk that builds bone and muscle, and that is clean and free from possibility of disease.

Our process of selecting and pasteurizing our milk and the assurance that our milk is all from cows found by government inspectors to be free from tuberculosis, is an assurance of high quality.

Milk Uniformity

is another important consideration. The milk must be of equal richness every day in order to ward off internal disturbances in delicate constitutions. Uniformity of the milk can be had only by careful testing and standardizing every day of all milk sold.

BUSINESS IS GOOD, CREAMERY STATES

FORTY-SEVEN PATRONS RECEIVE CHECKS IN EXCESS OF FIFTY DOLLARS.

Business continues good at the local creamery considering the season of the year. Secretary Peter Engelstad has completed his reports for February and a very creditable showing is made. Forty-seven patrons of the creamery received checks in excess of $50 during the month, many of them being over the $100 class. Only one man received more than $200 for the products of his dairy herd for the month, this being Hans Anton, who pulled down a check for $250.61. The average amount received by patrons in the $50 and over class in $92.95, according to the report of Secretary Peter Engelstad, which shows the following as being in this preferred division:

Hans Anton, $250.61; Jens Kirk, $183.03; Dahl Bros., $178.42; Henry Koop, $142.82; C. Christenson, $141.38; P. Engelstad, $128.59; Waldo Christenson, $125.28; L. O. ONE MORE SOLDIER ANSWERS LAST CALL

ANDREW LANDA OF WYLIE DIES OF TUBERCULOSIS AT CAMP UPTON.

Private Andrew Landa of Wylie died on Tuesday, March 4, at Camp Upton, N. Y., of tuberculosis, after a four months' illness. He was taken sick four months ago with influenza and tuberculosis resulted from his weakened condition. When it became known that Private Landa was seriously ill, two of his brothers, Albert and William, left for Camp Upton and were with him when he died. The remains were shipped to Dorothy, this state, and the fnueral services were held from the Catholic church at Euclid, with Rev. Ed. Grimonpres officiating. Private Landa was the eighth son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Landa, both of whom died several years ago. He was born at Wylie on Feb. 18, 1896, and received his education in the schools of the county.

GREAT YEAR AHEAD FOR KID GARDNERS

PLANS ARE BEING MADE FOR BEST SHOWING IN CITY'S HISTORY.

One hundred and eighty-five Junior high school students are planning their 1919 gardens this week, under the spervision of Lieut. Hiatt, of the Lincoln high school agricultural department. The boys and girls are showing great interest in making garden on paper, and if their paper plans materialize there will be no food shortage in Thief River Falls this season.

Now is the time to plan your garden. Much of the success of a home garden depends upon how carefully it is planned, according to Lieut. Hiatt. "By drawing to scale on paper the map of the garden, it will be possible to secure the proper order in planting, and to accurately determine the amount of seeds to purchase.

"The average boy or girl can easily spade and care for a garden 10 by 30 feet. A garden of this size will go far to supply vegetables for a family of four, and at the same time it will not be so large as to make its care a burden. Where there is more than one boy or girl between the ages of 9 and 16 years in a family, or where the mother, father, or older brothers and sisters help in the care of the garden, the size may be considerably enlarged.

"The width between rows will depend upon whether it is desired to cultivate the garden by hand or with the help of a horse and cultivator. About 30 inches between rows is desirable for most vegetables where it is planned to cultivate with hand tools such as the hoe. There should be place in the garden plan for enough paths so that the plants may receive the necessary personal attention.

"Seeds for the garden should be purchased now. Reliable seed houses should be patronized, and standard, named varieties secured. In making out the seed order it is well to be sure to include first of all, the fundamentals of the garden plants, such as potatoes, beans, peas, sweet corn, onions, carrots, and cabbage. Then if there is room left, there can be added such fancy vegetables as peppers, spinach, parsley, chard, muskmelons, cucumbers and the like."

ACHES AND PAINS QUICKLY RELIEVED

You'll find Sloan's Liniment softens the severe rheumatic ache

Put it on freely. Don't rub it in. Just let it penetrate naturally. What a sense of soothing relief soon follows!

External aches, stiffness, soreness, cramped muscles, strained sinews, back "cricks"—those ailments can't fight off the relieving qualities of Sloan's Liniment. Clean, convenient, economical. Ask any druggist for it.

Sloan's Liniment Kills Pain

Many Bonds Are Lost.

Lists of numbers of Liberty bonds lost or stolen, and reported to the Ninth Federal Reserve district headquarters at Minneapolis, received by the banks of this city, show a large number of bonds of every issue missing. The list compiled is not a complete list of all the bonds lost or stolen, according to a local banker, as it supplements a report made earlier this year. All bonds lost or stolen should at once be reported to the Federal Reserve bank at Minneapolis.

The ever increasing popularity of DR. MILES' LAXATIVE TABLETS is due largely to the fact that people who have used them are glad to recommend them to their friends. The following letter tells how a friend's recommendation of DR. MILES' LAXATIVE TABLETS resulted in much good.

"I have suffered long from constipation and have used all sorts of medicines without relief. A friend of mine sent me a box of DR. MILES' LAXATIVE TABLETS. After taking them I find they are the finest laxative I have ever used. Pleasant to the taste and mild and effective. They are in my judgment the best in existence."

WATERLOO BOY The Original Kerosene Tractor

In offering to you the Waterloo Boy, the Original Kerosene Burning Tractor, we believe we have selected the most practical, economical and dependable farm tractor on the market.

POINTS OF MERIT ON WHICH OUR JUDGMENT IS BASED

PAST PERFORMANCE—The Waterloo Boy has been a success on farms for five years. In no way is it an experiment.

ECONOMICAL—It is a three plow tractor—most economical and practical size to use—burns kerosene perfectly without destroying lubricating oil. Its special, patented inbuilt manifold converts every drop of kerosene into pure gas—cylinders are not carbonized—spark plugs are not fouled. The perfect burning of kerosene saves the owner of the Waterloo Boy many dollars every year in cost of fuel and care of motor.

POWERFUL—The two cylinders, with big bore and long stroke, furnish a guaranteed power of 12 H. P. at the draw bar and 25 H. P. at the belt, with ample reserve for emergencies. The Waterloo Boy pulls three plows under almost any field condition. Hyatt roller bearings at all important bearing points conserve full power. Weight of the tractor is sufficient to insure good traction for drive wheels.

SIMPLE—Every part is easy to get at and easy to adjust or repair. It doesn't require a tractor expert to keep the Waterloo Boy in good working order. The crank case cover, the inspection plate, the upper half of gear case can all be removed for purpose of inspection or repair—the operator can work from a standing position.

DURABLE—Its heat-treated steel cut gears; its force and sight feed oiling system; its 11 sets of Hyatt Roller bearings at all important bearing points and its simple, powerful two-cylinder motor combined with uniformly high grade construction throughout, result in a tractor that has given and will give many years of dependable and economical service.

FOR ALL FARM WORK—You can depend upon the Waterloo Boy in all farm power work, up to its high rated capacity. It is just as satisfactory in operating belt machines—threshers, shellers, ensilage cutters, hay balers, etc—as it is in pulling tractor implements of all kinds.

We Want You to See the Waterloo Boy—Come in the Next Time You Are in Town

WOMAN'S CLUB HAS ROUSING MEETING

EXCELLENT PROGRAM ENJOYED AT CLUB ROOMS MONDAY AFTERNOON.

The regular meeting of the Woman's club held Monday afternoon was an event of more than ordinary importance. A splendid program had been prepared and in addition the club members were treated to an address by Private Martin Langseth, soldier of the famous Rainbow division, who returned last week to his home in this city. It was an afternoon filled to overflowing with good things and the ladies enjoyed every minute of the time spent at the club meeting.

After the routine business of the meeting had been looked after, the members were privileged to listen to three very good papers by members. The first was written by Mrs. Gay Halvorson and read by Mrs. L. R. Hiatt. It had for its subject "Pioneer Life in Minnesota." The paper was especially well prepared and was heartily encored. Then followed a glowing tribute to a Minnesota pioneer in a paper by Mrs. E. M. Stanton on "Bishop Whipple and the Missionaries." This gave a very comprehensive description of the life and works of the grand old man. Mrs. E. M. Schutt gave a very able and instructive paper, taking for her subject "Resources of Minnesota." After enumerating in a general way the wonderful resources of the state, Mrs. Schutt devoted her attention to the subject of peat, of which there are vast deposits in this section. The speaker told of what the war had brought about in the development of peat and of the interest taken by the government in putting this natural resource to some practical use. Large appropriations have already been made for experimental work and chances are bright that some means will soon be found whereby peat will come to be considered as a blessing to a country instead of being looked at in the light of an undesirable element.

Private Langseth then proceeded to relate some experiences in the great war. He described his sensations when he first was called upon to go "over the top," saying that it made him mighty nervous. After seeing a few of his comrades killed, however, the nervousness was all gone and every soldier went after the Hun with all his might. Langseth described the ruin wrought by the Germans in parts of Belgium, stating that it was impossible for words to describe the awful deeds perpetrated by the invading Hun hordes. He praised the work of the Red Cross, telling how much this organization meant to every soldier in the service. He also had a word of praise for the Salvation Army, stating that when the size of this organization was taken into consideration they must be given credit for doing a really wonderful work. Private Langseth stated that every American soldier now considers the Salvation Army in a far different light than formerly and all have the deepest respect for it. He also said that the Y. M. C. A., while it did a vast amount of good work, did not get as close to the soldier's heart as the other two relief societies.

After Private Langseth had completed his talk, he was asked a number of questions by club members concerning different things connected with army life, all of which he answered in a very clear and comprehensive manner. At the conclusion of the meeting he was given a rising vote of thanks by the members of the club.

ROSEWOOD PIONEER CALLED BY DEATH

Swen Iverson Haugen, prominent farmer near Rosewood, died suddenly last Friday evening of heart failure at the age of 69 years. He had been out for a walk and died shortly after reaching home. He had complained to his son that walking against the wind was very tedious and that he had grown very tired. Shortly after having reclined on a couch to rest he was found cold in death. Medical aid was at once summoned but arrived too late to be of any help.

Mr. Haugen was born in Norway on June 16, 1859, and came to America in 1884. After spending four years at Blooming Prairie he moved to Marshall county, where he homesteaded the farm upon which he had since made his home. Nov. 10, 1891, he was married to Mrs. Anna Blomberg of Rosewood. Two sons, Selmer and Adolph, were born of this union. Both reside at home and are operating the farm. Mrs. Blomberg died about twenty years ago and deceased had since that time devoted all of his energy to bringing up and educating his sons. That he succeeded in this is vouched for by all who know the family. Deceased was a sturdy pioneer who enjoyed the esteem and respect of everyone.

CHANGE OF ROUTE DESIRED BY CLUB

RED LAKE FALLS BOOSTERS WANT NEW INTERNATIONAL HIGHWAY FOR CITY.

A determined effort will be made by the Red Lake Falls Commercial club to get the new Roosevelt International highway routed between Bemidji and Crookston by way of Red Lake Falls and Gentilly. The directors of the club point out that such a routing would be of great benefit to the highway, particularly as it would avoid the long stretch of unpromising country between Crookston and Dugdale.

The directors of the club passed a resolution commending the work of the state immigration department and deprecating any move to abolish it. The club feels that the department has been doing great work in bringing thousands of settlers into northern Minnesota, and that to abolish the department would be a decided step backward.

Proceedings of County Board.

Thief River Falls, Minnesota, March 6th, 1919.

On the call of the County Auditor the County Board for Pennington County, Minnesota, met in the office of the County Auditor in the City of Thief River Falls, at 2 o'clock P. M.

On roll call the following members reported present: Commissioners McGinn, Naplin, Roy and Peterson. A. W. Hanson, the newly appointed member from the First Commissioner district, reported present and after taking his Oath of Office was duly installed into his place. Members absent; none.

A petition from parties residing in Section 27 in the Township of Star asking that a certain amount of money be appropriated for a certain road running between Sections 21 and 28, and 22 and 27, was on motion laid over until some future meeting. In the meantime, Commissioner Hanson will have an opportunity to investigate the project and be in a position to make report to the County Board.

The following resolution was offered by Commissioner Roy, who moved its adoption, duly seconded by Commissioner McGinn:

BE IT RESOLVED, that the sum of $1,000.00 be appropriated to the Township of North for the repairing of the bridge across the Thief River in said town and known as the Long Bridge.

On roll call the following members voted for the resolution: Commissioners Roy and McGinn. Against the resolution: Commissioners Hanson, Naplin and Peterson.

Resolution was so declared not approved.

The following resolution was offered by Commissioner McGinn, who moved its adoption duly seconded by Commissioner Naplin:

BE IT RESOLVED, that the sum of One Hundred Twenty-five and No-100 be and the same is hereby appropriated out of the General Revenue fund of Pennington county to the Red River Valley Development Association, and that the County Auditor is hereby directed to issue his warrant to the said association in said amount.

All members present voted for the resolution, it was so declared approved.

The following resolution was offered by Commissioner McGinn, who moved its adoption duly seconded by Commissioner Roy:

THAT, WHEREAS, W. G. Hunt, an esteemed member of this Board departed this life on the 24th day of February, 1919;

THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, that in the death of Mr. Hunt, this Board loses a valued and valuable member and the County of Pennington a valuable and honored citizen; one whose services to the county and the citizens thereof will be better appreciated as time passes;

THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, that we extend to the family of the deceased, our heartfelt sympathy; that these resolutions be spread upon the minutes of this Board of this day and a copy thereof be forwarded to the family of the deceased.

A. W. HANSON
R. McGINN
GUST NAPLIN
J. S. ROY
OSCAR J. PETERSON,
Chairman.

T. P. ANDERSON,
County Auditor.

The following resolution was offered by Commissioner Naplin, who moved its adoption duly seconded by Commissioner Hanson:

BE IT RESOLVED, That Commissioner Oscar J. Peterson hereby is authorized and directed as a committee of one to secure such legislation relative to certain drainage ditches in the County of Pennington, according to compiled statement prepared by the County Auditor and now on file in his office.

All members present voted for the resolution and it was so declared approved.

Motion made and duly seconded that 30 per cent of the State Aid for State Road purpose be set aside for maintenance for the season of 1919. Motion carried.

Motion made and seconded that the Highway Engineer be authorized to engage patrolmen to maintain State Roads in Pennington county for the year 1919; and according to Sections designated and described as follows:

SECTION 1—From Pembina Ridge between sections 29 and 32, Twp. 154, Range 45, to SE corner Sec. 30, Twp. 154, Range 44, on State Road No. 3.

LOCAL YOUNG LADY NOW ARMY NURSE

MISS MARGARET McCRUM STATIONED AT HOSPITAL NEAR ASHEVILLE, N. C.

Miss Margaret McCrum, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. I. McCrum of Smiley township, is one of Pennington county's young women who has seen much active service in connection with the war. Miss McCrum is a professional nurse and has been stationed at various hospitals and cantonments in this country since the outbreak of the war. At present Miss McCrum is a nurse in the hospital for tuberculosis patients which Uncle Sam has built near Asheville, N. C., to take care of soldiers who come back from overseas afflicted with tuberculosis in one form or another.

In a recent letter to her parents Miss McCrum incloses a page from the Atlanta Constitution, giving a detail description of the institution. According to the newspaper story, this hospital is doing a great work in the reconstruction of diseased soldiers and the nurses stationed there are heart and soul in the work. The newspaper article gives several photographic views of the institution, showing in detail what is being done to put back in fighting trim those who have become affected by tuberculosis.

This hospital is located in the mountains about seven miles from Asheville, snuggled at the foot of a crest of pine-clad mountains. "Oteen" is the new name of the post, an Indian word of the commanding officer's choosing, meaning "chief aim." The war may be over elsewhere, the patriotic spirit may lag, but there was no more devoted group of patriots absorbed in any phase of war work when the conflict was at its height than the men who are today at the head of this latest undertaking of the government, whose chief aim is the restoration to health of nearly 1,500 tuberculosis soldiers—the largest hospital group of tuberculosis patients that has ever been assembled anywhere. The patient at Oteen moves through a graded system of cure, step by step, with a chance for constant promotion that puts heart into him at every stage.

Mr. and Mrs. McCrum enjoy the distinction of having more children in the service of Uncle Sam than any other family in Pennington county. Four boys and two girls are now serving with the colors, which is a record to be proud of. There is a rumor that Miss Margaret McCrum will not be alone when she comes back but will be accompanied by a gallant young soldier who has for some time been on overseas duty.

SEED CORN TESTING.

Pennington county farmers who wish to have their seed corn tested, may secure this service through the local county agent. By a special arrangement with the agricultural department of the Lincoln high school, it will be possible to test accurately any corn which may be brought in. So far no charge has been made for this service. In the future, however, it is planned to charge the actual cost of this service to the individual farmer. This cost will consist of paying a high school boy for the time he spends after school hours in the work of testing the corn, and should not exceed 25 cents per bushel.

Rural Carrier Examination.

The United States Civil Service commission has announced an examination for the county of Pennington, Minn., to be held at Thief River Falls o April 12, 1919, to fill the position of rural carrier at Thief River Falls, Goodridge and St. Hilaire, and vacancies that may later occur on rural routes from other post offices in the above-mentioned county. The examination will be open only to male citizens who are actually domiciled in the territory of a post office in the county and who meet the other requirements set forth in Form No. 1977. This form and application blanks may be obtained from the offices mentioned above or from the United States Civil Service commission at Washington, D. C. Applications should be forwarded to the commission at Washington at the earliest practicable date.

The vacancy at Goodridge for which this examination is announced is caused by the enlistment of the carrier formerly employed on the route. Upon his honorable discharge from the military service of the government he will be entitled to reinstatement to his former position as carrier on this route in accordance with the statute approved July 28, 1916, which is as follows:

"Any postal employee who has entered the military service of the United States or who shall hereafter enter it shall, upon being honorably discharged therefrom, be permitted to resume his position in the postal department which he left to enter such service."

However, any person appointed to this position may, in the discretion of the Post Office department, be assigned other parts of the postal service or transferred to other branches of the classified service for which he is eligible.

Both Tempting

to the eye and entirely satisfying to the taste is a good big dish of Puritas ice cream. Its very looks are a promise of pleasure which is more than fulfilled with the first spoonful. You'll never make a mistake in offering Puritas ice cream as a refreshment. It is the one thing that positively everybody likes.

PURITAS

It Promises to Be A Great Year for the Forehanded Man

The man who postpones the making of building improvements in the hope that prices will come down is praying for hard times

THE cost of labor and materials may reach a lower level some day, but the ordinary citizen should do everything in his power to stave that day off a long as possible. ¶ When the cost of what he has to buy is reduced the price of what he has to sell will follow suit as surely as night follows day.

Building Material is Not High Now

The government and every other agency whose purpose it is to keep watch of conditions are urging the people to BUILD NOW. There will never be a better opportunity. A bushel of wheat, a pound of butter or a beef critter will buy more building today than ever before in the history of the country. Costs are relative, and if it costs less of what you produce to secure what you require, then you are the gainer.

A CHANGE IS SURELY COMING

And it is not likely to be a change toward lower building material prices. An increase is almost certain along these lines and the wise man will protect himself now.

Permit us to help you in this matter. Our advice will cost you nothing and our more than 20 years experience should make it worth having.

MACHINE IS SET IN MOTION FOR VICTORY DRIVE

FIFTH LIBERTY CAMPAIGN TO BE CARRIED OUT IN USUAL MANNER.

NO ALLOTMENT YET MADE

WELL ORGANIZED WORKERS PREPARED TO TAKE CHARGE OF DETAILS.

Work will soon be started in earnest to keep up Pennington county's record in Liberty Loan drives. The fifth, or Victory Loan, will soon be floated, and the people of this county propose to do their share now as well as on previous occasions of this kind. G. Howard Smith, county chairman in charge of the loan campaign, is busy with details for the drive. Next week he will appoint chairmen for each township and city to have charge of these divisions and will also arrange a date upon which these men may meet to discuss local problems connected with the work.

Allotment Not Received.

Pennington conuty's allotment for the Victory Loan has not been received and for this reason Chairman Smith is not yet able to give out allotments for each subdivision of the county. The sum will be equitably divided among the townships and the four wards of the city of Thief River Falls. The work in the city will be handled by a general chairman and one chairman from each of the four wards. Allotments are to be made by committees operating independently in each township and ward, and these committees will be held responsible for its unit raising this allotment. Each township committee will turn in to the county chairman its list of allotments, to reach him not later than April 10. Every man named in these allotments will be notified to appear at his regular voting place on April 21 to make his subscription to the loan.

No Slackers Allowed.

A clean-up committee will be appointed to call on those who do not voluntarily appear to do their share as requested, and a general clean-up committee will operate throughout the entire county after the township and ward committees have completed their work. Every person who refuses to subscribe his allotment will not be handled by the local committee but his case will be reported to the department of justice and will be looked after by government agents.

Forces Lined Up.

The city and ward chairmen will be appointed this week. Township committees will be composed of the chairman, clerk and treasurer of each board, who will have complete charge of raising the township allotment. These men will be notified of their appointment the latter part of this week. A meeting of township and ward chairmen will be held at the Commercial club rooms in this city on April 5, at which time the general committee would like to have reports and allotments of as many township committees as possible.

Many Meetings Planned.

A big mass meeting is planned for this city to advertise the loan drive. The date for this has not yet definitely been set but it will likely be held on April 11 at the auditorium. A prominent speaker sent out from the speakers' bureau at Minneapolis will address the gathering in addition to a number of local men who will give short talks. It is also planned to have a number of returned soldiers tell of their experiences.

Between April 11 and 20 it is planned to arrange a meeting in every school house and at every farmers' club in the county. Arrangements for these will be made by the township boards. Mayor G. A. Penney, chairman of the county speakers' bureau, will furnish speakers for these meetings. Returned soldiers in each township will be requested to give addresses at these gatherings also. Four minute men, under the direction of Mayor Penney, will appear at the show houses in this city, St. Hilaire and Goodridge each evening during the same period and at such other times as the committee thinks advisable. A speaking program is also being arranged for the schools of the county and ministers will be requested to give the loan as much publicity as possible.

Assistance is Needed.

A county publicity committee has been appointed, with R. H. Ross, manager of The Times, as chairman. Other members of the committee are F. H. Herrick, J. Provencher, M. T. McFarland, all of this city; O. Gunstad, St. Hilaire; N. Bundhund, Goodridge, and Paul Borgie, Hazel.

Owing to the fact that the central committee will not allow county chairmen or workers to contract bills for auto hire or livery, it will be necessary to appoint a transportation committee, the personnel of which will appear in next week's issue of The Times. This committee will arrange for automobiles and other means of transportation for chairmen and others engaged in promoting the loan. It is expected that car owners of the county will come forward and offer the use of their machines, as success in raising the quota will largely depend upon these men having access to their territories.

To Open New Store.

S. C. Simonson, proprietor of the new Simonson Meat and Grocery company, which recently purchased the Ostby grocery store and will operate in the same building, has been busy this week rearranging the place to accommodate the new business. The doors were thrown open to the public this morning. In addition to the regular grocery line, Mr. Simonson will conduct a first-class meat market, having installed the most modern fixtures for taking care of this branch of the business. He is a man of much experience in this line of work and will make every effort to please the public.

According to an ordinance, introduced and given its first reading at the council meeting Tuesday evening, the city will make an appropriation to the band in the sum of $450, to be paid at the rate of $75 per month, in return for which the band boys are to give free concerts in the parks during the summer months. The band boys also were granted use of the auditorium for a benefit dance to be given on the evening of April 25.

FOREMAN CHARGED WITH GUN THREAT

G. J. CONKLIN ARRESTED ON COMPLAINT OF DISCHARGED EMPLOYE.

As the result of some trouble with Olaf Johnson, an employe on the "rip track" at the Soo, Car Foreman G. J. Conklin was yesterday morning arrested on a warrant charging him with having pointed a revolver at Johnson. The latter secured the warrant Tuesday afternoon. Conklin was given a hearing yesterday in municipal court before Judge N. W. Tarrant and entered a plea of not guilty. Through his attorney, E. M. Stanton, he demanded a jury trial, and the case was postponed until Saturday morning at ten o'clock.

It seems, according to the best information obtainable, that Johnson had insisted on eating his lunch during working hours contrary to the foreman's orders. Johnson, after having been warned by the foreman not to do so again, is said to have taken his lunch basket as usual Tuesday morning and proceeded to eat at his leisure. This led to words between the men and the discharge of Johnson from the service. Johnson is said to have become abusive, while others maintain that the foreman did not take a back seat when it came to telling the man where to "head in." At noon Johnson claims he came back to the yard to get his time from Conklin, when the latter "flashed" a gun on him. Johnson immediately came to town and swore out the warrant for Conklin's arrest. Just what actually did transpire will undoubtedly be brought out at the trial Saturday.

The following veniremen have been named from whom to choose the jury to decide the case: Fred Roth, Phil Zeh, W. F. Edgar, Ben Erickson, M. T. McFarland, H. N. Hager, H. E. Holt, John Jaranson, Scott Laird, Chas. Lieberman, E. O. Mogensen and J. E. Cosgrove. The defendant was allowed his liberty on his own recognizance until the time set for trial of the case.

BOARD ANNOUNCES PAY OF TEACHERS

BONUS IS MADE PERMANENT ARRANGEMENT FOR NEXT YEAR.

Teachers in the Thief River Falls schools will receive practically the same pay next year as at present. This was decided on by the board at the last meeting after careful inquiry had been made as to the salaries to be paid by communities similarly situated in other sections of the state.

Instructors at the high school will receive $100 per month, while the pay of those in the grades will be $75 and $80. This is practically the same as is now being paid, it having been found advisable to add ten per cent to the contract price last year because of the steadily rising cost of living. This ten per cent bonus is now made a part of the regular pay.

School officials say that this is about the average over the state. The members are desirious of paying whatever is necessary in order to secure the best instructors, but do not feel themselves justified in offering fancy wages.

Just what percentage of the present teachers will remain under this arrangement is not known, some of them having already received better offers from other cities.

Big Show Coming.

Another big road show will make its appearance in this city on Saturday evening, May 10, when "Turn to the Right" will be the attraction at the auditorium. BANKERS GIVE NEW PAVILION GOOD SUPPORT

DONATE $550 TO HELP PAY FOR PROPOSED STRUCTURE AT FAIR GROUNDS.

PROPOSITION NOW SURE GO

CITY BEING ORGANIZED TO HELP COUNTRY IN RAISING NECESSARY FUNDS.

That the bankers of Thief River Falls are heartily in favor of the project to build a new live stock pavilion at the fair grounds was emphatically proven last Thursday afternoon when the four banks of this city pledged $550 as their share to help pay for the building. If other individuals and interests of Pennington county do as well, no trouble will be experienced in securing an adequate sum with which to construct one of the finest buildings of its kind in the Northwest.

Club Directors Meet.

A meeting of the directors of the Commercial club was held on Thursday, at which time Herbert Fuller, president of the county fair association was present. Mr. Fuller gave an outline of the pavilion proposition, explaining in detail just what the fair association is trying to do. H. C. Woolson also was present and gave a preliminary report of what Silverton town had already done in the matter of raising funds for the new pavilion. He stated that shares in the association to the amount of $400 had already been sold in his township, and said that more would likely be forthcoming. A committee of two is now at work in each of the townships of the county working on behalf of the several breeders' associations in an effort to raise funds for the project and, according to Mr. Woolson, these men are meeting with success in nearly every section visited.

Only Tentative Plans.

Plans for the new structure are as yet only tentative. A general idea for the future will be followed out in planning the building so that it may be added to at any time it becomes necessary. How much will be done this year depends, of course, on the amount of money that can be raised. When completed the structure will probably cost in the neighborhood of $25,000, but it is not intended to do all of this in one year. For the present enough will be done to provide adequate housing for the three leading cattle breeds—Holsteins, Shorthorns and Guernseys—during the county fair. The buildings will also be used in case it is decided to hold live stock sales once or twice during the year by the associations.

Committee Appointed.

The directors of the Commercial club appointed a committee to solicit the sale of shares in the fair association to club members and other business and professional men of the city. This committee consists of the following representative men: F. H. Herrick, Math Barzen and W. W. Prichard, Jr. Practically every man in the city is in favor of getting behind the fair association in providing a new live stock pavilion and the committee will undoubtedly meet with liberal support when making the rounds this week. Thief River Falls intends to show its farmer neighbors the right spirit in boosting for a good thing.

CROOKSTON WOMAN TO SPEAK MONDAY

MRS. C. G. SELVIG WILL GIVE TALK AT MEETING OF WOMAN'S CLUB.

More than the usual amount of interest is attached to the meeting of the Woman's club to be held next Monday afternoon. On this occasion the club will be host to the district president of federated clubs, Mrs. C. G. Selvig, of Crookston, who will deliver an address on the subject of "Community Interests." Mrs. Selvig is an accomplished lady and a fine speaker. For this reason something exceptionally good may be expected Monday afternoon. Her subject is one of utmost importance at the present time, when all civic and allied organizations are trying hard to bring about a better community feeling among the people and a more united effort in community work.

Added attractions on the program for Monday afternoon are two vocal solos, one by Mrs. G. Halvorson and the other by Miss Zella Zeh. Both ladies are recognized as artists and their work will be given unusual finish by Miss Blanche Johnson, who will play the piano accompaniments. Mrs. H. W. Protzeller will read a paper, taking for her subject "State Builders of Minnesota," while Mrs. A. Bottleson has prepared a treatise on "The Civil War," which she will deliver during the afternoon.

All members are urged to be present at this meeting as something unusually good is in store for them. The program is scheduled to begin promptly at three o'clock.

SUPT. HAY OFFERED LECTURE CONTRACT

MAY DECIDE TO TAKE UP WORK LATER—HIATT ALSO CALLED.

J. H. Hay, superintendent of the Thief River Falls schools, last week received an offer from the Federated Community Life Development association, an organization incorporated under the laws of North Dakota and having general community advancement for its purpose. The contract submitted to Mr. Hay was for a considerable period and the salary offer very substantial.

The work of this association is similar in some respects to that of chautauquas and is endorsed by people of all classes. Bankers, merchants, farmers and workingmen are backing the movement, which is the most ambitious effort in general community upbuilding yet attempted in this country. Mr. Hay was to have opened in Bowbells last Tuesday evening, but circumstances beyond his control made it impossible for him to fill this date.

The organization is non-sectarian and non-political, the sole aim being to create a better understanding among persons engaged in different pursuits. Men of all creeds are sponsoring the experiment and the roll of backers contains Republicans, Democrats and Nonpartisans. It is the intention to cover North Dakota during the present season and to extend the work to Minnesota and Montana later on.

The general program includes high class entertainments as well as lectures and two or three visits will be made to each city or town. Mr. Hay is quite enthusiastic over the possibilities for good held out by the plan and regrets his inability to begin work at the outset.

Almost at the same time another member of the high school faculty was offered a post of considerable responsibility and honor. Lieut. L. R. Hiatt, agricultural instructor, was notified that he was among the Americans engaged in his profession who had been selected by the Y. M. C. A., to go to Russia for the purpose of aiding in the agricultural rehabilitation of that country. He would be placed in charge of a demonstration train with which he would tour Siberia in the interests of better farming. The contract covers a period of two years, with the understanding that it may be extended. Lieut. Hiatt has not yet been notified to report but expects such notification within a short time. He has not fully decided upon what his answer will be.

OLAF WINGER SELLS BUSINESS INTEREST

DEPARTMENT MANAGER OF OEN MERCANTILE COMPANY GOES TO KENNEDY.

Olaf Winger, for the past six years stockholder in the Oen Mercantile company and during that time manager in the clothing department of that firm, left yesterday for Kennedy, Kittson county, where he has accepted a lucrative position with the Kennedy Trading company. Mr. Winger has sold his stock in the Oen company to other members of the firm and has severed all connections with the local store. Mrs. Winger will leave for Kennedy as soon as a suitable house can be found in which the family may take up its residence.

Mr. Winger is a first class business man and has made good while in this city. The clothing department at Oen's came to the front in fine shape under his management. No successor has as yet been chosen to fill the position made vacant by Mr. Winger's removal but it is likely that a man will soon be decided upon. The business associates of Mr. Winger and the many other friends of the family in this city are sorry to see this worthy couple leave but wish them continued success in their new field of endeavor.

RELIEF TO BE OBTAINED FOR LOCAL SCHOOL

LAW PROVIDING FOR NON-RESIDENT STUDENTS HAS CHANCE TO PASS.

SEN. NAPLIN BACKS BILL

STATE TO PAY DISTRICT $3 PER MONTH TUITION FOR OUTSIDE PUPILS.

Senator O. A. Naplin's bill, providing that the state shall pay to high schools $3 per month as tuition fee for non-resident students, has been favorably reported by the senate committee on education. As originally drawn, the bill provided for a fee of $5 per month for such pupils, but this had to be reduced to $3 in order to get it through the committee. The measure is now on general orders in the senate and Mr. Naplin promises that he shall do all he can to have it made into law. Several members from other parts of the state are interested in the bill and are lending their support to it.

Help to Local School.

If the bill passes it means that the Thief River Falls high school will get about $3,300 from the state for the present school year to help the expense incurred through the large number of non-resident pupils enrolled here. There are a few schools in the state which are even worse off with respect to the percentage of such pupils, some having as high as half of their enrollment composed of non-residents. It has been estimated that the bill carries with it a drain on the state treasury of about $225,000 per year and this naturally makes it an object for opposition from many legislators whose particular districts are not affected by the condition which the proposed law seeks to remedy.

May Get More Later.

Senator Naplin feels that with some support from other districts where the non-resident students have become a burden, there is a fair chance of the bill becoming law at this session. He also feels that it may be possible to raise the per capita allowance for pupils at the next session of the legislature, but is convinced that $3 is all that could possibly be secured at the present time.

Rep. Day Also Busy.

Representative Day of this district has introduced a bill providing that the title to all mineral rights shall be forfeited to the state when the taxes thereon become delinquent for more than three years. Mr. Day is one of the most active and vigilant of the new members in the house and is making a fine record.

COUNTY AGENTS OF VALLEY MEET HERE

DISCUSS MANY VITAL PROBLEMS CONFRONTING FARMERS OF SECTION.

The county agents of northwestern Minnesota held a conference in the Commercial club rooms Wednesday afternoon and evening. A. D. Wilson, director of the university extension division, gave a very instructive talk on county agent work for the Red River valley. A. G. Tollas of the plant pathology department and W. E. Morris of St. Paul explained the campaign which is being waged against grain smut in the state. In Minnesota last year grain smut caused a loss of nearly nine million dollars on the oat, barley and wheat crops. Mr. Tollas advised the county agents to give smut treatment demonstrations and have selected plots throughout the various counties, showing the advantage of the treated seed over that which is untreated.

A number of these spraying demonstrations will be held in Pennington county by the county agent within the next two weeks. Any locality wishing help along this line should write or call the Farm Bureau office in Thief River Falls. A demonstration will be given in Goodridge on Monday, March 31.

SCHOOLS GET BACK PAY LONG OVERDUE

STATE AID HELD UP FOR SEVERAL YEARS SENT OUT THIS WEEK.

The schools of Pennington county are today considerably richer than they were a week ago as the result of having received their share of the deficiency aid money appropriated recently by the legislature. This money should have been paid one, two and three years ago but owing to lack of funds was withheld. In many instances this worked a hardship on schools which had planned on using the money for a specific purpose and some of them were forced to curtail their programs through lack of funds.

All arrearages in state aid have now been paid up, however, and there is little likelihood of another deficiency occurring in the future. County Auditor T. P. Anderson has during the past week sent to each district the money due, and in some instances this amounted to a neat sum. The high and graded schools of the county have been short changed for three or four years while the semi-graded and common schools have suffered only two lean seasons.

Thief River Falls naturally comes in for the largest sum of back pay, the treasury of Dist. No. 18 having been enriched by a check for $2,005. The graded school at St. Hilaire gets $341, while the remaining rural and village schools in the county come in for a share amounting to $2,790.

NEGRO FINED FOR ASSAULTING BOYS

RICHARD TRIPLETT CONVICTED ON TESTIMONY OF TWO LOCAL LADS.

Richard Triplett, colored, who has been conducting a shoe shining parlor on LaBree avenue for several months, on Monday was assessed a fine of $100 and given a sixty-day suspended sentence in municipal court by Judge N. W. Tarrant. Triplett was arrested Saturday evening by night Patrolman Jerry Kelley and charged with assault in the third degree. His arrest followed the complaint of two young boys, and this was of such a nature that the accused man can thank his lucky stars that he is not facing a twenty year term in Stillwater. He was given the limit under the warrant.

Triplett had nothing to say in his own defense at the trial, except admitting that he had been drunk and did not mean to do the boys any harm. The boys were present in court and gave such convincing testimony that Judge Tarrant decided to give defendant the maximum sentence under the crime charged in the warrant.

Up to nine o'clock this morning the bootblack had not been able to raise sufficient money to pay his fine and is still confined in the county jail. It is understood, however, that he expects to be able to raise the money and regain his liberty in a short time.

ASSESSORS TO BE HERE ON TUESDAY

TO RECEIVE FULL INSTRUCTIONS ON WORK FOR COMING SEASON.

A meeting of the assessors of Pennington county will be held at the court house in this city next Tuesday, April 1. A representative of the Minnesota Tax commission will be present to give instructions on new laws, methods and other things pertaining to the work. This is done for the purpose of making the work of the assessors throughout the state as nearly uniform as possible, thus reducing the number of changes to be made later by the county and state boards of equalization.

Notice has been sent out to each assessor in the county to be present at the meeting and it is expected that a large majority of them will be able to attend. Work among the local men last year was of a high order and very few changes were found necessary. New wrinkles are being added and changes made every year, however, and in order to insure the usual excellent results this year among the assessors it will be well for them to attend the meeting on Tuesday. County Auditor T. P. Anderson will have charge of the meeting and will explain all matters pertaining to local conditions.

ADVOCATES OF PAVING STILL WORKING HARD

MISUNDERSTANDING REASON FOR MUCH OF THE OPPOSITION ENCOUNTERED.

CANNOT PAVE THIS YEAR

AIM IS TO HAVE GENERAL AGREEMENT ON POLICY TO BE FOLLOWED.

There has been a sort of lull in the paving agitation for the past week or two, but this seems to have been only for the purpose of getting a firmer hold. That the project is not dead has been amply demonstrated during the past week. In fact, the proposition is at the present moment nearer consummation than at any time during the past five years.

Not Possible This Year.

There is one fact connected with this undertaking that the taxpayers should get straight. There is no intention of beginning the work of paving this year. No matter how willing or anxious the citizens might be to start the improvement now, it would be next to impossible to do so. There is too much preliminary work to be done first—work that is absolutely necessary before the first steps in the actual paving program can be taken. It is this preliminary work that the paving advocates want begun at once in order to have things in readiness for the larger project next summer.

Opposition Disappears.

When the committees selected by the Commercial club and Merchants' association to secure signatures on a petition began their work they found that the opposition to paving was largely based on the idea that the work was to be begun this summer. When the matter was properly explained they had little difficulty in getting practically every taxpayer in the district specified to sign up. Everyone wants to pave but all do not agree as to the best time to start. Those who want only the preliminary work undertaken this summer are largely in the majority and theirs is the sensible view.

Awaiting Developments.

Both the national and state governments are apparently bent on making improvements of this kind as easy as possible on the taxpayers, and a number of the latter are holding off from signing the petition until they know definitely just what is going to be done. The government will aid to some extent in paving streets which form part of a trunk highway, while the distribution of costs may be made more general if the proposed law now before the legislature is passed. These matters will both have been attended to long before Thief River Falls can get ready for paving and there exists no good excuse for holding off on this account.

May Try Seven Blocks.

The committee reports that a majority of the property owners on the principal downtown streets are favorably disposed toward the project. The outlook now is that the first paving contract will cover seven blocks, as follows: From Main avenue to the Soo depot on Third street; Main and LaBree avenues between Second and Third streets, and Second street between Main and LaBree. This would provide one square block in the center of town besides the longer Third street stretch. Business men on the last-named thoroughfare as far west as Duluth avenue have indicated their desire for the improvement and this one block may be included.

It is felt that if a start can be made the paving problem will be solved, as it is certain that thereafter the demand for extensions will be greater than the city's ability to supply them.

In the meantime it is well to remember that there will be no paving done this year. There should, however, no longer exist any excuse for putting off the preliminary work.

TO ADVERTISE THE RED RIVER VALLEY ABROAD

MEETING HELD AT CROOKSTON DECIDES ON COMPREHENSIVE PROGRAM.

BOOKLETS TO BE PRINTED

ADVANTAGES OF VALLEY TO BE HERALDED IN ALL PARTS OF THE COUNTRY.

With every county, with the exception of Mahnomen, represented the Minnesota Red River Valley Development association comprising the ten counties of Northwestern Minnesota, in a meeting at the rooms of the Crookston Association of Public Affairs last week, decided to go ahead with an extensive publicity campaign to advertise the advantages of the Red River Valley. The program, as outlined, will be conservative, constructive and well balanced, the main features of which will be to cite the things that have been done, such as that the Red River Valley has the largest Holstein herd in the world, owned by E. C. Schroeder of Moorhead; has the largest seed potato market in the world and has the largest community organization in the Minnesota Red River Valley Development association.

Initial Steps Taken.

Initial steps were taken in publicity work to be put into action and all speakers expressed confidence that it would be the means of bringing to this section of the country a flow of good farmers, dairymen and agriculturalists.

Proposals for admission into the association were broached by Clearwater and Ottertail county.

It was pointed out that ideas originating in the Minnesota Red River Valley Development association were being copied in many sections of the country and that one, fathered by Dr. N. M. Watson, Red Lake Falls, as chairman of the Red Lake County Crop Increase Production committee then a part of the association for crop canvass and increased production is identical with the one used by the government during the world war.

Fine Banquet Served.

Preliminary to the meeting a banquet was served around which 125 progressive Red River Valley men were seated. President S. M. Sivertson, Crookston, president of the association, presided, and called first upon Supt. C. G. Selvig of the Northwest School of Agriculture. The school head discussed legislative measures pertaining to immigration and showed that because of the failure to pass legislative measures it would be commendable for the association to take action on publicity work itself.

"I have heard more from outside points of the Red River Valley as a dairying country during the past one and one half months than in two years before and I believe that it was the livestock show in Crookston that has made the difference," he said. "The Northwestern section of the state has now developed a name of its own."

M. E. Bierley, assistant agricultural agent of the Northern Pacific at the present with the United States Railroad administration declared that the Federal administration was behind any agricultural movement and told a few things that had been done.

William Blonder, another U. S. railroad administration man declared that the Minnesota Red River Valley should be divided from all the rest of Minnesota. Conditions here, he declared, were such that it would be an injustice to this section to classify it with other sections of Minnesota.

"It was the intention of the railroads, in a booklet to be sent out to divide Minnesota in three parts, the southern, central and northern but after some talk by agricultural agents it was decided that the state be divided in four parts, the southern, the northern, the central and the "Red River Valley," he said.

Land Seekers' Rates.

C. H. Zealand, Crookston secretary of the association, asked in a short talk that the old land seekers rate be re-established. Federal authorities have made special tourist rates for passenger travel, argued Mr. Zealand, and why not make it possible for the land seeker to see what he buys before the purchase. Landseekers' rates would do that, he said.

W. R. Low, Crookston declared that the Canadian offer for new farmers was no greater in the long run than that of the United States. R. M. Olson, county agent of Roseau county, spoke on the development of homes. E. H. Martin, Clearwater county, asked for opportunity to have his county enter the association, expressing the value it had to exhibit farm products at the Farm Crops show; Robt. L. Scott gave a vivid idea of the improvement in the valley by drainage, and C. C. Lake, county agent of Red Lake county spoke of publicity thru home people.

Committees Appointed.

After the completion of the speeches it was decided to appoint a committee in each county, the chairman of which in the majority of counties will be the director of that county in the association, and one member of which will be the county agent. This committee will be responsible to a central committee of publicity which will have control of the general advertising plan. Booklets showing the Red River Valley will be prepared and will be sent to middle western and eastern farmers through land agencies, through the mails and by the railroad companies who are strong for that plan. A fund will be raised for this purpose from the counties of the association.

Adopt Resolutions.

Just before closing a resolution was passed expressing sympathy over the death of Charles A. Pitkin, Thief River Falls attorney, who had been director of the Minnesota Red River Valley Development association since its organization.

HON. D. P. O'NEILL GUEST OF HONOR AT RED LAKE FALLS DINNER.

The complimentary dinner given by the Red Lake Falls Commercial club last Thursday evening to former Senator D. P. O'Neill of this city and Representative M. O. Sortedahl of Red Lake Falls, was the most elaborate and successful affair of its kind held in Red Lake Falls for many years. A six course dinner was served at 7 o'clock to 80 members of the club by the ladies of the newly organized Civic league in the Foresters hall. The menus and decorations were in yellow and green. Vocal selections were rendered by Miss Vivian DuSault and Mrs. K. P. Christian during the dinner.

"The Red Lake County Memorial" was a subject discussed by Attorney Chas. E. Boughton, who spoke in behalf of the project now under way to build a memorial to the boys who sacrificed their lives in the war. President L. E. Healey of the Red Lake Falls Automobile club spoke of the work of the local club, the state and national associations are doing, more particularly in the line of good roads.

"Community Co-operation" was the subject of an address by County Attorney Fred L. Farley, who stated that if the Commercial club is to make the most of its possibilities it must change its name and get some farmers in and thus make it a community organization. Former Representative Claude Southwick of Wells talked on the good work the land men do to build up a county. He spoke of the great assistance given him in the legislature by the former senator and paid high tribute to him.

Former Senator O'Neill was the last speaker on the program and told of the great benefit that the Babcock road bill would be to the people of Minnesota. "The automobiles will pay for the cost of the 6,900 miles and still be able to save money on tires, gas and oil. We've got the playgrounds of Minnesota and we want the roads to get the people up here. Eighty per cent of the money now being spent on the state roads under the Dunn law is spent on the 6,900 miles which will be cared for by the state if the Babcock bill passes, and this money now being spent will be released to be spent on other roads in the county."

Hon. O'Neill and Representative M. O. Sortedahl were largely instrumental in securing the adoption of an amendment to the Babcock bill to provide for a hard surfaced road along the Jefferson Highway between Red Lake Falls and Bagley.

CITY FINANCES IN HEALTHY CONDITION

STATEMENT SHOWS INTERESTING FACTS CONCERNING MUNICIPAL BUSINESS.

Several interesting things are revealed in the financial statement of the city of Thief River Falls, published in The Times last week. The most important thing brought out is the fact that the city is actually making money as a business proposition. During the year total receipts were $93,423.47, while disbursements amounted to $83,226.46, leaving a balance on the credit side of the ledger of $10,197.01. Of course the largest item in the receipts comes under the head of taxes, which furnished $44,796.53 of the total. The light department did a good business during the year, and is credited with $37,205. For the same period the water department was responsible for an income of $6,229.19. Another large item is $1,200 received as rents from the auditorium building.

Business in all departments of the municipal government is steadily growing, which is an indication that the city is forging ahead. Assets of the city as represented by public property are shown in the imposing sum of $521,244.42, which shows that Thief River Falls as a municipality is far from being a bankrupt. On the other side of the ledger come the liabilities, including outstanding bonds which amount to $210,500. This leaves a balance of $310,744.42, showing that the city at the present time is far from being in an insolvent condition. Few people realize what a large business is conducted by those who have charge of the city's affairs.

A comparison of the city's financial condition for a number of years discloses the pleasing fact that the municipality is rapidly getting out of debt. The ratio of cash on hand to bonded indebtedness is shown in the following figures over a period of five years: Jan. 1, 1914, cash on hand, $4,750.47; bonded indebtedness, $237,481.63. Jan. 1, 1915, cash on hand, $4,332.78, bonded indebtedness, $222,345.29. Jan. 1, 1916, cash on hand, $22,846.60, bonded indebtedness, $209,372.37. Jan. 1, 1917, cash on hand, $63,449.10, bonded indebtedness, $228,499.50. Jan. 1, 1918, cash on hand, $48,157.21, bonded indebtedness, $216,300.00. Jan. 1, 1919, cash on hand, $58,355.46, bonded indebtedness, $210,500.00. From this it will be seen that the cash on hand is gradually increasing, while the bonded indebtedness is being reduced at a very satisfactory rate.

Death of Centenarian.

John Forbes, the oldest citizen of Kittson county, passed away in Hallock last week at the age of 100 years, 6 months and 4 days. His illness was of long duration and the cause of death was infirmities incidental to old age.

Deceased was born in Dunmanway county of Cork, Ireland, on September 2nd, 1818. He married Mary Schroeder on Nov. 17, 1864. To this union were born six children, all but one of whom are living.

After an unusually long, busy and useful life, Mr. Forbes died as he had lived, honored, trusted and loved. The privations of himself and family during the pioneer days were rigorous ones in the extreme, but he and his faithful wife bore all, uncomplainingly. He was tenderly cared for by his wife and children.

A beautiful service was held in the Methodist church Saturday, March 8th, Rev. C. A. Anderson officiating. Interment was in Greenwood cemetery.

To mourn his loss are left his wife; two sons, Richard and Wm. Forbes; three daughters, Mrs. And Jerome, Mrs. James Curtiss, Mrs. W. E. Hill and many grandchildren.

Oldest Indian Will Travel.

John Smith, the oldest Indian in Minnesota, if not the oldest in the entire country, is about to break forth into the limelight again, and incidentally gather in 'Peyshakwabig' for himself. He plans on making a trip through the eastern states, accompanied by his adopted son, Thos. Smith of Walker. He will give exhibitions in public, showing the people of the effete east what the western climate does to add years to the ordinary span of man's days.

According to the best records that can be reached, John Smith is now about 118 years of age. He claims to have been born near Pokegama lake, south of Grand Rapids. Though there may be some doubt about his exact age, it is said by the men who first came to northern Minnesota that Smith looked as old thirty or forty years ago as he does now. Though married a number of times, claiming to have had seven wives, Smith has no children. His last wife died more than twenty years ago.

RODE WOLF DOWN WITH FARM HORSES

YOUNG FARMERS THEN FINISHED VARMINT WITH A PITCHFORK.

A full-grown wolf committed suicide about six miles east of Erie one day last week by foolishly permitting Theodore Hyland and Floyd Baird to catch sight of him.

The two young men were out hauling hay when they discovered the lone marauder a short distance away. Their horses are not of the hunter breed, but were unhitched in a jiffy and mounted, after which there was a merry chase for many miles. The wolf tired before the farm team had to give up and the men went after him on foot. The animal was pretty well fagged out by this time and no trouble was experienced in getting up close enough to give battle. With no weapon other than a pitchfork the hunters approached the brute and after a few passes Hyland managed to drive the instrument home twice.

Wolves have been captured or killed in many ways in Pennington county but this is probably the first time one was run down with a farm team and speared with a pitchfork.

S. A. MEN TO TELL WAR EXPERIENCES

CAPT. FREED AND COM. NELSON WILL LECTURE AT AUDITORIUM FRIDAY.

Of all our different war auxiliary organizations the one for whom the ordinary doughboy has the softest spot in his heart is undoubtedly the Salvation Army. Tales told of the work performed by the devoted men and women bearing the "S. A." insignia are such as to place the entire Salvation Army movement on a different plane in the minds of the American people. It is everywhere admitted that this organization asked less and did more for the boys than any other agency.

The people of Thief River Falls and vicinity will be given an opportunity of hearing two of the men who served with the army give their experiences on Friday evening of this week. The lecture will be given at the Auditorium and the admission fee has been placed at 25 cents in order to give everybody an opportunity of being present. Capt. Freed and Com. Nelson are the speakers and their stories will be based on actual experience and observation.

It will be the first lecture of its kind given in the city and there should be a large turnout.

Making Automobile Tires.

When C. M. Evenson & Son move to their new quarters on West Second street they will be prepared to make several additions to their business. Besides giving added room for the tire repair and vulcanizing works, there will be an opportunity of extending the manufacturing department. The plant has just turned out a number of tires that will compare with any produced in the larger factories. One specimen is particularly worthy of notice. It is 40x4½ inches in size, being one of the largest kind required. All work was done at the Evenson shop, from the building up of fibre packing to the embossing of the tread. A number of smaller sizes have been turned out and when the new plant is completed this feature of the business is expected to assume rather substantial proportions.

JAMES HAVEL WRITES OF EXPERIENCES IN GETTING TO BATTLE FRONT.

IS STATIONED IN GERMANY

SAW MANY WONDERFUL SIGHTS AND LEARNED MANY THINGS ON TRIP.

James Havel is one of the local boys in service with the army of occupation in Germany. He has gone through many interesting experiences since leaving here nearly a year ago and recites some of them in the following letter to his brother, John E. Havel, a member of The Times mechanical force:

"Pelm, Germany, Feb. 21, 1919. Dear Brother: I must write you a few lines and let you know that I am well. I just received a letter from you and one from mother, dated about Nov. 4. Some of the letters I get from home are more than three months old when they arrive. I am going to have a hard time writing this letter as there is a Swede making so much noise on an accordeon here now that I can hardly write. I am going to have some pictures taken of myself one of these days. A fellow can't have his picture taken in Germany every day and for this reason I will have enough made to last for awhile.

Doesn't Like Inspection.

"Today is Saturday and I was getting ready this morning for one of those infernal inspections, but it rained like thunder this forenoon and I guess we won't have it. I hope they won't as I am getting sick of the same old military stuff all the time. If it amounted to something I would not kick, but it seems that we just have it to take up our time when we want to do something else and the guy that thought of it in the first place ought to be hung.

"I am also sending a letter that each one in the 90th division got from the general, so you can see what kind of a notorious brother you have in the army. I don't know when they will start us for home. There seems to be a lot of talk about when we will go and I hope they don't lose any time in making up their minds to send us to the states as I am anxious. I am anxious for the day I can get my discharge, walk into a Jew store and cuss the Sheeney therein and tell him what kind of a suit of clothes I wish to buy. I don't think the time is very far off but if we started now it would take over a month for me to get back home. I was reading a paper today and looked over a list of companies that got back to the states. I see that the old steamer on which I crossed the Atlantic is still in the service and is now engaged in hauling the boys back. The name of the steamer is 'Canada,' and she is an English boat.

An Interesting Trip.

"I don't think I ever told you where we landed or anything about our route from the time we started from Camp Travis. First we went through Oklahoma and stopped in St. Louis. Here we took a hike through the city and stopped at the Y. M. C. A., and took a bath and when we started back to the train the captain got lost and couldn't find his way. He had to get a guide and we finally found the cars. Of course there were dozens of secret service men around to keep an eye on us so some anarchist didn't bomb us. Then we went through the states of Illinois, Ohio and Michigan, in many of the large cities of which we paraded the streets. At Detroit they loaded our train on a large ferry boat and we were taken four miles up the canal to the other side into Ontario, Canada. It got dark then and the next morning when we woke up we were in New York state, which we crossed and also through a part of Pennsylvania. We stopped in New Jersey and were loaded on a tug boat. On this we took a trip around New York harbor right in front of the Statue of Liberty. We passed under some of the largest bridges and saw the Woolworth building, which is the tallest in the world. I figure when I get back to New York I am going to the top of it.

Start Across Ocean.

"After staying at Camp Mills for a while we went by train to Hoboken, where we boarded the steamer 'Canada' and the next day we were off. We were on the water for twelve days before we sighted land. There were sixteen boats in our convoy and it was interesting to stand and watch them. They looked like a flock of ducks on the Atlantic. We passed by the coast of Ireland, which we could see several miles away, and then we were told that we were right in the submarine district, so we weren't quite so gay for a while. The next day we landed at Liverpool and unloaded. I didn't tell you about how seasick some of the guys were but that would make my letter too long. We landed on July 2 and on the 4th of July paraded through the streets of Liverpool. I must have seen about four million people. There was a solid jam on every street and even on roofs—and they all wanted to see the Yanks go by. We stayed in Liverpool for about a week and then loaded on cars again, taken clear across England and unloaded at Southampton. Here we stopped at camp again for a couple of days, when we were piled on a steamer and sailed across the channel, expecting every minute to be hit by a torpedo. I was away in the bottom of the boat once and it got so warm that I went out on deck and watched for subs. When we left I saw on the docks a large steamer with a hole in the side made by a torpedo, and I got my first feeling that we were actually in a real war. The hole in that boat was big enough to put our house through and the boat was made of steel, so you can imagine the strength of the torpedoes.

Lands in France.

"Well, nothing happened to us and the next day we landed in LeHavre, France, where we unloaded and were hiked through the city. We all rubbernecked around to see what a French girl looked like. I finally got my eye on a fine one but she had on a pair of wooden shoes of enormous capacity, and of course the shoes attracted more attention than the girl. We finally got to another camp after steaming up a big hill that seemed to be about five miles long and when we got to the camp on top of the hill I sure was tired out. From there we loaded and unloaded from trains about a dozen times until we got to the front. When they loaded us on a train they always put so many men in each car that one couldn't lie down, sit down, or even in some cars stand up. The soldier has to get along the best way he can and curse his luck. Sometimes we were cramped up that way in cars for three or four days at a time and all we had to eat was canned bull and hard tack that was so hard I had to gnaw on it like a squirrel.

"Well, John, my fingers are getting cramped from writing so will cut short and take up the narrative some other time where I left off today. I haven't even got started to tell my experiences and think I could write a pretty good book about it if I had the opportunity. Your brother, James Havel, Co. C, 358th infantry, 90th division, A. E. F."

SOLDIER BOYS TOUR POINTS OF INTEREST

MEMBERS OF 88th DIVISION TAKE IN BIG SIGHTS OF EUROPE.

Members of the 88th division this month are obtaining the first furloughs to be granted them since the command landed in France. Leave trains, carrying an average of 1,200 men, are leaving the Goundrecourt Area every week now, bound for Nice, Monte Carlo, Aix le Bains and a half doen other authorized vacation areas.

All expenses of the men are being paid by the government, including hotel bills, meals and incidentals. Each officer and man is allowed seven days leave every four months, exclusive of the time required to go to and from the designated furlough area.

In special cases, men born in Italy, England, or any of the other allied countries, are being given permission to visit their old homes instead of taking the regulation trips.

FREE TRAINING FOR DISABLED SOLDIERS

MEN MUST BE ELIGIBLE TO WAR RISK COMPENSATION TO QUALIFY.

Not every man who has been wounded or has suffered disability from sickness, accident, or disease is entitled to the free trade, agricultural and commercial training which the government furnishes. The law under which this training is given provides, as a prerequisite, that the men shall be either eligible for or a recipient of compensation from the war risk insurance bureau. In other words, if he has not been injured sufficiently to be in receipt of compensation, the government assumes that he will have no difficulty in resuming his former occupation, and does not need this specialized reeducation.

For those who are eligible for compensation, the government will allow a support fund of $65 per month, if the man is single, $75 if he is married and lives with his wife while taking training, and with an allowance of $10 for each child up to three. The training is given in the very best educational and technological institutions of the United States, absolutely without cost to the man, every expense being borne by the government. There is no time limit set for the completion of the course. The sole object is to make a first class, proficient man in what he has undertaken. Some of this instruction is given directly in various works and factories. When he has qualified, he is placed in a position which has been obtained for him, and there he is kept under supervision until it is demonstrated that he can "carry on" under commercial conditions. When he goes on the payroll, and usually at wages far in excess of what he has ever earned before—notwithstanding that he may be a badly handicapped man physically—his compensation then begins from the war risk and supplements his earnings.

This work is in charge of the Federal board for vocational education at Washington, and the board is especially desirous of getting in touch with disabled men who have either taken on semi-charity jobs, or who have endeavored to enter into some other line of occupation and have found their handicaps a serious detriment.

Inquiries are welcomed, and information from patriotic citizens who know of men in semi-charity jobs and who will send in the names of such men, will be conferring a favor upon such men, and the cooperation will be welcomed by the federal board.

STATE OFFICIAL FINDS EVERYTHING IN FIRST-CLASS SHAPE.

Capt. Henry Murphy of the state adjutant general's office, St. Paul, was in the city last week for the purpose of checking up the books and going over the records of the army registration board. This body goes out of business formally on March 31, having been in active control of the registrations and selection of soldiers since June 5, 1917.

Capt. Murphy complimented the board members highly on the excellent work accomplished, being particularly pleased with the care in which the records had been kept by County Auditor T. P. Anderson, who has acted as clerk.

All records and papers pertaining in any way to the draft registration, exemptions or selections will be sealed up and sent to Washington. The questionnaires and classification lists will go to the national capital next Monday, and with their departure will come to an end a job that has caused much work and worry for nearly two years.

HELP GET JOB FOR MAN MUSTERED OUT

CIVIL SERVICE OFFERS EXCELLENT OPPORTUNITIES FOR DISCHARGED SOLDIERS.

Soldiers, sailors and marines at 90 military and naval establishments in the United States are now receiving first-hand information concerning opportunities for employment in the federal civil service from representatives of the United States civil service commission, appointed to serve at such establishments under authority issued by the secretary of war and the secretary of the navy.

These representatives of the civil service commission are supplied currently with full information concerning positions open in the civil service in which men who are soon to be mustered out may be interested. They are prepared to inform the men concerning the requirements for entrance to the various positions, to supply them with application blanks, and to facilitate in every way their application for employment in the civil service.

The commanding officers at the various posts are cooperating fully in the work, and the men in whose interest the work is being performed are showing a lively interest in it. It is expected that this new organization of the civil service commission will result in placing in good positions large numbers of the men who left their jobs to take part in the war.

SOLDIER BOYS ARE NOW ENTERTAINERS

TROUPE COMPOSED ENTIRELY OF SERVICE MEN TO BE HERE MARCH 30.

Uncle Sammy's Minstrels, which come to the auditorium in this city on March 30, is a troupe composed of veterans and the pick of talent from Pershing's army. Notwithstanding that these boys have gone through the tortures of war they are still able to entertain in a new way, a militarized way. They will make people forget the horrors of war.

These boys are on a special 90-day tour and this city is fortunate in being one of the places to book the attraction. In every city where these boys have appeared they have met with phenomenal success. At the larger centers they are met at the trains by business men's clubs and committees and are given receptions that would do credit to Gen. Pershing himself.

The first part is a minstrel show in itself and many of the boys taking part in this served their time in some of the biggest minstrel shows of the country prior to their enlistment in the war. One of the outstanding features in the vaudeville or "olio" is the famous Army and Navy Four. This is a quartet second to none either in or out of the service.

The 339th infantry jazz band and orchestra furnish the music end of the organization and their open concert in the evening in front of the auditorium will be a treat worth while. This unique show comes very well recommended and it is predicted that a packed house will greet the boys upon their appearance here.

Mikkel Bekken was elected treasurer of the creamery association in place of John L. Finke, resigned.

Members of the local Eastern Star lodge enjoyed a pleasant visit with the chapters at Crookston and Warren on Tuesday. They were royally entertained at both places.

A large number of cattle were being shipped out of the county, nine carloads being the record for one week.

J. M. Bishop and daughter, Marian, returned from an extended trip thru the South. They reported a very enjoyable journey.

County Attorney Wilhelm Michelet spent the week at Red Lake Falls in attendance at district court.

Twin boys arrived at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Syverson, residing on the Sandridge west of the city.

Work in the lumber camps was practically completed and a number of men returned to their homes in the city during the week after having spent several months at work in the woods.

Mrs. Forthun of the town of Silverton township passed away on Friday night after a lingering illness. The funeral was held on Monday from the Synod church in this city and interment made in Greenwood cemetery.

The creamery received 33,588 pounds of cream during the month of February and paid to patrons the sum of $2,882.88. The business of the creamery increased 60 per cent over the corresponding month one year before and 168 per cent over the same month two years previously.

Attorney J. P. Foote of Crookston was in the city attending to business matters.

C. M. Evenson left on a business trip through the southern part of the state.

Schools of the city closed for the regular two weeks spring vacation.

Theodore Roosevelt started on his memorable trip to Africa for the purpose of hunting big game.

Viewers were at work appraising benefits and damages on the fifty-mile county ditch emptying into Thief River eight miles north of this city. It was a long and arduous task.

STOCK PAVILION ASSURED.

It is now certain that there will be new live stock barns erected at the Pennington county fair grounds this year. The response to a request for funds has been very general and the final result will be sufficient money subscribed to provide one of the finest buildings of its kind in the northern part of the state.

When the entire program planned for the fair grounds shall have been carried out it will include four barns, so placed as to provide for a display and sales pavilion in the center. This is a more elaborate undertaking than the association feels able to put through in one season and it is generally considered that if a new and modern cattle barn can be provided this year it is about all that should be attempted. The complete program calls for an expenditure of at least $25,000.

The bankers and business men of Thief River Falls donated liberally toward the enterprise, but the interest shown by farmers proved the biggest surprise. It looks now as if there would be much more money raised outside the city than in it, although it was the expectation that the larger share would have to be secured from the townspeople.

The progress made in the stock raising industry in this county during the past few years shows what steadily driving away at a subject will do. Our farmers have had live stock preached to them in season and out. Time and money have been spent in getting them to see the absolute necessity for breaking away from grain growing if their prosperity is to continue, and they have been apt pupils. Very few farmers in the county now permit a season to pass by without having in some manner improved their herds. Fine thoroughbred and grade sires are shipped in from far away and the strains thus kept up to the very highest standard. Pennington county home-grown stock brings good prices at all the stock shows in this section and buyers come from all over the Northwest to attend the sales. This means continued prosperity for the section and the business men who contributed toward the erection of these stock barns made one of the best investments possible.

This improved arrangement at the fair grounds will provide better facilities for showing and selling stock than the section has heretofore enjoyed and will add to an already enviable reputation enjoyed by Thief River Falls as a live stock center.

THE ANNUAL MUD BATH.

The past winter has been one of the mildest in the history of northern Minnesota and the spring thus far very favorable. The small amount of snow falling during the past few months means that the roads will dry up much faster than has generally been the case—something for which all our people will be properly thankful. On the graveled highways there will be no trouble and even the mud paths will be in shape for travel sooner than usual.

Right in the city of Thief River Falls conditions are perhaps worse than anywhere else in the county. This is because the traffic is heavy and the streets are not prepared to stand the winter breakup as well as the country roads.

The man who objects to paving is just now getting an object lesson that should prove of some value. Haulage is expensive and automobile travel well nigh impossible. The wear and tear on horseflesh and vehicles of all kinds is greater than anyone has any idea of, and this enters into the cost of conducting a business as surely as does rent or insurance. With paved streets the transition from winter to spring in a season like the present would hardly be noticed.

The people of Thief River Falls are going to be given every opportunity to pave their streets. Seven blocks of the proposed paving area will be provided for through national and state appropriations, and this makes quite a hole in the total. It is also probable that a law will be passed by the legislature which will make it possible to distribute the cost of paving over the entire city instead of assessing it all against the abutting property, and this will do away with a great deal of well-founded objection.

The national and state governments ask us to pave. The work is needed in order to keep our people employed and in aiding to bring back normal conditions. The city's financial statement shows that there is no scarcity of money, and it is not probable that either labor or material will be any cheaper for a long time to come.

The time to start this work is now.

SOLDIERS GROWING IMPATIENT.

It is not to be wondered at that the soldiers in France are in a hurry to return home, and the government is coming in for considerable criticism for not getting them back with greater speed. Some of the criticism is for political effect only, but there is no question but what the situation is sufficiently serious to merit some notice.

Compared to the rate at which our men were sent to France, that at which they are being returned is no doubt annoying. The boys are through over there and cannot understand why it is that they must remain in the service, particularly as most of them claim to have jobs awaiting their arrival.

Concerning this last contention there may be some doubt. It is not so very long ago that the papers were full of reports from the big cities calling attention to a most serious state of affairs in this connection. It was reported that in many instances discharged soldiers were being dumped on to the labor market in such numbers that jobs could not be found for them. Tales were told of their begging from house to house in order to maintain themselves, and the people were up in arms over the situation.

It may be that the government is holding men in Europe purposely in order that there shall be no repetition of this condition. Instead of mustering them out all at once it is quite conceivable that the idea is to release them slowly in order that the country may assimilate the surplus. This looks like good sense, but is rather hard on the soldier who wants to get home. He does not care to reason the matter out with anyone. He wants to get back to the United States and refuses to see why others should get there ahead of him. The arrangement may be for the ultimate good of all concerned, but to a man tired of life in the army, particularly now that there is nothing left for him to do, it looks like rank discrimination and a lack of interest in his welfare. There will be more or less of this kind of grumbling, but it cannot be avoided. It is simply a war aftermath and will have to be put up with.

"A MESSAGE ABOUT ADVERTISING."

Under the above head the United States Department of Labor is sending an open circular to the business men of the country. Secretary W. B. Wilson urges that merchants and manufacturers in every line advertise their wares to the utmost in order that the demand may be stimulated and normal conditions be thus brought about without delay.

"If you are not advertising," states the circular, "then advertise, because it saves money for you and it reduces the price to the consumer."

Continuing the message reads: "Advertising prevents prfiteering. It insures honest profits and makes them permanent.

"The message of the United States Department of Labor to merchants and manufacturers and to all progressive American business men is to advertise.

"Tell the public about your goods. The customer has plenty of money. He is willing to spend it and we want him to spend it on American-made products. The easiest, quickest and most economical way in which this can be accomplished is by advertising.

"Start your campaign right now."

No better advice than the above could be given, particularly at this time. Everyone is anxious to see the country get back to a stable business basis and nothing will help so greatly toward this end as an effective advertising campaign. When people see that the business interests are going ahead bidding for trade to an even greater extent than before the war they are bound to get the impression that everything must be all right.

The business man who choses carefully his medium of publicity, buying space only in journals of proved circulation and standing, will not only benefit himself but will also be helping the country generally. In this way he will continue to do his bit now the same as when the country was at war. The buying public can do its share in making purchases only from merchants who have faith enough in their products to advertise them.

JUST FACTS.

The government of the United States is your government.

That government has given its sacred word to do certain things.

These things require the expenditure of great sums of money.

Your government must keep its word, must spend these sums of money.

This money can only be secured now in two ways: either by taxation or by borrowing.

Taxes are high enough, are they not? Nevertheless, they will not produce enough to meet the present need.

Then, the only way the United States can pay for peace is by borrowing the balance needed—probably $6,000,000,000.

All right then, your government [illegible] $6,000,000,000, and since other countries [illegible] money to lend, it must borrow this money [illegible] United States and from one of two sources.

Your government must borrow from the banks and other financial institutions or it must borrow from millions of patriotic citizens.

If this money could be borrowed from the banks, would it be wise? With all of their capital tied up in government securities, how could the banks perform their normal functions of financing regular business enterprises and development projects? Without being financed, how could factories and business operate, how could the country be developed, how could labor be employed, how could people live? Think it over!

Very well then. There is one course left open. Your government must borrow from you and from every other individual up to each one's limit of lending.

Hence, the Victory Liberty Loan on April 21, 1919.—The loan of victory, peace and thanksgiving.

These are just facts. Can you see any other way out of it? We can't. The Treasury Department cannot, and after you think it over and consider that the government is going to ask you to subscribe for an absolutely gilt-edged, short term, good interest-bearing security, and by doing it help pay for victory and peace and prosperity, you won't want to find any other way out but, like a true American, you will step up and say—

"Sure, we'll finish the job! Uncle Sam can have the use of all my money to pay for peace! I can go over the top in the Victory Liberty Loan if my boy could do it at St. Mihiel."

HOLD THEM, IF POSSIBLE.

Business houses handling certain lines are offering to take Liberty Bonds in trade at $1.10, which is an indication of what these securities may be worth to those who can hold onto them. Remember that commodity prices must come down somewhat, while Liberty Bonds will increase in value. The dollar you put into bonds a year ago will buy much more than a dollar's worth a year from now. Besides, the bond itself is sure to increase in value. Hang on if you can, as it is good business.

Make it Easier For Next Loan

Of the First loan, the Ninth District took $75,926,250.

Of the Second Loan, the Ninth District took $132,942,350.

Of the Third Loan, the Ninth District took $180,920,450.

Of the Fourth Loan, the Ninth District took $242,046,950.

"It is going to be harder to sell the coming Liberty Loan, though," is a remark commonly heard.

Why should it be?

The Ninth District's bank resources have increased practically $1,000,000,000 since April, 1917.

Our savings have increased from $72.88 per capita in 1914 to $136.88 per capita in 1918 and are still increasing.

The war isn't over.
The boys are not home.
The job isn't finished.

Therefore, there should be no let-up or let-down.

On the other hand, world peace is assured.

By our bravery and our extensive preparations we saved at least a hundred thousand American lives. Is that unshed blood worth the price?

We can see the end of our tremendous expenditures.

They have already begun to shrink almost as rapidly as they increased.

The fifth undoubtedly will be the last Liberty Loan.

Therefore, don't let this idea that it is going to be harder to sell the Victory Liberty Loan spread. It isn't right, it isn't patriotic, it isn't true. Let's just tighten up our belts, turn the corners of our mouths up instead of down and set the "thought waves" of thankful optimism working for us and for the "Victorious Fifth."

We're not quitters. We are going to take our share of the Victory Liberty Loan with less fuss and less prodding than were required for the Fourth. Let's start thinking and talking along that line and make it easier.

Souvenirs of the War.

Jas. A. Smith brought with him some interesting souvenirs from the war area last week upon his return from France. Among these is one of the famous French "75" shells, which is now on exhibition at The Times office. This relic is creating a great deal of interest among people who have read much about this effective projectile but have never before had an opportunity of seeing what one looked like. Mr. Smith brought several other interesting things with him from the war zone, including a pair of French wooden shoes, French coins and other articles.

Keep Your Credit Good

MODERN business is founded on credit—promises to pay. Through credit you can get goods of practically any kind by simply promising the seller that you will pay for them at a certain time.

THE manner in which you keep these promises establishes your credit rating. It pays to keep your credit rating good by meeting your obligations promptly—fulfilling your promises exactly as made.

YOU may be able to pay as you go, but you never can tell when your funds may be temporarily tied up—then credit becomes an invaluable asset. Keep it good.

Owners Are Better Guides than Specifications

People become interested in Overland Cars through the Praise of Owners. They reason logically that a car enjoying such loyal owner-endorsement, must live up to its reputation for all round satisfaction. It is the completeness with which Overland Cars meet every requirement, plus our policy of placing owner-satisfaction above all else, that creates such universal owner-appreciation. The cars make friends of their owners. Owners make owners of their friends. In this way the sale of Overland Model 90 car alone already has grown to more than one hundred and fifteen thousand.

Croup

"I don't think there is a more anxious time for parents than when their children have croup. Without they are prepared with Chamberlain's Cough Remedy they must wait for the doctor and listen to the choking, metallic cough and watch their little one gasping for breath.

"Granny" Chamberlain

You know the great danger of croup is the formation of a false membrane in the larynx, and until this is expelled relief cannot be obtained, and the spasmodic choking continues. Give Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in frequent doses. It will loosen this membrane and cause the child to expel it by vomiting.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy

is an absolutely safe and certain remedy for croup, and if given as soon as the child becomes hoarse, or even after the croupy cough appears, it will prevent the attack."

COW TESTING NOW ESTABLISHED HERE

CREAMERY HAS ARRANGED TO DO WORK FOR FARMERS DESIRING IT.

A plan has been devised whereby farmers wishing to have cows tested for production may bring in a composite sample of milk to the local creamery and have it tested. The creamery will keep all records during the month, get the totals and return the sheet to the farmer at the end of each month. The farmer will also be supplied with a dairy record book in which he can keep a record of the feeds given the animals during the month.

All records, books and sample bottles will be furnished by the secretary. The farmer will supply the weighing scale and the box for carrying the samples. A charge of five cents per test will be made by the creamery for the purpose of defraying the cost of doing the work. This arrangement makes it possible for an accurate record to be kept of all dairy animals in this territory and no dairyman can afford to neglect the elimination of his poor cows when he can have a reliable test made for 60 cents per year for each cow.

The new venture was started thru the efforts of the local Farm Bureau and anyone desiring further information on the subject may get it by either calling at the Farm Bureau office or writing the county agent.

SET YOUR CLOCKS AHEAD ON SUNDAY

FAILURE TO DO THIS MAY RESULT IN BEING LATE TO CHURCH.

The daylight savings law becomes effective again Sunday, March 30, at 2 o'clock in the morning, and it behooves every person who has an engagement for Sunday to keep this in mind. Churchgoers, Sunday school pupils and travelers should make the necessary changes of their timepieces before going to bed Saturday night.

No orders have as yet been issued to railroad operatives about the time change, but this will undoubtedly be done before the end of the week. All trains will be stopped for one hour at 2 o'clock in the morning, March 30, resuming regular schedule 60 minutes later. The Western Union clock men will have to dust off their ladders again, preparatory to changing their electrically operated customers' clocks.

The daylight saving plan was tried out last year with such beneficial results that it will undoubtedly become an established custom in this country from now on. There is some objection to the rule by farmers in some sections but it is of real benefit to a vast majority of the people.

Soldier Boys Return.

Jas. A. Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Smith, and Clarence Nelson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Nelson, returned to their homes last Thursday morning after having served with the overseas army for several months. They were members of the 66th coast artillery and landed on the other side in August, just too late to see active service at the front. Upon their return they were sent to Camp Dodge, from which place they were mustered out of the service. The boys saw a good deal of the world on their journey and are now kept busy relating experiences to their friends.

Spring is Here.

Last Friday was March 21, the day upon which spring is officially recognized as having arrived. The weather here since that time has been decidedly mild and the snow is practically all gone. Farmers are beginning preparations for doing their spring seeding and it will not be long until some of them will be at work in the fields. Conditions are ideal in every respect with no danger at all from floods and everything points to a bumper year.

PLENTY OF WORK AHEAD FOR CLUB

GIRLS' SOCIETY TO HAVE BUSY MEETING NEXT MONDAY EVENING.

The recently organized Girls' Community club will hold its next meeting on Monday evening in the basement of the Presbyterian church. The young ladies will at this time take up gymnasium work and it is expected that this will form an important part of the club activities at future meetings. Other important matters will likely be brought up for consideration at Monday evening's session of the club.

It is the intention of those in charge of the organization to make an effort to enlarge the membership so as to include every eligible young lady in Thief River Falls and surrounding territory. To bring about this highly desirable result, everyone eligible for membership is urged to join as soon as possible. The club is a worth-while organization and will not only benefit its own members but the community at large.

A campaign for the purpose of gathering magazines and periodicals to be sent to the burned-out districts near Duluth has been in progress during the past week and it is expected that a shipment will soon be made. All those having publications to donate will kindly take them to the meeting Monday evening.

"Your Nose Knows"

All smoking tobaccos use some flavoring. The Encyclopaedia Britannica says about the manufacture of smoking tobacco, ". . . on the Continent and in America certain 'sauces' are employed . . . the use of the 'sauces' is to improve the flavour and burning qualities of the leaves."

Tuxedo uses chocolate—the purest, most wholesome and delicious of all flavorings! Everybody likes chocolate—we all know that chocolate added to anything as a flavoring always makes that thing still more enjoyable. That is why a dash of chocolate, added to the most carefully selected and properly aged burley tobacco, makes Tuxedo more enjoyable—

DITCH HEARING IS SET FOR FRIDAY

JUDGE GRINDELAND TO HEAR TESTIMONY IN MATTER OF DITCH NO. 30.

A ditch hearing of more than usual interest will take place at the court house in this city tomorrow afternoon, when Judge Andrew Grindeland of Warren will be present to listen to arguments in the matter of Judicial Ditch No. 30. A former hearing on the same ditch held at Warren recently created considerable of a stir and was attended by a large number of farmers from the region affected by the proposed drainage project. The court at that time decided a point of jurisdiction in favor of the petitioners and the continued hearing in this city is the result. At the first hearing a large delegation from the country east of this city appeared in opposition to the ditch.

Judicial Ditch No. 30 is proposed to drain a large area of land in eastern Pennington and Marshall counties. Considerable opposition has developed to this particular project in the neighborhood affected and many residents are putting up a determined fight against the establishment of the ditch. It is therefore anticipated that a large delegation will appear at the hearing tomorrow in an endeavor to prevent the establishment of the new waterway. Over one hundred of these men appeared at the recent Warren hearing, and their interests were represented by Attorney E. M. Stanton of this city.

Favors Chevron System.

St. Hilaire, Minn., March 23, 1919.

Editor Times: Would ask permission to write a few words in response to the appeal of Sgt. C. Arthur Swanson, who is with the A. E. F. in France. I stand firmly by him in favoring the chevron system, as I have a brother myself who enlisted and has over six months overseas service to his credit. He returned Jan. 3, displaying the honored chevron. I also have a cousin who has served eight months abroad, and several friends, and I naturally want them to return displaying the honored chevron, or in other words, the badge or insignia of hardship and privation which they have cheerfully endured and the credit for which rightfully belongs to them.

If the soldiers who served in the United States would but stop to consider what these men serving abroad must have undergone to obtain this gold chevron, indicating where they have served for so many months, I feel convinced they would not envy them the honor of that little insignia, the earning of which has deprived them of so many months of home comforts and their loved ones. The recompense is indeed small compared to all they have cheerfully given. I believe many others are with me in this opinion.

ADVERTISING VERY IMPORTANT MATTER

Finance, merchandising and community development, discussed at three conferences, were the features of the session Friday of the Better Business convention at Minneapolis, under auspices of the Associated Advertising Clubs of Minnesota.

F. P. Mann, president, North Dakota Retail Dealers' Association, urged country merchants to advertise. "Seventy-five per cent of country storekeepers," he said, "do not understand modern merchandising."

He told of a survey made of 100 North Dakota towns which indicated unless something is done to educate the merchant in business principles he will be driven out of business.

"The force making the fight against him is the mail order business," said Mr. Mann. "The mail order houses are taking $12,000,000 out of North Dakota every year or one-third of its business. The great mistake made by county merchants is their failure to advertise. There should be united effort of manufacturers and jobbers to overcome this defect."

CRISIS PRECIPITATED

Neutral Zone Order Brings Action by Hungary.

Was Intended to Make Hungary Desist From Attacking Rumanians.

London, March 26.—It was establishment of the neutral zone on the Hungarian-Roumanian frontier which the peace conference had decided upon which precipitated the Hungarian crisis, according to a Vienna dispatch. This zone was intended to make the Hungarians desist from attacking the Roumanians and to close the gap between Roumania and Poland.

The Entente note defining this zone was dated March 19, the Vienna advices state. The zone was fixed as a belt 140 miles long and 40 miles wide, virtually shutting Hungary behind the rivers Theiss, Szamos and Maros, and including the towns of Grosswardein, Debreczen and the entire country behind them.

The note required the withdrawal of the Hungarian troops behind the western boundary of the belt within 10 days and authorized the Rumanians to advance to the eastern boundary. The civil government of the neutral zone was to be exercised by Hungarians under Allied control, but the important points would be occupied by Allied troops.

Commentators declare the signs are not wanting that Germany is in collusion with the bolsheviki. Dr. Bernhard Dernburg, the former German colonial minister, writes to the Berlin Tageblatt that Germany, threatened with dishonor instead of security on the west, must turn eastward to satisfy her needs and realize her future.

Burnquist Approves Measure for Women's Vote on President.

St. Paul, March 25.—Women in Minnesota now have the right to vote on presidential electors. Governor J. A. A. Burnquist, declaring the measure constitutional, in his opinion, signed the bill passed by the legislature recently, in the presence of proponents and opponents of suffrage. The pen used by the governor was presented to Mrs. James Forestal, St. Paul, who plans to forward it to Mrs. Andreas Ueland, Minneapolis, president of the Minnesota State Suffrage association.

The governor acted favorably on the measure after considering briefs on the question of its constitutionality.

MOUNT ELBRUZ IN ERUPTION

High Russian Volcano Was Supposed to Be Extinct.

London, March 26.—Mount Elbruz, in the Caucasus, has been discharging smoke for several days, a Russian wireless message from Moscow reports Rostov newspapers as saying. Blocks of ice which have been above the snow line of the mountain for hundreds of years, it is added, are being carried to the foot of the mountain in torrents.

Mount Elbruz is 18,500 feet high and the highest mountain of the Caucasus. It was supposed to be an extinct volcano.

Fixtures Shipped Out.

The fixtures in the defunct Walter's sweat shop on the corner of LaBree and Second have this week been packed and shipped to Mahnomen by men from that place. The fixtures will be used in a similar business to be opened in that city soon.

List of Contributors to Armenian Relief in Pennington County

The following is a list of all amounts collected from the country districts to date excepting the townships of Wyandotte, Kratka and Hickory still to hear from.

The total amount collected to date including the village of St. Hilaire and the city of Thief River Falls, is $1910.90. The village of St. Hilaire sent us $85.82, but no list of names so we are unable to publish list of names for them.

The city of Thief River Falls gave $810.63. The county gave $1,100.27. Total to date, $1,910.90.

We thank all contributors.

OLD AGE STARTS WITH YOUR KIDNEYS

Science says that old age begins with weakened kidneys and digestive organs.

This being true, it is easy to believe that by keeping the kidneys and digestive organs cleansed and in proper working order old age can be deferred and life prolonged far beyond that enjoyed by the average person.

For over 200 years GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil has been relieving the weaknesses and disability due to advancing years. It is a standard old-time home remedy and needs no introduction. GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil is inclosed in odorless, tasteless capsules containing about 5 drops each. Take them as you would a pill, with a small swallow of water. The oil stimulates the kidney action and enables the organs to throw off the poisons which cause premature old age. New life and strength increase as you continue the treatment. When completely restored continue taking a capsule or two each day. GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules will keep you in health and vigor and prevent a return of the disease.

Do not wait until old age or disease have settled down for good. Go to your druggist and get a box of GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules. Money refunded if they do not help you. Three sizes. But remember to ask for the original imported GOLD MEDAL brand. In sealed packages.

How Great Organization Reduces Cost

ARMOUR and Company grew to be a great business institution by saving the things that formerly were thrown away on the farm.

Pig bristles on the farm are worthless. Through our methods they are utilized in brush-making. Certain glands in hogs, once thrown away when the farmer did his own killing, are now made into medicinal preparations of high value. Even the hoofs and bones are turned to commercial use.

Each of these products is useful, adds something to life, health or comfort.

Edible Pork Products

Loins, Shoulders, Tenderloins, Pork Tips, Spare Ribs, Hocks, Trimmed Neck Bones, Boston Style Butts, Cala Butts, Blade Butts, Neck Ribs, Ham Butts, Rough Sides, Hams, Tails, Kidneys, Snouts, Brains, Heads, Slip Bones, Sweetbreads, Feet, Ears, Livers, Hearts, Neck Fat, Melts, Tongue, Back Bones, Knuckles

Inedible

Stearin, Lard Oil, Grease, Glue, Tankage, Leather, Bone Charcoal, Phosphate of Lime, Granulated Bone, Blood Meal, Meat Meal, Curled Hair, Bone Flour, Covers for Glass Stoppers, Lard Containers, Sausage Casings, Bristles for Brushes

The farmer shares in the returns from all these products. If it were not for the size of this organization and the facilities for transforming every usable ounce of the hog, the packer would either have to charge the public more for pork or buy hogs from the grower at a lower figure.

The value of anything depends upon its ultimate usefulness. It is only because concerns like Armour have been developed to secure the utmost utility out of the livestock they buy that it is possible to pay farmers more for their animals and yet provide food for the public at true-value levels.

With large volume it becomes possible to make the heavy investments in machinery and equipment necessary to develop new processes and new products. Often it costs hundreds of thousands of dollars in research and experiment before a single pound of some new product can successfully be put upon the market. Such preliminary work is usually beyond the scope of institutions which lack these facilities.

It is in this way that the fundamental benefits of big business are made available to the public. It is a service that both saves for you and adds to your comfort and health.

You can continue to enjoy this service and aid in extending it still further by serving Armour Oval Label foods on your table.

FARM PROGRESS EVIDENCED BY TRACTOR SALES

ONE SALESMAN ORDERS FOR QUARTER MILLION WORTH OF MACHINERY.

ACTIVE SEASON INDICATED

LARGE AMOUNT OF VIRGIN TERRITORY WILL BE BROKEN THIS SPRING.

When the government last year asked the farmers of the Northwest to produce [illegible] to the full capacity of [illegible] it not only accomplish[illegible] but also demonstrated to [illegible]ers themselves that agricultural operations will to a great extent have to be revolutionized if the requirements of the country and the world are to be met.

The high prices and unusual demand had the natural effect of speeding up production, and the old-style farmer soon discovered that he was being outclassed by the man employing modern methods. He therefore determined to change his tactics at the earliest opportunity, which for most of them is this spring.

Much Machinery Sold.

As a direct result of the conditions brought about by the war, there is a greater demand for power farm machinery than ever before. One salesman has alone placed orders for $250,000 worth of this class of machinery and it is probable that the total investment in implements of this kind will reach a half million dollars in Thief River Falls territory. This is vastly more than has been invested in the same section in any one year heretofore.

Tractors Are in Demand.

"There has been a general demand for tractors," said this salesman. "The up-to-date farmer realizes that the day of horsepower for the heavy work on the farm is past, although it is not likely that there will ever be a time when these useful animals can be dispensed with entirely, as is predicted by some. It has been demonstrated that gasoline and kerosene will perform work so much faster and easier that the man operating under the old system is left behind. It is not too much to expect that some part of the work on every farm in the Northwest will be done by machinery before many years."

Many Want Spreaders.

One noticeable thing about this year's sales of farm machinery is the large number of manure spreaders ordered. This indicates that live stock is more of a factor than ever before and that the farmer has learned the lesson of soil conservation.

This impression is still further confirmed by the fact that a large acreage will this spring be devoted to clover for the first time, much of it being put onto soil that formerly carried grain.

Turning New Land.

Those who are in a position to observe the trend in agriculture say that there will be a large amount of virgin land put under the plow this spring. This will mean a large flax acreage as this is the crop generally planted on new plowing. The high price of flax seed and the excellent demand for straw makes this crop a sure profit-bringer next fall.

The wheat acreage is not likely to be much larger than last year owing to the government's declaring that the price of $2.26 per bushel will only apply where the farmer keeps his acreage down to the figure of last year.

Future is Bright.

The salesman who gave the above as his impression of conditions at this time said that this section without doubt has the greatest future of any in the Northwest. "So certain am I of this that I would not exchange my territory today for the best there is in the heart of the Red River valley," he said. "There has been snow enough to protect the winter grain," he continued, "and there is not over six or eight inches of frost in the ground. This means an early spring, which in turn is almost invariably the forerunner of a prosperous farming season."

U. S. MEN SURVEY RED RIVER VALLEY

PROJECT TAKEN UP TO ASCERTAIN POSSIBILITIES OF RECLAMATION.

A complete topographical survey of the Red River valley in Minnesota, North Dakota and South Dakota, is being made under the direction of P. T. Simons, senior drainage engineer of the United States department of agriculture, who has headquarters in Moorhead.

All of the surveys, for drainage projects, as well as those made by the United States war department and the United States geological survey, will be co-ordained in the report of Engineer Simons.

The department of agriculture has taken up the project primarily to ascertain the possibilities of reclaiming or developing land for agricultural purposes. In making the survey many other things must be considered—the water supply, sewage disposal from cities and industries; also water power development to supply electric current, and in a general way navigation.

The work of securing data from the drainage and other topographical maps on file in the several county seats was begun last November. Two parties of engineers are in the field connecting up the surveys on the two sides of the Red River. One party is working in Richland county, North Dakota, connecting across to Traverse and Wilkin counties in Minnesota. This party has already finished the preliminary work in Roberts county, South Dakota, when a comprehensive drainage survey had not meen made before.

The second party of engineers is working north connecting the Minnesota and North Dakota surveys. This party has finished in Cass, North Dakota, and Clay, Minnesota, and is working in the vicinity of Hendrum on the Norman and Trail county surveys. These parties will continue in the field until they complete the work from Lake Traverse to the Canadian border.

March.

March with its wind, its sleet and rain,
March, when all weather tries in vain;
March with its warmth, and cold, to bore,
March with all its changes galore.

March is the same, yes ever of old,
March is the month that is always so bold;
March years of training efficient doth make,
March knows how the winter will break.

March with its sun, cloudy, and thawing,
March at winter's heart is gnawing;
March takes hold of winter at last
March makes winter a thing of the past.

March drives its changing winds to the core,
March makes old winter mighty sore;
March is always true to his aim,
March fights 'till Jack Frost is slain.

March brings the bees from out of their hives,
March is when the fittest survives.
March is awakening earth with its howls.
March penetrates the depth of earth's bowels.

March is wrestling with natures domain,
March ushers spring back to us again.
March is housecleaning, winter is o'er,
March is as busy as ever before.

March is a nervous blustering month,
March seems to use most every stunt;
Marche's fights with winter mean victory,
March is a benedictory.

March, have our thanks, tho I regret,
That your chilly winds I've met;
You always plan your own solutions,
You start and finish your resolutions.

General Business Conditions do not Warrant The Postponment of Any Building Program

Every authority on business conditions in the United States is urging that the people make arrangements to carry out any building program they may have under consideration, and to do it this summer. The government is pointing out the need for this kind of work in order to supply employment for the returning soldiers, while writers on economic subjects point out that later in the year building materials may be much higher in price.

Do Not Delay this Important Matter

Lumber cut under the high cost conditions of the past two years will be higher in price than that now on hand. This is the reasonable supposition, at any rate. For this reason the man who builds now is wise. Another thing: Later on he may not be receiving so much for his labor or products as at present and he will be losing at both ends by postponing his work.

We Will Explain

Drop into our office and permit us to make an estimate of the cost of the job you have in mind. It is our business to do this and the service is free.

LOCAL BUSINESS MEN SOLIDLY BEHIND PROJECT FOR NEW PAVILION.

WANT TO DO THEIR SHARE

MEETING HELD THURSDAY EVENING TO DISCUSS WAYS AND MEANS.

The Thief River Falls Merchants association has gone unanimously on record as favoring the idea of building a new live stock pavilion at the fair grounds this year. A meeting was held at the Commercial club rooms last Thursday evening to consider the matter and plans were formulated to do effective work in helping the fair association secure the proposed improvement. While the attendance was not large, enough business men were present to show the sentiment of the organization with respect to the new building. The association as a body pledged itself to distribute among its members twenty shares of stock in the fair association, which will add $500 to the pavilion building fund. There is no limit to the amount that may be raised in this manner, however, and $500 is set as the minimum. Many of the business men present were of the opinion that much more stock could be sold.

President Fuller Speaks.

President Herbert Fuller of the fair association gave a short and very interesting talk at the opening of the meeting. He called attention to the desirability of a closer union between local business men and the fair association, stating that by mutual effort could better results be obtained. He also said in his argument for a pavilion that farmers of this section are breeding better stock than formerly and for this reason do not care to exhibit their animals at the fair unless suitable housing and exhibition facilities are provided. This, the speaker stated, was only natural and proved a serious handicap to the success of the fair during recent years. High class stock can be shown off to much better advantage in a good building with proper surroundings.

Stock Sales Planned.

The speaker then outlined the plans that had so far been made for the proposed new buildings. He stated that while nothing definite had yet been agreed upon, several good schemes were in mind to make the structure both serviceable and beautiful. The plan is to build in such manner that with additions made from year to year, the completed pavilion may ultimately be produced as originally planned.

In addition to being used for exhibition purposes during the county fair, Mr. Fuller stated that two large live stock sales would in all probability be conducted in the building each year. One of these will take place in the spring and the other in the fall. The success of the sale held here last fall under the auspices of the county agent demonstrated that these events should take place with more frequency in the future. These sales serve as a clearing house for local pure bred stock and result in many of these animals being kept in the county which would otherwise be sold and shipped to distant points. Winter live stock sales here at this time are not considered practical due to the inconvenience and extra expense occasioned by cold weather.

Allotment is Made.

The men having charge of the matter have concluded that the city should raise an amount for the pavilion equal to that raised by the farmers in the country surrounding. Rural residents have taken upon themselves the task of raising $1,500 during the present drive and it is up to the city to do as well. That this sum can be raised is a foregone conclusion and many are of the opinion that much more can be secured.

E. O. Mogensen, president of the Merchants association, appointed the following committee of five men to work with the committee appointed earlier in the day from the Commercial club to solicit the sale of fair association shares in the city: H. O. Loken, A. S. Sapero, Carl Christofferson, Carl Froseth and Harry Prichard. It was planned to start the drive Monday morning.

SHORT COURSE FOR JUNIORS PLANNED

SESSIONS TO OPEN APRIL 7 AT CROOKSTON SCHOOL OF AGRICULTURE.

A Junior Short Course will be held at the Northwest School of Agriculture, Crookston, for one week beginning April 7. This course is put on especially for boys and girls between the ages of 12 and 18 years, and a week spent there will do much to interest them in rural life. Many interesting subjects will be taken up for study and much good is sure to result.

The week will be devoted to preparation for garden and club work and questions of importance to farm boys and girls. The aim is to deepen interest in farm life so that boys and girls will become more interested in their work. In addition to the work in classes, there will be amusements, contests, moving pictures, excursions, games and songs, so that by the end of the week it will have served as a vacation to all who attend.

The only necessary expense for the entire week will be $2.50 for board and room at the school. Each student should bring blankets, sheets, pillows, pillow cases, towels, etc. All rooms are furnished, steam-heated and comfortable. All students will be carefully supervised in the school dormitories by the regular school faculty.

LAND FOR GARDENS.

Any land or lot owner in Thief River Falls who is going to have a piece of land vacant this summer, and who would like to see this land put to productive use in the form of gardens, should list the vacant land with Lieut. Hiatt of the Lincoln high school agricultural department. The exact location, the amount of land, and the rental desired, should be included in the information submitted, together with the name and address of the owner. This list will be made available to the boys and girls in town who wish to plant and take care of a garden this summer.

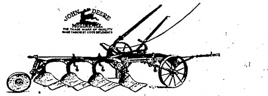
HIGH LEVEL POWER LIFT



JOHN DEERE MOLINE, ILL.

Plow Bottoms Fix Plow Value

How soon will you have to replace the tractor plow you are going to buy? How much will the plow cost you for repairs? How much power will it take to pull the plow? And what sort of seed bed will the plow make? The answers to these questions are in the bottoms on the plow. The bottoms determine the value of the plow.

John Deere Plow Bottoms Give a Special Value to John Deere Pony Tractor Plows

John Deere plow bottoms are the result of eighty years' close study of soil conditions. For three-quarters of a century they have been the world's standard in plow bottoms. This quality is maintained—is made uniform—by special workmen using the highest grade material. John Deere bottoms wear much longer than ordinary bottoms. They do better work with less draft than other bottoms.

The Quick Detachable Shares on these bottoms are great time and labor savers.

For Use With Any Standard Tractor--Easily Operated by the Tractor Driver

Wide range of hitch permits John Deere Pony Tractor Plows to be used with any standard tractor. They are "one-man" plows. A slight pull on the rope causes the bottoms to lift high and level—another slight pull causes them to lower and enter the ground. Unusually high clearance prevents clogging. The driver can stay with the tractor until the plowing job is finished.

Beams Guaranteed Not to Bend or Break

Beams are John Deere special steel, fully tested, and amply strong for heavy work. They are warranted not to spring or break.

Any farmer using a tractor plowing outfit will find exceptional value to him in the John Deere Pony Tractor Plows. See them at

NEWS NOTES OF SHOP AND RAIL

Fireman H. H. Arhart is laying off on account of illness.

Machinist W. E. Miller went to Noyes on Tuesday to do a job of work.

Clarence Sorenson has been put on as helper at Newfolden vice C. L. Orvis, resigned.

E. F. Dolan, dispatcher, has been laid up for a few days with a bad attack of neuralgia.

M. P. Geslin, agent at Kramer, N. D. was a visitor at Overley between trains on Tuesday.

Traveling Auditor L. E. Gilhausen paid this city a visit in his official capacity on Tuesday.

Fireman W. H. Funnell has returned to work after being absent for a week on account of illness.

Fireman Otto Haldin has resumed his regular run after an enforced absence due to illness in his family.

Gustav Freitag, boiler washer helper, is for the present officiating in the place of Chas. Votava, who is on the sick list.

O. P. Johnson has for the past few days been relieving E. K. Ingerbretson, agent at Lancaster, due to a death in the latter's family.

B. Bergsten has been put on as warehouseman at Alexandria, in place of W. C. Fleming, who is temporarily absent on account of sickness.

Engineer O. C. Hanson is absent from his accustomed place at the throttle and is putting in his time battling with the prevailing epidemic—the flu.

Jack Bird, pipe fitter at the Soo round house, has returned to work after enjoying the questionable pleasure of battling with the flu for a week or two.

Conrad Klappenbach is back at his former job as machinist's helper after having worked for a while in place of John Bird, pipe fitter, who has been on the sick list.

H. L. Ward, a former fireman who has during the slack period been working as a coach cleaner, has resigned from the latter position and is laying off for the present.

Machinist John M. Skog and his better half are enjoying a vacation this week. They are employing the time in visiting relatives and friends at Barron, Wis., and Wadena, this state.

Herman Clausen has been transferred from machinist's helper to wiper, taking the place of Victor Norquist, who is now officiating as fireman of the stationary boiler at the Soo round house.

Boilermaker Foreman Emil Norquist returned Tuesday evening from Adams, where he had been putting in a few days testing stationary boilers and giving them other needed attention.

R. Vance has for the past few days been holding down the job as second trick operator in this city in place of A. L. Chapman, who has been relieving the dispatchers during their vacation periods.

The force at the local freight depot of the Soo has been augmented by the addition of Paul Quindlog as regular warehouseman. Mr. Quindlog had been working on the extra list for some time.

Olaf Johnson, car man, was on Tuesday released from the service. His discharge culminated in some trouble with Car Foreman Conklin, an account of which will be found in another column of this issue.

Alex Campbell, fireman, who recently returned from service with the overseas forces of the army and resumed his former position on the Soo, left Saturday for Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., to visit for a few days with relatives.

Agricultural School Assists Movement to Educate Boys

The Agricultural college of Minnesota will open a two weeks' farm training camp at University farm, April 11 to 26, inclusive. Should there be sufficient demand, training camps will also be located at Morris, Waseca and Crookston. The whole force of the agricultural school will be available as instructors and the boys will spend their time in actual farm work.

The camp will be operated under military discipline, with the boys housed in dormitories, divided into companies, receiving physical training and military drill, and taking their regular turns at farm practice work. Only Boys' Working Reserve members will be in attendance. Expenses will be limited to railroad fare to and from and about 60 cents a day for food and room.

"Farm Craft Lessons," written by Dean Eugene Davenport of the Illinois Agricultural college, will be used in training boys for farm work, in camp and elsewhere. This book is in loose-leaf form and consists of lessons covering the various phases of farm practice and gives the "how" of farm operations.

Any boy in Pennington county who has enrolled in the Reserve this year, who will call at the office of the local enrolling officer, Lieut. Hiatt, at the Lincoln high school, may receive a copy of Farm Craft Lessons free of charge.

Nut Margarine vs. Butter

Dr. Harvey W. Wiley, former chief of Bureau of Chemistry, U. S. Department of Agriculture advices against the use of nut margarine because it contains benzoate of soda which is added to it in order to make it keep.

Dr. Wiley states: "As far as I am concerned I should never give my children nut margarine, oleomargarine, or any other margarine as a substitute for butter. Butter contains a vital principle necessary to the growth of children which none of its substitutes posses. I should never give my children nor grown persons in my family food products that contain a preservative such as benzoate of soda. Benzoic acid is regarded as a toxic agent by all physiologists. The human body also regards benzoic acid as a toxic agent and immediately converts it into hippuric acid in order that it may do as little harm as possible. Food products that contain benzoate of soda are inferior in quality to similar foods manufactured without it."

BRICK HOUSES ARE SUBSTANTIAL

Provide Homes That Will Last for Generations.

COST NEED NOT BE LARGE

Design Shows Attractive Building That Is Modern in Design and at the Same Time Economical in Construction.

By WILLIAM A. RADFORD.

Mr. William A. Radford will answer questions and give advice FREE OF COST on all subjects pertaining to the subject of building, for the readers of this paper. On account of his wide experience as Editor, Author and Manufacturer, he is, without doubt, the highest authority on all these subjects. Address all inquiries to William A. Radford, No. 1827 Prairie avenue, Chicago, Ill., and only enclose three-cent stamp for reply.

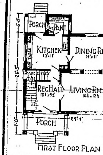
Everyone who lives or has lived in a small town knows or can remember "the brick house." The owner usually was the most affluent member of the community. Not that the brick house cost so much more than the others, but just the word "brick" conveyed the thought of stability.

Bricks and brick houses are almost as old as civilization. True, the bricks of centuries ago did not compare with the bricks of today, but the ancients fashioned blocks of clay in the warmer climates, allowed them to bake in the sun and constructed houses of them. And they lasted and supplied a home for generation after generation.

These are the reasons that brick houses are popular. They give an air of stability, because they are stable themselves. The man who builds a brick house builds not only for himself and his family, but for generations to come.

In the era of home building that is opening this spring, there will be erected homes of all types. There will be the bungalow for the small family; the larger frame house for the large family, and the head of the family who wants something different and at the same time wishes to build for the future will select a brick house.

The accompanying illustration shows a style of brick house that has the advantage of being constructed of a well-nigh permanent material, and is planned to provide all the comforts of the modern home. There are no frills about this architectural design, but the house has the air of solidity, the convenience of arrangement and the graceful exterior that everyone wants in this type of a home.



FIRST FLOOR PLAN

Square Appearance Removed.

While the front porch and the gable above it have taken away the effect, the house itself is practically square. There are no angles to the walls, which makes for economy in construction. However, by the additions noted, the square appearance has been taken away and an economical, solid and attractive home has been designed.

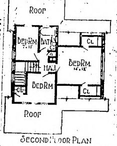
The dimensions of the house, exclusive of the porch projections, are 29 feet 4 inches by 26 feet 5 inches. The front porch is of good size and with the broad door opening makes an attractive appearance.

The house contains six rooms, a large reception hall and bathroom. Downstairs are living and dining rooms, reception hall and kitchen, and upstairs are three bedrooms and the bath.

The reception hall is 10 feet 6 inches by 9 feet 6 inches. The stairway to the second floor is at one side, while double doors lead into the living room, which is 16 feet 6 inches by 12 feet 6 inches. Three windows at the front and one at the side make it a bright and pleasant room. While no fireplace has been provided in this design, it will be noticed in the accompanying floor plan that the flues run through the wall at one corner and it will be an easy matter to provide one.

Sense of Spaciousness.

The dining room is connected with the living room by a colonnade. Thus, through the generous openings, the reception hall, living room and dining room, are practically one room, giving a sense of spaciousness which would not be obtained if each room was shut off.



SECOND FLOOR PLAN

The dining room is also of good size, being 11 by 14 feet. As this also is a corner room, it is extraordinarily light and cheerful, there being three windows at the end and one at the back. Off the dining room and back of the reception hall is the kitchen, 11 to 13 feet. A good sized pantry opens off the kitchen at the back, making the refrigerator accessible for icing from the back porch.

The upstairs arrangement of rooms is unique. There is one large bedroom 14 by 12 feet, over a portion of both the living and dining room. This has three windows at the end and is a delightful sleeping and sitting room. Large closets on either side of the room will appeal to the housekeeper. The hall leads directly to this large room and off it is a bedroom at the front and another at the rear of the house. The bathroom opens off the end of the hall.

While a description of the arrangement of a house and the dimensions of the rooms does not always give a very good idea of its interior, the floor plan visualizes it much better. A careful study of the first and second floor plans given herewith will reveal to the reader how many are the fine features of this brick house.

Home Is Good Investment.

Owning a home of this character is as great an asset as being the owner of Liberty bonds. Both are the best investment any man can make. The former provides a place for the family to live in the years to come and the latter provide the wherewithal to maintain it. Prosperity begets prosperity and there is no place more prosperous than a community that is made up of home-owners and not renters. The quicker a man gets into the former class, the better citizen he becomes and the better chance he has to be prosperous.

The principal reason why the modern American head of a family does not own his home is that he feels that assuming the responsibility of paying for it is not worth the effort. A talk with any home-owner will soon dissipate this idea. The banks are filled with money that the prosperity of the country has brought and they are looking for sound investments. And there is no investment a bank would rather make than loaning money to a man who wants to build a home. A small percentage of the cost is all that is needed to get a home; the balance can be paid in place of the rent that the tenant pays to his landlord.

With the government urging building, just as it urged everyone to buy Liberty bonds, there is added to the investment in a home the feeling that he who builds is a good patriot. "Build a home" this spring and next spring see how much happier you are, and, what is better, how happy your family will be.

The reindeer is said to be able to endure more fatigue than any other draft animal except the camel.

POLK COUNTY FREE OF DEBT; PAYS UP

TWENTY-ONE THOUSAND DOLLARS PAID ON LAST BOND OUTSTANDING.

Polk county is free from bonded indebtedness. By the payment this week of $20,000 for bonds taken out in 1889 and $1,000 interest at 5 per cent by County Auditor Henry J. Welte, the county clears its slate of indebtedness.

Naturally the county has ditch bonds outstanding but these are payable by assessments on the property and lands benefitted thereby. Polk county is one of the few counties in the state that has no bonds outstanding.

In 1889 the county was short of funds, being unable to pay all vouchers issued. Twenty thousand was raised by the sale of bonds after special legislation by the state legislature. The bonds were sold at 5 per cent to a concern in Portland, Maine, but are held at this time by the First National Granite bank of Augusta, Maine.

The bonds were taken out before Red Lake county was divided from Polk. By the settlement, Red Lake county owes this county $2,541.26 in bond money and $127.06 in interest. Whether or not Pennington, which was taken from Red Lake county by county division will reimburse Red Lake county any of their amount is not known.

Wonderful Power Built Into A Light Tractor

Allwork Kerosene Tractor

"Backed by 12 years of tractor experience"

THE striking feature of the Allwork Tractor is its big, powerful 4-cylinder motor (5-inch bore and 6-inch stroke). In our Valley soil, three plows will overload the small motor, but the Allwork, with its powerful motor and wealth of reserve power, simply rolls along with three plows in all conditions of soil, without any effort.

Why do you use four horses on your binder, when three could pull it? Because you must have that surplus of power that your four horses give you.

Give your tractor as square a deal as you do your horses, and your tractor troubles will disappear. You can do this by buying plenty of power.

We know of no place where $1575 will buy you as much power as it will in the Allwork tractor.

And the motor burns kerosene successfully. The specially constructed kerosene manifold, designed and perfected by engineers who have spent years in tractor research, delivers a perfect mixture to the cylinders. We advertise the Allwork strictly as a kerosene burner. We do not mean half kerosene and half gasoline, or any other gasoline mixture. Just common, ordinary kerosene, and we guarantee the results.

Just one more feature.

Every wearing part is easy to get at. We consider the Allwork the most accessible tractor on the American market. That means much to you, Mr. Buyer. Look into it!

The Allwork is built by manufacturers who have had 12 years' successful experience in building tractors that have given complete satisfaction in all parts of the United States. It has plenty of power for all kinds of field and belt work and will give you good service, Spring, Summer, Autumn and Winter. Stock of repairs carried at Crookston, Minn.

Choicest Residence Lots in City to Be Offered for Sale

The finest inside residence lots in the city are to be put on sale at once. Sale will continue this spring until every lot is sold.

The big reconstruction idea now is a home for everybody. Not one that someone else owns and you rent, but a home that you own. This is going to be made just as easy for you as it is to pay rent and in the end you will have a deed to your own home instead of paying rent to a flat owner so that he may build more flats to get more rent to build more flats.

It is not necessary to take a bus to look at these lots nor will you need a taxi in bad weather if you buy one and build upon it. They are all within three or four blocks of the Post Office, Auditorium, Library, High School, Stores and business places, and more reasonable in price than lots so far out where there are no conveniences. Nearly all of these lots have city water, sewer and sidewalk all established and paid for, so you do not need to wait several years for these conveniences.

You can pay for these lots at the time of sale with cash or Liberty Bonds of any issue which bonds will be taken one hundred cents on the dollar, or you can pay one-fifth of the purchase price down and the balance at the rate of ten per cent monthly, with six per cent interest on the part remaining unpaid from time to time.

Warranty deed delivered to you immediately upon payment in full. No taxes due until next year. All paid by owner this year. These lots are put on sale by the owner, who will show them at any time and give prices.

GOOD SHOWING BY CITY'S NEW BANK

FARMERS AND MERCHANTS MAKES REPORT AFTER YEAR'S OPERATION.

If the conditions of a community's banks is the barometer by which its prosperity is guaged, Thief River Falls must be in the highly favored class. Never in the history of the city have the financial institutions indicated that there was so much money among our people, and this applies to all of them. The situation in this respect is so much better than a year ago as to be astounding.

The latest bidder for the favor of the public, the Farmers and Merchants State bank, has just completed its first year of business and the report printed in full in another column of this issue of The Times shows that it has made a splendid beginning. With practically $200,000 of deposits, and these safely loaned out to the limit, a highly satisfactory situation is disclosed. The footings total practically a quarter of a million dollars, which it must be admitted is doing very well for a yearling.

The annual election was held a short time ago and the men who were responsible for such a good start being made were chosen to succeed themselves. They are: Robert McGinn, president; H. D. Keene and Herbert Fuller, vice presidents; L. A. Lampert, cashier; Miss Effie Hamry, assistant cashier.

NAMED OFFICER OF STATE ASSOCIATION

LEONARD PETERSON HONORED BY ELECTRICIANS IN ANNUAL GATHERING.

Leonard Peterson, superintendent of the light and water department of Thief River Falls, was honored last week by election as first vice president of the Minnesota Electrical association, which at that time held its annual meeting in St. Paul. Mr. Peterson has been an active worker in the association for a number of years and his election comes as a recognition of valuable services rendered.

The electricians had a very successful gathering and closed the affair with a big banquet at the St. Paul hotel. Men from all parts of the state were present and in all respects it was the most successful meeting ever held by the association. Much mutual benefit is derived from these meetings, both by the men in attendance and by the communities which they represent.

Following are the officers elected: President, F. L. Cross, St. Paul; first vice president, Leonard Peterson, Thief River Falls; second vice president, R. E. Brown, Winona; secretary-treasurer, F. E. Barnert, St. Paul.

WHISKEY SELLING CHARGED TO MONT

LOCAL MAN PLACED UNDER ARREST SATURDAY EVENING ON SERIOUS CHARGE.

John Mont, who recently purchased the bowling alley and billiard hall in the basement of the Citizens State bank building from J. P. Legler, was arrested Saturday evening by Chief of Police E. O. Erickson, on a charge of selling liquor without a license. He was arraigned Monday morning in municipal court before Judge N. W. Tarrant, and the case was postponed until this afternoon at two o'clock on motion of defendant's attorney, E. M. Stanton.

Mr. Mont gave a cash bond of $100 for his appearance in court this afternoon and was released from custody. The defendant has been in the city but a short time and his arrest followed information given out by a young negro, who took on too much booze Saturday evening and was rounded up by the authorities. The darky claimed, it is said, that he secured the whiskey from Mont.

Mrs. Otto Gullingsrud, who has been ill for the past week with influenza, is reported as being somewhat better today and is considered to be almost out of danger. Her condition has been the cause of much anxiety on the part of her family and friends for several days.

O'Neill Chosen Delegate.

Former Senator D. P. O'Neill has been chosen by the governor as one of seven prominent men of Minnesota to go as delegates from this state to the annual meeting of the Mississippi Waterways association, which will take place at St. Louis on April 17 and 18.

WOMEN PLAN HELP TO LOAN WORKERS

MONSTER MEETING TO BE HELD HERE APRIL 14 TO OUTLINE WORK.

Women of the state are going to do their share in putting across the forthcoming Victory Loan. They will not actually engage in soliciting the sale of the securities but will do their share in an educational and publicity way. As a starter for this campaign a monster meeting has been arranged to take place in this city on Monday, April 14. At a recent convention held at St. Paul the state was divided into eight districts, and the meeting held here will be attended by delegates from the eighth district, of which this city is the central point.

Speakers are sent out by state headquarters to these meetings to spread the gospel of the Victory Loan. While it is not yet certain, it is probable that Mrs. A. MacLaren of St. Paul, state chairman, will be the leading speaker at the local gathering. A large attendance is expected as the territory to be represented by delegates comprises nearly all of the ninth congressional district. Mrs. H. W. Froehlich, county chairman of the women's loan organization, returned last week from St. Paul, where she attended a meeting of state workers which formulated the plans for the other gatherings throughout the state. She is now busy making arrangements for the big event to be held here.

"Mamma, Give me another — They Taste Like Candy"

When your child is feverish and peevish — when the tongue is coated because of billiousness or disordered stomach, give it one of DR. MILES' candy-like LAXATIVE TABLETS and in a short time the child will be naturally relieved of the cause of its illness.

No coaxing or urging is required to get children to take these mild, but effective laxatives. When children once use them they never refuse them. So much better than nauseating oils or strong, griping cathartics that so often do more harm than good.

Not only are DR. MILES' LAXATIVE TABLETS an effective medicine for children but for grown-ups as well. Any one suffering from constipation and its many ill effects will find in these pleasant and agreeable tablets an effective medicine. Get a box from your druggist — they cost only a few cents. Money back if first box fails to satisfy.

W. A. ZIEGLER IS NAMED TO HEAD CITY'S SCHOOLS

RECOMMENDED HIGHLY FOR POSITION BY STATE EDUCATIONAL AUTHORITIES

FORMERLY AT ANNANDALE

ENGAGED IN SCHOOL WORK SINCE 1904, NOW TEACHING AT UNIVERSITY

W. A. Ziegler, for six years superintendent at Annandale and at present teacher in the college of science, literature and arts at the University of Minnesota, was on Tuesday night appointed superintendent of the Thief River Falls schools by the board of District No. 18. Mr. Ziegler is 36 years of age and has spent all his time since his graduation in 1904 in school work. He will shortly arrive for the purpose of acquainting himself with the local situation, taking up his new duties with the opening of the fall and winter term in September.

Working For A. B. Degree.

The new superintendent is at the present time engaged in post graduate work at the university and will receive the degree of bachelor of arts upon its conclusion. While completing his course he has been engaged as instructor.

Is Highly Recommended.

Mr. Ziegler was appointed from a large field of candidates and has the endorsement of every member of the university faculty as well as the recommendation of every school board with which he has been connected. He is a graduate of St. Cloud normal, was a grade school teacher for some years before engaging in the high school field, being employed at Clara City and Park Rapids. L. D. Coffman, dean of the college of education of the university, says he will cheerfully recommend him for the position of superintendent of any school in the state, excepting the three larger cities. Among those who vouch for his capability are L. M. Burton, president of the university; Ray R. Shumway, assistant professor of mathematics; Albert M. Rankin, professor of education; E. M. Phillips, state high school inspector; P. C. Thonning, deputy state superintendent, and any number of others who have come in contact with his work. George A. Silk, secretary of the committee on appointments, considers him one of the most thoroughly equipped school men in the state.

Is Fortunate Choice.

From what can be learned in advance of the fitness of Mr. Ziegler it would seem that the board has made a particularly fortunate choice. [illegible] described by those who know [illegible] enthusiastic, keen and affable, qualities that are essential in a successful school superintendent. He selected the Thief River Falls post from a number offered him and stated while in the city that he liked the prospect held out here better than any that were at this time open to him.

BOARD MEMBERS ISSUE STATEMENT

EXPLAIN STAND TAKEN ON QUESTION OF SUPERINTENDENT

Four members of the board of education have issued a statement to the public explaining their attitude in the matter of accepting the resignation of J. H. Hay as superintendent. The open letter was read at a meeting of citizens held at the Lincoln school on Tuesday evening at which a large gathering was present. The meeting was called at the request of a number of citizens who wished to present protests against the action taken by the board with regard to Mr. Hay, and all were given a chance to be heard.

As the reply of the board to the representations made, the following open letter, signed by Dr. O. F. Mellby, Dr. H. W. Froehlich, H. S. Dahlen and P. O. Myhrum, was read:

"To the Patrons of Our Public Schools: The undersigned members of the Board of Education wish to make the following brief statement regarding the action taken relative to the resignation of Mr. J. H. Hay as superintendent of our schools:

"As members of the Board of Education we are in a better position to know what constitutes a good school than the public. During the past ten years great changes have taken place in our industrial enterprises in all lines. While these changes have been going on, there have also been great changes in our public school system throughout the United States. These changes have been especially rapid in the last three or four years.

"Our school ranks among the first ten IN SIZE in the state of Minnesota, outside of the Twin Cities and Duluth. Many of these schools and many smaller ones have rearranged their systems along the newer and progressive lines. We do not want our school to remain the back number any longer. We want our school to measure up with the best of our class in the state, and to do this it is necessary to place a man with a modern, university education at its head.

"We have accepted the resignation of Mr. Hay after the most thorough and deliberate investigation and observation. We are firmly convinced that the future will prove the wisdom of our decision and we are willing to accept full responsibility for our action.

"Personally we have the most kindly consideration for Mr. Hay. He has labored in our midst for fourteen years. We are deeply appreciative of his efforts in our behalf, but the fact remains that we have taken this action for the welfare of our children without prejudice and without fear or favor."

GUN CLUB TO HOLD SHOOT JUNE 14-15

TOURNAMENT PLANNED HERE EARLY NEXT SUMMER BY TRAP DEVOTEES.

An event looked forward to with much interest by local devotees of trap shooting is the gun club tournament to be held in this city June 14 and 15 under the auspices of the Thief River Falls Gun club. This is the first shoot to take place here in three years and members of the club are enthusiastic over the prospects of a very successful tournament. It is expected that shooters will be here from all parts of the Northwest and it is said that at least fifteen men will be present from Winnipeg alone. Trap shooting is a great sport and numbers among its devotees some of the best known business men of the section.

During the war interest in trap shooting naturally died down to a certain extent but now that hostilities are over the boys feel justified in burning gunpowder for other purposes than whipping the kaiser and a great revival in the sport is therefore anticipated. The local club is under the management of the following officers, among whom are some of the crack shots of the Northwest: Andy Anderson, president; W. W. Prichard, Jr., secretary and treasurer; C. A. Nason, field captain.

Preparations are already under way to get things in readiness for the shoot of June 14 and 15. The local men in charge of the event propose to make it the most successful ever sponsored by the local club.

BUSY REHEARSING NEXT CLASS PLAY

SENIORS TO PRESENT ROLLICKING COMEDY ENTITLED "GREEN STOCKINGS"

Members of the Senior class who are to take part in the forthcoming class play are busy rehearsing for its presentation. They are making rapid progress under the able direction of Mrs. C. A. Pitkin, who has successfully coached class plays in this city for several years past.

The play this year is entitled "Green Stockings," and is a merry play both in plot and dialogue. The plot deals with the custom whereby an elder sister is compelled to wear green stockings at the wedding of a younger sister, providing she herself happens to be unmarried or unbetrothed. The play is a comedy of unalloyed delight that in sheer drollery and fun has few equals, and is sure to please the large audience which will witness its presentation.

The W. C. T. U. will hold a meeting in the Zion church next Tuesday, April 8. All are cordially invited to attend.

CONKLIN FREED BY JURY WHEN CASE IS TRIED

CAR FOREMAN CHARGED WITH GUN PLAY IS FOUND NOT GUILTY.

JURY OUT FOR TWO HOURS

MANY WITNESSES EXAMINED. COURT ROOM IS CROWDED TO THE LIMIT.

After the most interesting and stubbornly fought trial in municipal court for years, G. J. Conklin, car foreman in the Soo yards, was on Saturday acquitted by a jury on the charge of pointing a revolver at Olaf Johnson, carpenter on the Soo "rip track." The jury was out about two hours before reaching a verdict. The following men composed the jury: Scott Laird, H. E. Holt, Ben Erickson, J. E. Cosgrove, Phil Zeh, M. T. McFarland, John Jaranson, W. F. Edgar, E. O. Mogensen, Fred Roth, Chas. Lieberman and H. N. Hager.

Gun Play Described.

After the jury had been accepted by both sides to the action, trial of the case commenced. Olaf Johnson was the first witness called to the stand by the state. He gave his version of the trouble which led up to the alleged gun play, insisting that Conklin had deliberately pointed the revolver at him. He was the only witness to make this statement, the others merely asserting that Conklin had held the revolver in his hand so that it could plainly be seen but had not pointed it at anyone. Alfred Johnson, a brother of the complaining witness, was next placed on the stand by the state and his testimony was similar to that previously given. He was followed by Emil Rausch, who also testified that he had seen the gun play and had heard the argument which led up to it.

Defendant Takes Stand.

The state then rested and the defense put Mr. Conklin on the stand. He gave his version of the trouble which led up to using a gun with which to establish his authority, stating that Johnson had threatened him with bodily harm and had used very abusive language. The revolver was placed in evidence at the trial and proved to be one that was entirely out of commission, something being wrong with its mechanism to prevent firing a cartridge from it. Mr. Conklin maintained that it was used for no other purpose than to "bluff" Johnson from the premises. Other witnesses called for the defense were Griffith Jones, C. F. Erickson, F. M. Woodruff, master mechanic of the Soo, Joe Brennan, Adolph Williamson and Oscar Egerud.

More Witnesses Examined.

The defendant then rested and the state started cross examination. Dan Parenteau, Olaf Erickson, Henry Peterson, Roy Elofson, T. D. Scanlan and Alfred Johnson were questioned but no further evidence of importance was brought out. An effort was made to prove that the gun offered in evidence was not the one used by Conklin, it being asserted that he made a trip to his home during the afternoon at which time he could easily have exchanged a real gun for the useless firearm on exhibit. It was claimed by some of the witnesses that the gun flashed by the foreman had a blue barrel, while the one in court was nickel plated. When Mr. Conklin was recalled to testify in his own behalf, he stated that he had returned to the house in the afternoon for the purpose of getting his overcoat, the weather having turned considerably colder. Adolph Williamson was recalled as a witness and asserted that he had seen the gun on exhibit not over twenty minutes after the trouble was over. He claimed the foreman had taken it to his office and placed it in a drawer of his desk.

Closing Arguments.

This closed the testimony in the case. County Attorney Quale made a strong plea to the jury for conviction, stating that it did not matter whether the gun was loaded or not. He read passages of law in support of this contention. Attorney E. M. Stanton, for the defense, followed with an eloquent plea for his client. He pointed to the fact that only one witness had testified to the gun having been actually pointed at plaintiff, while all other witnesses who were present at the fracas stated that Conklin had only held the gun in his hand where it might be seen by Johnson. The jury evidently agreed with the theory that no harm was intended and returned a verdict for defendant. The municipal court room was crowded to capacity during the trial.

Would Become Citizens.

Six applications for citizenship are now on file in the office of Clerk of Court Adolf Eklund to be considered at the hearing set for July 25. The last date upon which these applications may be filed is April 25 and several more are expected before that time. The hearings will be held before Judge Grindeland of the district court, who will pass upon the qualifications of those desiring to become citizens. Following are the names of those who have already declared their intention of taking out citizenship papers and the country of which they are natives: Frederick Robert Head, Austria; Alfred G. Johnson, United States, but later became a citizen of Canada; Oscar B. Soderling, Sweden; Stanley J. Malone, Canada; Alfred Johnson, Norway; Andreas Hovland, Norway.

OFFER PRIZES TO BOYS AND GIRLS

WOMAN'S CLUB WILL STIMULATE CLEANUP CAMPAIGN THIS SPRING

In order to get the boys and girls interested in the work of beautifying the city, the Woman's club has decided to offer substantial prizes to those who present the best record for making improvements. This will not alone include the cleaning and tidying up of such places as are generally in need of such attention in the spring, but will also cover improvements of different kinds, such as tree planting, landscape work and anything in that line.

It has been announced that there will shortly be put on a children's play for children under the auspices of the club. The details of this undertaking are not yet worked out but a committee has the matter in charge and will report shortly.

The club held a very interesting meeting Monday afternoon. Mrs. C. G. Selvig of Crookston, president of the Ninth District Federation of Woman's clubs, delivered a brilliant address on "Community Work," in which she laid stress upon the new conditions confronting the women of the country by reason of the war. Two excellent papers, one by Mrs. A. Bottleson on "Minnesota in the Civil War," and the other by Mrs. H. W. Protzeller on "State Builders," were presented. The vocal solo by Miss Zella Zeh was much enjoyed, and the afternoon was made particularly pleasant by a visit from a number of members of the St. Hilaire club. Lunch was served.

County Board to Meet.

The next regular meeting of the board of county commissioners will be held in this city next Wednesday, April 8. A number of matters of importance are expected to come before the board at this meeting.

COUNTY ASSESSORS MEET ON TUESDAY

RECEIVE INSTRUCTIONS REGARDING THEIR WORK FOR COMING YEAR.

A meeting was held at the court house on Tuesday under the supervision of County Auditor T. P. Anderson for the purpose of giving instructions to the assessors of the county regarding their work. J. G. Armson, chairman of the Minnesota tax commission, was present at the meeting, and explained in detail how the work of assessors should be done in order to bring about the best results. Mr. Armson stated that assessors should assess everything at its real value, and should make no attempt at establishing a valuation. This will be done later by the county and state boards of equalization, he said.

Only two division of the county were not represented at the meeting, these being the townships of River Falls and Silverton. The following assessors were in attendance: Emil Larson, Bray; R. J. McKercher, Black River; J. D. Gavin, Cloverleaf; Ed. Rustan, Deer Park; E. H. Besancon, Goodridge; Ole G. Lee, Highlanding; Martin Hegstad, Hickory; Joe Klien, Kratka; M. O'Leary, Mayfield; G. K. Hovi, North; Nels B. Swanson, Norden; Oscar Peterson, Numedal; A. G. Hallstrom, Polk Centre; C. O. Tangen, Reiner; F. T. Sattre, Rocksbury; Erick Anderson, Sanders; W. E. Wood, Smiley; Ole Tharaldson, Star; David Haugen, Wyandotte; A. S. Wilson, St. Hilaire; A. O. Halvorson, Goodridge village; M. V. Evenson, Thief River Falls.

PLAN MEETING TO CLEAR WAY FOR BIG DRIVE

TO BE HELD ON SATURDAY AT COMMERCIAL CLUB ROOMS IN THIS CITY.

TO BOOST VICTORY LOAN

BANKERS MEET TO CONSIDER BEST WAY OF ASSISTING THE PROJECT

A monster meeting to arrange for the new Victory loan will be held at the Commercial club rooms in this city next Saturday, April 5, at 1:30. This meeting is to be held for the purpose of thoroughly organizing the work throughout the entire county. All township committees, which consist of the chairman, clerk and treasurer of each township, are expected to be present at the meeting. The central committee is desirous of having as many as possible come from each township, but it is absolutely essential that at least one from each precinct be present.

All plans in connection with the coming drive will be brought up and discussed at the meeting on Saturday. There is a great deal of detail to be worked out and for this reason it is necessary that all committeemen be present to give their aid in working out the problems and also getting information which will be essential to them in their work.

Allotment Not Received.

The allotment for Pennington county has not yet been received but is expected to arrive any day. Each precinct in the county will be given its part of the total to be raised and this will be divided as equitably as possible. Meetings are being arranged for every township in the county during the next week or two. Speakers for these gatherings will be furnished by the central speakers' bureau under the supervision of Mayor G. A. Penney of this city, and it is anticipated that much enthusiasm will be aroused in this manner.

Bankers to Meet.

The bankers of the county will hold a meeting this evening at the Citizens State bank to consider means for loaning money at a low rate of interest to cover deferred payments on bonds. This is done by the bankers with a view to being of all the assistance possible to the people in raising the money required to float the loan. It is expected that every bank in the county will be represented at the meeting this evening.

Chairman G. Howard Smith has this week named the committees to have charge of the drive in the different precincts of the county.

COUNTY AGENT TO HELP FIGHT SMUT

SHOWING FARMERS HOW TO TREAT GRAIN TO PREVENT DISEASE.

County Agent J. J. McCann spent last Monday at Goodridge in giving information to the farmers on how to treat grain for smut. Four co-operators were secured, who will treat the greatest share of their grain, leaving a small plot untreated so as to demonstrate the value of the treated over the untreated. Sixteen other grain growers in that vicinity also agreed to follow out the directions for the second treatment for smut.

A demonstration will be held at St. Hilaire tomorrow, Friday, for the same purpose as the conference at Goodridge. A number of cooperators will be secured to conduct demonstration plots. All are advised to treat their grain with formaldehyde in order to eradicate the smut on grains, which caused such a great damage in Minnesota during the past year.

Soldiers Want Citizenship.

At the hearing held last Friday by Naturalization Agent R. K. Doe, two soldiers applied for citizenship. They are Torgrim O. Leidtvelt and Emil B. Simonson. Owing to the fact that the boys had not yet received the proper certificates, they were given only an examination by Mr. Doe and the process of securing complete citizenship will be completed later by Judge Andrew Grindeland.

DITCH HEARING IS LARGELY ATTENDED

MANY CROWD COURT ROOM TO DEFEND OR CONDEMN PROJECT.

The hearing on county ditch No. 30, held at the court room in this city last Friday, was attended by more than two hundred farmers and others interested in the project. Most of those present are residents of eastern Pennington and Marshall counties, the territory which the proposed new ditch will traverse. Judge Andrew Grindeland presided at the hearing and now has the matter under advisement. He announced at the hearing that he would be ready to render his decision tomorrow.

Several men who are in favor of the project were present at the hearing and gave their views. Among them were A. O. Fladeland, Olaf Ramstad, C. N. Erdahl and others. These men contended that the ditch is necessary both as a means of reclaiming a large area of land and in safeguarding the public health. Nearly 100,000 acres of land will be subjected to ditch assessment if the project goes through.

Attorney Julius Olson of Warren appeared at the hearing for the petitioners, while Attorneys E. M. Stanton of this city and Thos. V. Sullivan of St. Paul handled the case for the objectors.

ARMY COMMISSION FOR LOCAL DOCTOR

DR. H. W. FROEHLICH IS NOW FIRST LIEUTENANT IN MEDICAL RESERVE

Dr. H. W. Froehlich on Monday received from the war department a commission as first lieutenant in the medical reserve corps. The doctor had made application for this commission last summer but due to the fact that he was a member of the local draft board the department did not see fit to send it to him, evidently considering his work on the draft board of equal importance to any he might be able to do in active military service.

What the government now aims at is providing a reserve of medical men, and is giving these commissions to only a few doctors in addition to those who have had actual military experience. These men are to be drawn upon should the occasion arise when they are needed for army purposes. Dr. Froehlich's extensive and highly satisfactory work as physician of the local draft board undoubtedly influenced the war department to issue the commission to him at this time.

ATTORNEY KJOMME CHANGES HIS NAME

FORMER THIEF RIVER FALLS MAN NOW SPELLS IT "CHOMMIE"

The Times is in receipt of a letter from Attorney Hans O. Kjomme, a former well known resident of this city who now lives in St. Paul and has established a law office at 915 Merchants Bank building. He was county attorney of Pennington county until he entered the army over a year ago. Mr. Kjomme won a commission as lieutenant and for several months prior to his release from service was instructor in the military school at Beloit, Wis.

Mr. Kjomme found that the peculiar spelling of his name caused considerable confusion while he was in the army and accordingly he decided to change it. He now spells it "Chommie," and has had the new spelling formally recorded. The new orthography makes it easier for people not of Scandinavian origin to figure out how the name should be pronounced. It is the same old name except that it is now spelled according to the way it sounds.

New Ruling on Bonus.

The war department has reversed a regulation governing the payment of the $60 bonus to soldiers and sailors, ruling that in the future discharged men who do not wish to forward to Washington their original discharge certificates may furnish a certified copy under certain conditions. The copy must be a literal, full and complete copy of the original and must be forwarded in the same manner as previously prescribed for the discharge certificates.

BIG BAND BENEFIT DANCE ON APR. 25

BAND BOYS TO RAISE MONEY FOR PURCHASE OF NEW UNIFORMS

Arrangements are under way for the big band benefit dance to be held at the auditorium on the evening of Friday, April 25. The band boys are going to do everything in their power to make it the banner social event of the season and a record attendance is anticipated. The city council has kindly consented to let the boys have free use of the auditorium for the evening and the band treasury will without doubt be considerably enriched by the affair.

The band boys are sadly in need of new uniforms and have taken this method of securing money with which to provide themselves with suitable attire for public occasions. A band, no matter how well it may play music, does not appear to good advantage unless properly uniformed, and the boys are to be commended for their efforts in this direction. Many people will buy a ticket to the dance just to be of assistance to the boys in helping get the new togs.

The merchants of Thief River Falls were expected to subscribe $500 toward the providing of new live stock barns and a sale pavilion at the Pennington county fair grounds. They doubled this amount and secured the money in less than one day, with practically no effort.

According to the report made by Chairman H. O. Loken of the soliciting committee at the annual dinner of the Merchants association last evening, the sum of $910 had already been collected and there still remained a few men to be seen. When the returns are all in it is certain that the total will reach $1,000.

Hardly a Refusal.

In presenting the check for the amount to President Herbert Fuller of the fair association, Mr. Loken stated that it was the only really pleasant job of cash soliciting he had ever been engaged upon. But one refusal had been met with among those visited while in a number of instances more than was asked for or expected was received. Attention was called to the fact that the Hanson-Barzen company was down on the list originally for $50 but that P. O. Myhrum of that firm refused to sign up for any such amount. He sent a check in the company's name for $150 instead and the committee showed no signs of anger when it was received.

Dedicates Cooperation.

President Fuller in thanking the merchants for the money stated that such indication of cooperation with the farmers on the part of the business men was the most pleasing circumstance connected with the fair enterprise coming under his observation in all the years of his connection with the association. He was pleased to receive the money, he said, but the spirit displayed was to him of vastly greater importance.

All Are Boosters.

President Mogensen, in recounting the work of the association during the two years of its existence, spoke of how he came to locate in Thief River Falls. He believed at that time that it was destined to be the best city in northwestern Minnesota and had become more certain that his judgment was right every day since that time.

Secretary G. Howard Smith followed Mr. Mogensen with an account of the activities of the association since his connection with it. He said that the impression that it was a combination of business men joined together for the purpose of furthering their own ends was all wrong and proved his assertion by actual figures. The merchants had simply banded together for a better chance to work for the general good of the city and section, he said.

Many Short Addresses.

President Mogensen then called upon those present for expressions of opinion that might be of value or interest in furthering the aims of the association, and there were happy responses, W. W. Prichard, Sr., C. S. Simonson, E. L. Rolland, H. K. Strand, W. B. Fuller, A. S. Sapero, H. O. Loken and others speaking briefly.

Stick to Newspapers.

The matter of the fair premium list came up for consideration and it was the concensus of opinion that there should be no solicitation for advertising in order to pay for the cost of producing it. Every merchant present was emphatic in stating that he would go the limit in helping the fair but that he objected most decidedly to paying for something that was of absolutely no value to anyone. The speakers generally were of the opinion that advertising should be left to newspapers, the only mediums through which results are certain. The taboo order included all kinds of programs, annuals and everything else of a like nature.

Was Enjoyable Party.

The dinner was served in the dining room of the Hotel Brumund and helped materially in maintaining that hostelry's reputation in affairs of this kind. The election of officers was held at the close of the speaking program.

CARRYING IT TOO FAR.

The friends of Supt. J. H. Hay who are insisting that he be reappointed to his present position for another year, are placing that excellent gentleman in a rather embarrassing position. It is easily conceivable that the testimonials of regard and esteem of which he has of late been the recipient would under most circumstances be very pleasing, but they have reached a point where they act as a detriment to his future prospects.

It would seem as if those who are devoting their time to keeping alive the feeling engendered by reason of this controversy should realize that there is now nothing they can do that will in any manner assist Mr. Hay. On the contrary, they are making his position all the harder by their ill-timed interference.

The school board has taken final action in this matter and there is no appeal. The members of that body were elected by the people for the reason that they were considered good men for the place. Some of them have been re-elected several times. Up until the present nothing has occurred to cause anyone to doubt that they were giving the duties of the office the very best attention of which they were capable. In fact their work has been generally commended.

These men now take a stand which they fully realize is unpopular. They know that the retiring superintendent has many friends, made by years of service in our midst, and that these will stand by him to the end. They do not even claim that these friends are mistaken in their opinion of Mr. Hay, being willing to concede every virtue and excellence claimed for him. But they do maintain that the schools of Thief River Falls would be more efficiently handled by another man.

The directors are only human. They realize that their stand in this matter is unpopular. They know that a number of their fellow-citizens feel a mistake has been made, some going so far as to openly charge them with ulterior motives. This is not particularly pleasant and is something that almost anyone would go a long ways to avoid.

Such being the facts, would it not seem to any reasonable person that these men are acting according to their honest convictions? Even granting that they are mistaken, is it not rather foolish to maintain that they are wilfully doing something for which there is no excuse when it is absolutely certain that they are injuring themselves by their action? It seems as if a little consideration of this matter should make this clear.

The matter should be dropped. There is not the slightest attempt on the part of anyone to deny that the retiring superintendent has been an excellent man, but the idea that none can be found to fill his place is ridiculous. This contention would certainly be paying Mr. Hay the poorest kind of compliment. He has been superintendent of our schools for fourteen years and if at the end of that time the affairs of his office are in such condition that another cannot take them up and go ahead from where Mr. Hay left off, the latter must have been remiss in some respect. No one claims that such is the case. Mr. Hay has made an excellent superintendent, but the view of the board is that the changes in methods and the greater demands incident to the growth of the city makes it advisable for them to employ another man.

There is nothing new about an episode of this kind. It is only a short time ago that the city of Duluth found it necessary to release the man who had been at the head of its schools for thirty years. Minneapolis has just emerged from a tangle brought about under similar conditions. Virginia, Detroit and other of the communities more in the class of Thief River Falls, have preceded this city in their determination to secure for their schools the most modern instructors. In each and every case there was a row. Things have settled back and it has been generally found that the attitude of the school board was right.

It is evident that a more calm and sensible view is being taken of this matter on every hand. The school directors state that they are willing to stand or fall by the results of their action. They disclaim being animated by any motive other than the welfare of the schools, and it is certain that their opportunities for knowing what they are doing are better than those of the man whose acquaintance with the work in the schools is gained from a hasty glance at the report cards brought home by his children at the close of examinations. As a matter of fact he is hardly in a position to speak with any great degree of authority on the subject and would not attempt to do so under ordinary circumstances. The truth is that many a well-meaning citizen permitted himself to be swept off his feet by a popular outcry before he had time to give the matter full consideration.

The quicker this incident is forgotten the better it will be for everybody concerned, including Mr. Hay.

THE LAST TRIP OVER.

Get ready to cinch the victory. The Fifth Liberty Loan campaign will soon be in full swing and you will be expected to do your part as in the past. Do not get the idea that now the war is over there should no longer be any necessity for borrowing money. Just take it for granted that as soon as it is possible to get along without borrowing money the government will be only too glad to quit. In the meantime be prepared to do your bit.

The new loan will carry a better interest rate than any of the previous issues and the time for payment will be extended over a period of at least six months. In fact the Victory Loan is going to be the easiest to meet of any we have had. It is also the most necessary.

Mrs. Racine Olson.

God in his infinite wisdom has called from this life unto the life eternal, one of the good women of Holt. Mrs. Esther Olson, the beloved wife of Racine Olson, passed away at noon, on March 25th, 1919, at the Oakland Park Sanatorium, from tuberculosis, at the age of 24 years, 1 month and four days.

Esther Mickelson was born in Crookston, Minn., Feb. 21st, 1895. She moved to Holt with her parents in the spring of 1910, where she passed her happy girlhood days and grew to womanhood. She attended the Thief River High School and taught three terms of school in this county.

She was married to Racine Olson on Oct. 6, 1915. The happy couple established their home in Holt. Their married life was blessed with two children, namely Marcella and Raymond. These children and the husband are now left to mourn the loss of a kind and affectionate wife and mother. Deceased is also mourned by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Mickelson, and her sisters, Amanda, Stella and Olive Mickelson, all of Holt and by many other relatives and friends.

Mrs. Olson was a woman who was loved and esteemed by all who knew her. It was in her own family circle and in the rearing of her children that she took the greatest interest and there also, she will be missed the most. That she should be taken away at a time when she seemed most needed in the home is beyond human understanding, but it is not for us to question the ways of God, who doeth all things for the best. Mrs. Olson has made the great gain, she has kept the faith, and she has won the crown.

The funeral was held on Saturday afternoon, and was conducted by Rev. M. B. Ordahl, of the Norwegian Lutheran Church and was largely attended. Those who attended the funeral from out of town were, Mrs. Martin Olson, and Ole Storholm of Crookston, aunt and grandfather. Mr. and Mrs. O. G. Storholm of Thief River Falls, uncle and aunt of deceased. Dorothy and Celia Olson of Fargo, sisters. Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Olson of Newfolden, brother of Mr. Olson.

Many beautiful floral offerings were sent as tributes of esteem by loving friends. The remains of Mrs. Olson were laid away to rest in the Holt Cemetery, until the morn of resurrection. Peace to her memory.—Contributed.

TEN AND 20 YEARS AGO

Twenty Years Ago.

Editor Eastman of the News printed an article in his paper which did not meet with the approval of the city attorney, F. Hibner, and the latter made a reply through the Press which contains the following gems: "It is another of the News' spasmodic, unvarnished and putrid falsehoods that have been the sole stock in trade of that journal since the present limp, juvenile shadow began to gather the old bones for its editorial department. The statement that the city attorney has been removed by the city council is an unqualified falsehood. The writer does not ask the juvenile wafer to tell the truth about him, but if the cipher ever expects to become even a third rate liar he must not tell things of the kind that are exposed before his ink dries."

It looked as if Old Sol would have his hands full to get the river broken up and seeding started by the 15th.

Capt. Buhse had his fine new steamer all ready to launch as soon as the river opened.

A. D. Stephens was elected mayor of Crookston by a substantial majority.

P. and J. Meehan, who had been engaged in the saw mill business in the city for a number of years, sold their entire plant and all its attachments, as well as their steamboats and all their belongings, to John O'Day, John Daley, David Winton and Charles J. Winton. The new company took immediate possession and expected to greatly enlarge the old mill.

Mrs. A. D. Brown, nee Miss Clara Lillemoen, died after a long illness of consumption. She left a husband and two children to mourn her death.

Ten Years Ago.

The old stage line running northwest from the city and carrying mail to Strip and other points was discontinued April 1 and the mail turned over to the Soo to deliver via the Wheatline. This caused a change in the address of several families living between this city and Strip, which has since been rechristened Rosewood.

The high school was making preparations to put a fast baseball team into the field for the season.

An agitation was started with a view to forcing the Soo to build a new depot in this city. It was claimed that the old building was entirely inadequate for the business transacted here.

Houses in the city were being numbered and delivery of mail was expected soon to be an established fact.

Walter Robbecke left for Seattle, where he expected to spend the summer working in a saw mill.

Fred Haug, former captain of the Dan Patch, left for Minneapolis to take a position as chauffeur for D. N. Winton.

Mrs. Olaf Ramstad returned from Minneapolis where she had been visiting her daughter, Mrs. Reynolds, for a few days.

The mechanical experts of the saw mill were busy getting ready for the starting of the mill. The river was full of logs and it was predicted that labor would be plentiful as soon as the mill started.

Peter Wold drove in from Highlanding and reported the roads to be in very bad shape.

J. T. Gullingsrud of Kratka sold his belongings and moved to this city to make his home.

FRED SCANLAN DESCRIBES HIS JOURNEY HOME

TELLS OF WHAT HE SAW AND HEARD AT OVERSEAS ARMY CAMPS.

LETTER WRITTEN ON SHIP

SAYS CONDITIONS AT BREST ARE FINE COMPARED TO OTHER PLACES.

Letters have been written home by the soldiers on this side of the water and letters have been written on the other side. But it remained for Fred T. Scanlan, a Thief River Falls boy, to write a long letter while on board the ship which brought him back to America from France. The letter is more than usually interesting, and The Times takes pleasure in reproducing it. Fred's description of conditions at Brest and other camps in France is timely and to the point, in view of the fact that these places have come in for considerable criticism of late. The letter follows:

Starts Homeward Journey.

"March 17, 1919. Dear Folks: Though I've already written you a card, which will be mailed at Philadelphia with this, it has been so long since I've written you a letter that I feel it in almost my duty to write a book. I'm sure that you will bear me no malice when I tell you that I've been on the way since Feb. 1. I wrote you a letter about Jan. 30, telling you that I was looking for a change of address, and told you not to write as I didn't know where I was going. The latter part was an untruth as I knew I was starting for home. I did not expect, however, to be so long on the way.

"We, about 25 of us, left Paris about 8:30 a. m., on the first day of February, and reached the First Depot Division at St. Aignan about 10 p. m. the same day. After a feed of beans we went to bed in a cold, wet barrack—it, however, being in no wise different from all the other barracks at the place, for, next to Brest, St. Aignan is the wettest place in the world. On the third we went through an institution known officially as 'the mill'—and a mill it is. We went into it about 8:30 a. m. and came out about 3 p. m. Service records straightened up, bathed, deloused, re-equipped with everything, and then one is ready to go out to one of the subcamps—of which there are about seven—to wait until he is called to go into a casual company. I was sent to one of the areas known among everyone (except the officials) as 'slum hill.' And believe me, people, there's going to be some one or two people who were in charge of that camp who are going to be 'in awful bad' when they encounter any soldiers who ever went through there.

Not a Bed of Roses.

"Quartered in tents without floors, with no bunks, not half enough to eat, and not allowed to build a fire until after 5 p. m.—and that must be put out at 9 p. m. provided you had wood enough to keep it going that long—which was seldom the case. On the average, our issue of wood was three sticks about three feet long and about two inches in thickness, and if one was caught stealing wood it meant a transfer to a labor battalion and about six months more in France. Fortunately, I was there only five days, but there were some poor fellows who had been there for months, apparently forgotten. How anyone could possibly exist for any length of time under such conditions is beyond me, and if there is any place in the American zone of France which would bear investigation, there it is.

"As I said, I was there only five days, and on Sunday, Feb. 10, came back into St. Aignan proper. That night was spent in a wet, unheated tent, and the following morning we were assigned into casual companies, according to states. From then on things were not so bad. We have a fine bunch of fellows and our commanding officer, a second lieutenant, is one of the finest fellows I've ever met (and he won't censor this, either.) During the remainder of our stay there we occupied our time mostly with medical and equipment inspection, getting paid, etc., and waiting. On Feb. 15 we boarded a train for Brest. We reached Brest about 10 p. m. on the 16th, and, oh, how it rained! They fed us again and then we started out for camp—about five kilometers away—afoot, too, if you please.

Casuals in Bad Shape.

"I had a fellow in my squad who had been gassed pretty badly, and the hike began to get the best of him before he had got more than started. 'Tis a fright to see the way some of these fellows are all shot to pieces. This one in particular is absolutely no good. His lungs are all gone and he could not carry his pack, so I took it and carried it on my shoulder the rest of the way out, about three and one-half miles. And believe me, people, those two packs, weighing about 65 pounds each under normal conditions, plus all the water they had gathered, got some heavy. We got to bed about 3 a. m.—again in tents—and we were at that place about a week. We then moved in towards Brest a ways, where we were quartered in barracks. There it was the same old thing of inspections again. Three or four inspections of equipment, and a 'cootie' inspection every five days, with little else to do save wait. We finally got our sailing orders and a couple of days later got marching orders to the boat. Believe me, it was some happy bunch.

Camp at Brest O. K.

"In all justice to Brest, let me say that while all this agitation may have been well founded at one time, the camp is now in such condition that there is very little one can kick on. The chow is good and there is no waiting in line for it, and there the barracks are all equipped with stoves—and plenty of wood to burn. To be sure there is mud, but the authorities cannot be held responsible for the rain. Heaven pity 'em if they are, for it rains more at Brest than in any other place in the world. In 1918 it rained 331 out of a possible 365 days, and it rained every day of the three weeks I was there.

Across the Water.

"We loaded on Saturday, March 8, and on the 9th pulled out, and have been on the way ever since. We are on an English vessel, the 'Haverford,' which has been plying between Liverpool and Philadelphia for the past 22 years. She has been torpedoed, rammed twice, her boilers exploded killing 18 men, and she lay submerged for nine months off the coast of Ireland. And yet the crew says she's lucky, and they carry a black cat for a mascot. Well, we haven't sunk yet, anyway, and we've got about four more days to go. We expect to land at Philadelphia on the 21st or 22nd. 'Twill be about thirteen or fourteen days, an awfully long trip. But this is an old pre-war freighter, and if we get there at all I suppose we can consider ourselves lucky. If you get this you will know that we have docked successfully. I will write you at the first opportunity after landing, and in the meantime, between now and the day Freddie rolls in on 109, prepare things for a big celebration, 'cause we're sure going to have it. Lovingly, Fritz."

ZEH BOYS TAKE IN SIGHTS OF EUROPE

ELMER RETURNS TO COBLENZ AFTER TOURING AMONG CASTLES OF BERLIN.

Phil Zeh is in receipt of a letter and a number of cards from his sons, who are now with the army of occupation in Germany. The boys are having the time of their lives and are seeing everything worth while. Elmer recently returned to Coblenz from a visit to Berlin and has the following to say about what he saw:

"Just returned from Berlin and had some time. Berlin is a very pretty city. I saw the kaiser's home and all the pretty castles. I don't know when I will be home but perhaps will hear some good news this month. I am getting tired of this and now that I have seen Berlin I have seen all I care to."

The boy sent his father several cards showing views in Berlin. At the time Elmer paid his visit to that city—March 1—they were having a large strike and a few minor scraps, but he says this happens nearly every day there and causes little comment. Another picture sent by Elmer shows himself and a number of companions seated in the officers' quarters at Coblenz, apparently taking life easy.

Lloyd Zeh sends a photograph of the basket ball team representing the 336th battalion, of which he is a member. This team is champion of the area and a glance at the photograph is enough to convince anyone that the boys are a bunch of real huskies.

A copy of the Paris edition of the Chicago Tribune, dated March 4, was also sent to Mr. Zeh by Elmer. This edition consists of only two pages, but contains news from all over the world. Its leading article on this date describes the rioting in Berlin, at which American officers were threatened. Emil says he got out of Berlin just two days before this particular riot took place. The Paris edition of the Tribune circulates largely among the soldiers and gives them in a condensed form all the important news from the states every day. It is purchased in large quantities by the Y. M. C. A., and distributed to the soldiers free of charge.

NOW IN AMERICAN OCCUPATION ARMY

ST. HILAIRE LAD HAS HAD SOME HARD GOING BUT IS HAPPY.

Miss Edna L. Olson, who resides on a farm near St. Hilaire, has a brother, Walter, with the American army of occupation in Germany. Walter has been in the war for some time and saw some real fighting for a while. He doesn't do any kicking on this score, however, but has a word to say about the slackers who had every chance to get into the fight but preferred to remain at home and let the other fellow do it. Walter is glad now that he has gone through the trials of a soldier and feels better for having done his duty as it came to him. The letter follows:

"Gomporange, Luxemburg, Feb. 24, 1919. Dear Sister: Received your letter a few days ago and was glad to hear from home. Received some very good news today and it's supposed to be official this time. We are going home in the month of May, if not sooner. It all depends on the transportation. I heard that Germany has to turn over more ships to the allies, so that will sure help some. If we get to the states in May I should get home by July, anyhow. I sure do hope so as last Fourth of July I was dodging bullets and shrapnel in the trenches.

"I was very much disappointed to hear that you don't get much mail from me as I write almost every week to somebody at home. I guess lots of the mail gets lost somewhere. Things now look very favorable for me to come strolling home some time this summer. One good thing about it is that we won't have to be afraid of submarines and such things on the way home.

"We are still in Luxemburg but I hear we are to move pretty soon. I don't know where we are going but it is likely that we will be sent to some seaport. It makes me a little homesick to hear you folks are having the same good times as usual and I can't be there to take part in them. But I hope to hear when I get back that I am not a slacker, anyhow, like some that I know—not mentioning any names. I felt lots of times when in the lines how lucky some birds are, but now I am glad that I am here and tried to do my bit. I am still safe and sound as a good old American dollar, and can feel proud of what I have done. I don't blame some of the boys at all as there is no fun in being a doughboy in the trenches. I was one of them and know what it is. I had many a good comrade wounded or killed at my side, and many a time I prayed for mine to come so as to be out of misery. But the Hun never sent a shell over with my name on it. Even when we were out of the lines, that is in the back area, we weren't safe as there is where most of the bombs were dropped. Every night about midnight we would hear the Hun planes buzzing around. They worried me more than anything else except the gas. That sure is some awful stuff. I put in more than one night's sleep with my gas mask on, and they are the most hateful thing I ever saw to wear, as one can't breathe through his nose at all.

"Well, I must close and get ready for drill. I hope to see you soon so I can tell you all about it. Your loving brother, Walter. Co. L, 132nd Inf., A. E. F."

Rufus Barackman Honored.

The following report of the activities of a well known Thief River Falls man has been sent to The Times the Y. M. C. A., of Macalester college.

"Rufus Barackman, son of Rev. and Mrs. R. L. Barackman of Thief River Falls, was elected vice president of the Y. M. C. A. of Macalester college, St. Paul, at the annual meeting held last week. This is an honor that has bestowed but once before upon a freshman, but Barackman has proven himself an unusually active and enthusiastic Y man.

"Recognition of his leadership and class spirit have been felt throughout the year and it was through his efforts and interest that the freshman class held its first meeting and election. He is also a member of the Athenean Literary society, as well as of the glee club."

GRANT LONG TIME ON BOND PAYMENTS

TERMS ARE MADE MORE LIBERAL THAN IN PREVIOUS LOANS.

Pennington county people who found it rather burdensome to meet the payment requirements of the fourth liberty loan will be glad to find that the Victory Loan will be more liberal. It has been announced from Washington that deferred payments may be extended over a period of six months, which will not only make each one for smaller amounts but will also make the last two come due after harvest. According to the agreement reached the deferred payments may be extended over a period of six months from May tenth to November 11.

Secretary Glass has announced that ten per cent of the subscriptions will be due with the application on or before May 10, another ten per cent on or before May 15, and four subscription installments of 20 per cent each on or before August 12, September 9, October 7 and November 11. Accrued interest in deferred installments will be due with the last payment.

Payment in full can be made May 20 if desired, ten per cent with the application having been paid by May tenth. Payment may be made on any installment date with accrued interest.

The terms of the fourth liberty loan period allowed deferred payments only for four months and installments of 30 per cent were due in two weeks from January 16 to January 30. In that loan the banks subscribed hundreds of millions of dollars and then allowed the public to pay for them over a period of ten months. If similar extensions are given in this loan, treasury officials said, the result would be a great stimulant to popular subscriptions because the public would have approximately a year in which to pay for their bonds.

Indians Good Lumbermen.

More than two million feet of lumber has already been cut on the Red Lake reservation by the Indians themselves, according to C. W. Cross, superintendent. The Indians have a saw mill of their own and prepare all the lumber used in the construction work at the agency. About forty to fifty Indians are being employed in the woods, and the past season has been a splendid one. The failure of congress to pass the appropriation bill in which the Red Lake agency was well taken care of may hold up some of the improvements planned, but Supt. Cross feels confident that all needs will be taken care of at the next session.

Nut Margarine vs. Butter

Dr. Harvey W. Wiley, former chief of Bureau of Chemistry, U. S. Department of Agriculture advises against the use of nut margarine because it contains benzoate of soda which is added to it in order to make it keep.

Dr. Wiley states: "As far as I am concerned I should never give my children nut margarine, oleomargarine, or any other margarine as a substitute for butter. Butter contains a vital principle necessary to the growth of children which none of its substitutes posses. I should never give my children nor grown persons in my family food products that contain a preservative such as benzoate of soda. Benzoic acid is regarded as a toxic agent by all physiologists. The human body also regards benzoic acid as a toxic agent and immediately converts it into hippuric acid in order that it may do as little harm as possible. Food products that contain benzoate of soda are inferior in quality to similar foods manufactured without it."

URGES RETURN OF FARM BOYS FROM SERVICE

CONGRESSMAN STEENERSON POINTS OUT NEED FOR THEM AT HOME

INTERESTS GEN. PERSHING

ASKS COMMANDER TO FAVOR FARMERS IN ALL DEMOBILIZATION PLANS

Citizens of Thief River Falls, whose sons are in the army, have interested Congressman Halvor Steenerson in an attempt to secure their early discharge. Mr. Steenerson has taken the matter up with both Gen. Pershing in France, and with Gen. Jervey, assistant chief of staff, at Washington. The congressman's communication to the commander in chief is as follows:

"Major General Henry Jervey, Assistant Chief of Staff, Director of Operations, War Department, Washington, D. C. My Dear General: I have your favor of the 8th instant, explaining the policy of the Department with reference to demobilization for which I thank you. This letter will enable me to advise my constituents more accurately in future.

"I note specially the next to the last paragraph of your letter, with reference to the large number of men wandering about in the large cities without work, who could get employment on the farms if they really desired to obtain such employment. Being familiar with this subject, I beg to suggest that a distinction should be made between real farmers who came from farms that were their permanent homes and the itinerant farm laborers who usually travel from Texas to the Canadian border following the harvest during the whole time from spring until fall. The young men who were taken from the farms, with very few exceptions, are anxious and ready to go back to the farms where their folks are, and to resume their work and farm operations. Farming nowadays is a skilled occupation, involving the use of complicated machinery, such as motor vehicles, traction engines, potato diggers, spraying machinery, etc., etc. The itinerant day laborer is a distinct class from the skilled farmer, and the vast majority of those drafted or who volunteered for the military service, and were taken from the farms, were really skilled farmers, and they will, if demobilized, return to that work where they are sorely needed this spring and later."

No Fear of Idleness.

In his letter to Gen. Pershing the congressman points out that these men are in no danger of being left idle upon their return from war as their places are open for them. The letter reads:

"General Pershing, Commander Am. E. F. My dear General: I have the honor to enclose letters from Messers. Christian O. Granum, O. H. Oftelie, and Carl Froseth, all prominent farmers residing near Thief River Falls, Minnesota, in my district, urging specially that the boys of the 352nd Infantry, 88th Division, be released and sent home in time to help with the spring work on the farms in the spring wheat regions. In this connection I desire to say, I am advised that the men of this organization practically all come from the great bread producing regions of the Northwest, principally in the Red River Valley, and that in the exercise of the discretion to select organizations for early return it should be a weighty argument that these men who have had long practical experience with modern farm implements and are thoroughly familiar with modern farming operations, will be returned to places where they are now urgently needed and where they will contribute to the food supply of the world, and will not be confronted by any condition of unemployment. No doubt, there are many of the organizations in our expeditionary forces, especially from the large centers of population in the United States, who, if returned at once, might find difficulty in securing employment, but this is not at all the case with the men of the organization referred to. I have, therefore, the honor to urge careful consideration of these reasons for the early return of the men indicated."

THREE BUILDINGS SOLD AT AUCTION

TO BE REMOVED AT ONCE TO MAKE ROOM FOR FILLING STATION.

Four hundred dollars is not a large sum to receive for three buildings in Thief River Falls under present conditions, but that is what was bid for the structures at the corner of Main and Second last Thursday. The First and Peoples State bank recently sold the lots upon which these buildings are located to the Standard Oil company with the stipulation that they were to be removed within 30 days of the date of sale. The work of dismantling has already been begun and the purchasers will no doubt have them out of the way long before the time limit has expired.

M. V. Evenson was the high bidder for the main building, formerly occupied by the First State bank. He paid $250 for it and certainly received his money's worth. The center building went to Severn Brandon for $90, while V. C. Noner paid $50 for that at the east end of the row.

The ordinance granting the Standard Oil company the right to erect a filling station on the site will come up for its second reading next Tuesday and it is understood that the concern is ready to go ahead with its building plans as soon as this formality has been attended to.

Pays Fine and Skidoos.

Richard Triplett, the negro bootblack who last week was convicted of assaulting a young boy of this city and sentenced to pay a fine of $100, spent several days in the county jail before being able to raise the necessary funds to secure his freedom. Thursday evening, however, he managed to secure the required cash and was at once released by the officers. He was given to understand that his presence in this city was no longer desired and he lost no time in making tracks for parts unknown. Had the darky pulled off the same stunt south of the Mason and Dixon line as he did here last week, there isn't much doubt but what he would have fared badly at the hands of a mob. He probably figures that he got out of the scrape pretty lucky.

WEED PETITION IS AWAITING SIGNERS

COPIES PLACED IN ALL BANKS OF COUNTY—FARMERS SHOULD DECIDE.

Whether or not there will be a weed commissioner appointed for Pennington county will depend entirely on the farmers themselves.

At a meeting of the Thief River Falls Commercial club held last week it was decided to back the weed commissioner plan in every possible way, providing the farmers indicated that such action was desired. Petitions will be placed in every bank in the county and will be presented to the farmers for their signatures. There is no doubt but that the county commissioners will appoint a competent man for the position as soon as the necessary petition is presented.

The law under which such officials are appointed provides that upon the presentation of a petition signed by ten per cent of the voters of any county the commissioners may appoint a suitable person as weed inspector for not less than four months out of any year. The person so appointed must give a bond in the sum of $1,000 for the faithful performance of his duties and is to receive a salary of $100 per month and necessary traveling expenses. It shall be his duty to inspect all real estate in the county for the purpose of ascertaining facts as to presence of Canada thistle, sow thistle and other noxious weeds, and to make a report of his findings to the county board in writing. The county auditor will then notify the township chairman, mayors of cities and presidents of villages as to the portion of the report affecting lands within their jurisdiction. A duplicate of the weed inspector's report must also be sent to the agricultural department of the univeristy of Minnesota.

When notice is received by such municipal executive, it shall serve the purpose of a complaint and he may proceed under the law governing noxious weeds.
